CITY LIMITS FOR COPPER COAST

Rhiannon Koch
JOURNALIST

COPPER Coast Council is considering its second name change in six years.

The council is seeking comment on a proposal to change its name to City of Copper Coast, or similar to reflect its city status.

Council changed its name from District Council of the Copper Coast to Copper Coast Council during its 2017 elector representation review.

CEO Russell Peate said the population of Yorke Peninsula was expected to reach 30,640 by 2026, with Kadina, Moonta, Wallaroo, Moonta Bay and Port Hughes housing a significant proportion of this growth.

"We've overgrown nearby cities such as Port Lincoln (14,404) and Port Augusta (13,829), and it is considered state and federal governments view a city more favourably for the provision of services and funding," Mr Peate said.

"There are a number of developments which have recently been completed or are progressing in the Copper Coast, including T-Ports grain export terminal, Hawsons Iron deep water port and jetty at Myponie Point, Wallaroo Shores development and large subdivisions in Port Hughes and Kadina.

"These will all contribute to sustained population growth and development on the Copper Coast."

Councillors discussed the proposal during their first meeting for the year last Wednesday, January 11.

"I've looked at the advantages and disadvantages and, at first, it did seem a little grandiose but I liked it the more I thought about it," Councillor Brent Walker said.

"It could give us more avenues for funding but it's just an idea going out for consultation and we will be guided by the community."

Jetty response

IT is important to provide correct information on the swimming enclosure at Wallaroo.

The Wallaroo Foreshore master plan proposed is not just for the swimming enclosure, but for the whole of the Wallaroo foreshore.

The Wallaroo Foreshore master plan extends from the Liberator Way entrance (Heritage Drive) to the Wallaroo Jetty car park (Jetty Road).

There are 17 areas highlighted in five zones to receive feedback on in designing a better foreshore for residents and tourists.

Zone one, point three states: "Incorporate design of new swimming enclosure..." which is a reference to the new aquatic facility and design we have been working on with the Wallaroo Swimming and Aquatics Group.

We submitted a funding application to the Building Better Regions Fund Round 5 for a new facility. We were not successful.

We engaged JPE to complete consultation on four projects — Stately Way (Wallaroo), McCauley Park and Queen Square (Moonta) and the Wallaroo Swimming Enclosure.

There were two rounds of community consultation from November 20, 2020 to January 14, 2021 and March 23, 2021 to April 23, 2021, with drop-in sessions on December 11 and 12, 2020 and March 24 and 25, 2021.

The consultation report, concept report and costings produced for the four projects were received at the June 2, 2021 council meeting.

It was referred to the CEO to provide a proposed works plan for each of the four projects over the next five years, taking into account council's budget, long-term financial plan and resources to achieve the various aspects of the four projects for further consideration by council.

We submitted a further application to the Building Better Regions Fund Round 6 for a new aquatic facility highlighting this consultation and design.

A copy of the application was provided to the Wallaroo Swimming and Aquatics Group.

The new federal government decided to not progress consideration of any projects under this funding program. They established a new funding program called the Growing Regions Program.

We will submit an application when the guidelines and criteria are available.

We have and continue to work with engineers regarding the design of a new aquatic facility at Wallaroo. We have and continue to consult the Wallaroo Swimming and Aquatics Group.

We all want the best foreshore possible, including an aquatic facility.

Last year, Wallaroo was named the Small Top Tourist Town in the state.

We wish for the Wallaroo foreshore to be even better for residents and tourists to reflect this award.

Helping hands

I TRIPPED and fell near the Aldi supermarket, Kadina, on Thursday, January 5.

To those who came to my aid (names unknown), putting me at ease and calling the ambulance; to Aldi supermarket manager, Jessica-lee Appleton, who also provided support and bandages, and to the paramedics who attended, the Wallaroo Hospital emergency department and the follow-up treatment at the Ardrossan Medical Centre, a big thank you.

The future generation, in my opinion, is in good hands.

Disturbing scooter trend

LATELY, I have become very concerned with a trend amongst users of mobility scooters to ride down the middle of lanes on roads on the peninsula, impeding traffic.

I have noticed this across a couple of towns in the northern Yorke Peninsula and the Copper Coast.

While I support the use of mobility scooters, I feel at no time should they be driven in the middle of a traffic lane with traffic queued behind them.

Worse still is driving in an 80km/h zone, rounding a corner to find a mobility scooter in the middle of the lane and you cannot pass due to an unbroken centre-line requiring you to brake rapidly to avoid a collision; such mobility scooter use is clearly dangerous and just plain stupid.

The verge, a bike path, or the very side of the road allowing cars and trucks to pass should be where mobility scooters are ridden and they should not impede traffic.

The discourteous use of mobility scooters on footpaths is another issue and, while concerning, this does not carry the inherent dangers of mobility scooters in traffic.

If you use a mobility scooter, please do not use it on roads blocking traffic, and if on the footpath, please be courteous to pedestrians, travel at walking pace and to one side of the footpath allowing pram users and others to pass where possible.

Further, if you have your dog with you on a lead, keep the dog close to you and not at full lead extension blocking the entire footpath.

OUR VIEW

Unity in a name

CAN a change in name really unite four very different towns?

Copper Coast Council is exploring the possibility of changing its name to the City of Copper Coast, or something equivalent.

The reasoning, in part, is to potentially open up doors for federal and state funding, with more weight perhaps given to a city instead of a council.

Council believes it has the figures behind it to support the argument, with the area growing and the demand on services exceeding that created by the four main towns of the region.

It's an argument council has made before — successfully lobbying to be in a later stage of the Planning and Development Code rollout, alongside regional centres, due to its size and the number of applications it receives.

The other thought behind the potential move is to change the perspective within and of council, to be more focused on the wider area instead of the towns themselves.

There is a fierce sense of pride in towns across Yorke Peninsula, which is beneficial on a sporting field, but can be detrimental for cohesive growth within a region.

Despite there not being any town councillors or wards any more, it's incredibly common to hear people refer to certain elected members as the councillor from the town in which they live.

Councillors are elected by the entire region, not just individual towns, and are therefore charged to make decisions to benefit the whole area.

When I explain the glorious Copper Coast to people from outside the area, I often use Adelaide as an example.

Kadina is the CBD as the service centre of the three while Wallaroo and Moonta are kind of a mix of beachside suburbs and boutique lifestyle experiences.

The towns are all incredibly different, but are so incredibly important to the function of the others.

If elected members, and the community, believe a shift in name could change the mindset and provide an overall view for the area, then why not?

Warm start to 2023

SUNNY DAYS... Moonta's Don Clarke looks to combat the warmer weather by enjoying the breeze whilst dangling a line in the water at the Moonta Bay jetty.

Jarryd Rowley
JOURNALIST

PEOPLE from all stretches of Yorke Peninsula can expect cooler temperatures from tomorrow (Wednesday, January 18), following the hottest start to a summer since 2019.

According to the Bureau of Meteorology, Saturday, January 14 was only the second time temperatures had exceeded 40 degrees since New Year's Eve 2021.

The maximum daily temperature has already exceeded 35 degrees on 13 separate occasions across YP since the beginning of December 2022.

The 2021-22 summer (December to February) only had nine days over 35 degrees, while the 2020-21 summer recorded 14.

According to Weatherzone meteorologist Brett Dutschke, climate drivers from the Indian Ocean have reached a near neutral dipole, causing temperatures to reach more typical summer heights than previous years.

"The past few years have seen La Niña weather events during summer," Mr Dutschke said.

"The increased rainfall from the negative dipoles and the La Niña events have caused a significant drop in temperature compared to what Australia is used to.

"People can expect either an extended low intensity heatwave with several days ranging between 33 and 38 degrees for the rest of the summer and most of March, or a short, high intensity heatwave with several days rising above 40 degrees but with significant drops in temperature soon after.

"The pattern of warmer weather started just before Christmas, with wet climate weather events dissipating earlier than previous years, causing a more neutral and familiar climate.

"There has been a harsh rise in temperature in the past fortnight however.

"Despite the hotter days, people can expect a cooler spell starting in the middle of this week."

Rainfall has also dropped off significantly with only a couple of millimetres recorded to start the year.

Stenhouse Bay and Maitland, which received record rainfall in October and November, are yet to record any rainfall in 2023.

Stenhouse Bay also recorded a record 66.4mm of rain in January 2022, while Maitland received 66.5mm, including a record day of 60.2mm.

"The lack of rain this January compared to 2022 and 2021, is due to the La Niña season clearing earlier compared to the past two years," Mr Dutschke said.

"Although there are showers expected in some parts of the peninsula later this week, it is more typical of a South Australian summer compared to the downpours of the past two years."

Mental health workforce woes

Michelle Daw
JOURNALIST

THE federal government's decision to cut the number of consultations per patient under the Better Access for Mental Health program could open up appointments for more people, but will do nothing to ease the mental health workforce shortage in country areas.

That is the response from Rural Doctors' Association of South Australia president Dr Peter Rischbieth to the decision to reduce the number of subsidised consultations available under the program from 20 per person to 10.

Better Access for Mental Health funds services are provided by GPs, psychiatrists and psychologists.

Minister for Health and Aged Care Mark Butler recently announced the program's first comprehensive review in more than 10 years.

It originally provided for 10 visits per person but increased to 20 at the height of Covid lockdowns, with the funding ending at the end of 2022.

The review found all the additional services went to existing patients, and the number of new patients able to access services declined by seven per cent.

It was also revealed the extra 10 consultations aggravated existing waitlists and barriers to access, particularly for country people and those on lower incomes.

Dr Rischbieth said 20 visits per person seems a lot when some people could not access any visits at all.

"A cut in the number of visits might open up the program for newer patients," he said.

The introduction of telehealth consultations with mental health service providers had helped to ease the shortages of services in country areas but was not the be all and end all to solve the problem, Dr Rischbieth said.

"As we know, mental health problems are more common in rural areas, partly because of isolation and there is higher per capita consumption of alcohol, cigarettes and illicit drugs," he said.

"It's all about increasing and retaining the workforce, including nurses, midwives, GPs, psychologists and other health care professionals."

Dr Rischbieth said the Higher Education Loan Program debt reduction scheme for rural doctors and nurse practitioners should be expanded to include psychologists.

Under HELP, doctors and nurse practitioners can eliminate all or part of their student debt if they work in rural and remote areas.

Southern Yorke Peninsula is classified as remote while the remainder of YP is classified as small rural towns.

Minlaton-based psychologist Sally Emery has provided bulk-billed mental health services on YP for the past 17 years but is winding up her local practice.

She agreed the HELP scheme should be extended to psychologists and said there was scope for psychologists to be affiliated with regional general practices to help overcome professional isolation.

Australian Psychological Society APS president Dr Catriona Davis-McCabe said the federal government was meeting only 35 per cent of its psychology workforce target.

"Demand for services continues to break records, with one in three psychologists unable to take on new patients," she said.

"Before the (Covid) pandemic only one in 100 of us had closed books."

CHANGE NEEDED...Dr Peter Rischbieth, president of the Rural Doctors Association of South Australia, said changes to the federally funded Better Access for Mental Health program don't address access issues.

Calling for candidates

COPPER Coast Council is hoping to fill its one elected member vacancy in the upcoming supplementary local government election.

The Copper Coast is one of 10 local government areas across the state holding another election after falling short of nominations in November's state-wide process.

Potential candidates now have until noon, Friday, January 27, to lodge their nomination via the online portal.

Keen community members must meet certain criteria, including being over an Australian Citizen over 18 years old.

Candidates need to supply a 1000-character candidate profile and recent image, which is sent to all eligible electors as part of their ballot pack.

"These supplementary elections are a second chance for anyone looking for an opportunity to shape the future of their local community," Minister for Local Government Geoff Brock said.

"A council which can advocate for and represent its community is particularly important in regional areas, as they often provide critical leadership on important issues such as attracting essential workers, aged care, child care and local economic development.

"It is important these values are represented by the best our great communities can offer."

Mayor Roslyn Talbot said she encouraged residents to take this opportunity.

"I was really disappointed with the lack of nominations for council in November and I believe the system has a part to play in that," she said.

"Hopefully people now see it as a chance.

"We want people to be interested in their community and to be part of change, which is a good thing.

"I'm looking forward to having a number of nominations and welcoming our new councillor."

Voting packs will be sent out to eligible electors between February 14 and 21, with voting closing at noon on Tuesday, March 14.

COPPER Coast Council mayor Roslyn Talbot said, at this stage, the change was merely a concept and the public would have six weeks to offer comment.

