Making memories at the Maitland Show

FAR AND WIDE... Interstate visitors Piper and Miller Howarth, from Toowoomba Bay, NSW, were amongst the more than 1000 people who attended the 144th annual Maitland Show at the Maitland Oval on Saturday, March 18. The event was packed with new attractions, as well as the classics, to entice people of all ages to the town.

REPORT BY

YORKE Peninsula Council will relinquish control and responsibility for the Port Vincent wharf and jetty, as well as the Point Turton jetty, to the state government in November, contingent on financial support.

The decision, made by elected members on Wednesday, March 8, comes amid growing concerns regarding the structural safety of the majority of the 12 jetties the government has leased to council.

YPC will not proceed with the return of the jetties if the state government commits to a sustainable maintenance funding arrangement which does not result in an increase of its own budgeted annual maintenance expenditure of $200,000.

Twelve jetties across the YPC area – including at Ardrossan, Marion Bay and Edithburgh – were leased to council under 50-year agreements made in 1998 and 2000.

However, a clause in the agreements allows YPC to hand back all 12 jetties to the government after 25 years if advised by engineers the structural integrity of the jetties has deteriorated at a greater rate than otherwise expected.

Ardrossan jetty, regarded as the jetty in the worst condition, contains 325 piles, 200 of which having a remaining life expectancy of 25 per cent or less.

According to a recent tender, it would cost $18,000 to repair each pile, totalling $3.6 million.

Capitalising on cabinet

IT was pleasing to learn the Country Cabinet was hailed as a success (YPCT 21-2-23).

This isn't the first time this arrangement has occurred and I am sure it won't be the last.

These meetings give the local residents the opportunity to express their concerns and views to the SA Premier and his Ministers with the hope action will be taken to fix the many day-to-day living problems regional people are faced with.

Also, the government may fund some projects which are seen necessary to develop the region.

These little wins allow us to dream about a great place Yorke Peninsula is to live in with improved services to enjoy the remainder of our lives.

But unfortunately, in most cases, the Cabinet members return to their urban responsibilities to work towards being re-elected, therefore many requests, although praised, fall on deaf ears, and do not eventuate, and at the end of the day all we are left with are dreams.

I suggest to receive real value out of these Cabinet meetings, now is the time to act.

I would form a dedicated working committee with representation throughout YP from all sectors including councils, political representation, agriculture, health, education, infrastructure, welfare, mining and the many other services required to be developed for the region to give us all adequate living standards.

Call regular monthly meetings, using a elected delegation, with the Premier and his ministerial representatives, and address each area of concern and what is being done about it, and when is it actually going to happen?

This is not the time to be nice and then get rolled over.

As you are aware YP has a very ageing population and is vulnerable to health outbreaks (Covid-19) and environmental disasters (bushfires), and if action is not taken now to significantly improve our day-to-day living standards, there is every chance you won't be around to see anything developed, and your children and grandchildren will have to take up the fight.

By then it may possibly be too late.

I strongly suggest act now.

The time is right.

Port Vincent wharf and jetty

AT last Wednesday's Yorke Peninsula Council meeting a resolution was passed to seek Port Vincent community consultation to allow for "commercial use" of its 120-year-old heritage town wharf and jetty. This seems to be in response to banning access to a local commercial fisherman.

Why is "commercialisation" necessary?

A petition to allow the fisherman access in the public interest has already been circulated in Port Vincent and signed by several hundred locals and visitors.

As of last week, part of the Port Vincent jetty has been closed to the public on structural safety grounds. It has now been revealed the South Australian Government is working on a business case for the refurbishment of SA's jetties. Five specific jetties throughout the state are being evaluated. Despite the fact part of Port Vincent's jetty and wharf have now been closed to the public, as well as the local fisherman, and despite the need for urgent action, Port Vincent is not included in these test cases.

Sister Town Agreement with Camborne Town Council

SOME organisations may not be aware the Copper Coast Council and the Camborne Town Council in Cornwall, England, have signed a Sister Town Agreement. This was signed on December 13 last year.

The agreement provides for the undertaking of exchanges (email, zoom video, visits, etc) of heritage and culture, education, tourism, commerce, and sport.

Letters have been sent to several organisations advising of the Sister Town Agreement. Should any person or organisation wish to contact a similar club or organisation in Camborne, please contact Rose Hitchens-Todd, Camborne Town Council, via her email engagement@camborne-tc.gov.uk.

The strength of the Sister Town Agreement will be up to clubs and organisations to progress and make it work.

Housing growth

MUCH is being said about housing and rental shortages faced by professional, industrial and itinerant workers seeking to practise and settle in regional towns.

In the same breath, the potential for regional development and growth is finally being recognised by industry leaders and our state government. Similar observations were obviously made by the late Premier Thomas Playford when he identified opportunities such as coal mining at Leigh Creek, power generation at Port Augusta, iron ore mining and smelting plus shipbuilding at Whyalla.

He was also responsible for delivering Murray River water and power to the regions, regional road improvements, forestry, fruit and fishing industry assistance plus other developmental and producer loan assistance administered by the State Bank of South Australia.

In addition to the establishment of the Electricity Trust of SA and the Housing Trust of SA, Mr Playford was instrumental in building the satellite city of Elizabeth to house the thousands of GMH factory employees it attracted.

It would do no harm for our Premier Peter Malinauskas and his government to reflect on such post World War II achievements and follow those examples, if indeed he has such lofty aspirations beyond the big smoke.

Fall thanks

I WOULD like to give a big thank you to the staff of Newbery Chemist at Moonta after I had tripped on an uneven paver near their entrance, causing significant skin damage to both knees and right elbow.

After being assisted inside, they flushed, dried and dressed the damaged areas with no charge for the dressing bandages.

I think Copper Coast Council should monitor the paving around high traffic flow areas.

OUR VIEW

Maitland Show a huge success

IT was great to see the Maitland Show back in action... with no strings attached.

It was the first show in three years to go off without a Covid hitch, to the relief of event planners, organisers and volunteers.

More than 1000 adults with several hundred children walked through the gates of the Maitland Oval to enjoy the 144th show jam-packed with things to do for all ages.

This included a street parade, Ute Muster, kids' zone, rides, cooking competitions, live music, plenty of food and drinks, and more.

Much time and effort goes into making these community events possible so to see it succeed, and so well, is a huge nod to all the volunteers and the town.

We can't forget to mention the people who came in droves to support the show because, without them walking through the gates, it would also not be possible.

And boy did some people come from far and wide. It was great to see so many visitors from outside Yorke Peninsula, including interstate, step foot into our little part of paradise.

Not only does this give Maitland and YP a good rap, it also helps the local economy thrive with local businesses reaping the rewards.

We really hope you enjoyed all the Maitland Show and YP had to offer and we can only hope you tell your family and friends so you keep coming back!

Congratulations to all involved on another amazing show; just one of the many great local events that take place annually in our region.

You should all be so proud.

Locals get behind push for 24/7 hospital guards

Michelle Daw
JOURNALIST

LOCAL residents and businesses are backing a campaign urging the state government to employ 24-hour restraint-trained security guards at Wallaroo Hospital.

The call comes after police had to taser a man four times when he smashed through two sets of entry doors at the hospital and attacked the back of an ambulance in mid-February.

More than 1500 people have signed a petition run by the Australian Nursing and Midwifery Federation and 18 businesses in Wallaroo are supporting it by displaying posters and leaflets.

The petition also calls for guards to be employed at the Port Pirie Hospital.

Last week, ANMF representatives, nurses and midwives walked around Wallaroo (and Port Pirie) handing out flyers to local businesses to promote the campaign.

Sonbern Lodge, Wallaroo, manager David Woodforde is showing his support.

"It should be mandatory for the government to provide adequate security to protect staff and people who visit the hospital," Mr Woodforde said.

"The government has a duty of care, just as all employers do."

A statement issued by Yorke and Northern Local Health Network said it had undertaken safety measures at Wallaroo Hospital "within hours" of the February incident, including adjusting security cameras to cover all outdoor areas and installing "strong, temporary doors".

"We're looking forward to the doors being upgraded soon with customised strengthened safety glass and aluminium frames, which have been on priority order since February," the statement said.

YNLHN said it was working with SA Health on a Ten-Point Plan to End Violence and Aggression and a review of safety at Wallaroo Hospital was continuing.

ANMF SA branch chief executive Associate Professor Elizabeth Dabars said the introduction of 24/7 restraint-trained security guards at other regional hospitals in South Australia had resulted in positive outcomes.

A June 2022 review into the impact of 24/7 security guards at Whyalla and Port Augusta Hospitals in 2021 found there had been a 52 per cent decrease in reports of staff being hit by a moving object or person and a 62.5 per cent decrease in incidents resulting in an injury to a worker.

There had also been a 23 per cent decrease in workers reporting mental stress due to challenging behaviours.

Ms Dabars said the response from the Wallaroo (and Port Pirie) communities to the ANMF campaign was heartening.

"Many people in those communities were unaware of the lack of on-site security at their hospitals — they had just assumed there was security," she said.

"The lack of on-site security presents a real danger not just to hospital staff but to patients and visitors."

The online petition can be signed at anmfsa.org.au/safetyforstaff.

SIGN UP... David Woodforde, of Wallaroo's Sonbern Lodge, urges locals and visitors to sign the petition calling for 24/7 security guards at Wallaroo Hospital. Left: STILL BOARDED UP... Temporary front entry doors are still in use at Wallaroo Hospital. The original glass panels were smashed during an incident on Wednesday, February 15.

New housing unlocked for Copper Coast's key workers

Fin Hansen
REPORT BY

LOCAL teachers, police and healthcare workers will soon have access to more stable housing.

This comes after the state government committed to delivering 30 houses across five regions, including the Copper Coast, as part of a Regional Key Worker Housing scheme announced last month.

Kadina Memorial School teacher Henry Bruce, who moved to the Copper Coast at the beginning of the 2023 school year, said stable housing would be a massive help for workers like himself.

"I understand rentals are scarce everywhere at the moment, however the Copper Coast is seriously lacking (in availability)," Mr Bruce said.

"There's only a handful of rentals available with so many applicants looking."

Mr Bruce said he was lucky to secure a Department for Education home.

"There is a big need for teachers everywhere, particularly in country areas," he said.

"It (the housing scheme) would be a driving incentive for teachers to make the move to the area."

A newly established Office for Regional Housing, operated by Renewal SA, is set to help accelerate the scheme.

Office for Regional Housing director Matthew Hunt presented to the Copper Coast Council to inform elected members of the scheme's objectives on Wednesday, March 15.

Mr Hunt said the scheme's pilot project would deliver a portion of the initial 30 houses on the Copper Coast.

"The houses will be leased on a long-term basis (10-plus years) to the Government Employee Housing program, operated by the Department for Infrastructure and Transport, and used to provide housing for regional government workers," Mr Hunt said.

"Ultimately, the Office for Regional Housing will look to sell the houses, with the leases attached, to private investors."

Mr Hunt said the Copper Coast had been identified by multiple government agencies as a priority region for additional housing to support critical government services.

"The Office for Regional Housing is looking to finalise the number, type and exact location of the houses in the pilot project in the coming weeks, with a view to approach the market for builders in the middle of 2023," Mr Hunt said.

"The office is currently recruiting staff to help facilitate the increase in housing supply.

"In addition, the office is exploring variations of the Key Worker Housing Scheme model that may enable houses to be built for other organisations that can underwrite long-term demand for significant numbers of houses.

"This could include major regional employers, councils or community housing providers."

Member for Narungga Fraser Ellis said there was a serious need to attract professionals which are vital to the region.

"Hopefully, this (scheme) means we can kill two birds with one stone and see an increase in government workers whilst building more housing where it's needed," Mr Ellis said.

Mayor Roslyn Talbot said council was now working with the government to identify potential parcels of land to build on.

"It's important we're able to not only attract, but retain these key workers, of which there is clearly a shortage in the area," Mrs Talbot said.

STABLE OPTION... Key workers like Henry Bruce will have an easier time locating rentals when moving to the region thanks to a state government scheme which will deliver 30 new homes to areas such as the Copper Coast. Member for Narungga Fraser Ellis says the Copper Coast was in dire need of more housing.

Freehold milestone for Fisherman Bay

Michelle Daw
JOURNALIST

A MILESTONE has been reached in the freeholding of Fisherman Bay properties, with 65 settled for a total value of $3.7 million during the project's final major freeholding stage.

Barunga West Council CEO Maree Wauchope conveyed this information to elected members as part of her project status report at council's monthly meeting on Tuesday, March 14.