“Kadina, Moonta and Wallaroo are all in close proximity and service thousands of people as the three largest urban towns in the Yorke Peninsula,” she said.

“They already act as a city to our region and this process will help unite the Copper Coast community.

“This rebranding encourages people to not think of our towns individually, but the Copper Coast as a whole.

“We want the Copper Coast to be known across the state, the nation and internationally for the infrastructure, services and facilities the community provides — not council”

Mrs Talbot said, while the four main towns of the Copper Coast, Kadina, Moonta, Paskeville and Wallaroo, were all different, they complemented each other.

“You have to look at what’s great for the area, not just for specific towns,” she said.

“We see this as a way of breaking down those town barriers, so while we have individual master plans for stormwater for each town now, we will in time have a whole Copper Coast plan.

“It also brings back the focus to our community, they are the people who make the Copper Coast great.

“We’re currently living up to our tagline Lifestyle Location of Choice, with back-to-back wins in the South Australian Top Tourism Town Awards, more than 500,000 visitors per year and have the 11th fastest growing local government area in the state.”

Local nature tourism bolstered

Patrick Goldsmith
REPORT BY

TWO Yorke Peninsula businesses have been awarded grants from the South Australian Tourism Commission’s $2 million Experience Nature Tourism Fund.

Based at Corny Point, Neptunes Surf Coaching received a $29,870 grant to purchase new equipment and grow its marketing capabilities.

Neptunes owner and head instructor Max Tooze said more people are searching for nature-based tourism activities on Yorke Peninsula.

“Without the grant we would not be able to meet the demand we are currently seeing,” he said.

“Through this project we will now offer one and two-person kayaks, see-through kayaks, paddleboards and snorkelling equipment.

“This is in addition to the current services we provide, (such as) surf lessons, surfboard hire, wetsuit hire.

“It’s important we receive this funding as it will diversify the SYP’s adventure tourism offering and do it at a scale which will meet demand.

“All our employees are local instructors and through this project we’ll be able to employ more local people and give more work to our current staff.”

Brindabella Sailing operates sailing charters along the state’s coastline, including on YP.

The business received $18,424 to purchase new equipment so it can operate new day and overnight journeys between marine parks.

Brindabella owner and operator Brigid Dighton said the grant gave the business the opportunity to broaden its sailing adventures.

“We can now offer passengers the unique opportunity of accessing and exploring these magnificent parks from the water via the iconic maxi yacht, Brindabella,” she said.

“Visitors can enjoy a true blue water sail across Gulf St Vincent to the likes of lower Yorke Peninsula’s Point Davenport... jump in for a swim or kayak through the estuaries, learn about the parks’ biodiversity and First Nations’ significance, all while enjoying the creature comforts of a hot shower, fine SA food and wine, and a stunning sunset and sunrise on Brindabella’s deck.

“This grant will also feature the addition of a much-needed tender vessel and an electronic shark shield to increase the safety of our operation and everyone on board.”

Minister for Tourism Zoe Bettison said it’s fantastic to be starting the New Year with a key boost for tourism.

“These new tourism experiences will highlight the important natural and cultural assets that are our state’s national parks and will enable operators to attract visitors from interstate and overseas, as we support the industry to recover from the impacts of the pandemic,” she said.

Motorists fork out for speeding fines

SOUTH Australia Police issued 8231 speeding fines at a total value of $4,271,311 from the fixed point to point cameras between Two Wells and Port Wakefield across the past five years.

Latest police data shows 51,884 speeding offences were detected by six sets of cameras in the state in the past five financial years at a total cost of more than $26.5 million in fines.

Both “safety camera ahead” and “average speed safety camera zone” warning signs are displayed at the start and end — and at intervals throughout the average speed detection area — to alert drivers of their presence.

The cameras calculate the average speed of a vehicle between two points, as well as the vehicle’s actual speed at each camera location.

More than 50 per cent the speeding offences were detected at an individual camera site while 46 per cent were detected between the cameras.

RAA senior manager safety and Infrastructure Charles Mountain said the number of motorists caught speeding despite the prominent warning signs was disconcerting.

“Maybe these drivers also have an issue with distraction,” he said.

“Motorists must remember they risk much more than a fine if they exceed the speed limit.

“Speeding — especially on roads with limits of 90km/h to 110km/h — can put you, your loved ones, and other roads users at increased risk of death or serious injury.”

Mr Mountain said the road safety message was timely given the current summer school holidays and festive season, during which many South Australians have enjoyed driving across the state.

“However, we always urge drivers to be focused, remain vigilant and be aware of changing conditions and exercise caution when travelling on regional roads,” he said.

“Fatigue is the enemy of long-distance driving so ensure you plan in breaks every couple of hours to refresh and enable you to maintain concentration.

“Tragically, more lives are lost from crashes on regional roads each year than those in metropolitan areas.”

A MAN was caught drink driving in Wallaroo on Friday, January 13.

Police will allege at about 10.48pm, Yorke Mid North Highway Patrol officers stopped a silver Toyota sedan on Hughes Street for a mobile driver test.

The driver, a 38-year-old man from Kadina, submitted to a breath test and he returned a positive result of 0.121.

He was reported for drink driving and issued a six-month immediate loss of licence.

He will appear in Kadina Magistrates Court at a later date.

Another man was caught drink driving in Wallaroo on Tuesday, January 10.

Yorke Mid North Highway Patrol stopped a white Holden Rodeo on Boase Crescent at Wallaroo for a mobile driver test at about 8.45pm.

The driver, a 52-year-old man from North Beach, submitted to a breath test and he returned a positive result of 0.110.

He was reported for drink driving and issued a six-month immediate licence disqualification.

He will appear in Kadina Magistrates Court at a later date.

Car theft on the rise

NEW RAA Insurance claims data shows car theft rose by 16 per cent in 2022, prompting a warning for drivers to keep their vehicles secure.

RAA insurance claims spokesperson Kimberley Bolton said car thefts initially decreased when Covid-19 first spread and people were staying at home.

“However, the easing of restrictions means more people are heading out to sporting and cultural events, resulting in more cars being left in car parks and on the street,” she said.

“As South Australians flock to our regions during the holiday period and potentially leave the second family vehicle behind, we’re encouraging them to take a number of precautions.”

Ms Bolton said the claims data also showed the most popular makes of car stolen were Toyota, Holden, Ford, Mitsubishi and Mazda, which reflected the most common makes of cars on our roads.

To best prevent your vehicle being stolen, the RAA recommends you park your vehicle in a garage or carport, if possible, install sensor lights in your driveway and, if you must park on the road, leave your vehicle in a well-lit area, keep it locked at all times and remove valuables from the inside.

RAA Insurance data also showed the cars most popular with criminals were four door sedans and wagons.

No complacency over road toll

THE RAA is asking South Australians to reflect on the number of lives lost and serious injuries suffered on local roads in 2022.

While SA recorded a lower number of lives lost in 2022, 70 down from 97 in 2021 and 90 in 2020, the RAA believes one life lost is one too many.

RAA senior manager of safety and infrastructure Charles Mountain said SA was one of only two Australian states where there was a reduction in road crash fatalities in 2022.

“Nationally, we’ve seen a 6.2 per cent increase in road crash fatalities between November 2021 and November 2022 compared with the previous year,” Mr Mountain said.

“While it’s good news we’ve lost fewer people on South Australian roads in 2022, we can’t afford to be complacent.

“Factors such as distraction and fatigue are major contributors to crashes, so it is essential we’re well rested, calm and focused when driving or riding.”

In addition to those killed on our roads, 688 people suffered a serious injury, many of whom may never fully recover.

There have already been six fatalities on SA roads in 2023.

Sign is officially in the history books

NEW ARRIVAL... National Trust of SA Moonta branch chairperson Stephen Stock and Brett Bowen with a portion of the Welcome to Yorke Peninsula sign at the Moonta Mines Museum, where it will be put on display.

Patrick Goldsmith
REPORT BY

THE Welcome to Yorke Peninsula roadside sign at Port Wakefield has officially been scrapped. Wakefield Regional Council decided in August to remove the sign with works, at an estimated cost of $3000, occurring starting last month.

“Council is currently scoping a new site for tourism information displays in Port Wakefield,” WRC acting CEO Muhammad Jawad said

“We are looking at options to better inform tourists stopping in Port Wakefield by utilising a mix of modern technology and traditional static signage.”

However, it’s expected the replacement sign will no longer promote just Yorke Peninsula, rather the many regions with links to Port Wakefield.

The sign was built by the now defunct Southern Yorke Peninsula Tourism Board more than 30 years ago and discussions between nearby councils about potential removal were last had in 2016.

“We have contacted 25 councils north and west of Port Wakefield to gauge their interest in promoting their region from the popular rest point, with 22 responding positively to the concept,” Mr Jawad said.

“Council has also been workshopping the idea with the South Australian Tourism Commission in its bid to reposition Port Wakefield as a point of arrival and departure for travellers heading to the state’s world class tourist regions, one of the key strategies outlined in Wakefield 2030, council’s 10-year community plan.”

Sections of the sign were salvaged and taken to the Moonta Mines Museum where National Trust of SA Moonta branch chairperson Stephen Stock said they would eventually be put on display.

“The sign (Moonta Mines sections) was made by Ken Dunning who was running the Moonta Tramways at the time and back about 25 to 30 years ago he put the sign up,” he said.

“The Wakefield Regional Council contacted us about the removal of the sign and whether we’d be interested in having it... and so I went down and picked it up.

“The intention is to refurbish the sign and place it somewhere here on the Moonta Mines site.

“In it’s time, it did (bring people to the town); it’s quirky, and especially the cartoon character pointing in the right direction towards Moonta Mines, which was done by Oswald Pryor.”

Winged warriors combat mozzies

Michelle Daw
JOURNALIST

EXTRA visitors have swarmed to Yorke Peninsula this summer, and some of them have wings.

Dragonflies have bred up after high rainfall in central Australia and many have migrated south, spotted in swarms on YP and other parts of South Australia, including metropolitan Adelaide.

Invertebrate ecologist and science communicator Dr Kristen Messenger of Bugs ‘n’ Slugs said the dragonflies had made the long trip south across multiple generations.

Damselflies and dragonflies belong to a group of insects which specifically target mosquitoes and other flying insects.

Adult dragonflies hunt mosquitoes on the wing, while their waterborne young, known as nymphs, feast on mosquito larvae, making them a natural weapon for tackling booming mozzie populations.

Dr Messenger described dragonflies as the kings and queens of insect aviation.

“They can fly forwards or backwards, they can hover and easily change direction and can achieve something like a 90th percentile of accuracy when hunting,” she said.

“Dragonflies can surpass the fastest fliers of the insect world, at an average of 42 kilometres an hour but some have been clocked at 90 km/h.

“There has been a lot of biomimicry based on dragonflies in the development of technology such as drones.”

Mosquitoes and dragonflies both prefer to breed in relatively still water, such as ponds and farm dams.

They can also breed in lower quality, brackish water.

Dragonfly eggs are laid in water, then the nymph develops through several stages over about a year, although this can vary in response to conditions.

Once a nymph sheds its exoskeleton and develops wings, it only returns to the water to lay eggs.

Dr Messenger said adult dragonflies lived for only six to eight weeks.

SERVING the Yorke Peninsula for over 20 years

A bloody scare causes thanks

Patrick Goldsmith
REPORT BY

PASKEVILLE'S Dylan Clogg was rocked by severe blood loss and low haemoglobin levels two days before New Year's Eve and believes he wouldn't be here today if it wasn't for the staff at Wallaroo Hospital.

Eight days, three bags of blood, a Royal Flying Doctor Service flight to Adelaide and numerous tests later and the reason for Dylan's poor health is still unknown; however, he's feeling much better.

He initially thought he might've contracted Covid-19 when he began to feel unwell so took himself to get tested at Kadina Respiratory Clinic.

When a staff member told him his face was extremely pale and it might be worth a trip to Wallaroo Hospital, he obliged.

"They told me at the hospital they needed to get me in straight away, that I essentially had no blood in my body and I'd suffered from severe blood loss," he said.

"From that point, they stuck a catheter in me and brought along a bag of blood to hook me up with; they worked out my blood type was AB+ which meant I could take any blood type, which was good.

"To be honest, I was just thinking about how much blood I was losing, where on earth it was going and why it was happening.

"Then they said my haemoglobin levels were 38; the average male's levels are 130 to 150 or something like that, so I was like, 'well hang on a sec, that's a lot of blood (I've lost)'."