"The long-awaited dream of freeholding land and delivering key infrastructure at Fisherman Bay is now a reality," Ms Wauchope said.

"The project has exceeded expectations, providing a significant boost to the local economy while progressing important infrastructure projects."

Ms Wauchope also reported the cumulative number of Fisherman Bay property settlements to the end of February was 365 sites with a total value of $26.8m, and the sum held in the project's secured bank account was $16.2m.

"All purchased titles have been issued and Fisherman Bay Management is now working to resolve the remaining six non-contracted sites," she said.

"The key risk of failing to achieve forecast sales revenue has been mitigated with the last major (freeholding) stage now settled.

"Construction cost risk has also reduced now work has progressed.

"To date, there have only been minor cost variations, but council is aware of a potential significant claim on the wastewater collection element of the works."

Ms Wauchope said the key construction risks were the potential impact of groundwater and the cost and time of resolving clashes with services, including SA Power Networks, NBN and Telstra, but work was continuing to resolve those clashes.

"FBM paid the final instalment of its $700,000 Open Space Contribution in February," she said.

Infrastructure construction was generally progressing satisfactorily, with minor cost variations of $175,000, Ms Wauchope reported.

Community feedback has been received by council on key planning issues for Fisherman Bay, including beach access, traffic management, road access and amenities.

A report will be presented at council's April meeting.

Separate plumbing rate proposed

A SEPARATE rate to pay for plumbing connections at Fisherman Bay is being considered by Barunga West Council.

The rate would cover the full cost of the connections and be levied on each landowner at Fisherman Bay, with the amount to vary depending on the requirements for each house block.

The plumbing will connect homes at Fisherman Bay to the new wastewater collection system, which is being installed as part of the Fisherman Bay freeholding project.

At its meeting last week, council voted for public consultation on the proposed separate rate.

If the separate rate is approved, a works contract with a preferred plumbing contractor to deliver the Fisherman Bay plumbing connections works will be presented to council for approval after a community information session.

Structural concerns for YP jetties

YORKE Peninsula Council CEO Andrew Cameron said the issue needed to be addressed.

“We presented at the Country Cabinet session in Maitland a few weeks ago and the Premier (Peter Malinauskas) said the government was aware it needed to do something about the jetties,” he said.

“The council decision mandates the beginning of future discussions regarding the future custodianship of all of the relevant jetties in council’s area.

“I’ll be writing directly to Mr Malinauskas soon to begin discussions about the best way forward.”

A state government spokesperson said future options for the jetties would be considered as part of a broader strategy during the usual budget processes.

“The Department for Infrastructure and Transport met with representatives from YPC on Friday for a briefing on what council resolved at its recent meeting,” the spokesperson said.

“This will be the first discussion on this matter since the vote was taken so it is too early to respond in detail as to the government’s response.”

However, YPC plans to improve access safety at the Edithburgh jetty by extending the southern steps for divers/swimmers, as well as the removal of the northern steps, on Thursday, March 23.

Fisherman’s push progresses

Local fisherman Jordan Judd will have his desire to use the Port Vincent wharf for commercial purposes explored further.

In a completely separate decision to the lease arrangements, YPC elected members voted to proceed with a community engagement process to amend the wharf’s Community Land Management Plans to reclassify the land for commercial uses.

The land is currently classified as dedicated for public and community facilities, to encourage, promote and facilitate recreational and social activities.

Mr Judd raised concerns in January, after he claimed council had told him he could no longer use the wharf to load and unload his commercial fishing boat, and was threatened with a $5000 fine if use continued.

He said it was pleasing to see the first steps made.

“If it all goes through and they do go with it once the consultation is in, I’m happy but I’m concerned they won’t go with it and just ignore the feedback,” he said.

“There are a lot of people who are supportive of what I’m doing and I think will step up to have their say during the consultation period.”

However, a visual report grading the wharf’s structural piles (on a 1-7 scale, seven being the worst) was completed in 2021 and detailed the 25 timber piles (which support the wharf) were rated between five and seven.

At least four of the crosshead beams which transfer deck load were deemed to have at most 15 per cent capacity remaining.

None of the jetties leased to council are load rated, meaning heavy works must be completed by barge, hampering the possibility of further maintenance and renewal.

With council potentially handing back control of the wharf to the state government, decisions about how it is used could be made at the discretion of the government instead of council.

Jetties which are owned and controlled by the state government cannot be visited by boats for longer than four hours a day.

“If it’s good and safe enough for public use, it’s good enough for what I’m doing,” Mr Judd said.

“I question the validity of structural reports made two years ago, but I do agree if new reports suggest it’s not structurally safe then there should be no heavy loads on it.”

Members of the public can submit feedback submissions to council until 5pm, Monday, April 17.

POLICE are preparing a report for the State Coroner following a suspected drowning at Port Hughes last Wednesday, March 15.

Local patrols and paramedics were called to the foreshore opposite Dowling Drive after a member of the public reported a body in shallow water.

The body of an 83-year-old man from the Copper Coast was discovered just after 4.30pm.

Police said there were no suspicious circumstances.

Man caught speeding 62km over limit

A Moonta Bay man has been charged after being caught driving 62 kilometres over the speed limit on Friday, March 17.

Police detected a grey Toyota Kluger travelling at 162km/h in a 100km/h zone on the Augusta Highway just out of Port Pirie.

Officers attempted to stop the vehicle, which was travelling south at about 4.17pm, but the pursuit was terminated after the driver engaged in dangerous driving including overtaking dangerously at speeds in excess of 180km/h.

Other patrols later saw the Kluger travel north along Church Road, Warnertown.

Police stopped the vehicle soon after and arrested the driver, a 42-year-old man from Moonta Bay.

He was charged with driving at excessive speed, aggravated engage in a pursuit with police and drive at a speed and manner dangerous.

He also tested positive to cannabis and could face further charges once his drug sample has been forensically analysed.

The man was bailed to appear in the Port Pirie Magistrates Court on May 8.

He was issued with an immediate six-month loss of licence and had his vehicle impounded for 28 days.

SAPN outage leaves Kadina, Alford in dark

A POWER outage was experienced across Kadina and Alford last Thursday morning, March 16.

SA Power Networks head of corporate affairs Paul Roberts said an 11,000 volt feeder was damaged in Alford at 10.32am.

"About 1000 SAPN customers were affected by the outage," Mr Roberts said.

"Crews had the number of customers affected down to 65 by 12.08pm and two by 1.11pm.

"A high-voltage underground cable fault had to be repaired in Kadina (at the Copper Coast Sport and Leisure Centre) and power was restored to the last two customers by 9pm."

CSSLC was forced to cancel all evening fitness programs on Thursday but had power restored in time for Yorke Valley Basketball Association preliminary finals on Friday night, March 17.

State government's plan to improve road safety

STRONG measures to reduce deaths and serious injuries have headlined South Australia's Road Safety Action Plan 2023-2025.

The plan has identified measures which will contribute a targeted 50 per cent reduction in lives lost and 30 per cent reduction in serious injuries on SA roads by 2031.

Poor driving behaviours, including drink and drug driving, speeding, distraction and incorrect use of seatbelts, will be targeted.

The state government has endorsed a national vision of zero lives lost and zero serious injuries by 2050.

Road safety infrastructure and other measures for safer school precincts underscore the government's focus on improving safety around schools.

Improved outcomes for Aboriginal road users are also a focus, including better data collection and exploring opportunities to expand the successful On the Right Track (licensing) program.

Minister for Police Joe Szakacs said the Road Safety Action Plan 2023-2025 was integral to the government's aim of reducing deaths and serious injuries on SA roads.

"This plan will further protect vulnerable road users including those around our schools," Mr Szakacs said.

"The plan provides strong accountability through safety performance indicators and annual reporting to make sure what we are doing is working to reduce deaths and serious injuries.

"We can achieve positive change by working together and creating a safer road environment for all users."

Members back in the chairs

TWO Yorke Peninsula elected members will resume their roles this week after the state government fast-tracked laws through parliament to reinstate almost 50 councillors caught up in a recent election donations issue.

Deputy mayor Richard Carruthers and elected member Kristin Murdock both declined to comment but confirmed they had resumed their roles and would attend tomorrow's elected member briefing.

The duo failed to submit their second donations return lodgements at the conclusion of last year's council elections, and were ejected from council in February.

The government introduced the Local Government (Casual Vacancies) Amendment Bill 2023 earlier this month, providing affected members with a further 10 days to submit their returns upon its passing.

It meant, in total, councillors were provided with 12 reminders, two deadlines a month apart and an extra 10 days to complete the administration requirement.

Councils were also assured any decisions made during the time between the election and when the vacancies were announced were valid.

Stock to sit in final CCC seat

Fin Hansen
REPORT BY

MATTHEW Stock has been elected to fill the final seat on Copper Coast Council.

Mr Stock commanded 27.3 per cent of the total votes after distribution of preferences, ahead of second-placed Dominica Thomson on 18.1 per cent.

The Moonta resident also received 949 of 3822 (24.8 per cent) first preference votes, leading Ms Thomson's 14.5 per cent.

Copper Coast's supplementary election, one of seven completed in South Australia this month, has ensured a full table of 10 elected members for the 2023-27 term.

Mr Stock said he was in disbelief when he discovered the election's result.

"I would've been happy with a top-three finish," Mr Stock said.

"Being someone who people feel is approachable may have contributed (to being voted in)."

At 32 years old, Mr Stock is set to be the youngest Copper Coast Council elected member this term.

"I believe I can provide a unique perspective lens for the council," he said.

"I have a good level of local knowledge which I think can add value to the current team."

Mr Stock said he looked forward to helping council tackle local issues and watching projects progress.

"A lack of local housing seems to be something that constantly pops up, among other issues," he said.

"There are lots of things that need to

"I thank everyone who voted for me and look forward to contributing to council's good work."

Mayor Roslyn Talbot said she was pleased to see the community decide on a suitable candidate.

"It'll be nice to have a councillor with a younger set of eyes and who has lived on the Copper Coast for their whole life," Mrs Talbot said.

"All nominees were worthy candidates and I thank them all for nominating — it can take a great deal of courage to put your hand up."

Mr Stock will be officially inducted as a councillor prior to CCC's April meeting.

REDWING Farm, Moonta, has been recognised nationally for innovation and exceptional standards in tourism.

The self-contained farmstay experience took out bronze in the Hosted Accommodation category at the 2022 Qantas Australian Tourism Awards held at Darling Island, Sydney, on Friday, March 17.

Gold award winners from the 2022 South Australian Tourism Awards represented the state at the national awards.

Australian Tourism Award chairperson and Tourism Industry Council SA CEO Shaun de Bruyn said there was much to celebrate in tourism business excellence, noting the importance of elevating the best of what tourism has to offer in Australia.

"As an industry, we are susceptible to many external factors, which has been highlighted over the past several years, but we continue to innovate, collaborate, and come back strong," Mr de Bruyn said.

"Many of our tourism operators are going from strength to strength, bouncing back after the worst of the pandemic."

Nominations for the 2023 South Australian Tourism Awards open Wednesday, March 22.

Masters home to wide range of competitors

Fin Hansen
REPORT BY

PEOPLE competing in the Copper Coast 2023 SA Masters Games have just two more weeks to register.

Participants of all backgrounds and abilities have the chance to compete in 27 sports across the Masters weekend (Thursday to Sunday, April 20-23).

Ron Wilson, of Moonta Mines, is set to be the oldest competitor at this year's games when he races in the Masters Mile at age 85.

"I won a silver medal at the Masters in Adelaide a few years ago and I'm hoping for a gold this year," Mr Wilson said.

"I still run three kilometres twice per week whilst being a full-time carer for my wife.

"Long distance running is similar to life in some ways — it can be lonely at times and is a real challenge to keep going by yourself.

"You could say I'm a bit of a freak because I still have no aches or pains and don't take any medication.

"I think my diet and positivity has a lot to do with why I'm still going."

Adelaide's Margaret Jaeger has plans to swim in the upcoming games despite losing her leg to necrotising fasciitis and given a one in 33 chance to live three years ago.

"During my hydrotherapy after losing my leg, I realised I didn't do too badly at backstroke," Ms Jaeger said.

"I can actually barrel roll in the pool quite easily because my body tends to turn to one side naturally.

"I want to show people anyone can have a go if they put their mind to it, regardless of what's happened in the past.

"I'm aiming for a personal best in these games and then continue improving my time from there.

"If I can positively affect one person during the process (of competing) it would be a success."

Masters Games chair Lynn Spurling said the games would give everyone the opportunity to participate regardless of age, ability or experience.

"With so many sports to compete in, there is something for everyone — the more mainstream like tennis, basketball and softball, and others like croquet, archery and radio controlled boats," she said.

"We have participants registered from all over SA and also quite a large number of interstate competitors too.

"The games give opportunities for mature-aged sports people to compete and be physically active.

"We encourage people to not only meet other participants, but to share the experience with family and friends."

To register for the Masters Games, go to www.visitcoppercoast.com.au or call the Copper Coast Visitor Centre on 8821 2333.

Have you signed the local health petition?

We have reached the 7,000 signatures mark of our petition calling for improvements to local health services in the Narunga electorate and need 3,000 more to reach the 10,000 signatures target required to formally trigger Parliamentary action.

If you are over 18 and haven't yet signed the petition and are interested in doing so, please call into my office to sign, or call or email and we can provide information about how and where you can provide your signature.

The petition specifically seeks better resourcing of our local health services and action to address the GP shortages that so many of us are gravely concerned about and which are threatening the future of regional townships.

Kernewek Cavalcade in its 46th year

ENTRIES for the RAA/Enfield Furnishers Copper Coast Classic Cavalcade of Cars and Motorcycles, held as part of the Kernewek Lowender Copper Coast Cornish Festival, are now open.

In its 46th year, more than 600 vehicles are expected, with entries already coming from across the state for the event on Sunday, May 21.

The event will begin in Wallaroo, in the Viterra marshalling yards, and travels through Moonta and Kadina before finishing at the Kadina football oval for the Classic Cavalcade Fun Fair.

The Fun Fair allows the vehicles to be viewed by all, while enjoying the music and dancing from The Rock n Roll Legends. At the oval there is something for everyone including the children with sideshows, food and much more.

Entries are restricted to cars built before 1993, with the oldest entry so far being a 1917 Dodge Brothers roadster and the youngest being a 1991 Holden Commodore.

Kernewek Lowender Copper Coast Cornish Festival administration support officer Matthew Stock said the committee was happy with early registrations.

"A lot of people are quite enthusiastic and really eager to put on a good show," he said.

"There are a lot of standout cars from a lot of different generations, we are very excited for the cavalcade to occur in just a few months' time."

The first cavalcade was held in 1979 with only 60 vehicles. It is an event car enthusiasts mark in their calendars well in advance with numbers reaching up to 834 in previous years.

To enter your classic or vintage car, visit www.kernewek.org/classiccavalcadeofcars.

Entries close, May 12, but if you want to be judged you must be registered by May 1.

Traffic marshals needed

Kernewek Lowender Copper Coast Cornish Festival is seeking new traffic marshals to assist with a range of local events.

Festival committee member Neil Windsor said he was hoping for between 40 and 50 people to volunteer their time.

"We'll need some more marshals in the lead up to Fer Kernwek and the Classic Cavalcade of Cars, as well as various other community events such as Christmas pageants," Mr Windsor said.

To volunteer as a traffic marshal, contact Neil Windsor on 0419 865 212.

PLANNING BEGINS... Kernewek Lowender Copper Coast Cornish Festival RAA/Enfield Furnishers sponsors Wayne Cooper, Annette Smith and Paul Smith chat to event committee members Matthew Stock, Barb Newbery, Jane Whiteman, Dianne McDowell, Neil Windsor and Annalise Ferguson about this year's event. # Wool Bay and Minlacowie tank murals begin

WORK has begun on large-scale murals on SA Water tanks at Minlacowie and Wool Bay.

Artists and local mentorship recipients were inducted and participated in traditional smoking ceremonies at both locations last Thursday, March 16.

The Minlacowie and Wool Bay – Southern Yorke Peninsula Water Tower/Tank Mural extension project was made possible through $130,000 funding from the Australian Government through the Local Roads and Community Infrastructure Program. SA Water is contributing $20,000 toward the project.

“Council is excited about the expansion of the SYP Water Tower/Tank Mural Trail which already includes amazing murals at Yorketown, Port Vincent, Stansbury, Coobowie and Edithburgh,” Yorke Peninsula Council mayor Darren Braund said.

“The Minlacowie tank is already turning heads between Yorketown and Minlaton as you can see a sea of colour just off Harry Butler Road.

“At Wool Bay, lots of work has already been achieved on the shed and water tank near the town golf course.

“The result will be two incredible sights our community can be proud of, and visitors can enjoy at any time of year.”

Renowned artists Mike Makatron and Sam Brooks have been selected to lead the murals.

Mike is being supported by Conrad Bizjak and Dylan Butler, who both contributed to earlier murals as part of the local trail, as well as Narungga artist Harley Hall.

Additionally, four local artists have won the opportunity to learn about large-scale mural painting and will be mentored by the artists.

Jason Swales, of Marion Bay, and Rachelle Plazeriano, The Pines, will each spend one week painting the murals under the guidance of the lead artists and their supporting artists.

Gary Nowlan, Marion Bay, and Sabine Meyer, Yorketown, have been chosen as junior mentees; they will each spend at least one day contributing to the projects and adding to their skill set.

Work on the murals is expected to take place over the next few weeks.

CEREMONY... Ian Harradine Sr conducts a traditional smoking ceremony alongside Mark Harding, Sam Brooks and Gary Nowlan before work on the mural began in Minlacowie and Wool Bay.

First Copper Coast sand drag revs up

Fin Hansen
REPORT BY

A NEW motorsport will be introduced to the Copper Coast when sand drag bikes from across Australia rev up next month.

Copper Coast Motorsports has started to install a 150 metre sand drag track at its privately owned site on Betts Road, Wallaroo, ahead of the event on Saturday, April 29.

The drags will feature 13 bike categories, including street bikes, vintage/classics, dirt bikes from PeeWee 50 up to 250 four strokes, and more.

Competitor and committee member John Cornwill said he expected the event would attract more than 50 competitors.

"At least 85 per cent (of competitors) will come from across South Australia and even some from Western Australia and Victoria," Mr Cornwill said.

"We only have four motorsport venues in SA, and one is closed at the moment, so there's a been a huge demand for more motorsport."

The club had leased its land from president Paul "Wick" Dayman and began constructing its sand drag track in January.

"The sand drag event is a way to bring new people to the sport and draw as many eyes as possible," Mr Cornwill said.

"It will be a huge boost for local accommodation, food and fuel businesses.

"We're hoping to establish a permanent track and host multiple rounds of interstate competition every year."

Secretary Linda Stuart said the club had leased its land for about three years before any physical progress was made to the site.

"It's been a long process driven solely by club volunteers," she said.

"We've got to chip away bit by bit, but we won't be able to get the financial support we need until people see how the event goes."

Copper Coast Council director development services Muller Mentz said, as the sand drag event was set to be held on private land, no council permit was required.

"The only concern would be the potential impact on the amenity of the locality in which the event is to be held," he said.

"The potential nuisances (defined by the Local Nuisance and Litter Control Act 2016) which may result as a consequence of the sand drag event are those caused by noise, smoke and fumes, or unsanitary conditions that unreasonably interfere with the enjoyment of the area.

"MasterPlan Town and Country Planners (on behalf of the motorsports club) applied for an exemption which sets out precautionary measures to mitigate the potential nuisances identified.

"The application was granted subject to the provision of amenity facilities, potential noise, dust nuisance and traffic issues be addressed; the owners of properties that may be affected by the event be notified; and complaints be handled."

Building towards a motorsports park

COPPER Coast Motorsports wants to create a motorsport park on its Wallaroo site, featuring a drag strip, burnout pad and onsite camping.

The committee has lodged a development application for the project and hope to raise $10,000 from its April sand drag event to help fund the construction of its new multi-purpose facility.

Copper Coast Council director development services Muller Mentz said the State Planning Commission would make a decision on the proposed development, which the club prepared with assistance from MasterPlan Town and Country Planners.

"Considering the scale of the proposed development, it will be lodged as a major project," Mr Mentz said.

"The establishment of the motorsports park will come at significant cost to the applicant due to the support information required, such as acoustic, traffic and noise reports, which will have to be prepared by expert consultants."

Copper Coast Motorsports is seeking local businesses to sponsor the sand drag event.

Hillside consultative committee launched

A NEW Community Consultative Committee for Rex Minerals' Hillside Mine Project has been established, holding its inaugural meeting in early February.

Members of the committee include Yorke Peninsula Council director corporate and community services Ben Thompson, Ardrossan Area School principal Margaret Roads, Ardrossan Progress Association president Rikki Parkinson and Yorke Peninsula Tourism deputy chair Joanne Buchanan.

The committee's independent chair Phil Tyler said the previous community group, Hillside Mine Community Voice, played an important community engagement role in the mine approval process.

Once approvals were in place, the group instigated an independent review to prepare for the next phase, and to meet the future needs of the community and the project.

"The new HMCCC will support the building of trust between Rex and the community, and will focus on interests of the entire community," he said.

"The main areas of focus include social and community benefit, employment, business opportunities, community investment, influence of the project on community infrastructure and services, as well as high-level observation of key operational performance indicators that may impact the community."

Mr Tyler said the group was working with Rex Minerals, not for them.

"The HMCCC is an independent group which is all about community, our key approach is to work closely with Rex to ensure the Yorke Peninsula community gets the best possible outcomes from the Hillside development," he said.

"Locals should be excited about this opportunity to bring a new level of employment and economic prosperity to Yorke Peninsula."

Rex Minerals recently announced it has commenced a partnering process and is seeking direct participation via a minority investment in its Hillside copper-gold project.

"Rex has a commitment to provide communities where we operate, with sustained benefits as a result of our activities," Rex Minerals executive general manager South Australia Jason Schell said.

"We look forward to working with the HMCCC to help maximise local benefits and create a lasting positive legacy that a project like this can bring to regional communities."

NEW GROUP... At Hillside Community Consultative Committee's first meeting are members Peter Koulizos, Phil Tyler, Jo Barrie, Rikki Parkinson, Ben Thompson, Joanne Buchanan, Shane Kennedy, Margaret Roads and Don Hosking.

BWC wastewater project granted $155,000 boost

WASTEWATER... Barunga West Council park and guidance supervisor Daniel Rowley and leading hand Paul Gregory watch over the newly redeveloped Port Broughton Community Wastewater Management system.

Jarryd Rowley
JOURNALIST

BARUNGA West Council has received $155,000 from the Local Government Association to finish expansions on its Port Broughton Community Wastewater Management System.

Development on the system began last year, with two storage lagoons, concrete treatment tanks and a three kilometre main line connecting Fisherman Bay to the developed management plant.

The additional funding, provided by the LGA in January, brings the subsidy agreement between BWC and the LGA to approximately $3.155 million.

Mayor Leonie Kerley said the upgrades were necessary, as the existing plant was nearing capacity and required future development.

"The expansion project was a key aspect of allowing the freeholding of 400 properties at Fisherman Bay, as they required connection to wastewater treatment as part of development approval," Mrs Kerley said.

"The project not only provides these properties with essential wastewater treatment but also offers additional reclaimed water for use by the Port Broughton Golf Club and town oval, providing an added benefit to local ratepayers.

"The Port Broughton Community Wastewater Management System expansion project is a crucial step in ensuring the sustainability and growth of the Port Broughton area for years to come.

"Our community is grateful for the support shown by stakeholders, including the Local Government Association."

50-year feat at leg's end hospital

Patrick Goldsmith
REPORT BY

IN a feat we may never see again, Yorketown doctor George Kokar is celebrating 50 years of service to the Northern and Yorke Local Health Network at the Yorketown Medical Practice and Hospital.

At a time when a large portion of the local healthcare workforce drive in and out at the drop of a hat, Dr Kokar's longevity in the GP role began with a stint as a locum at Yorketown in 1972.

The son of Polish parents who survived labour camps during World War II, he grew up in Adelaide but was enticed to Yorketown by a friend who was living on southern Yorke Peninsula.

He said, had he not been on a few weekends away with friends to Corny Point as a young man, he wouldn't have known about the town, but has come to love it.

"I was training in Adelaide, but I was a little sick of it," Dr Kokar said.

"I had a mate from medical school here and he said they were looking for someone so I thought I'd see what it was like.

"My wife thought it was only going to be six months; it didn't quite happen like that. She then said, by the time our second child was going to school, we would move back to Adelaide and that didn't happen either."

Dr Kokar said, of all the things he'd done while at the practice and hospital, he had got the most satisfaction from obstetrics, a service which is no longer available.

"Most babies used to be delivered by general practice, but now you wouldn't find a general practice delivering a baby in the metropolitan area at all — it's not that hard really," he said.