Dylan said it was an extremely nervous time.

"There were a few times I was contemplating being faced with my own mortality which is especially confronting when you're only 38 years old," he said.

"You have time in the hospital to do that as well, for better or for worse.

"You do get scared and wonder what's happening to your body, especially when you're fit."

After he was transferred to the Royal Adelaide Hospital, Dylan was tested for a variety of viruses and diseases, but to no avail.

He was discharged from the RAH as his blood levels restored closer to normal, but must return later this month for more testing.

Dylan said he couldn't be more grateful for the support he was offered by the staff at the RFDS as well as at Wallaroo and Royal Adelaide Hospitals.

"Firstly, there was the doctor at Wallaroo who initially came to me and told me everything, he was good about it, because he must have seen the fear instantly come to my face," he said.

"At one point, he just put his hand on my knee and said, 'don't worry, man, we're going to make sure you are okay', and so that just gave me that bit of comfort.

"But then also to all the nurses and other doctors across both hospitals, they were all incredible and I'm forever grateful to them.

"The RFDS staff actually diverted to come pick me up because they wanted to see the guy who had a haemoglobin level of 38 so that was cool too, they had great energy.

"It just makes the experience much more pleasant, and I can't thank them all enough."

A good start to 2023

The news in the first week of January that the state government had doubled the Patient Assistance Transport Scheme fuel subsidy was brilliant.

It comes as a great relief for locals financially struggling to fill up at the bowser to travel outside of the region for health appointments not available locally.

The rate now available is 32 cents per kilometre, and the next change to the PATS scheme I'd like to see is more autonomy on choosing the specialists rural people can use for treatment.

So often PATS claims are denied because locals are deemed to have bypassed an available service when the reason they've done so is because the waiting list to see the visiting specialist they need is months and they fear waiting for treatment will threaten their health.

It is a very difficult choice to make; the fact there are long waiting lists must be taken into consideration by PATS assessment teams in my view.

Thriving Communities Program and E-vouchers for Live Music

Welcome news last week was the state government opening a new grants program dedicated to strengthening regional communities — the Thriving Communities Program.

This fund offers grants from $20,000 to $50,000 for community groups and non-profit organisations in regional communities with projects intended to improve quality of life and strengthen regional economies.

Projects can include physical infrastructure, plant and equipment, events to enhance community wellbeing and engagement, or community training initiatives such as First Aid, Mental Health First Aid, Child Safe, cultural awareness and inclusion.

Applications close when the $600,000 dedicated to the program is fully allocated, or at 5pm on June 30, whichever occurs first.

For guidelines and further information, visit the grants tab at www.fraserellis.com.au.

Another good initiative, this time for eligible venues (pubs/clubs) wanting to host live music in 2023, is the latest See It LIVE support package offering the opportunity to register for multiple e-vouchers worth $2000.

Two different vouchers ($400 and $2000) are available now and can be used retrospectively for any live music performance since December 1 through to April 16.

For more information, visit my website or www.seeitlive.sa.gov.au

Health Petition Ongoing

Well done to all who continue to host or sign petition sheets calling for improvements to rural health services.

The signature tally is estimated at more than 6,000 now, on our way to the target of 10,000.

I will soon be again visiting townships to spruik this ongoing effort; keep up the good work everyone!

A time to celebrate our great nation

THE annual Copper Coast Australia Day Celebrations are back at the Wallaroo Town Hall on Thursday, January 26.

Apex Club of Kadina will be out in force cooking a free barbecue from 7.30am and the Kadina Wallaroo Moonta Band will entertain from 9am.

Australia Day Awards and a citizenship ceremony will begin at 9.30am.

More details regarding the event will be provided on Copper Coast Council's Facebook page throughout the week.

Citizen of the Year

Sarah Pridham, of Kadina, is the 2023 Copper Coast Council Citizen of the Year.

Since the unexpected loss of her son Jasper at birth, in 2017, Sarah has been a huge advocate for supporting and encouraging other bereaved parents, not only within the region, but across the country.

"Sarah believes in sharing her story, with the hope it will continue to break the taboo society still holds around the topic of baby loss, and she hopes by having the courage to be vulnerable, it will help encourage other local bereaved parents to feel comfortable to do so as well," her nomination read.

She has organised and planned six fundraisers within the community, raising $24,617.20 for charities including Still Aware, Royal Flying Doctor Service, Cancer Council SA, Bears of Hope, Kadina CFS, Kangaroo Island Wildlife Park, and Heartfelt Photography.

Sarah has also donated cuddle cots, jaundice meters and keepsake books, support books, angel gowns and more to local hospitals and funeral homes across South Australia.

"In November 2021, Sarah created and went live with the Forever Young program, which is Australia-wide and currently features 101 businesses focusing on the mental, physical and emotional health and wellbeing of bereaved parents," the nomination read.

"Sarah decided to create this program after realising her own emotional, physical and mental health, and wellbeing were the last of her focus following her loss and, at 27 years old, did not expect to have the additional financial burden associated with a funeral, headstone and wake.

"She hopes, by providing bereaved parents with discounted offers, it will encourage them to look after their health and wellbeing during such a challenging time."

Sarah has shared her story through radio and print media, and has been part of five book collaborations.

"If you ask her why she has done and continues to do these things, she will tell you during the early months after her loss, she realised she can continue to create a legacy in memory of Jasper and she wants his memory to be a positive one," the nomination read.

Community Event of the Year

Copper Coast Council's Community Event of the Year is the Catwalk for Cancer.

The fundraising event was organised by a committee of 13 and held at Moonta Garden and Landscape Supplies on Sunday, October 23.

"The committee worked tirelessly together to bring this event to life," co-organiser Leanne Hopkins said.

"Lindi (Brokenshire, McGrath Foundation Breast Care Nurse) had been planning a cancer fundraising event a few years ago but it had been delayed due to Covid.

"We both reached out to our friends to help and formed a committee.

"Each member brought different skills to the group and all were amazing.

"The day was a huge success and we raised $10,000 which was split between the Cancer Council and McGrath Foundation."

Organisers partnered with local businesses for the day, which included a fashion parade featuring clothing from Kadina's Ivy and Grace.

All models were either cancer survivors or had lost a close family member to cancer, while Lindi spoke about the foundation and four women shared their cancer stories.

Community Club of the Year

Kadina Wallaroo Moonta Band has been recognised for its achievements with the Copper Coast Council's 2023 Community Club of the Year Award. It comes as the band is set to celebrate its 160th year.

KWM Band is a mainstay of many social events in the Copper Coast, including Anzac and Australia Day commemorations, donating their time for free to local nursing homes as well.

"The Kadina and Wallaroo Band amalgamated when numbers were low and late on Moonta joined in," the nomination read.

"During that 160 years, the band has performed continuously in the three towns and is the only brass band still operating on Yorke Peninsula.

"Bandmaster Linda Kinch pulled the band back to life with strong guidance and a wealth of knowledge due to her many years of being a professional musician.

"Without the band performing, our area would be a much poorer community."

The Kadina Wallaroo Moonta Band also received the Community Event of the Year Award in 2014.

COMMUNITY CLUB... The event will be held at the Maitland Town Hall from 2pm, starting with a citizenship ceremony followed by the announcement of Australia Day Award winners.

"Nominees have been recognised for their outstanding contributions to their community," YPC mayor Darren Braund said.

"All the nominees should be proud of their efforts and council thanks them for making a difference in their communities."

Afternoon tea will be supplied at the conclusion of the ceremony.

Kelly DeGiglio Cook

Kelly works tirelessly to run Footlight Dance Experience which offers dance classes on Yorke Peninsula. She puts many hours into running weekly classes while providing performance opportunities for kids.

Sue Hall

Sue is a dedicated volunteer in the Port Vincent community. She has been a member of the Port Vincent Progress Association for several years and is currently assistant treasurer. Sue has a talent for writing grant applications and has been instrumental in obtaining funding for the town water tower mural, amongst other projects. Anthony has been involved with the Warooka Progress Association for 20 years and has been president for the past 10. He is the driving force behind the Warooka pageant. He was a part of the pageant as a child when his parents were involved in organising the event and now the community spirit lives on through his dedication and organisation. He was also part of the initial team which organised the Flaherty's Beach Golf Classic, and was one of the organisers behind recreating old-time movies at the Warooka Hall.

Brian Higgins

Brian attends YP Leisure Options and volunteers as a mentor for people living with a disability. He shares his knowledge, skills and compassion to enrich his community and improve the abilities of people who work with him in the woodshed program. Brian recently helped create a video showcasing the skills of people with a disability and how they contribute to a safe working environment. He also assists other community groups including Probus and completes a road trip to Menindee, New South Wales, to take donations for young people to the community.

Michelle Geater-Johnson

Michelle works tirelessly on several committees, often taking larger behind-the-scenes roles. She willingly volunteers her time to help anyone in need and is an avid supporter of all community events and businesses. She has been involved with the Artherton Basketball Club as treasurer and team manager for junior basketball. She was the CY Cougars Netball Club 2022 Cougar of the Year recipient. Steven Thomas

Steven was the 2020 Maitland Citizen of the Year for his service to the community during bushfires, along with his active roles volunteering in SES, Central Yorke Football Club and the Maitland Museum. During the past three years, he has worked tirelessly to promote Maitland through the Maitland and District Progress Association and the Maitland Museum. He has researched local town history and republished the town walk historical booklet. He led historical walks during the town's 150th celebrations. Steven has collaborated with the local Rotary club to obtain grants for the improvement of museum facilities and revitalisation to make sure the history of the town is not neglected.

Tanya Walsh

Tanya works in the ageing and disability sector as Yorke Peninsula Council's YP Leisure Options coordinator and advocates heavily for the elderly and people with a disability. She participates in community networks and advocates for vulnerable members of our community to be represented. She understands what is important to them and how they can contribute to the community. Tanya is active in the community and with sporting clubs. An example of her advocacy is raising awareness about accessibility issues at Adelaide Oval after attending a networking event. Tanya advocated to be part of a MT All Terrain Push Wheelchair project, which provided options for people with a disability and the elderly to access the YP Walk the Yorke trails and beaches. Tanya participates in the Yorke and Mid North Collaborative Project Steering Committee to advocate for the elderly and represent YP.

Karen Warren

Karen has long been an active and committed member of the southern Yorke Peninsula community. This commitment was highlighted after the 2019 Yorketown fire, when she coordinated BlazeAid assistance to help farmers and the community rebuild fences. She was at the Light Church from 5.30am every morning, cooking breakfast for the BlazeAid crew, coordinating jobs for the day and ensuring the local community felt heard and supported. Karen noted the need for a transportable resource, something which could pop up as needed to support first responders in emergencies. The concept of the emergency response trailer was born. Karen applied for grants and worked with stakeholders to design a trailer which would be fit for purpose and was successful in obtaining grant funding. Karen and her family coordinated the build and fit out of the trailer. Karen supports many local initiatives and with her wealth of experience in business and human resource management, she is a fantastic sounding board to many in the community. Karen also quietly volunteers her support through writing grant applications for various community organisations such as the Yorketown RSL sub-branch and sports club.

She is on the committee of the SYP Show Society and has been part of Trees for Life for many years. Kellie also grows of Indigenous trees for southern Yorke Peninsula and sells them to organisations and community members. She has been part of the revegetation of Gum Flat.

Colin Franke

Colin has been cooking and selling donuts on a voluntary basis for more than 10 years. His solo efforts have raised a lot of money for the Yorketown Progress Association and the money raised is distributed to community projects. He spends a lot of his free time cooking donuts at the hall during the day. Colin is a well-liked member of the community. He is also passionate about history and alerted several groups and clubs about upcoming anniversaries and can be seen lending a hand when required.

Community Event of the Year nominees

Artherton Pop Up Markets

The markets bring together a wide range of local small businesses, entertainers and community members at the town sporting complex. The markets showcase small business owners, provide a day out for the wider community, and have been described as "an incredible community event". Recently the event reached a big milestone, raising $10,000 for the Women's and Children's Hospital.

Maitland 150 years celebration

August was an exciting month for Maitland with a big weekend of celebrations for the town's 150th birthday. Maitland and District Progress Association held a jam-packed weekend for locals, past locals, tourists and nearby communities. Other service clubs and groups jumped on board to assist in bringing the celebration together. Events included a cemetery history walk, ecumenical church service, time capsule burial, vintage vehicle display, formal 150th celebration dinner featuring a fashion parade of important outfits from the past, the great sack truck race, native garden trail opening, markets, launch of the Maitland Pie and old-fashioned games for kids. In preparation for the event, volunteers planted in the garden beds to bring colour to the street.

Price Progress Association 140th celebration

Price Progress Association compiled a busy weekend of celebrations for the town's 140th anniversary in August, featuring everything from the opening of the school time capsule and a vintage fashion parade to a tractor pull and wheatsheaf tossing competition. The event brought members of the community closer together, helped to build healthy relationships and enhanced mental wellbeing. It also enhanced the town's identity which fosters a sense of pride within the community, encouraging local residents to take better care of the town and attracting new visitors and residents. The event created positive change by involving local residents, some of whom had been previously unwilling to volunteer.

MEMBERS of Footlight Dance Experience, based at Minlaton, competed in the Follow Your Dreams Nationals at the Adelaide Convention Centre last week.

Footlight Dance Experience director Kelly Cook said the dancers worked hard all year to make it to nationals, having to qualify at regionals first.

“They have to score 85 or higher to qualify and we were so proud to be attending,” Kelly said.

“The Footlight troupe, made up of Abby Berrands, Annabelle Cook, Charlotte Cook, Edward Liebelt, Isabella Fry, Isobel Cook, Matilda Cook and Skye Ormsby, turned it on bringing home runner-up national champions in 12 and under lyrical and contemporary, and the 12 and under jazz national championship.”

Footlight principal teacher Dana Trenowden said she was so proud of her dancers.

“They have been dedicated and passionate all year and this is their reward,” she said.

“For a small regional school to take out national champion is just amazing.”

Footlight Dance Experience runs recreational and competition classes in Minlaton and caters for ages 2 to adult in a variety of genres.

Soloists Edward Liebelt, Charlotte Cook, Skye Ormsby and Abby Berrands all performed well, each bringing home honourable mentions, with Edward getting an honourable mention plus.

Support builds for festival of iconic fish

SUPPORT is building for the annual Gynburra 2023 at Port Victoria on Friday and Saturday, January 27 and 28.

Organisers believe this could be the biggest event yet.

Gynburra, also known as butterfish or dusky morwong, are central to the culture of the Narungga people of Guuranda (Yorke Peninsula).

Gynburra were traditionally hunted with harpoons on reefs with the incoming tide.

Men would wade in the water and often make slight movements with their feet to stir sand which would attract the inquisitive and somewhat docile fish.

As the fish circled and ventured closer, the men would harpoon them with spears.

This tradition has been celebrated for the past 50 years through the Clem Graham Senior Memorial Butterfish Competition for Narungga men and boys, which recently opened up to the broader community and is now the major attraction of the annual Gynburra festival.

Festival organiser Garry Goldsmith of Wiri Miya Aboriginal Corporation said the Gynburra provided food security, communal and medicinal health, wellbeing and cultural identity for Narungga people.

Mr Goldsmith said support for the festival had been building amongst the broader community on YP.

“People can see a huge benefit for their own businesses but also for building their own knowledge of Narungga culture,” he said.

“It’s an opportunity for people to learn at their own pace at a casual and social event.”

Mr Goldsmith said numbers would also be boosted by the extra tourists this summer, who have chosen to holiday in this region partly due to flooding in the Riverland.

Gynburra 2023 will feature cultural performances, children’s entertainment, food stalls, an open-air movie night, the Women’s Pamper Day, fireworks display and more.

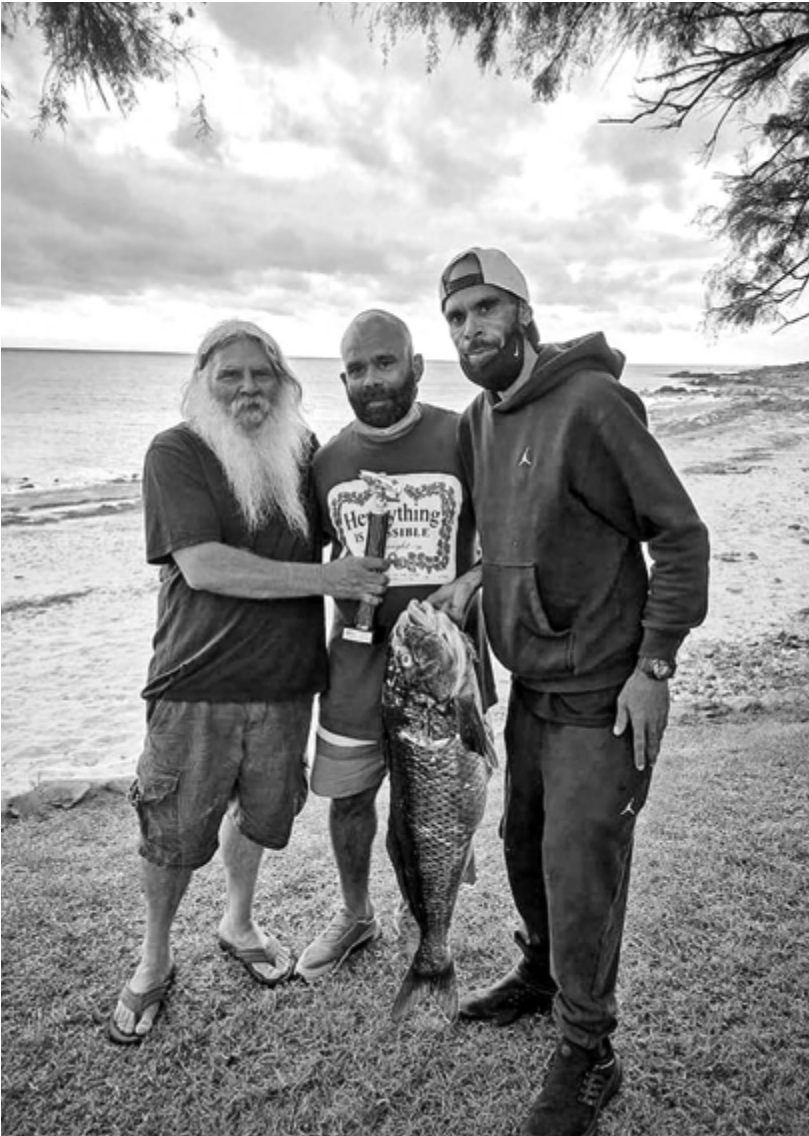

Fishers will compete to be named the Butterfish King or Butterfish Prince and win a share of more than $1000 prize money.

Registrations are now open across three age groups — under 18 years of age, open, and the newly introduced over 55 years category.

The festival will also feature information about a research project funded by Fisheries Research and Development Corporation, which is aimed at maintaining cultural practices and building knowledge and capacity to support sustainable fishing of the Gynburra.

Applications for stallholders at Gynburra 2023 are open to artists, service providers and other businesses.

For more information, go to gynburra.com.

Surfarama sells out

ORGANISERS of the 2023 Yorke Surfarama are calling the event the biggest on record.

The surf culture festival returned to Dave's Shearing Shed, south of Corny Point, for the first time since Covid-19 on Saturday, January 14.

A record number of tickets were sold online this year, with crowds gathering in the festival's core themes of surf culture and conservation.

Member of the Daly Head National Surfing Reserve, which organises the event, Ed Satanek said he'd never seen anything like this year's event.

"This is the biggest festival we've ever had," Mr Satanek said.

"We have had massive crowds before, but nothing like this.

"It's really great to see this sort of stuff being celebrated."

The festival featured performances by Oscar The Wild, Moshpit Girlfriend, and Kadina-based group Geezer.

There were stalls across the shed, featuring information on the Marna Banggara project and basket weaving sessions by artist Sonya Rankine.

Funds raised from the event will go towards the group's conservation projects and also other community needs.

THE TRAVEL PROFESSIONALS

A guiding light for 50 years

Michelle Daw
JOURNALIST

WHILE all Girl Guides must promise to do their best and serve their communities, there would be very few like Annie Hyland who can solemnly swear they have kept that promise for 50 years.

Annie was 12 years old when she made her promise in November 1972 at the Richmond Girl Guides in suburban Adelaide.

Since then, she has served the Girl Guide movement as the leader of the Kadina unit for 37 years, trained adult leaders, helped to run numerous state camps and even served as South Australian state manager of Girl Guides Australia.

She has attended Girl Guide events in New Zealand, the United Kingdom, India, Hong Kong, Singapore and China and was recently awarded the Asia Pacific Leadership Award.

In recognition of her outstanding service, Annie was treated to a recent surprise gathering of 20 family and friends, including her Guide Leader from 50 years ago, Janet Simmons, and her Ranger Guide Leader Fiona Thomson.

At the gathering, Annie was presented with gold membership of the World Association of Girl Guides and Girl Scouts Friends of the Asia Pacific Region and given a framed pictorial souvenir of her years a young guide.

Janet, who is a life member of Girl Guides SA, said Annie embodied the values underpinning the Girl Guide movement.

"She has been an inspiring influence to many girls and leaders, encouraging them to become self-confident and discover their potential as leaders in their world," Janet said.

Despite the accolades, Annie said the greatest satisfaction for her is to see young girls develop their potential.

"I love anything to do with helping other people and doing your best, just as we promise to do," she said.

"We provide a safe, welcoming space for girls to just be themselves, to share their thoughts and ideas with each other, and to reflect on where they are at that particular time in their lives.

"I remember when I was a young guide, we would go on camps and just chat for what seemed like the entire night."

Annie fondly remembers doing voluntary work at her local library and Meals on Wheels kitchen and trolley service at the Queen Elizabeth Hospital, when she took snacks, drinks and magazines around the wards and talked to the patients.

Annie is passionate about providing opportunities for all young girls, particularly those who are struggling with social isolation.

"There are a lot of opportunities for girls to pursue sport in country towns but Girl Guides provides a niche for girls who would like to explore other interests, get involved in their community and develop friendships," she said.

Annie's voluntary work is complemented by her career as an early childhood educator, which has included serving as teacher and director of the Kadina Pre School Centre for 15 years and as director of the Maitland Children's Centre for 10 years.

Annie now teaches part time at the Wallaroo Pre School Centre and is a partner in Wallaroo Treats and Treasures Cafe.

On the precise day of Annie's 50th anniversary in Girl Guides, the Kadina guides completed a series of activities just as Annie had in her Pre-Promise Challenge all those years ago.

They learned tracking signs, tried interval running, compared original and current Girl Guide world flags, made a beaded counter to record each day when they do a good turn to help someone, and looked at the wording of the promise Annie made and compared it with their own promises.

"Being involved in the Girl Guides has given me the opportunity to develop my confidence and leadership and to challenge myself in lots of different avenues, such as travelling and taking part in international events," she said.

"Being in the Girl Guides has an impact on every girl that comes through, in particular on their self-esteem and their confidence to take on new challenges."

service in rural areas of South Australia," Ms Wauchope said.

"Much of the success is due to effective co-operation between the Department for Education and Child Development, local government and the Libraries Board.

"Like the Local Government Association, which secured a 10-year funding agreement with the state government in 2011, Barunga West Council recognises the enormous contribution which libraries make

“This model of a school-based community library has proven remarkably successful in providing a public library service in rural areas of South Australia.”

– Maree Wauchope, Barunga West Council CEO

Council staff will work with the school's principal and governing council to review draft terms of reference for the committee, which will then go back to elected members.

BWC CEO Maree Wauchope said the committee would exist as a school-based service under a model created in 1975.

"This model of a school-based community library has proven remarkably successful in providing a public library to our community.

"They are no longer just places to borrow an amazing array of books and other resources, but provide internet access, education programs, pre-schooler education, support services for new migrants and online services, to name a few.

"Libraries build social capital, supporting the community and contributing to a range of social outcomes."

LIBRARY COMMITTEE... Barunga West Council mayor Leonie Kerley said she would be excited to see the Barunga West Community Library Committee up and running again later this year.

Apply now for Thriving Regions Funding

COMMUNITY-BASED groups are encouraged to apply for the state government's new Thriving Regions Fund.

Through the fund, formerly known as the Regional Growth Fund, incorporated associations and registered charities, show societies, chambers of commerce, or local charity groups can apply for grants of between $20,000 and $50,000.

This funding can be used in conjunction with other funding channels for small projects which build social resilience, a sense of belonging and ease of access.

"Our regions contribute $29 billion to the state's economy (each year), and we look forward to rolling out this program and several others as we work together with communities to build even stronger regions," Minister for Regional Development Clare Scriven said.

"Our regional areas are great places to live and work and this grant program will enable community-focused projects that further enhance liveability."