"Obstetrics is one of the only parts of medicine where people love the product (babies).

"Most of the time you tell people about heart attacks and cancers, deaths and palliative care and most people don't want that, but they like babies."

He said the lack of willingness from many within the industry to take the leap and work in a regional landscape comes from not understanding what country life is all about.

"You tend to be your own master, in a place like this," Dr Kokar said.

"You get a lot more independence here and you tend to deal with stuff that in the city you wouldn't deal with.

"In my era it all started to change in the metropolitan area with the growth of specialists.

"During my training I spent three months learning how to do everything with the eyes, but now there are five specialists for an eye."

Dr Kokar was presented with a certificate of recognition for his service to the local health network by Minister for Health Chris Picton in February.

He said friends and colleagues living in Adelaide had often said it's less enjoyable there than in the country.

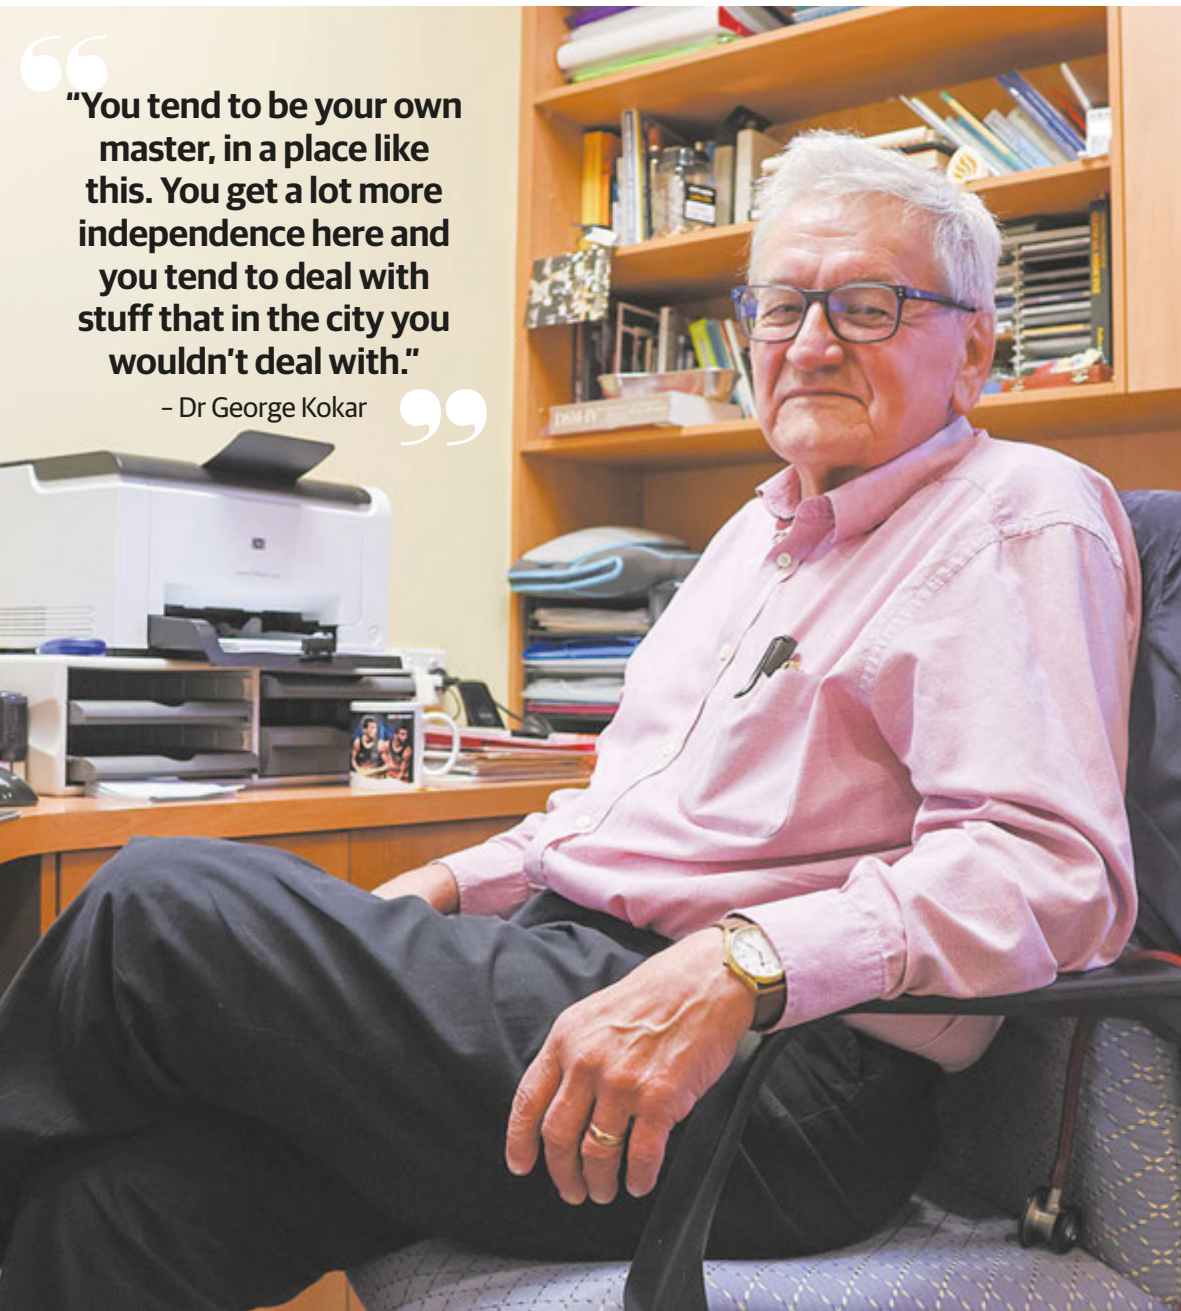

"The only reason I don't (move back to Adelaide) is that I've met several people over the years who had worked as medical professionals in the country and then moved to Adelaide and hated it," Dr Kokar said.

"So, I thought well if it's going to be like that, why would I want to go back there?"

Executive officer and director of nursing and midwifery of Southern Yorke Peninsula Health Service Tracy Carroll offered her appreciation to Dr Kokar.

"I'd like to thank Dr Kokar for providing medical services to not only the local health network but the wider community over the past 50 years here in Yorketown," she said.

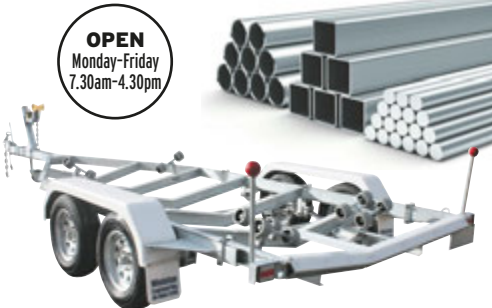

"His medical knowledge has been invaluable to us and it's been wonderful for staff to work alongside someone who provides such high-quality care."

Move, reflect and connect the key message from Brett Burton

Will Hunter
REPORT BY

FORMER Adelaide Crows footballer Brett Burton joined the Fat Farmers group to discuss all things mental health at the Copper Coast Sport and Leisure Centre, Kadina last Wednesday, March 15.

Now a wellbeing facilitator, Mr Burton centred his speech on emotional wellbeing and encouraged the 50-strong audience to focus on three key pillars — movement, reflection and connection — to improve their emotional health.

Mr Burton told the group about his own experience as the Adelaide Crows' head of football and how losing what he thought was an unlosable grand final (in 2017) changed the course of his career.

He attributed his recovery from being dismissed from his position with the Crows to the high performance sport training strategies he has developed, but admitted he went through a period of grief.

"I encourage everyone to get active to improve mental health and work through their own hardships by finding a form of physical activity that works for them," he said.

"What we often don't think about is the psychological benefits of movement.

"From a physical point of view, 20 minutes of moderate exercise will put you in a good mood for up to 12 hours.

"When it comes to exercise, we have got to do what's enjoyable and what's repeatable."

Mr Burton acknowledged the difficulty in disconnecting from an ever-increasing online world and said it was important we continued to connect with others, as humans, and rely on social interactions to maintain wellbeing.

"The power of social interaction is as powerful from a positive perspective as cigarettes and alcohol are from a negative perspective," he said.

"(Yet) when things aren't going well we tend to become reclusive.

"Country people help each other (through these times) better than anyone else in my experience.

"We all have those people who provide us with good energy."

Mr Burton helped the Kadina Fat Farmers group put these strategies into action the following day during a 6.30am fitness session.

WELLBEING... Former Adelaide Crows footballer Brett Burton joined the Fat Farmers group to discuss strategies on how to achieve better mental health outcomes at an event on Wednesday, March 15. # Ardrossan SACWA news

SOUTH Australian Country Women's Association Ardrossan branch members have expressed appreciation to the Yorke Peninsula Council for its maintenance of the branch's meeting room.

YPC workers touched up paint-work of the room and Small Hall entrance, and cleaned the Small Hall ready for the branch's Ardrossan 150 event and 77 years of SACWA celebration.

Mrs Armfield convened a meeting to form the branch on July 5, 1946.

Mrs V. Rowe, later a life member, attended the first meeting, which was held in the local betting shop.

The 1946 minutes book reveals the branch was approached by the Ardrossan Community Hospital board for suggestions regarding the hospital.

In response, the branch suggested the addition of a nurse training program, and that the hospital board should also include a woman.

The branch gave a floor rug for the nurses' lounge and lights for the hospital.

Ardrossan SACWA volunteers started a kindergarten in 1964.

Members are looking forward to their next events, which include a pre-Christmas community family picnic in the Town Square, 10.15am to 1.30pm, on Wednesday, December 13.

Cost to attend will be $5.

Brighter lights in 2023

LIGHT IN THE DARKNESS...
Dev Lights Up should be bigger and better in 2023 after SOS Yorkes received a Wellbeing SA grant to run the event.

ORGANISERS of SOS Yorkes' Dev Lights Up event in Edithburgh have said this year's event will be bigger, better and brighter than last year's when it takes place on Saturday, July 15.

The call comes after the community organisation was boosted by a $7710 Wellbeing SA Suicide Prevention Community grant it received for the event earlier this month.

SOS Yorkes treasurer and event coordinator Bronnie Searle said almost 650 people came to the event at the Dev Patterson Park in 2022.

"Dev Lights Up is a community event aiming to bring everyone together and address mental health in a fun way which hopefully doesn't prove to be too frightening for people who need it," she said.

"It's a laidback event where people can come along and be themselves and we can essentially talk about mental health, without actually talking about it, which some people struggle with.

"It's very fitting to put on a light show because people suffer in the darkness, but in the darkness there can be light."

Ms Searle said further funding would allow for live music, more food vans and more lights to be displayed around the park.

"SOS Yorkes is all about providing the first port of call for local people who may be struggling and suffering in silence in regards to their mental health," she said.

"We work towards a greater awareness of mental health issues and suicide prevention, but we want to steer people in the right direction for further help after they come to us.

"This event is entirely funded by grants and sponsors which is brilliant; so, a big thank you goes to the Coobowie Progress Association, AGL, Edithburgh Progress Association, Yorketown Wellbeing Group, Wellbeing SA and an individual sponsor."

Minister for Health and Wellbeing Chris Picton said Wellbeing SA's Suicide Prevention Community grants aimed to help local groups deliver suicide prevention initiatives tailored to meet the needs of their community.

Strong support for Christmas appeal

UNITING Care Copper Triangle thanks all who donated money and/or goods for its 2022 Christmas Hamper appeal.

“Through the generosity of individuals, clubs and businesses, 120 families had a much happier Christmas,” coordinator Kylie Mildwaters said.

These families received hampers with staple foods plus some treats for Christmas breakfast, lunch and tea.

Included in each hamper was a voucher for fruit, vegetables and butcher supplies the families used to purchase foods of their choice.

“We thank the local businesses that support this option, often with very generous supplies,” Kylie said.

To learn more about the Christmas hamper program and/or to donate, contact Kylie Mildwaters on 8821 2199 or kylie@mildwaterslawyers.com.au; donations over $2 are tax deductible.

Hands of industry immortalised on Ardrossan wall

BOLD... Artists Dylan Butler and Kyle Armstrong have recently completed a mural on the side of Ardrossan's Tidy Towns' shed depicting the hands of industry which built the town — engineering, farming and mining. “We both really enjoyed working with and incorporating the locals in the mural as well as hanging out with a few new and old local friends for the week,” Mr Butler said. “It seems to have been mostly well received by the community which is also great hear and see... and hopefully it will lead to some more public art opportunities to liven up Yorke Peninsula as a whole, as an increasingly renowned public art destination in Australia.”