Applications will close once the full funding amount has been allocated, or by June 30.

Moonta and Districts Probus Club

MOONTA and Districts Probus Club members enjoyed a shared lunch at the Moonta Golf Club on Monday, January 9.

President Marg Bastian offered birthday greetings to Fay Roesler, Lynnette Williams, Doug Warming-ton, Rosina Gould and Gregory Gerbligh, and congratulated June and Denis Healy for their recent wedding anniversary.

New members John and Pauleen Hounslow gave a brief talk about their life, family and reasons for retiring to the Copper Coast.

Travel director Richard Bastian spoke about the proposed camping/caravan excursion to Murray Bridge and surrounds in mid-October.

Guest speaker, RAA representative Tony Ey covered a multitude of subjects, including emergency road services, negotiating traffic, new technologies in car design, and the safety aspects of being a driver, rider or pedestrian.

He said research indicated older folk are mostly good drivers and road users; however, the effects of accidents and injury are often more severe on older, more fragile bodies.

A video showing ANCAP vehicle crash testing indicated the value of seat belts, airbags and motor vehicle safety innovations.

Quality road surfaces and other factors, including good knowledge of road rules, help to reduce accidents, injury and fatalities.

Aspects of using public transport, avoiding dangerous conditions, being aware of medication effects, et cetera, were discussed; patience and courtesy with other road users helps reduce incidents.

Tony said he was pleased with members' knowledge of current road rules.

Graham Hancock thanked Tony for his excellent presentation, to much applause.

Sandra Paddick from Helloworld Travel Kadina is guest speaker at the club's next meeting, on Monday, February 6.

Secretary Helen Colliver invites retirees interested in Probus to telephone her on 0419 839 869.

THANK YOU... Graham Hancock and Marg Bastian thank Tony Ey (middle) from the RAA for his informative talk. Left: SHARED LUNCH... Shirley Arney, Pat Suffolk and Helen Bishop enjoy the Moonta Probus Club shared lunch.

FELLOWSHIP... Dulcie Barker, Denis Healy, June Healy and Lorraine Burford enjoy a chat at the Moonta Probus luncheon.

New chapter for RDAYMN

REGIONAL Development Australia Yorke and Mid North will soon have a new CEO.

Kelly-Anne Saffin is moving on to take the CEO role at the Adelaide Metro RDA after more than 12 years with Yorke and Mid North.

During the past 12 years, RDAYMN has facilitated more than $861.93 million of regional investment, assisted 724 local businesses with grant applications, created 880 jobs through business assisted, worked intensively with 9346 organisations, businesses and community groups, and hosted 21,945 attendances at workshops, events and activities.

"The communities and businesses of the Yorke and Mid North can appreciate the significant contribution RDAYMN has made to literally billions of dollars' worth of economic development in our region over that time," board chairperson Bill Vandeppeer said.

"Though Kelly-Anne is leaving RDAYMN, we are pleased she is not leaving the RDA network entirely and will continue her work in driving the development of regional South Australia.

"We congratulate Kelly-Anne on a stellar career in our region and look forward to seeing her contribution in her new role."

Ms Saffin said she enjoyed the privilege afforded by the board to drive economic outcomes for the region.

"To also work with such talented staff over the course of my tenure, who have shared the passion and commitment for Yorke and Mid North, has been a joy," she said.

Economic and workforce manager Daniel Willson will be the acting CEO while McArthur has been engaged for the recruitment process.

BACK TO SCHOOL

Avoid back-to-school asthma spike

PARENTS and carers of children with asthma are encouraged to book in an asthma check-up to avoid the back-to-school asthma spike.

National Asthma Council Australia Guidelines Committee member and paediatric respiratory physician Dr Louisa Owens said right now is a great time to help get children asthma-ready for the school year ahead.

"Going back to school should be an exciting time for kids and the last thing they want is an asthma flare-up that might see them end up in hospital or missing out on fun activities," Dr Owens said.

"Good asthma control is key to a healthy and safe start to the school year for the one in nine Australian children living with asthma."

Dr Owens said Covid-19 case numbers are expected to surge following Christmas and holiday celebrations and it was important for children with asthma to be vaccinated, if possible, before the start of the school year.

"If parents are unsure about getting their child with asthma vaccinated, then we encourage them to have a discussion with their GP before their child starts the 2023 school year," she said.

"January is an ideal time to have a full asthma check-up with your GP including a review of your child's Written Asthma Action Plan, medications and inhaler technique for relievers and preventers ahead of the February back-to-school asthma spike."

The sharp rise in children being admitted to hospital with asthma in February each year is thought to be due to a change of environment or allergens, sharing a new set of bugs with classmates, which can trigger colds and respiratory infections and possibly missing preventer doses over the holidays.

NAC also suggests parents share a copy of the up-to-date action plans with school staff and after-school carers, while also making sure children know to tell school staff when they have asthma symptoms.

To find out more, visit nationalasthma.org.au.

PREPARED... Parents and carers of children with asthma are encouraged to update their action plans and refresh their techniques before going back to school.

Opportunities created at university centre

Advertising Promotion

YORKE Peninsula residents have the opportunity to study closer to home, thanks to the Copper Coast University Centre and Uni Hub Spencer Gulf.

A wide range of locally supported degrees is available through the Uni Hub's university partners, CQ University, Flinders University and the University of Adelaide. These degrees are in the fields of health and community support, engineering, education and business management.

Students studying one of these supported degrees can access a wide range of academic and course support.

"The Uni Hub helps students every step of the way for these supported degrees – from the enrolment process with the universities and orientation week, through to ongoing support throughout their studies with face-to-face mentoring, tutorials and industry placements," campus coordinator Sue Barry said.

"It means students don't have to go it alone."

In addition, any student studying at an Australian university can access the Copper Coast University Centre free of charge.

The centre, in the Kadina library, is accessible to any tertiary enrolled student from 6am to midnight, seven days a week.

"We give students the space to study in peace, without the interruptions they may face in a home environment," campus coordinator Sue Barry said.

The centre was established by the Copper Coast Council through the federal government's Regional University Centre Program.

DIRECTION... The Copper Coast University Centre is helping local students achieve their academic goals while staying on Yorke Peninsula.

Talbot selected in Opals extended squad

OPAL... Stephanie Talbot, in action against the Sydney Flames, has been selected in the Opals extended squad ahead of the 2023 Asia Cup and 2024 Olympics.

Peter Argent
REPORT BY

Kadina basketball star Stephanie Talbot has been chosen in the extended Opals squad in preparation for the 2023 Asia Cup and 2024 Olympics.

It comes as no surprise, with Talbot gaining All-Star first five honours at the FIBA Women's Basketball World Cup in September.

The squad, except its European players, will head to Canberra for a camp at the elite AIS National Training Centre in March.

Head coach Sandy Brondello said she is impressed by the depth of talent available for selection.

"There is no doubt the World Cup was fantastic, but all our attention is now firmly on the future, and we have some really exciting talent I look forward to working with," she said.

"The camp will give us the opportunity to bring back our seasoned athletes and mix them with emerging talent in what will be a very competitive environment.

"We have to keep investing in the future and immersing them in the Opals culture so they know physically and mentally what it takes to play at the highest level.

"I've been watching a lot of WNBL games and I am really impressed with the talent, I look forward to working with these athletes at the camp.

"I'm excited to go back to the Centre of Excellence, it's been a while I have to say.

"I'm sure it will bring back a lot of memories and I feel really honoured to be coming back here as a former graduate and now having the privilege to be coaching the national team."

Talbot has been the Adelaide Lightning's leading performer this year, with her best offensive performance (22 points, 12 rebounds) coming against Melbourne Boomers in December.

She is averaging 12.8 points, 7.5 rebounds and 4.5 assists across her first 13 games of the 2022-23 WNBL campaign.

Learning experience for under 12s

Peter Argent
REPORT BY

The Yorke Peninsula side posted a strong win in its first match of the SACA Under 12 Boys Country Zone Carnival, held Monday to Thursday, January 9 to 12.

“It (this carnival) was a strong learning experience for the playing group,” coach Callum Agnew said.

“Our players will certainly grow from the exercise.

“The Monday afternoon game was our best performance across the week.

“This group got more tired the further the event went.”

After being in trouble at 9/37 against South East, number 10 and 11 batters Lukas Rowe and Joseph Jenkins produced a critical 38-run 10th wicket stand.

YP reached a total of 75 before quick Zander Read collected three top order victims to set up the game, finishing with 3/5.

Rowe, after his pivotal 12 not out, secured 2/4 while opening bowler Leo Honner effected a run out to go with his wicket.

When the final wicket fell on 59, YP celebrated its remarkable 16-run triumph.

Playing Fleurieu and Districts in the second game at Eudunda Oval, YP fell agonizingly seven runs short of a total of 138.

Both Henley Dutschke and Seth Colliver led the way with the ball, both claiming 2/14 from three over spells.

Opening bowlers Colliver (15) and Noah Macgowan (14) gave the team a solid 34-run opening partnership, while Darcy Walsh was the mainstay of the run chase with an aggressive 37, including seven fours.

Jenkins remained 16 not out as the side finished on 9/131.

Fielding first on day three at Stockwell, the side chased plenty of leather as Mid North made 8/160.

Colliver was again the pick of the bowlers with 2/17 from three overs.

Oakley Schulz top scored with 22, including two fours, while Dutschke remained not out on 20.

The final contest on day four was a game to forget, with YP sent packing for 34.

Murray Districts chased down the total in just 5.1 overs for the loss of a single wicket.

Read collected 1/11 from his two overs.

Under 14s finish carnival with a win

Peter Argent
REPORT BY

Yorke Peninsula's under 14 side finished the 2023 SACA Under 14 Boys Country Zones Carnival on a high note. After losing its other three matches earlier in the week, YP took on Murray Districts/Barrier on the final day and won. A brilliant 106-run second wicket partnership between Brodie Hines and Curtis Read was the backbone of this victory last Thursday, January 12. "Among our highlights was Brodie (Hines) and Curtis (Read)

putting on a 100-run partnership against Murray Districts/Barrier," coach Matthew Petherick said. "Will Miller made 21 against a strong Eyre Peninsula side on Wednesday which was a great effort for a bottom-aged player. "Our spinners Angus Petherick (2/5 off six overs) and Anthony Marchetto (1/16 off six overs) bowled well in tandem to set up a win on the last day. "Zeke Charles was also good finishing with 2/6. "Our bowling unit as a whole was very good all week. "The seamers Oscar Macgowan, Cash Meyers, Joseph Honner and Zeke were economical without a lot of luck all week and the spinners did their job well across all four games. "Joseph and Cash (Meyers) were great in the field and provided some valuable innings with the bat across the week." Hines retired on 52 in Thursday's win, facing 106 balls and dispatching a trio of boundaries while Read made 39 off 72 deliveries, including hitting three fours. Defending a total of 8/147, the victory was assured with Murray Districts/Barrier bowled out for 72 in the 34th over.

WNBL

Adelaide Lightning squandered a massive 19-point half-time lead, to go down to the Sydney Flames 77-81 last Thursday, January 12.

Captain Stephanie Talbot (Kadina) only played the first five minutes and 14 seconds of the game and her loss was felt for the remainder of the contest.

Before heading to the bench, Talbot scored two points, grabbed a rebound and engineered two assists.

Talbot missed the Lightning's Saturday night loss against Bendigo Spirit 68-86 due to injury.

BBL

Thomas Kelly (Bute connections) faced the final ball of the Adelaide Strikers innings against the Melbourne Renegades, remaining one not out on Tuesday, January 10.

The Strikers batted first and made 4/202, ultimately winning by 20 runs.

Kelly took a smart catch to dismiss Marcus Harris.

The Strikers were bundled out for 108 against the Melbourne Stars at the MCG last Thursday, January 12.

Kelly was dismissed for six as the Stars won by nine wickets.

Adelaide hosted Brisbane Heat on Saturday, January 14.

The Heat won by 17 runs, with Kelly relegated to 12th man.

SACA men's first grade

West Torrens was unable to extract outright points on day two of its clash with Woodville.

After the Eagles declared at 9/185, 67 runs ahead of the Peckers, Woodville batted again and was 6/208 at stumps.

Murphy Short (Eastern District) collected 1/37 from eight overs, while James Reuther (Coobowie) added to his duck earlier in the day, with 0/15 from four overs.

Ben Turley (Kadina) finished on 25 not out, hitting three boundaries in his 53 ball stay.