Yorke Peninsula Country Times | Tuesday, March 21, 2023 21

IT was in 1928 when the now heritage-listed Minlaton Show building was formally opened.

A determined group of volunteers, a sub-committee of the SYP Agricultural Society, hopes to complete the building's rejuvenation before its centenary in 2028.

One of the community groups supporting the Friends is the Minlaton History Group.

All history group members belong to SYP Agricultural Society's Friends of the Building group and, through this, have been researching the history of agricultural shows held in Minlaton since 1878.

At that time, the society was grandly called Central Yorke Peninsula Agricultural, Horticultural and Floricultural Society.

As part of their association with the Friends, the history group members have been investigating the development of the showgrounds area after its 1882 land grant.

They note the local community rallied to build an iron fence and makeshift pavilion and, amazingly, had everything ready for the opening of the very first show 10 days later.

The history group has also researched the history of the show pavilion, outbuildings and stone wall, digitised photos of early shows, located and collated show books and begun compiling lists of officials, committee and life members from 1878.

Some families have served on the show committee for three generations; is your family one of these? The Friends would love to hear your story (phone 8853 2692).

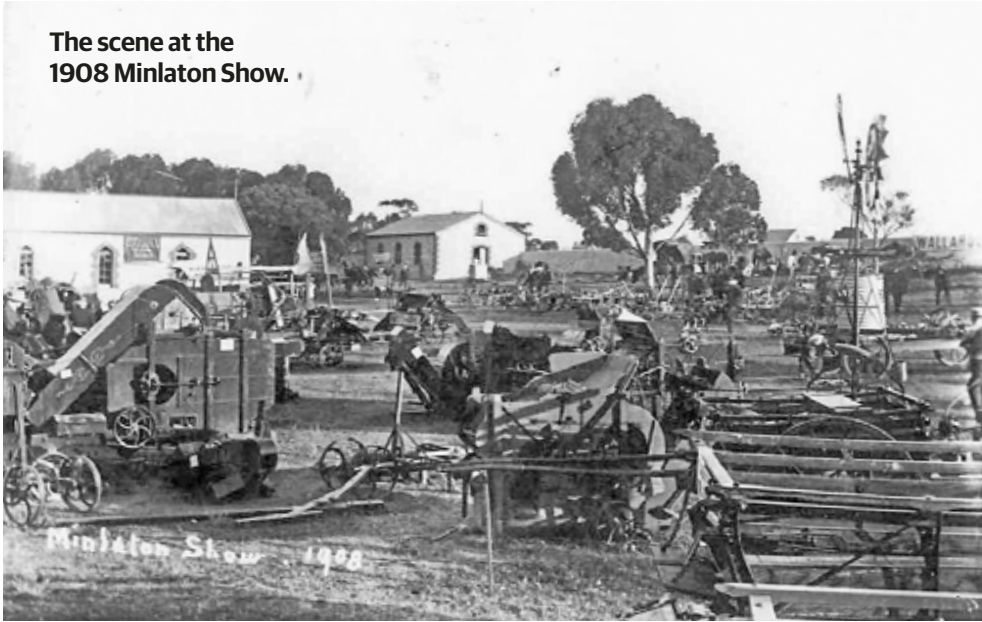

Want to be part of Minlaton's unique heritage? Minlaton History Group meets at the Minlaton Community Library, 1.30pm on the first and third Fridays of each month.

The group is grateful to National Trust SA Minlaton branch museum for access to its collections.

Want to find out more? The museum has a fascinating collection of items about Minlaton and district.

Three Generations and Friends Easter exhibition

Advertising Promotion

THREE Generations and Friends art exhibition is on again this Easter at the Port Vincent Institute.

The exhibition, which opens at midday on Good Friday and runs until 5pm Easter Monday, will feature new works from three generations of artists — Marie Parsons, daughter Allyson and grandson Henry Cockington — along with other talented Yorke Peninsula artists.

Marie, Allyson and Henry, and friends, are set to showcase paintings, pastels, sculpture, jewellery and fibre art.

Allyson won the 2023 Victor Harbor Rotary Art Show People's Choice Award with her painting of sand dunes at Chinaman Wells.

She'll have some new works from the Flinders Ranges, Kangaroo Island, and Chinaman Wells at the Easter exhibition.

Henry, too, experienced success at the Victor show, selling his major work to an international buyer.

He has a variety of new works from Eyre Peninsula, Yorke Peninsula and the Flinders Ranges ready for the show and is planning a painting trip to the Mediterranean and north Africa later this year.

Marie's contributions to the Easter show include new still life pastel work.

The exhibition will also feature unique three-dimensional driftwood sculptures of predominately marine animals and birdlife, created by Alan Borg from driftwood collected around Australia.

Local artists Mark Short, Terry Braund, Bruce Davey and Josh Rudduck will also showcase paintings and pastels while June Faulkner and Margie Davies have created original fibre works for the exhibition.

Vanessa Murdoch and Sue Garrard's always-in-demand handmade jewellery will be another highlight of the exhibition.

"The exhibition is a great way to showcase artists from SYP and beyond as it is one of the busiest times of the year," Allyson said.

Plan for your future

Your future is in your hands

Advertising Promotion

YOU may not be able to control your future but you can plan for it.

Planning for the future doesn't always have to be scary, it can be exciting as well! From planning your career path or wedding, buying a first home, or your forever home; to wills and retirement...it can all seem overwhelming...but having some plans in place for the future could make your present that much sweeter (and a lot less stressful).

If planning for the future is something you want to start thinking about try setting smaller, easily achievable goals that directly and immediately impact your current life and keep doing so until you accomplish larger goals. You can also set larger goals, that may take longer to accomplish, and actively work toward them a little each day.

The choice is yours and you have endless options because it's your future right?

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

1. What is advance care planning?

Advance care planning is an ongoing process of shared planning for current and future health care. It involves talking about a person's values, beliefs and preferences so they can guide decision making when the person cannot make or communicate their decisions. This program is supported by funding from the Australian Government.

2. Who needs to do advance care planning?

Everyone should consider advance care planning, regardless of their age or health. It can be particularly important to individuals with an advanced chronic illness, a life-limiting illness, aged 75-plus or at risk of losing competence.

3. When is an Advance Care Directive used?

These are only used if a person is unable to make or communicate their decisions. The directive would then be used to guide the decisions made by the medical staff in consultation with an appointed substitute decision maker, if one has been nominated, and family.

4. Why is it helpful to make an Advance Care Directive?

Completing an Advance Care Directive often reassures individuals and their families as they have a clear idea of what is desired by the person in the event of illness or injury.

5. What happens if a person does not have an advance care plan?

In the event of serious illness, doctors will make treatment decisions based on their assessment of the best interests of the person. This may include treatments that the person would not want.

About Advance Care Planning Australia

IMPORTANT life choices are planned, not left to chance.

National Advance Care Planning Week, March 20-26, is the perfect time to start conversations with loved ones about what's important when it comes to future healthcare preferences.

Funded by the Australian Government, Advance Care Planning Australia is the national authority on advance care planning.

The organisation supports the general public and healthcare professionals to ensure people's values and medical care preferences are heard and respected.

People are asked to consider:

- If you were very unwell, and unable to communicate your preferences for care, who would you want to speak for you?
- What healthcare decisions would you want them to make?

This can apply to people of all ages, but especially in old age or during serious illness.

Writing an Advance Care Directive lets you say what you would want, so your wishes can be fulfilled.

It can give you and your family peace of mind, knowing your preferences are clear, understood and respected.

Yorke Peninsula has a range of legal experts who can assist you and your family in this process.

Plan for your future

FUNERAL PLANS... Iain McQueen, Gail Burke and Kate Edwards from McQueen Funeral Services can visit you at your home to discuss prepaid funeral plan options.

Prepaid funeral plans available at McQueen's

Advertising Promotion

WHEN planning ahead for your funeral, there are options to consider, including whether to organise and pay for the entire service in advance, or simply to set money aside to contribute towards funeral expenses.

Your choice of funeral director is also important. McQueen Funeral Services is an accredited member of the Australian Funeral Directors Association, and Iain McQueen is a past president and divisional council member of South Australia/Northern Territory division of the Australian Funeral Directors Association.

McQueen Funeral Services offers prepaid funeral plans. This allows people to fix the cost of a funeral with McQueen Funerals by obtaining a pre-paid contract which documents their wishes in detail.

Iain encouraged people to lock in their choices at today's prices.

"With a prepaid funeral contract, your service is planned and paid for in advance," he said. "The price of your funeral is fixed at today's prices, protecting you from the rising cost of funerals in the future."

Another option available is a funeral bond investment which helps people put money aside for their funeral expenses without going into the details. However, a bond does not guarantee against price rises.

People can pay for their funeral plans or bonds via a lump sum or on a payment plan.

An added advantage is a pre-paid funeral plan for any amount, or bond up to $14,000, is not considered a personal asset.

This means it is exempt from asset tests, and could help maintain or improve people's pension entitlements.

Prepaid funeral plans and bonds ensure your money is held securely, and give you peace of mind knowing you have helped alleviate the financial and emotional burden from your family in the future.

Maitland students design Bloods' SANFLW guernsey

CREATIVE... Maitland Lutheran School years 8 and 9 students Shamioka Wanganeen, Teya Wilson, Maeisha Wanganeen and Chloisha Dare, with their teacher and West Adelaide footballer Nicole Hooper (middle), wearing the guernseys they designed for SANFLW Indigenous Round.

Peter Argent

REPORT BY

Four Maitland Lutheran School students designed West Adelaide's guernseys for the SANFLW First Nations Round, played Friday and Saturday, March 17-18.

The quartet — Shamioka Wanganeen, Teya Wilson, Maeisha Wanganeen and Chloisha Dare — worked on the guernsey design with their teacher, and West Adelaide player, Nicole Hooper.

The years 8 and 9 students all have a Narungga heritage.

"The club spoke to me about getting the girls involved," Hooper said.

"Naturally, because of my passion in this space and my association with West Adelaide I was keen for us to be involved.

"The final result was a collaboration of the four designs created by Shamioka, Teya, Maeisha and Chloisha.

"My students started the original design process last year, with each girl coming up with their own specific jumper.

"They were drawing on their own knowledge of symbols as well as learnings about the West Adelaide Football Club's connection to the Riverland and Kurna country.

"The flowing water across the front of the jumper explains our Riverland connection.

"The stars are for the linking of our people to their ancestors and each other; this includes all people involved at the Bloods — our staff, players, supporters and volunteers.

"There is a Swan totem signifying the connection with Hisense Stadium (Richmond Oval) which is a meeting place where we all come together.

"We also incorporated the Kurna Shield on the back of the jumper to indicate we're going into battle."

The Bloods took on Sturt in the First Nations Round, losing 5. 5 (35) to 6. 6 (42).

Although the inaugural First Nations Round was in 2022, this was the first time all eight SANFLW teams wore Indigenous-designed jumpers.

Demons run over in last quarter

Scott Brown
REPORT BY

Results 17-3-23

Moonta's senior women's team was defeated for just the second time in the Mid North Women's Football Competition, losing to Proprietary/Risdon Lions by 28 points on Friday night, March 17.

Despite the final scores, the game was close until the last quarter with its physical nature and the heat taking their toll on the Demons.

They started strong and kicked the first goal of the game in only a matter of minutes, adding another moments later and looking very solid.

The Lions settled and answered with two goals of their own before Moonta kicked another goal.

The first quarter was very physical with both sides tackling hard and applying lots of pressure, resulting in an 8-point quarter-time lead for Moonta

The second quarter was also tight, with the same physicality and pressure as the first.

Neither side could find a way to kick goals and neither added a goal for the quarter.

Moonta looked the more likely to score but was inaccurate due to pressure, adding four points for the quarter.

There was no letup in intensity in the third quarter; it was a credit to both sides as to the quality of the game given that the temperature was hovering in the low 30s.

In a tight quarter both sides only had two scoring shots each, however the Lions were able to close the gap at three-quarter time by kicking two goals to one, giving Moonta a five-point lead at the final change.

The Lions came out firing in the last quarter and kicked the first goal quickly and another soon after.

The Moonta girls seemed to be getting tired as the heat took effect and the Lions took advantage, kicking six goals to one in the last to run out winners.

Until the last quarter, when Moonta ran out of legs, it was the side in control.

Despite losing this week the Moonta women finished third and are now playing in the finals in their first-ever season. This is an incredible effort by these girls who should be proud of what they have achieved.