SACA men's second grade

Woodville batted all of day two, but finished 84 runs shy of victory against West Torrens, with the Eagles declaring at 5/346 on day one.

Lachlan Pointon (Curramulka) finished with 0/19 from eight overs, including a pair of maidens.

SACA women's first grade

West Torrens and Adelaide played at Henley Memorial Oval, where bat dominated against ball.

Batting first, the Eagles made 7/257 but Adelaide reached the total in 46.3 overs for the loss of four wickets.

Maitland's Mackenzie McCauley made a first ball duck and finished with the figures of 0/52 from 10 overs.

SACA women's second grade

West Torren dismissed hosts Northern Jets for 88 in 36.1 overs.

Quick Claire Harvey (Yorketown) ripped through the middle order, finishing with 4/12 off six overs.

Despite being 0/24, Eagles were unable to chase down the required total, falling six runs short.

Harvey made a first ball duck.

BBL... Thomas Kelly carried his bat in the Adelaide Strikers clash against Melbourne Renegades.

Senior side ready for SA country champs

Peter Argent
REPORT BY

The 98th annual SACA Senior Country Cricket Championships will be held across suburban Adelaide from Monday, January 30 to Thursday, February 2.

A competitive 14-man squad has been picked to represent Yorke Peninsula, consisting of six players from both the lower Yorke and Yorke Peninsula competitions, with bowlers Chris Marshall and Jordan Taylor coming across from the Lower North Cricket Club at Balaklava.

Yorke Peninsula's opening game is against Northern at Glandore Oval, followed by a pair of fixtures against the Barossa and Light, and Alice Springs, both at Henley Memorial Oval, on Tuesday and Wednesday respectively.

The grand final is scheduled for Adelaide Oval no. 2 and the other three cross-over games are at Park 25.

Coach for the past 26 years, Ian Ravenscroft said the YP team had been competitive for the past two decades and there was no reason that would change.

"Alistair Price will skipper the side this year, with Angus Glazbrook, who comes back from SA Outbacks duties, is his deputy," he said.

"Tom Rankine from Stansbury, who has played in a number of seasons of country carnival cricket, is my assistant for this campaign."

Ravenscroft said the selected team was a strong mix of youth and experienced cricketers.

"There are four spinners in our combination, which will take the burden off the quicks in these 50-over matches across four consecutive days," he said.

"Luke James, who is accomplished behind the stumps, will continue to complete the duties of wicketkeeper.

"Our first-timers include Paskeville all-rounders Luke Harrop and Austin Smith, who comes with strong recommendations from Adam Pitt, along with Wallaroo leg spinner Cameron Harris."

YP last won the SA Country Cup title in 2021 after a grand final draw, sharing the crown with Barossa and Light. Blake Gutsche was team captain

In 2019, Ayden Smith led the peninsula to a victory at Karen Rolton Oval.

YP has collected seven titles in the past 16 years after the breakthrough win of 2006.

SELECTED...Warooka's Nathan Allen, bowling in the 2017 Favell-Woon Cup match at Adelaide Oval no. 2, has been selected to play in the SACA Senior Country Cricket Championships for 2023.

Returning Eagle to coach Broughton-Mundoora

Peter Argent
REPORT BY

Dual Broughton-Mundoora premiership defender Thomas Wheelan will return to the club as playing coach after a season with the Henley Sharks in the Adelaide Football League.

Having turned 28 this month, the key defender is looking forward to the challenge of taking over from reigning premiership mentor Nick Hewett.

"Rian Crane will be my assistant based in Broughton and he will be helped by DP (Dylan Hewett)," Wheelan said.

"I need to work on the public speaking side of it, but I have a number of ideas on how the game should be played which I'm looking to implement as a coach.

"I'm the type of coach who would prefer a high scoring shootout to a dour low scoring affair.

"Rather than playing boring football, I prefer rolling the dice and backing my group in to get the job done."

From Bordertown in the Kowree-Naracoorte-Tatiara competition, Wheelan played senior football in his teens, before playing under 18 and reserves football at Glenelg in the SANFL.

Wheelan arrived at the Eagles in 2017 and enjoyed the euphoria of flag-winning success with the club in 2019 and 2020.

Wheelan was also named the club's best and fairest in 2020.

He represented the Northern Zone in his first year in the Northern Areas Football Association and again in 2021.

COMING BACK... Newly announced Broughton-Mundoora playing coach Thomas Wheelan playing for the club during the 2017 finals series.

Heating up on approach to season's end

"The Finger Roll"
REPORT BY

How great was it to get on the court for the first time in 2023? I've been reliably informed Friday evening was hot — thanks to both the air temperature and the high-octane action on the court.

As we turn for home in the 2022-23 season, things will get tight, and those who can handle the pressure will be big assets to their team in the race for finals.

We're blessed to have such a thriving competition which provides entertainment and activity every Friday night.

We might have the match of the year in the Men's A competition coming up this Friday between Arthurton and Paskeville, so if you can get down there to watch, do so!

Tips
A MEN
Kadina v Bute

It's been an up and down season for Kadina but two wins on the bounce presumably has it in a good place. Will Schultz continued his positive season, registering 15 points against Moonta, taking his average points per game for the year to 11.44; fifth in the competition. Bute hasn't been able to put a consistent run of form together this year but, with a deep pool of players to choose from, will be covered soundly for the remainder of the season. The Roosters be riding on a high after upsetting second-placed Paskeville by five points last week. At the final buzzer... Kadina by 10 points.

Wallaroo v Moonta

Moonta was undone by a solid Kadina outfit last week and is firmly rooted to the bottom of the premiership ladder. Despite the result, Rhustie Adona stood up with an impressive 23 points. If he can continue that form, it'll go a long way to the Blazers chalking up a victory. Wallaroo also lost last week, but isn't far off the top few places on the table. Wallaroo might find it hard going against those teams above it, but should get the job done against Moonta. At the final buzzer... Wallaroo by 15.

Arthurton v Paskeville

This could be a cracker of a game; first versus second. The first time the two sides met this season it was Paskeville which was victorious by 33 points; the second it was Arthurton which turned the table to win by 13. Arthurton was dominant last week, amazingly without gun young and experienced campaigners Matt Thompson and Sam Jacobs. Paskeville let slip a big chance to keep as close to Arthurton at the top of the table as possible, falling short to Bute. Although tight, I think that might be the case again. At the final buzzer... Arthurton by one.

A WOMEN

Kadina v Arthurton

In one of two forfeits in this competition last week, Kadina picked up the points against Paskeville in the easiest fashion possible. Arthurton has built itself a platform to launch from for the second half of the season and a win against third-placed Kadina might be just the place to start. The last time they played it was the Tigers who got the chocolates, prevailing by seven points and I expect it to be similar this time also. At the final buzzer... Arthurton by six.

Bute v Paskeville

Bute had to a forfeit last week but could afford to, as it was just its first loss for the 2022-23. It has looked strong all season and does not look likely to relent when gifted a whole squad on the court either. Bute's Dani Richardson leads all comers as the leading point scorer for the season (68) and I suspect won't be in the mood to stop any time soon. Paskeville has struggled immensely this season and could use a win to potentially move up one place on the ladder.

At the final buzzer... Bute by nine.

YVBA A MEN... Angus Hunter-Price, Wallaroo, tries to find a way between Arthurton players Anthony Oliphant and Alex Elsworthy.

YVBA C WOMEN... Ella Champion, Moonta, looks for a teammate to pass to as she is defended by Bute's Eloise Guest.

YVBA A MEN... Wallaroo's Zyndel Galvez and Copper Promnitz, Arthurton, clash as they try to gain control of the ball.

Northern Yorke Peninsula...

Heat disrupts open comp

Joan Hill
REPORT BY

Saturday competition

Northern Yorke Peninsula Bowling Association's heat rule impacted Saturday's games.

With Kadina's maximum temperature forecast to be 38 degrees, division III matches were cancelled.

Divisions I and II games started at 9am and stopped when the mercury reached 38.

Regarding the heat rule, was starting at 9am a success?

Games played at Wallaroo, with its undercover facility, fared best. Would night games have been better?

Did the heat actually affect anyone?

DIVISION I

Second-placed Paskeville, playing at home, should have started favourite against eighth-placed Ardrossan; however, Ardrossan won 97-72.

Paskeville has now slipped third on the ladder, relinquishing second to Kadina, which defeated Arthurton.

Kadina had two teams up at home, with Derrick Bushell, Roger Spry, Graham Wilson and Wendy Venning's 23-9 helping the side to a 63-55 victory. Moonta won a shortened game 55-46 at Bute; Bute had one winning rink (Brett Herbert 12-9) and a draw.

The visitors' biggest winner was Steve Jolly's team, 17-8. Winning all four rinks at home, Wallaroo was far too strong for Maitland.

DIVISION II

There were no close games in div II. Kadina defeated Port Broughton by 51 shots, Moonta Red won by 45 at Arthurton, and Moonta Blue was 42 shots up at Wallaroo; Paskeville had to forfeit to Ardrossan.

What caused all the big wins? Was it the heat?

This Saturday

DIVISION I

After round 12, Wallaroo continues to sit comfortably at top of the ladder and Kadina has climbed to second.

Moonta will likely move into third over the next few weeks, and Arthurton and Paskeville will fight it out for that fourth finals berth.

This week, Arthurton travels to Bute and will badly want the premierships points, but the home side may just win this one.

Moonta hosts Maitland and needs a win to climb the ladder.

Kadina is at home to Ardrossan, which played extremely well against Paskeville last week.

Ardrossan will hope to continue its good form but Kadina, working its way towards finals from now on, will be the better side on the day.

Wallaroo will be after another big win

when Port Broughton comes to play.

Paskeville's bye will prove costly to its finals' aspirations.

DIVISION II

Top side Moonta Red will host second-placed Wallaroo White for what should be the game of the round; Moonta Red will make the most of its home-ground advantage.

Moonta Blue (third) should win in Kadina (fifth), as should Wallaroo Mines (fourth) against Ardrossan (sixth) at the Mines.

Port Broughton, at home, is favoured to defeat Bute.

Paskeville travels to Arthurton, which will win on its home green.

Paskeville, Arthurton and Alford are tied at the bottom of the ladder on 54 points but are well separated by their score differences.

DIVISION III

After the heat ruling last week, div III should play its first games for 2023 this Saturday.

Game of the round will be between Wallaroo Blue and Kadina; I will go for Wallaroo purely because it is playing at home.

Other wins should come from Moonta Blue, Wallaroo White and Port Broughton.

Thursday competition

DIVISION I

Moonta remains unbeaten at the top of the ladder after its defeat of second-placed Wallaroo 77-64 at Wallaroo last Thursday.

Moonta had three teams up with the best being Sharon Cavanagh, Helen Moulds, Kay Johns and Jenny Emmerton 24-12.

Third-placed Arthurton hosted fourth-placed Port Broughton and had a six-shot win; Arthurton is a very good side at home.

Port Broughton will need some wins the coming weeks to hold its ladder position.

Kadina (seventh) had a good win at Bute (eighth), 83-59, with three teams up.

Maitland, at home, was too good for Ardrossan. Maitland had three teams up with Judith Davies' team the best, up 23-10.

DIVISION II

Top side Moonta Blue had an 88-52 win against Moonta Green (sixth).

Wallaroo had three teams up at home against Paskeville for a 20-shot victory.

Alford travelled to Ardrossan where it won 92-74.

Next Thursday

DIVISION I

Arthurton hosts Bute and will be far too strong for the visitors.

Wallaroo travels to Maitland. Can Wallaroo win away from home? At Maitland, yes.

Moonta trips north to Port Broughton where it should remain unbeaten but the home side will try its best for an upset.

Game of the round is Kadina versus Ardrossan; although Kadina will badly want this one, the visitors will have a happy drive home.

DIVISION II

Top side Moonta Blue hosts second-placed Wallaroo and will aim to make the most of its home-green advantage.

Wallaroo Mines may just score a closely fought win at Alford.

Ardrossan travels to Paskeville, where the home side should be victorious.

Southern Yorke Peninsula...

Late cancellations
frustrate bowlers

“NN”
REPORT BY

Saturday competition

There were many disgruntled Southern Yorke Peninsula Bowling Association open competition players after games were called off at a late stage on Saturday, January 14.

One club cancelled before the deadline due to its greens being unplayable; another saw the weather forecast and pulled the pin.

Northern YPBA’s heat rule meant its divisions I and II games began at 9am — with the vast majority played to a result — and div III games were scratched.