The semifinal for Moonta is this Friday night (March 24) at 8.15pm at Crystal Brook Oval and should be another great game against the Lions for a second week in a row.

First loss registered to Crystal Brook

Results 10-3-23

Moonta senior women tasted defeat for the first time in the Mid North Women's Football Competition, going down to Crystal Brook by 84 points on Friday night, March 10.

This was always going to be a tough game for the newcomer Demons against the more experienced Crystal Brook who have been playing for five years.

Moonta was competitive in the first quarter keeping the Roosters to three goals; but the defence of Crystal Brook was extremely strong and rebounded everything that came that end.

Moonta was down by 19 points at the quarter-time break and had only kicked one point.

The second quarter was a repeat of the first with Crystal Brook's strong defence playing a big part again.

Moonta was still applying its own pressure in defence which caused Crystal Brook to be inaccurate in front of goals however, the Roosters managed to score another couple of goals to extend their lead.

In the third quarter it looked like Moonta had settled down a bit as it scored an early goal. Unfortunately for the Demons, that was it for a while and the Roosters scored freely to add four goals of their own with Moonta only adding one more.

The Demons were fighting hard but were unable to stop the free-flowing Roosters from scoring as they opened a 47-point deficit at the final break.

The experience of Crystal Brook came through in the last quarter and the floodgates opened as Moonta began to get tired.

The Moonta women tried hard to stop the flow of scoring. The game became very physical but the Roosters went on to kick 6.2 to 0.1 in the last quarter and run out winners by 84 points.

What the scores don't show is that, despite being less experienced than their opponent, Moonta was playing just as well going into their forward line only a couple of times less than Crystal Brook.

Locals compete at schools swimming championships

Yorke Peninsula Zone Sport sent a team to the School Sport SA Multi-Class Individual Swimming Championships at the SA Aquatic and Leisure Centre, Oaklands Park, on Friday, March 3.

It was the first time the YP Zone had entered the championships.

The team comprised Rafe Mahar and Jemma Mattschoss (Maitland Lutheran School), and Isabelle Roennfeldt, Caitlyn Tape and Lahni Sims (Central Yorke School).

"Each student swam remarkably well and earned personal bests in each of their races, which is an amazing achievement given they only had a couple of weeks of training before the event," YP Zone

Sport convenor Aaron Smith said.

"It was a great opportunity to send a team and we hope to round up some more keen swimmers to enter the E grade competition next year.

"We now turn our attention to the SAPSASA Swimming State Championships, in which we will have 14 students competing; this will also be held at the SA Aquatic and Leisure Centre, on Friday, May 5."

YP talents are u18s leaders

Peter Argent
REPORT BY

Jordan Tilbrook (Edithburgh), Kade Herbert (Bute), Riley Davey and Jett Hasting (both CY Cougars) have been voted in as leaders by their Woodville-West Torrens under 18s teammates.

Tilbrook, in year 12 at Henley High School, is recovering from back-related issues but has returned to training and hopes to be available by round 3 (April 7).

“Jordan is friendly, approachable and always encouraging others, along with showing how much he cares about the team,” was among the comments made by teammates during the selection process.

“He is someone we all look up to, along with displaying his resilience and work ethic through the hard times.”

Herbert has played in a couple of reserves trials this year and, like Hasting, is an u18s bottom-aged player.

“Kade is inclusive and dedicated to his footy, along with demonstrating care to his teammates,” the playing group said.

“He always talks to everyone, not just his mates.

“Kade leads with his hard work on the training track and his effort on the field.”

Davey will split his time between commitments with Immanuel College, where he is in year 12, and the Eagles, and is expected to have state u18s commitments as well.

“Riley always gets around all his teammates, not just his mates,” his teammates said.

SANFL UNDER 18... Yorke Peninsula talents Jordan Tilbrook, Riley Davey, Jett Hasting and Kade Herbert are part of the Woodville-West Torrens under 18s leadership squad.

“He holds himself to high standards and lifts the group up by the way he trains.

“Riley shows passion and is a team player who inspires.”

One of the captains of the 2022 Eagles u16s premiership team, Hasting will divide his time between St Peter’s College First XVIII and Woodville-West Torrens.

“Jett sets the bar high and is always positive.

“He shows kindness and support for everyone in the team, along with the ability to communicate well and is approachable.

“Jett is very humble and shows an interest in others.”

Also in the Eagles u18s leadership group are Oscar Pearce (Clare), Rome Burgoyne, Pat Toole and Josh Capogreco.

The team’s first match is against West Adelaide on Saturday, March 25.

KDNA 2023 season begins in May

The Kadina and District Netball Association committee welcomes past and incoming players to the 2023 netball season.

Last year we trialled a Wednesday night competition which was very successful in providing an increase in the number of senior teams within the competition.

This year, all games will be played at the Copper Coast Sport and Leisure Centre, Kadina, on a Tuesday night, with games commencing on Tuesday, May 2.

We would love to see more junior grades within the competition, and are also looking at a masters division (35 and over) for those who may be interested.

More information regarding game times will be provided in the coming weeks.

To register your interest for a junior, senior or masters team please send an email to kdna5554@gmail.com.

Country Crow winner

WINNER... Jennifer Windebank, Ardrossan, has won the second and final week of the Country Crow memberships giveaway drawn on Friday, March 17. Adelaide Football Club has launched a new membership package for country members ahead of the men’s AFL season. The Country Crows membership will allow general admission access to two games in the 2023 season, as well as the option to attend the Crows’ Gather Round match against Carlton on Thursday, April 13.

Many local footy clubs and their communities have been touched by road trauma. Losing any life on our roads has devastating and far-reaching effects. The welfare of players, coaches, club staff and volunteers is fundamental to the SANFL so we have partnered with the SA Police Road Safety Centre and the Department for Infrastructure and Transport to deliver a road safety session with the aim of making roads safer and ensuring no more lives are lost.

SANFLW

Woodville West Torrens was held scoreless for three quarters in its Friday night clash with Norwood, and went down by 31 points, 2.3 (15) to 6.10 (46).

High amongst the Eagles best players and their leading possession winner, Edithburgh's Shineah Goody finished with 21 disposals (15 kicks and six handballs), along with taking a pair of marks, laying five tackles, and winning three clearances.

Kadina's Kayleigh May was best on ground in the Development League thriller between the two teams.

The Eagles kicked two final-quarter goals to finish three points short against the Redlegs, 4.4 (28) to 4.7 (31). Along with her ability to win the contested ball, May kicked a goal.

In the Development League game between South and Central District, Nari Wright (Curramulka) and her Panthers teammates kept the Bulldogs scoreless, kicking 7.8 (50) themselves. Wright was a solid contributor once again.

Suncorp Super Netball

The West Coast Fever enjoyed a thrilling one-goal victory over the Melbourne Vixens, getting up 62 to 61, in a 2022 grand final rematch.

Sasha Glasgow (Moonta) was a valuable ally to superstar Jhaniele Fowler in the attack circle. Glasgow finished with one conversion from three attempts at the Super Shot range, and was also five from six from the floor. She collected 15 centre passes and was credited with 20 feeds.

In the opening match of the season at John Cain Area, the Sydney Swifts went down to the Collingwood Magpies by a comfortable eight goal margin, 63 to 71.

Sarah Klau (Yorketown), playing as goal keeper, created a pair of intercepts and received the umpires' whistle for 16 penalties in this contest.

SACA Senior Men

West Torrens, the reigning premiers in

First Grade (A grade) cricket, ensured it made the 2022-23 finals series with a comfortable 53-run victory over the Southern Stingrays at Bice Oval in the final round of the regular season.

Curramulka lad Murphy Short played his role with both bat and ball.

In the Stingrays' competitive innings of 214, Short collected 1/41 from 12 overs including a maiden, and then produced a 68-run, sixth-wicket partnership with Daniel Drew to ensure victory.

Short was dismissed for 38, having faced 73 balls, and dispatched a single boundary.

Sturt lost to Woodville by seven wickets and will be relegated to the second grade competition in 2023-24.

The Blues were dismissed for 162. Thomas Kelly (Bute connection) got a start making 33 from 65 balls faced, dispatching three boundaries and a six.

Ben Turley (Kadina connection) was amongst the wickets for the Peckers, collecting 2/39 from 12 overs including a pair of maidens. The hosts at Woodville Oval were only three wickets down when they passed the Blues' score.

SACA Junior Boys

West Torrens Under 14s Red team fell short in the semifinal against top side Sturt. Chasing 6/194, the young Eagles were bundled out for 79 in 44.2 overs.

Local lads Cash Meyers (one run from 18 balls) and Angus Petherick (three runs from 20 balls) both got off the mark.

AFL

In the season opener, Port Broughton's George Hewett had a superb first half for Carlton against Richmond, at the Melbourne Cricket Ground.

By halftime in this tight, low-scoring thriller Hewett had already amassed 20 disposals.

He finished with his 2022 average of 28 possessions (10 kicks and 18 handballs), along with five marks and eight clearances.

In a dramatic finish, Carlton conceded the final goal of the game, and the opening match of the season also became the first draw of the year.

AFL... Port Broughton export George Hewett wins another handball in Carlton's season opener against Richmond at the MCG.

Port Adelaide and Bute's Lachlan Jones were outstanding in the clash with Brisbane at Adelaide Oval on Saturday.

Jones kicked a career-high three goals in the win over the Lions. Port charged home in the second half, winning 18.18 (126) to 11.6 (72) by 44 points.

Jones had 12 disposals (seven kicks and five handballs), four marks, a couple of tackles and three hit-outs.

Jacob Wehr (Balaklava) and the GWS

Giants had an impressive come-from-behind 16-point triumph over the Adelaide Crows. Wehr collected 12 disposals but made the highlight reel for the brutal blow he received from Crows forward Shane McAdam.

Tigers shooting for two back-to-back flags

“The Finger Roll”

REPORT BY

Arthurton is now two games away from winning back-to-back premierships in both A Men and Women competitions.

With the men already through to the grand final, a preliminary final win for the women on Friday night, March 17, sealed a berth in the big dance.

Paskeville had no answer for Georgie Garrard, who made her way to the paint at will to force the Magpies into foul trouble early. Her 16 points, including seven free throws, were enough to give the Tigers the upper hand and nudge out Pasky by eight.

The Pies had a bit more luck in the A Men when the Yorke Valley Basketball Association deemed Josh Warnock (12 points) eligible to take the floor as the seventh member of Pasky’s bench despite having already played B grade the same night. This is a situation which would not be allowed during the regular season and, in my opinion, makes zero sense. But credit must go to the Pies who were the better side on the night and cruised past Kadina to win by 15.

Grand final tips

A MEN

Arthurton v Paskeville

As it has with most of the competition, Arthurton has had the wood on Pasky this season and I can’t see too much changing when it matters most. The Tigers were still able to get the job done the last time the two met when Sam Jacobs was forced to the bench with a hamstring injury. For the Tigers’ sake, hopefully he is ready to fire on all cylinders and dominate the paint yet again. Pasky continues to push the pace, which has posed problems for Jacobs in the past and could cause more headaches if the Magpies pick the right times to turn on the gas. Kye McDonald’s return will be huge on the offensive end, but I just can’t see how anyone goes toe to toe with the Tigers’ big man on defence. At the final buzzer... Arthurton to win the premiership by six.

A WOMEN

Bute v Arthurton

Unlike in the A Men, Arthurton A Women are set to head in as the underdog on Friday night. They could pose serious problems to Bute if Georgie Garrard can hit her straps early and get her feet in the paint. She will likely go head-to-head with Dani Richardson in what will be a sight for sore eyes. The two have been the clear standout scorers in this competition for multiple years now and will need to bring their absolute best this week. I expect this game will be decided by whoever has the most help. Marissa Hewett has found a rhythm at the right time of year, and with the likes of Ella McCauley and Montana Briggs also lining up in the backcourt, Bute has the better depth. At the final buzzer... Bute to win the premiership by 10.

YVBA A MEN PRELIMINARY FINAL... Griffyn Hansen, Kadina, looks for a way past Paskeville's Hamish Price.

CCSLC to host 3v3 tournament

NEXT GENERATION... Copper Coast Sport and Leisure Centre staff member Ebony Lamshed is looking forward to hosting a 3v3 basketball tournament, to be contested by Archie Faulkner, Lachlan Bodie, Tex Neumann and other young people as part of SA Youth Week.

Copper Coast Sport and Leisure Centre, Kadina, is set to host its first 3v3 basketball tournament on Tuesday, March 28.

The free tournament will be held for people aged between 12 and 24 as part of SA Youth Week, March 24 to April 2.