One has to ask, why doesn’t the SYPBA have early starts when the forecast is for hot weather?

Such decisions could be made earlier in the day or the day before.

The cancellation meant many bowlers haven’t had competition bowls for more than five weeks.

Thursday competition

What a week it was for the women’s competition with relatively close margins in all first and second division matches

The largest score difference was Stansbury div I’s Stansbury 19-shot defeat of Port Vincent.

Warooka lost both its games to Edithburgh sides, div I by two shots, and div II by a single shot to Edithburgh Green.

The loss by Warooka div I — last season’s runner-up — has made it all the harder for the side to make the final four this time around.

Its fate may well come down to this week’s Curramulka versus Warooka match.

Minlaton div I lost by one shot at Port Victoria, and Yorketown hosted Curramulka for a nine-shot defeat.

Wallaroo Sailing Club

With winds too unpredictable to call, the sail trainees stayed on land and spent time in the classroom refining their safety knowledge on Sunday, January 15.

Our more experienced sailors took to the water on an afternoon where sailing became an excellent spectator sport.

The wind was a south-easterly; its speed didn’t reach the forecast 18 knots but, coming straight off the land, it caused a small chop and no swell leading to fast sailing.

The Fireball crew had a spectacular capsize at the windward mark and a brilliant recovery to continue the race, even managing a spinnaker run back up to the leeward mark.

The run for the finish was very competitive with the Fireball and a Tasar crossing the line together gunnel.

BOWLS

Alford: Results 12-1-23 — Thursday division II women travelled to Ardrossan and won 92-74 with three rinks up. June Roberts (sk), Cynthia Pearce, Jude Davey, Kym Price 28-15; Rose Pearce (sk), Lorraine Hotchin, Cheryl Price, Russell Gibb 26-19; Sue Beck (sk), Bronwyn Du Toit, Jude Goodchild, Ray Wallis 21-18; Denise Hocking (sk), Josie Gibb, Leonie Roberts, Richard Jesser 17-22. A big thank you to Cynthia Pearce and Jude Goodchild from Wallaroo Mines Bowling Club for filling in for us. Results 14-1-23 — Saturday div II open gender travelled to Bute for an early start due to the forecast hot weather. Unfortunately the temperature reached 38 degrees at 10.45am, before the required 60 ends were played, so both sides shared the points. RW

Ardrossan Thursday: Results 12-1-23 — Division I travelled to Maitland and, disappointingly, only one team was successful; overall 68-90. Annette Rowntree, Rosie Stern, Lorraine Linke and Cheryl Werner completed their game four shots up. They trailed after 12 ends 15-14 but slowly increased their lead to finish 25-21. A rewarding effort. Pat Coombe, Jenny Ey, Belinda Meredith and Jackie Errington lost by a disheartening single shot, 21-22. This team stayed on 10 shots for eight ends, drew even on the 17th but fell short. A solid performance. The remaining two teams had substantial losses against stronger opponents. Even with the low scores, some exceptional bowls were played. Thanks to coach Len Rich for attending this game. Div II played at home against Alford, losing 74-92. Dawn Woolford's team of Irene Greig, Margie Quinn and Ray Jackson was the only winner, 22-17, a great outcome. They led 16-4 halfway through but Alford fought back, Ardrossan scoring on only a further three ends. Losing by only three shots, 18-21, Trish Burman, Kerrie Aldridge, Marlene Houghton and Mark Quinn drew even on the 12th end at 11-all, gained the lead again at the 18th end 18-16, only to drop five over the last two ends. Kath Bradtke, Lyn Rollbusch, Keith Stanner and Margie Tonkin had a frustrating game. They led but then remained on eight shots for five ends mid-way through. Alford slowly increased its score to finish 19-26. The remaining team lost soundly 15-28. CS

Ardrossan Saturday: Results 14-1-23 — Division I had success against Paskeville 97-72. It was a Rowntree day with both skippers' teams producing the largest winning margins. B Cowan, G Covino, C Vargas and F Rowntree (sk) built on early scores to take control of the game for a 28-8 dominance. It wasn't a lot different for A Rowntree, R Hill, M Shaw and Ben Rowntree (sk) when they surged to a strong lead, then regularly won ends for a 30-10 victory. L Rich's rink burst from the blocks to set up a defendable margin, responding to a powerful comeback with a confident 28-19 win. D Adcock's team found it difficult to get a hold on the game, falling well behind during its opponent's onslaught for an 11-35 scoreline. Div II and div III received forfeits from Paskeville and Wallaroo Mines respectively. LBB

Bottom End Bowls at Warooka: Results 15-1-23 — Bottom End Bowls day at Warooka on Sunday was enjoyed by all who attended. Seven rinks were filled in much better weather and with very little wind. Players came from Tanunda,

Woodville, Maitland, Wallaroo Mines and SYP. Touchers: Jim Cameron, Chris "Tatch" Tatchell from Edithburgh, Jim McKenzie and Peter Drury. Kenn Rogers presented the winning teams. Winners Robert Tilbrook, Marshall Thompson, Lyndon Watters and Neville Watters (Curramulka); second Jim Dimasi, Sam Marafiato, Nick Mylonas, Michael Haywood (Woodville); third Garry Robinson, Les Walker, Deon Heidenreich, John Handcock (Edithburgh). Food was glorious from the many reports, well done Jan Taheny and her helpers. "Wensie"

Maitland Thursday: Results 12-1-23 — The first week of pennants for 2023, Maitland hosted Ardrossan in very warm weather made bearable by a slight breeze. J Davies, M Burrows, B Brown, G Jarrett had a good start, leading 5-1 after five ends Ardrossan slowly pegged back and was only down 7-11 after 13 ends Maitland was too strong, winning five out of the next seven ends for final scores 23-10, which won them the club biros. M Wuttke, M Saunders, M James (first game back after a few weeks out due to illness), C Tucker also had a good start, leading 7-2 after five ends They forged ahead, winning seven of the next eight ends, up 19-4. Ardrossan scored a 4 and a 2, closing the gap 19-10, but Maitland held on to win 24-12, missing out on the biros by one shot. J Prosser, R Cameron, S Honner, J Kelly allowed Ardrossan to lead 10-3 on the sixth end but, winning the next seven ends, went ahead 17-10. By the 17th end. scores were level 19-19. Maitland scored on the next two ends 22-19; final scores 22-21, a close game. J Hollams, B Downs, M Stock, T Harding also had a close match 7-7 on the sixth end. Both teams battled on, 14-14 on 11th end; by the 14th end, Ardrossan had moved ahead 20-17. Maitland came back on the 16th end, 19-20. Ardrossan won 25-21. With three rinks up, Maitland was overall winner 90-68. It was great to have a win the first week back, the break must have done us good. "Kitty-Jack?"

Maitland Saturday: Results 14-1-23 — Division I had an early morning start at Wallaroo due to the 38 degree temperature ruling. With four rinks down and hot conditions even in the "shed", there was not much joy for Maitland. Best team T Poole, P Hallett, J Prosser, B Fuss started well, 8-1 up after five ends, 11-2 after nine ends. Wallaroo settled, winning the next seven ends to lead 12-11. Finishing well on the last three ends, Wallaroo won 25-15. G Treloar, M Button, G Downs, K Cross's match was even in ends won and lost; however, with Wallaroo having some large multiples, Maitland lost 22-38. T Wuttke, L Harper, C Kelly, M Smart's scoring was similar, with Maitland winning 12 ends and Wallaroo 13, but losing also by 16 shots, 21-37. Wallaroo overall was much too strong for Maitland, especially on its home surface, final scores Wallaroo 145, Maitland 69. All third division matches were abandoned due to the heat rule (no play if Kadina's forecast is for 38 degrees or more). "Kitty-Jack?"

Moonta Saturday: Results 14-1-23 — The resumption of play after the break was not without disruption due to the weather. The top two divisions played in the morning but with a reduced number of ends to achieve a result and div III was abandoned. Div I got most of the points at Bute, winning 55-46 with two rinks, a draw and a loss. Best: Steve Jolly, Bob Bradley, Kevin Sorrell, Michael Collins. Div

II Red, away at Kadina, had a big win considering the reduced format, 90-45, all rinks up. Best: Jeff "Tojo" Adams, Graham Curtis, John Pearson, Jenny Emmerton. Div II Blue, at home to Wallaroo Blue, won 78-36 with three rinks up. Best: Scott Wilson, Jack Gallagher, Lance Rawlinson, Gordon Davis.

Paskeville: Last week was not the best we have had. Harvest was over, but then the heat hit. With the early start for the open competition on Saturday, some were helping at the markets and some were away on holidays. Second division had to forfeit and div I had scores I couldn't believe. Ardrossan was far too good. Ric Schild, Garry Willson, Matthew Ward and Bruce Daniel were our only winners, 35-11. As a result, Paskeville has dropped from second to third on the ladder so, with a bye this week, we will need to get back to our early form. The women's side played at Wallaroo last Thursday. The home side was far too good for us, Wallaroo having a 20-shot win. Denise Hill, Jane Hill, Stella Bates and Pam Gillie were our only winners 21-14. "One-eyed Maggie"

Wallaroo Thursday: Results 12-1-23 — Division I hosted Moonta for the first match back after the break. Scores: Wallaroo 64 (2), Moonta 77 (14). Others: Joy Emms 20-14, Marg Ross 19-16, Mim Topham 14-21. Congratulations Dianne Milner and Leanne Jolly on being selected for the 2023 Country Round Robin. "Win"

Home with a view

SITUATED in a quiet street with a cul-de-sac, and surrounded by other quality homes, this spacious three-bedroom home has an outstanding rural view so good, you won't want to leave, according to Blights Real Estate property consultant Jade Greenslade.

"Walking into the home for the first time, you'll notice a feeling of spaciousness," Jade says.

"This is due to the wide hallway and 11.5-foot-high ceilings — you don't find many newer built homes with a ceiling height like this anymore.

"The garage looks like a normal double garage from the front; however, when you look inside, you'll notice one of the bays is longer than the other and is perfect for a boat.

"The main bedroom has a ceiling fan, walk-in robe and is large enough for a king size bed.

"There is also a comfortably sized ensuite with an oversized shower.

"Two other queen-sized bedrooms have a ceiling fan and built in robes.

"The main three-way bathroom is located close to the other two bedrooms and boasts an oversized shower.

"At the rear of the home, you'll find the open plan kitchen, living and dining area, kept comfortable all year round with a reverse-cycle split-system air conditioner.

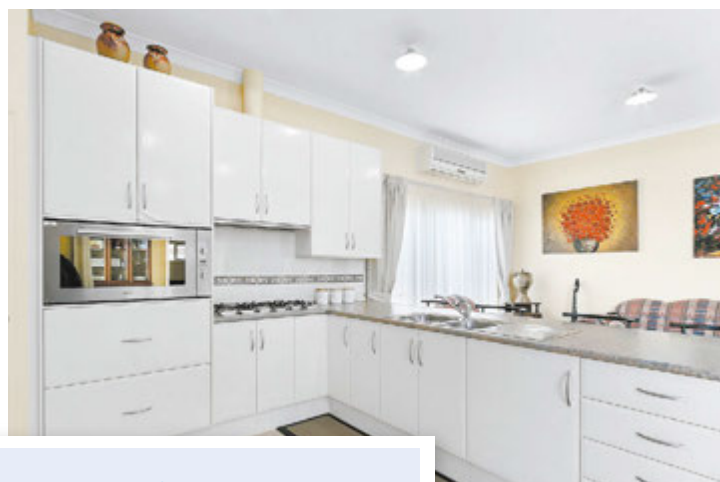

"The kitchen is well appointed and has of a large 900mm electric wall unit oven as well as an oversized gas hotplate, and ample cupboard and bench space.

"The lounge room is also located at the rear of the home and is more like a theatre room, which can be closed off to the rest of the house with double doors.

"When entering into the rear of the home, you can't help but notice the stunning rural view.

"Outside you will find a very well-presented terraced and landscaped backyard including lawn and fruit trees, as well as two 10,000L rainwater tanks, which can be used to water the garden."

Private inspections are strictly by appointment only.

Coastal comfort

SITUATED in the peaceful coastal settlement of Parsons Beach, this property presents the perfect opportunity to secure your beachside ‘shack’ for the family to enjoy or perhaps to settle into retirement, according to Nutrien Harcourts Minlaton real estate sales specialist Troy Goldsworthy.

“Containing three bedrooms and two bathrooms, the home is filled with natural light as the large open plan, central living area has large windows and raked ceilings, creating a fantastic expansive feel.