Centre manager Giles Ellis said the tournament was something CCSLC had been looking to hold for a while.

“There’s so many young people playing local basketball now — it’s a sport that keeps growing — so we thought it’d be a good idea to run during youth week,” Ellis said.

“We also have quite a few young staff members working at the centre now, so it’ll be good to see them running their own competition.”

Ellis said the tournament was one of several ways the centre had been looking to help children be more active.

“We’re trying to find new ways people might want to be active that gets them away from their screens,” he said.

“You don’t have to be good at basketball to participate — just come along and we’ll put you in the appropriate age group and level.”

Copper Coast Council has secured funding through SA Youth Week and engaged CCSLC to facilitate the tournament.

To sign up for the event, contact the centre on 8821 3106.

Moonta and Wallaroo sides dominant

NYPBA SATURDAY DIV I PRELIMINARY FINAL... Roger Spry, Kadina, signals two shots down and Moonta's Ian Hatcher two shots up.

NYPBA SATURDAY DIV I PRELIMINARY FINAL... Moonta skipper Mike Treloar lets a teammate know how far his bowl is past the kitty as Derrick Bushell, Kadina, watches.

NYPBA SATURDAY DIV I PRELIMINARY FINAL... Watching a bowl come into the head are Moonta's Peter Rost, Lindsay Stam, Paul Ausburn, Marg Chandler and Kadina's Rod Knevitt, Greg Bettess and Robert Cross.

Joan Hill
REPORT BY

With the NYP Bowling Association 2022-23 preliminary finals done and dusted, all competitions' grand finals will be contested this week.

Moonta and Wallaroo are the only clubs to have sides playing in the finales.

Wallaroo has five sides in five grand finals and Moonta has seven sides contesting six flags.

Saturday competition

DIVISION I

Moonta defeated Kadina by five shots, 101-96, in first division's preliminary final at Paskeville on March 18.

It was a close game with both sides having two teams up.

However, it was the 27-16 win of Don Bennett, Sharon Cavanagh, Robert Mansell and Andrew Pearson that got Moonta over the line.

DIVISION II

Wallaroo White was too strong for Moonta Blue, winning 96-64 at Bute. Darrell Carter, Allan Webber, Peter Rankin and David Harris proved too strong for their opposition, finishing 36-8 ahead.

DIVISION III

The div III prelim was also close, Moonta Red defeating Wallaroo White by three shots, 56-53.

Moonta Red, which had been the top side all season, has only just scraped into the grand final.

Results 18-3-23

DIVISION I

Moonta 101 d Kadina 96. M Treloar 26 lost to D Bushell 28, P Rost 23 lost to B May 28, D Bennett 27 d P Miller 16, S Jolly 25 d B Hines 24.

DIVISION II

Wallaroo White 96 d Moonta Blue 64. C Zanker 12 lost to J Skinner 21, D Miller 25 d A Gordon 21, P Banks 23 d B Wilson 14, D Carter 36 d S Wilson 8.

DIVISION III

Moonta Red 56 d Wallaroo White 53. G Jones 23 d L Pratt 10, I Coates 16 lost to G Male 25, J Emmerton 17 lost to J Jaensch 18.

How many will Moonta win?

DIVISION I

Wallaroo finished the minor rounds on top and had the advantage of playing at home in the second semifinal when it defeated Moonta by only four shots; both sides had two teams up.

The grand final is at Kadina, which will be an advantage to Moonta as its green is similar to Kadina's, and this advantage should get Moonta over the line.

Moonta didn't start the season well but has found good form for finals.

DIVISION II

Moonta Red finished the minor round on top and defeated Wallaroo White in the second semifinal by 24 shots, with all teams up.

Wallaroo White won the preliminary on an artificial surface at Bute, so playing on the green in Kadina will give Moonta the advantage.

Moonta should be premiers in this division.

DIVISION III

Two Moonta sides will play in the third division grand final.

Red finished the minor rounds on top but Blue won the second semifinal (against Red) by five shots to go straight into the grand final.

With the game being played at Moonta, there is no advantage to either side.

Moonta Red has been top all season and I think that's where it will finish.

Thursday competition

DIVISION I

The experienced Wallaroo overtook Artherton in the preliminary final at Ardrossan last Thursday.

Wallaroo had three teams up and won 83-65, with Lee-Anne Jolly's rink having the biggest win, 32-12.

Artherton is to be congratulated on making the preliminary final.

This side's inexperience in div I may have counted overall but another season with the same side will help lessen this.

DIVISION II

Wallaroo and Wallaroo Mines had a close contest at Paskeville, Wallaroo Mines pushing Wallaroo to the limit.

Both sides had two teams up but Wallaroo won 71-68.

Results 16-3-23

DIVISION I

Wallaroo 83 d Artherton 65. A Robinson 21 d A Adams 17, D Milner 13 lost to J Bagshaw 22, L Jolly 32 d B Mullins 12, J Symons 17 d A Gersch 14.

DIVISION II

Wallaroo 71 d Wallaroo Mines 68. M Topham 18 d C Fiskien 15, D Pearce 12 lost to C Pearce 22, M Ross 16 lost to K Greer 17, J Emms 25 d C Howe.

Grand finals

Moonta has dominated the Thursday (women's) competition all season and Wallaroo finished second at the end of the minor rounds in both divisions.

DIVISION I

Moonta will play Wallaroo in the grand final at Kadina this week.

Moonta has not been defeated this season and, for several years, it has been the side to beat.

Wallaroo had one team up when they last met. Moonta is a well-drilled side, the players believe in one another and, yes, they can win another premiership.

DIVISION II

The Moonta Blue second division side has much experience.

It lost only two games during the home and away portion of the season, and defeated Wallaroo in the second semi to go straight into the grand final.

Wallaroo could possibly defeat Moonta but it likely won't this week.

Moonta may well win both women's competition 2022-23 premierships.

Wednesday competition

Preliminary final results 15-3-23

Moonta Red 47 d Kadina 35. K Coates 13 lost to B Penhall 14, I Hatcher 18 d C March 19, M Treloar 16 d G Wilson 11.

Southern Yorke Peninsula...

Upsets abound in finals games

“NN”
REPORT BY

Southern Yorke Peninsula Bowling Association's week of finals featured both joy and tears after several unexpected results.

Thursday competition

DIVISION I
The first upset was last Thursday when the strong Stansbury side went down to Curramulka by nine shots in the women's competition division I preliminary final. Each side won two rinks.
Towards the end of the minor rounds, it was touch and go if Curramulka would make the finals; it did and now will be playing Yorketown in the grand final this Thursday.
Stansbury can consider itself a little unlucky as, the week before in the second (qualifying) semifinal, Yorketown scored a one-shot win against it with the final bowl of the day.
In the prelim, Curramulka skipper Yvonne Dodd scored a good win against Karyn Watts 24-17 and Sue Short defeated Anne Holland 19-12.
Stansbury's winning rinks were Jennie

Ford up 19-16 against Cindy Thompson and Margie Dodd defeated Sandra Wescombe 15-13.
DIVISION II
Minlaton scraped home by six shots against Warooka in an interesting game.
Maureen Worden 19 defeated Joy Cadby 14, and Vicki Eales scored a one-shot win, 18-17 over Marg Coad to put paid to Warooka's season.

DIVISION I
The big upset of the season occurred at Edithburgh where Stansbury upset top side Yorketown by eight shots, 110-102, in the second (qualifying) semifinal to advance to the grand final.
Star Yorketown skippers Mick McCallion and Massimo Castiglia were soundly defeated by Rob Natt and Trevor Gill respectively, whilst Steve Redding and Rod Franke scored good wins but not enough to get Yorketown over the line.

At Edithburgh in the first (elimination) semifinal, Minlaton gave Edithburgh the flick for the season with an easy win, 121-93.
DIVISION II
Stansbury White defeated Yorketown Blue 79-71 to advance to the grand final
In the first semi, Stansbury Blue defeated Yorketown Red by two shots, 72-70, to have Yorketown out of the competition.
Yorketown Red skipper Robin Spratt did his best to get his side over the line with a 30-18 win against Keith Caldwell.
Stansbury Blue's Phil Bowey had a good win against Roy Bullock 27-14, and Ian McEwan scraped home by one shot against Peter Quick, 27-26.

This was also the final association event for the season. Men's triples and pairs, and women's fours, triples and pairs were played earlier in the season. BOWLS

Ardrossan Wednesday: Results 15-3-23 — In the first semifinal, White lost to the more consistent Edithburgh Gold 28-43. F Paroczy, J Simmons and N Marsh (sk) started slowly at 1-10 before striking back with their own string of wins to within one shot of their opponents. It was then that the Edithburgh team broke away to force the 13-19 loss. L Burman, N Atkins and D Adcock (sk) jumped to an early lead, but this was soon reeled in. The game was in the balance near the finish but a last-ends surge by Edithburgh heralded a looming loss, with the team going down 15-24. Thank you to SYPBA for hosting this enjoyable competition. Thanks also to the myriad club volunteers who have freely given their time, expertise and energy for yet another season. LBB

Moonta Saturday: Results 18-3-23 — For the second week of finals four sides were left in the open competition, three were successful and will play in grand finals this Saturday. Division I took care of Kadina 101-96 avenging last year's loss in the final. With two rinks each, Moonta's best were Don Bennett, Sharon Cavanagh, Bert Mansell, Andrew Pearson, 11 up. Div II Red had the day off, going straight through with its semifinal win the week before. Div II Blue bowed out of the race, going down to Wallaroo White 64-96. Only winning rink James Skinner, Jose Mena, John Harvey, John Richards, 9 up. This side did a good job finishing third in second division considering it was the overall third selected side for the club. Div III Red redeemed itself by overcoming Wallaroo White 56-53 with one winning rink. Best: Greg Jones, Ray Frost, June Wilson, John Neville, 13 up. Div III Blue went through to the final winning the week before. The season winds up this week with the club's open competition sides playing in grand finals in all divisions. "Nearly There"

Walleroo Thursday: Results 16-3-23 — The division I preliminary final was played at Ardrossan last Thursday. Wallaroo finished with three winning rinks to one. Wallaroo (83) d Arthurlton (65). # Cross Roads indoor cush bowls seeking new players

Cush bowls is a unique form of carpet bowls which has been played in the Moonta area since 1957.

The club's second come and try night for the season was held at the Moonta Uniting Church hall last Thursday evening, March 16.

It was great to see new faces and hopefully potential players.

Due to health and changing circumstances, numbers are down and the club is seeking the interest of the Copper Coast community to keep this unique club at its full potential.

This Friday, March 24, will be the last come-and-try night before teams are selected ready for competition to commence on Friday, March 31.

Games are rotated over three time slots, 7pm, 8pm and 9pm, with two simultaneous games played each hour. The season runs from March to October.

Cush bowls is open to all ages, but juniors must be accompanied by an adult family member; bowls are supplied.

No experience is needed and it's an easy game to learn; come along to enjoy good company, a fun game with some friendly banter and a cuppa with friends.

For more information, contact Bev 0447 253 103, Christine 0429 947 272 or Kaylene 0413 181 634.

Wallaroo Sailing Club

It was another perfect morning on the water on Sunday, March 19. The breeze off the land meant skills learnt by our trainees were put to the test. The younger trainees spent the morning in the Optimists and the older trainees had time out in deeper water practising gybing and tacking around a triangular course, all under the watchful eye of the safety boats crews.

The afternoon sailors had to contend with fickle, off the land winds peaking at 16 knots. Sail trainees Haden Dubois, who started sailing in February, took on the challenge and sailed the two afternoon races for the first time. Considering the conditions and a capsize, quite a creditable feat. Well done Haden!

With only two more weeks to the end of the sailing season, all our sailors are making the most of their time on the water. Maria Carius

Are we gaining ground against herbicide resistant weeds?

THERE'S no doubt weed management is a numbers game, first and foremost. Overlooking this fact is the underlying cause of herbicide resistance.

Dr Ken Flower, director of the Australian Herbicide Resistance Initiative, said random weed surveys in Australia since 2003 showed an upward trajectory in the percentage of samples registered as resistant or developed resistance to a suite of common herbicides.

"In Western Australia, for example, in 2020, random surveys conducted by AHRI's Dr Mechelle Owen found more than 70 per cent of wild radish samples had some level of resistance to diflufenican and 2,4-D," Dr Flower said.

"In annual ryegrass, more than 90 per cent of samples were resistant or developing resistance to diclofop.

"Between 2015 and 2020, glyphosate resistance in annual ryegrass has jumped from one per cent to about 12 per cent."

The jump in glyphosate resistance is likely due to increased applications of glyphosate in herbicide-tolerant canola hybrids and in summer fallow spraying programs.

"Herbicides are by far the most efficient weed control tactic to apply over large tracts of land, and, understandably, growers rely heavily on herbicides," Dr Flower said.

"Unfortunately, this is how herbicide resistance gains a foothold.

"Rather than just looking for new broadacre herbicides or technological fixes, we need to get better at locating and mapping the weeds that escape the main control tactics.

"Treat weed patches in the current crop to stop seed set and strategically in future crops."

Herbicides work more effectively when crop competition does the heavy lifting to suppress weed germination and seed set.

The WeedSmart Big 6 is built on robust and diverse crop rotations where each crop provides opportunities to drive down the weed seed bank. Monitoring and managing individual weeds or small patches is essential in an effective control strategy.

WEEDS... AHRI director, Dr Ken Flower, suggests growers focus on locating and mapping the weeds that escape the main control tactics and stop seed set to tackle herbicide resistance early.

GRDC seeking panel members

PEOPLE involved in the grains industry on Yorke Peninsula, including growers, agronomists, researchers, and other industry stakeholders are invited to nominate for a position on the Grains Research and Development Corporation's southern panel.

Applications are now open for positions on GRDC's three regional panels: southern (South Australia, Tasmania and Victoria), northern (Queensland and New South Wales) and western (Western Australia).

GRDC managing director Nigel Hart said the regional panel system played a pivotal role in ensuring research was delivered for growers today and into the future.

"The regional panels have an important role engaging with and listening to growers, advisers, researchers and industry stakeholders to understand the constraints and opportunities that are influencing farm returns, and bringing that information back to GRDC," Mr Hart said.

"We are seeking regional panel members with strong connections within the grains sector, an in-depth understanding of the industry and the willingness and time to make a difference when it comes to contributing to Australian RD&E."

Mr Hart said diversity within the panels was integral to the system's success, so each comprised grain growers, advisers, researchers, plant breeders, supply chain leaders and other industry experts, and GRDC executives.

OPPORTUNITY... GRDC managing director Nigel Hart says the regional panel system plays a pivotal role in ensuring GRDC invests in research that delivers for growers.

"We want broad-minded, innovative applicants with a strong record of collaboration, in particular working with grain growers to understand their production challenges and opportunities, and the ability to communicate effectively," he said.

GRDC Northern panel member Dr Georgina Pengilley said being involved on a regional panel required a time commitment and knowledge of the grains industry, but the experience and professional development gained were invaluable.

"Being on the panel has given me the opportunity to engage with some of Australia's most respected researchers, along with some of the industry's most progressive growers and agronomists," Dr Pengilley said.

"From an industry perspective it has given me a chance to play a role in working with my fellow panel members and GRDC staff to help ensure grower levies are directed into RD&E that has a meaningful and profitable impact on-farm."

Applications for the GRDC Regional Panel positions close on April 13. Successful applicants will start the part-time positions from September 1 and appointments will be for two years.

Find out more at grdc.com.au/about/who-we-are/our-structure/panels/southern or email RP2023@grdc.com.au.

Why you should join the panel

GRAINS Research and Development Corporation is responsible for planning, investing in and overseeing research, development and extension to create enduring profitability for Australian grain growers.

GRDC is planning to invest between $180 and $200 million on behalf of grain growers this financial year to drive the discovery, development and delivery of cutting-edge innovation to the Australian grains sector and the wider economy. Its investment portfolio includes more than 650 investments spanning pests, weeds, diseases, agronomy and farming systems through to genetics and new technology.

Regional panels provide a vital link between the broader grains sector and GRDC, and help to identify, prioritise and support RD&E investments that address regional constraints and opportunities impacting on-farm profitability.

Significant savings for regional home buyers

LOWER minimum deposits for regional homes financed through HomeStart are set to wipe tens of thousands of dollars off upfront costs.

Eligible borrowers will only be required to have a minimum five per cent deposit for a standard HomeStart Home Loan, in line with metropolitan borrowers.

Based on the median house price of $350,000 in major regional towns, this could reduce the upfront deposit needed by more than $50,000, based on a standard 20 per cent deposit.

Regional buyers will also have greater access to the Graduate Loan, which requires just a two per cent deposit for people with a Certificate III or higher.

The state government move is designed to help ease the pressure on rentals.

The vacancy rate in regional areas is historically low, ranging from 0.2 per cent to just under one per cent.

The median house price in SA's major non-metropolitan towns hit $350,000 in December, an 18.6 per cent rise in 12 months, and 25 per cent increase since December 2019.

Treasurer Stephen Mullighan said owning a home was the great Australian dream.

"We know there are many pressure points in housing right now, and regional areas are doing it particularly tough," Mr Mullighan said.

"This change, in addition to further support for regional housing, will help more people get into their own homes sooner."

HomeStart chief executive Andrew Mills said reductions in deposit requirements and expanding the Graduate Loan scheme provided additional support for regional homebuyers.

"These initiatives are aimed at supporting regional buyers faced with the dual challenges of rising house prices and interest rates," Mr Mills said.

"They underscore HomeStart's ongoing commitment to making sure owning a home is a reality for more South Australians."

INCENTIVE... Treasurer Stephen Mullighan is hopeful a reduced minimum deposit for regional home buyers will help remove tens of thousands of dollars in upfront costs.

Fast track for cladding upgrades

SOUTH Australians can now access government support to help fast track the replacement of combustible panel cladding on private buildings.

The Combustible Aluminium, Composite Panel Cladding Limited Loan Scheme will provide building owners with financial assistance to replace cladding with extreme or high risk ratings, Minister for Small and Family Business Andrea Michaels said.

The scheme will offer concessional loans with a fixed interest rate and terms of up to 10 years with no application fee.

The scheme's guidelines include: remediation to be completed within five years of the scheme's commencement, loan funds to be drawn down in full within 24 months, repayment beginning when work is completed, and loans only being used for works needed to meet national standards.

Loans of up to $15 million will be available to community and strata corporations.

An amendment allows remedial works with the support from 75 per cent of lot owners.

Previously, community title groups needed to secure unanimous agreement amongst residents to remove cladding where the cost exceeded $5000 per apartment.

Ms Michaels said securing unanimous approval in a community title group can be challenging at the best of times.

"When works are mandatory, and designed to address potential safety concerns, it's essential works can be approved and commence in a timely manner."

Starscopes

♈ ARIES—March 21-April 20

Your financial wizardry is dazzling! You may receive a surprise call and only gradually do you realise its' significance. Don't hesitate to amend a recent decision.

♉ TAURUS—April 21-May 22

Patience is the key. Allow your partner to work out personal anxieties. Travel is favoured, but be wary who you travel with. Unplanned expenses may hit you by the weekend.

♊ GEMINI—May 23-June 21

Your sense of timing is off - you say the right thing to the wrong person. You may feel you are in a rut. Try a new form of relaxation.

♋ CANCER—June 22-July 22

Your artful approach is being admired. Some interesting letters, emails or texts are due - read between the lines. Spend more time with your partner, even if it means shifting priorities.

♌ LEO—July 23-August 22

Exchange is the week's theme. Trade ins and pooling ideas brings results and rewards. Your Leo ingenuity solves domestic hassles. Exercise is important, but don't overdo.

♍ VIRGO—August 23-September 22

Good things are happening - to everyone else. You spend the week offering congratulations. The weekend offers lively entertainment. This is a good week for job hunting.

♎ LIBRA—September 23-October 22

The keyword this week is 'plod'. Not as dull as it sounds, it's a delightfully satisfying week. This will see a weekend of friends, and there are many of them, just dropping in.

♏ SCORPIO—October 23-November 21

This is a patchwork week - lots of colour but little pattern. A minute amount of emotional tension can mushroom unless you are alert. With diet and money - restraints, please.

♐ SAGITTARIUS—November 22-December 22

It is low-key when expressing emotions - don't go overboard. There may be some absentmindedness and possible sloppiness with numbers. An excellent tonic this week would be physical activity.

♑ CAPRICORN—December 23-January 20

An ordinary family problem becomes complicated and a harmless remark is easily misinterpreted. Your life brightens around the weekend when you become the object of everyone's affection.

♒ AQUARIUS—January 21-February 19

At home you may be on the receiving line for a gag or two and at the work place you are Mr/Ms popular. Friends talk about their aches and pains. Are they telling a doctor, too?

♓ PISCES—February 20-March 20

Your social life plays second fiddle to everything. Family matters beckon and you are working overtime. A new hobby could have you hooked. Avoid lifting heavy objects all weekend.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK

You are occasionally too practical and generally a loner, but you have a definite romantic streak. Financial gains are indicated. In love, give more praise than advice.

Adelaide Fringe 2023 delivers on all fronts

THE 2023 Adelaide Fringe Festival has drawn to a close after an incredibly successful season.

I've spent my fair share of time in the city but nothing makes Adelaide come alive more than the scale of the Fringe.

The biggest drawcard is always the sheer volume of things to do.

It is freeing being able to walk down Rundle Street, usually packed with commuter traffic, and be able to sit in the middle of the roadway at one of many pop-up restaurants.

And then, just across the road is the Garden of Unearthly Delights and Gluttony, which are remarkable to stroll through.

At one point I watched a few friends get their portraits sketched by a street artist and the results were incredible. This doesn't include the countless street performers, live shows, food stalls, pop-up bars and everything in between that are scattered across the city for the entirety of the month.

When else can you casually stroll around and watch a circus-type performance in the middle of the street or walk through a maze of mirrors?

Not only that, but the ability to be able to pop

* ADELAIDE * FRINGE * 2023
adelaidefringe.com.au

down to Adelaide over the entire month is liberating as a country resident, knowing you're not going to miss out on being involved.

Fringe organisers are rightfully celebrating the accomplishment of being the first Australian festival to sell more than one million tickets, with the millionth being sold at 10.01pm on the last night of the event.

I think this is an incredible and well-deserved accolade, especially for Adelaide, and should be a sign of the wide-reaching appeal and future longevity of the festival for years to come.

The roughly $23 million that will be paid to box office artists from ticket sales is only the tip of the iceberg when it comes to the financial benefit our state receives from the Fringe, especially hospitality and accommodation businesses.

HOT FISHING TIPS

with Greg James www.gregjamesfishing.com.au

Welcome to the column with all the hot tips for fishing around Yorke Peninsula; contact Greg by email at greg@gregjamesfishing.com.au.

Wallaroo: Blue swimmer crabs have been consistent catches from Myponie Point all the way to Port Broughton and beyond in the past week. Strong winds picked up late on Saturday after boat crews returned with blueys, squid and garfish. Jetty-based fishing produced blue crabs and tommy ruff (Australian herring) after dusk.

Moonta Bay/Port Hughes: The caravan and tinny traffic here had to be seen to be believed straight after the March long weekend. Crews fished far and wide for garfish, squid, tommyies, snook and even a couple of King George whiting. Good catches of garfish can be made at Cape Elizabeth.

Port Victoria: Some fairly decent tidal movements have been experienced here over the past two weeks or so as crab rakers worked local beaches south of the Port Vic jetty. Boat crews fished Wardang Island for KG whiting, gar and squid. Balgowan crews launched for garfish and tommy ruff.

Point Turton: Garfish central was the word at the Point Turton boat ramp during the week as great weather made for sometimes ideal conditions up at Minlacowie, Port Rickaby and then west to The Pines and Corny Point. Rat kingfish are back at the jetty at Turton, chasing small, gar, squid and tommyies.

Marion Bay/Stenhouse Bay: The tuna run continued, perhaps at a slightly lesser pace than over the long weekend, as crews in big boats caught fish to 8kg, plus red nannygai, trevalley and kingfish. Browns Beach has mullet, as do Gym Beach and the Dust Bowl. Jetty-based fishing has tommyies, garfish and squid at times.

Edithburgh/Stansbury: Crews fishing the Orontes Bank, Troubridge Light grounds and south of the island caught isolated big KG whiting last week, along with morwong, flathead and snook on the way home, especially near Marion Reef. The jetties are worth a try for tommyies and blue crabs.

Ardrossan: Mid last week provided the best fishing conditions before those dreaded onshore southerlies decided to again visit this side of YP. Blue crabs, garfish and snook are all along the coast from Price to Pine Point and the salmon trout run is on again as these little champs swim north to lay their eggs around the Mozzie Point and Port Arthur mangroves. The jetty has a few blue crabs and is worth a try for a mulloway after dusk.

Tight lines and see you next week!