“The kitchen has been tastefully renovated in recent years, while the rest of the home is in great condition so you can come and enjoy from day one.

“The property is well suited to all buyer demographics and would be a popular holiday rental property should you wish to go down that path.

“The main bedroom has an ensuite and built-in robe, while bedrooms two and three have built-in robes.

“The main bathroom has a separate shower and bath and the laundry has direct external access.

“Reverse-cycle air conditioning keeps the house cool and a combustion heater in the open living area is perfect for winter.

“A paved rear outdoor entertaining area is the perfect spot for a barbecue, while the huge concrete rainwater tank supplies the house and keeps your bills down.

“There is a 12 metre x 6m shed and adjoining carport, as well as a toolshed for additional storage and garden tools.

“The home, established fruit trees and simple garden sit on a fully fenced, low maintenance 750 square metre block.”

GRAIN Producers SA is investigating options for the reuse and recycling of grain silo bags in South Australia.

The organisation received a $60,000 grant through Green Industries SA's Circular Economy Market Development Grant to enable the research.

GPSA will complete a feasibility study to better understand the challenges and opportunities in repurposing and reducing waste of grain silo bags.

CEO Brad Perry said grain producers had increasingly raised the problem of used silo bags and lack of recycling avenues available.

"There is currently a successful recycling stewardship scheme for plastic chemical containers called DrumMuster as well as pilots for plastic seed and fertiliser bags with BagMuster; however, there is a gap when it comes to used grain silo bags," Mr Perry said.

"Through the Grain Silo Bag Circular Economy Feasibility Study we are seeking to understand the scale of silo bag waste on grain farms in South Australia, what recycling avenues currently exist, and what investment strategies can be developed to provide industry participation and circular solutions for used silo bags.

"Grain producers want to harvest their crops as quickly as possible and are increasingly utilising temporary plastic grain silo bags as a convenient storage solution.

"These silo bags are single use and once finished with, they are stored on farm or producers try to find alternate uses.

"As use of silo bags grows, the amount of plastic waste generated on farms is increasing, as is awareness of the associated waste management responsibilities.

"It's hoped this feasibility study will lead to potentially innovative recycling solutions to this problem if no existing recycling avenues are identified as feasible."

GPSA will work with a consultant to develop the study and will also develop an awareness campaign to educate key stakeholders identified in the study on grain silo bag recycling, avenues for recycling, innovative uses, and circular economy best practices.

Nominations open for Farmer of the Year

NOMINATIONS are open for the Kondinin Group and ABC Rural 2023 Australian Farmer of the Year Awards.

Last year, Bute's James Venning received the Award for Excellence in Technology while Kadina's James Easter was the Agricultural Student of the Year.

"The Kondinin Group and ABC Rural Australian Farmer of the Year Awards recognise excellence in rural and regional Australia," Kondinin Group general manager of research Ben White said.

"They offer an opportunity to celebrate individuals and families involved in Australian agriculture, encompassing a diverse range of sectors and service provisions.

"It has been great to see nominations change over time, and reflect the shifting landscape of Australian agriculture.

"This year we have modified an existing award to support this, with the Award for Excellence in Diversification now known as the Award for Excellence in Diversification and Sustainability, identifying the growing appreciation of our role in the sustainability of our land, our farming enterprises, our industry and our communities."

Potential winners of this award will be drawn from finalists in the Australian Farmer of the Year and Young Farmer of the Year categories, as well as nominees selected by senior judges as standouts in this field.

To nominate, visit www.farmeroftheyear.com.au.

AWARDEES... James Venning, Bute, and James Easter, Kadina, were winners in the Australian Farmer of the Year Awards in 2022.

GRDC releases new crop guide

GRAINS Research and Development Corporation has released the 2023 South Australian Crop Sowing Guide to help SA grain growers determine the best crop variety for their situation.

GRDC collaborates with the SA Grain Industry Trust and the SA Research and Development Institute of Primary Industries and Regions SA to develop the annual sowing guide, which details information on current varieties of major winter cereal and pulse crops.

“The sowing guides are a critical decision-making tool to differentiate between varieties.”

– Agronomy Consultant
Craig Davis

SA agronomy consultant Craig Davis said the independent results in the sowing guide helped growers decide what varieties to plant and how to manage them to maximise their potential.

“The sowing guides are a critical decision-making tool to differentiate between varieties in terms of their yield performance, disease rating and grain quality,” he said.

“Growers would not have the same level of confidence to switch varieties if it wasn’t for the information available in the guides — it really helps generate better outcomes for growers.

“The sowing guides support adoption of new and improved varieties and play a key role in the development of the grains industry — growth in grains production would be stifled without them.”

The guides include national variety trials yield, disease and pest resistance results for the past five years as well as information on crop quality attributes and other agronomic considerations.

The 2023 edition covers wheat, barley, oat, canola, field pea, lentil, faba bean, lupin, chickpea and vetch varieties.

SARDI-PIRSA research officer Melissa McCallum said the organisation valued the opportunity to be part of the process.

“It is wonderful SARDI-PIRSA continues to contribute to the guide and provide growers with an independent view on how the new and current varieties are suited to SA,” she said.

To download the guide, visit grdc.com.au/resources-and-publication or order a hard copy via 1800 110 044 or ground-cover-direct@canprint.com.au (postage and handling charges apply).

GUIDE... GRDC has released its 2023 South Australian Crop Sowing Guide and reported on six new wheat varieties which were tested at national variety trial sites across the state.

Starscopes

♈ ARIES—March 21-April 20

Differences of opinion happen all week long, leading to some of the liveliest debating in weeks. Your home is dubbed the glue pot, attracting people from every corner of the neighbourhood - or world.

♉ TAURUS—April 21-May 22

Keeping secrets, especially from loved ones proves a mightier challenge than imagined. A little footloose this week, you can find yourself visiting everyone from a neighbour to an old classmate.

♊ GEMINI—May 23-June 21

Your mood this week is one of optimism. This is not unusual, but considering the number of delays and cancellations that happen now, you are to be congratulated.

♋ CANCER—June 22-July 22

Any purchases made now should be accompanied with a foolproof guarantee. Your reputation is improving and you are in everyone's good books. Jobs may have to be done again after the weekend.

♌ LEO—July 23-August 22

The person in your life seems unusually busy, but don't cramp his/her style. Following a minor setback, financial prospects are picking up. Sports and recreation are emphasized later in the week.

♍ VIRGO—August 23-September 22

Your memory is playing games, particularly financial ones - so don't spend until you are sure that the funds have arrived. You hear or issue a key announcement on Friday or the weekend.

♎ LIBRA—September 23-October 22

You become increasingly more vigorous through the week. Take up a new work project or take up a new sport but don't take on the world. A glum friend perks up at last, thanks to your efforts.

♏ SCORPIO—October 23-November 21

Finances are emphasized through the week. Fun spending, major budget changes and a mini windfall are all possible. An issue you have been skirting will have to be faced - head on.

♐ SAGITTARIUS—November 22-December 22

The person in your life could find you just a little too coy right now. Frankness is a better policy. Your social plans may get rearranged on the weekend. On Wednesday, Thursday, the best news is no news.

♑ CAPRICORN—December 23-January 20

This is a great week for strengthening family ties, hosting a reunion and correspond with aunts and uncles. An element of romantic mystery adds a dash of excitement.

♒ AQUARIUS—January 21-February 19

It is easy to become tangled up in financial affairs this week, but everything else - work, romance, family relationships seem almost too relaxed to be true. For singles, a lovely time for introductions.

♓ PISCES—February 20-March 20

Be super alert to your clever ideas and follow them up before someone else tries to. You can feel overwhelmed now, but if you recruit help, be sure you are not creating even more work.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK

You are tremendously self sufficient, utterly compassionate, but quite unrealistic romantically - and a bit too analytical for comfort. The creative approach to romance and finance can be your most profitable plan right now. A long awaited shift in domestic responsibilities may start to happen in the middle of the year.

EVER wish you had a couple of cool mates, who know the best new and old music, all the fascinating music trivia, and who can count the even more fascinating characters that make the music as their friends?

Meet Liam and Gaz, two likely lads from a tiny town in Norfolk, England who have been besties since school and are now living the dream, hosting a weekly podcast which explores past and current music from country to rock, folk, gospel and funk, and the blues in raw and ready glory as the primal source of it all.

Liam Hart is the creative director of The Blues Kitchen, a multi-enterprise outfit spanning five live venues in London and Manchester, filmed interviews on YouTube, plus the podcasts on Spotify.

Liam and his mate, Gareth Ragg, are both DJs, and musos with realistic career expectations compared to their idols.

They proudly claim they never play the same song twice, except for their Christmas specials.

These boys are well and truly across their stuff, based on years of proud geekdom, deep research and a growing network of musicians and fans who keep them in the know.

In a single episode, expect to hear from the likes of soul legend Al Green, blues badasses Howling Wolf or Lightning Hopkins, and the one and only Nina Simone, through to stadium rockers Black Keys, current Americana darlings Nathaniel Rateliff and the Night Sweats and 2022 retro sensation, The Heavy Heavy.

Listen in as Liam and Gaz ponder timeless debates, such as which group had the best consecutive run of albums — Led Zeppelin or the Rolling Stones?

Why was Rod Stewart's music so awful in the eighties? And will there ever be another singer as sublime as Aretha?

As someone on Australian TV used to say, do yourself a favour and tune in.

HOT FISHING TIPS

with Greg James www.gregjamesfishing.com.au

Welcome to the column with all the hot tips for fishing around Yorke Peninsula; contact Greg by email at greg@gregjamesfishing.com.au.
Wallaroo: Warm weather and strong winds dominated much of last week as boat crews struggled to string together consecutive days of good fishing. Jetty-based anglers tried for blue crabs, squid and yellowfin whiting, with blueys in the bay and down at Bird Reef.
Moonta Bay/Port Hughes/Port Victoria: Snook and a few garfish have come from up at Warburto Point and off West Light grounds. King George whiting are on and off at Cape Elizabeth and south of the Steamer Channel with scattered reports of gar and squid from Moonta Bay and Rifle Butts Beach. The jetties have the odd bluey.
Point Turton: Garfish were the go-to species for boat crews fishing Hardwicke Bay, Port Rickaby, The Pines and Point Souttar. An occasional yellowfin whiting was caught from the shore off Minlacowie and Point Souttar on the high tide and squid from the jetties.

Marion Bay/Stenhouse Bay: A few gummy sharks were the target at Stenhouse Bay jetty, plus tommy ruff (Australian herring) and squid at night. Boat crews reported big but isolated KG whiting, flathead and squid. Shore-based anglers were all across the Bottom End chasing salmon trout, mullet and overnight mulloway.
Edithburgh/Stansbury: Locals and tourists fished for night-time rat kingfish from the local jetties here, and at Port Giles and Klein Point. Tommies, blueys and squid were about at times, while boat crews caught KG whiting from Marion Reef and Tapley Shoals and gar out from Sultana Point.
Ardrossan: Squid can be caught from Windara Reef on the drift and there are blueys and gar out from Price and Sheoak Flat. The local jetty had a couple of cruising soapie mulloway on late Friday evening.
Tight lines and see you next week!

Training kicks off for Moonta women's side

Moonta Football Club's inaugural women's side has begun training ahead of its first clash against West Augusta Football Club in Crystal Brook on Friday, February 17.

The team will compete in the Mid North Women's Football Competition across five minor round matches, before the grand final on Friday, March 31.

Appointed coaches in December, Nick and Kara Rendell began training the side on Monday, January 10.

Nick said it was great to officially get underway with a group which is eager to learn and get better.

"It's all very new to me, as someone who hasn't coached before but I've been around footy my whole life, so we'll see how we go," he said.

"So far across our first few trainings, and it's something we'll take with us throughout the whole of this season, there's been a focus on the basics and getting them right; kicking, tackling, handballing."

Nick said being the new team in a competition would have its challenges.

"I think we might be around the middle of the pack," he said.

"We've had a few team members, such as Hayley Durdin-Dodman, who have played up there before tell us a little bit about what the competition is like.

"She said the good are really good, but it kind of falls away from there a little bit, so we'll have to see how that plays out with our group as well."

He said he had been incredibly impressed by the players' endeavour to keep improving and the ferociousness at which they train.

Moonta is also fielding under 14 and 17 sides in the Northern Plains Female Football League, which begins on Sunday, February 19.

Practice begins on Friday, January 20; any player still keen to participate can contact club president Mark Durdin on 0416 436 872.
