HOMES ONHOLD

Journalist

AT LEAST 1000 proposed homes across Yorke Peninsula are being delayed due to a lack of infrastructure within the SA Water network, according to Copper Coast Council.

Chief executive Dylan Strong said the issue is not unique to the Copper Coast, but delays in SA Water's trunk upgrades are affecting local developments.

"The South Australian Government needs to expedite SA Water master planning for the Copper Coast to ensure that the capacity issues can be, and are, addressed in the next funding period 2028-2032," Mr Strong said.

"Without this essential planning and investment from the SA Government, continued development in the Copper Coast and the very significant region we service is at risk."

Mr Strong said there is development underway across Port Hughes, Wallaroo and Kadina.

"Ensuring that these new developments have access to essential services is paramount to their success," he said.

The YP Country Times reported on water infrastructure issues affecting the Port Hughes housing development in October (Port Hughes water woes, YPCT 22-10-24).

Jack Oatey

THE article on the football history of Jack Oatey was very interesting (YP Country Times, 13-5-25).

As a result, one could not help adding, and commenting, on the commendation that this iconis footballer and SANFL coach gave me after the last West Torrens team (they merged with Woodville in 1991) won the 1990 reserves preliminary final against Glenelg coming from 11 goals behind five minutes into the third quarter to win.

As I left the coaches' box to address the players after the game, Jack Oatey (with John Halbert, former Sturt captain, premiership and state representative player) asked if he could have a moment with me.

Having an icon football person such as Jack Oatey wanting to talk to you was more than I could imagine even after a tremendous victory. I was too "starstruck" not to give my time to him even though I knew the West Torrens players and all those associated with the club were eagerly waiting for me to address them in the changerooms.

Jack Oatey said to me "Des I assume you are aware of my SANFL playing and coaching history and I would like to say to you, in all of my football history both as a player and coach, I have never witnessed such a determined team working together against all football odds in the second half of a cutthroat final, in what I considered an unwinnable game, win it. Well done Des" and shook my hand.

I passed the message onto the victorious West Torrens players; it made them feel good and they thoroughly deserved it as they had to play the game — all I did was steer them.

They had won the last-ever premiership for the West Torrens Football Club.

Well done Kernewek Lowender committee

MAY I add thanks from the Cornish Association of South Australia to all involved in the success of the recent Kernewek Lowender to Lynn Spurling and her small but hardworking organising committee, Mayor Roslyn Talbot and council staff, May Queen Chloe Fuss and May Princess Bianca Hammond, June Ladner, Paul Thomas, Di McDowell and the Kadina Football Club, members of interstate Cornish associations, and everyone else who contributed 'behind the scenes'.

We were privileged to have three visitors from Cornwall — the Grand Bard Jenefer Lowe (on her first visit to Australia, but hopefully not the last) and Dalla Duo (Hilary Coleman and Neil Davey) to entertain us.

CASA was pleased to hold a full-day Cornish history seminar once again, and the Sup and Sing with the Cornish event.

Although age and health have impacted how much we could do this year, and (as with many small community groups) the future is uncertain, I hope we can work together in promoting our Cornish heritage for quite a while yet!

Kenyan children's choir

HAKUNA Matata, the children's choir from Kenya, performed at Light Church, Edithburgh on Sunday, April 13.

It was a wonderful performance ministry of song and dance worshipping and praising God, in an African way.

They began with the song, 'I just want to speak the name of Jesus'. Their second song, Intonga, was about reconciliation from those things that people struggle with.

During their performance they invited people to dance with them, adorned in their colourful outfits. The songs they performed praising Jesus were very uplifting.

Their next song, 'Chela', was a traditional celebration dance celebrating all the good things that happen in our lives.

That was followed by a song of comfort for God's people, 'Don't cry for I am with you'.

They gave a very vibrant and uplifting performance. Those of us who were in attendance found them absolutely irresistible and immediately fell in love with them.

OUR VIEW

Sorry means you do not do it again

WITH all the Australian flags and decorations leading up to national celebrations and commemorations such as Australia Day or Anzac Day, it would be practically impossible to not know there is something significant being honoured in this country.

However, yesterday was perhaps one of the most important days in Australia's calendar, National Sorry Day — but where were all the flags, wreaths and parades?

The first National Sorry Day was held in 1997 on the first anniversary of the Bringing Them Home report, which was an inquiry into the government policies and practices that created the Stolen Generations.

Lower estimations say one in 10, but higher estimations say one in three First Nations children were systematically removed from their families between 1910 and 1970 under the guise of assimilation

It was then prime minister Kevin Rudd who finally made a formal apology in 2008, after 11 years of John Howard claiming there never was a genocide in this country.

An apology is a good start, but what about now? Laws may have changed, but First Nations children are still being removed, with statistics revealing about 44 per cent of children in out-of-home care are First Nations kids — and the data shows this is increasing.

Last year, the Are you waiting for us the die? The unfinished business of Bringing Them Home report came out, which showed we have only completed six per cent of the recommendations to support the Stolen Generations from that initial 1996 report six per cent in almost 30 years.

Australia loves to commemorate and spend millions on the atrocities experienced by our diggers. Why are we not jumping up and down spending the same millions to acknowledge the atrocities we committed in our own country? Atrocities which continue to have enormous life-changing effects on First Nations families through intergenerational trauma.

All this is not to say that organisation and funding of Sorry Day events should be left up to First Nations people.

I mean, if you apologise to someone, you would not expect them to pay for the flowers you give them and write the apology.

Today marks the beginning of Reconciliation Week, with the year's theme Bridging Now to Next.

I encourage everyone to get involved and learn more, so we can take accountability and fix both our and our ancestors' mistakes to create a better future for everyone in this

Science is Key

A NEW leader. A new/old party. A new week. A highwire act in Canberra, but what does it all mean?

To nuke or not to nuke? We have the Nationals in support of nuclear energy. By the sudden U-turn of events, I can only assume Liberal leader Sussan Ley is about to bite the bullet and embrace renewables.

But will renewables evolve ahead of the (nuclear) curve? And which renewables, sea, wind, or sun? A trifecta seems unwieldy.

Is the answer glaringly obvious: the sun, in all its blinding strength? While solar energy is relatively cheap to produce, the sun doesn't shine every day, or at night, for that matter.

Perhaps, soon, we will see a daisy chain of smaller, highly sensitive (evolved) receivers across Australia, tracking the sun for an extended period.

And yet, Chinese space-based solar (microwaves) might top the lot. And then again, there's gravity (sea power), currently sourced by the Japanese Kairyu prototype, and it too is hard to overlook.

By focusing on nuclear energy, the Nationals may well be corralling themselves. Just a few years back, who would have predicted e-bikes whizzing around silently, seemingly motorless?

Like science, the battery revolution is ongoing. I reckon Sussan Ley, if she bites the bullet and embraces renewables, will be playing it smart, by acknowledging the evolution of technology more broadly, and not just one aspect of it, like the Nationals, and their beloved reactors as the stairway to SOWING SEEDS... Rob Daniell is looking for volunteers to help him bring the natural environment back into Yorketown.

Rachel Hagan JOURNALIST

YORKETOWN'S 10 existing street trees are about to branch out and welcome in some new timber, after the Yorke Peninsula Council put support behind the Greening Yorketown

The proposal seeks to plant more than 100 native and ornamental trees along eight Yorketown streets to greenify the community, while increasing social, environmental and economical benefits.

One of the brains behind Greening Yorketown is resident Rob Daniell who wants to see his community become a greener place to live.

"When it comes down to it, trees are just good for us," Mr Daniell said.

"They help us mentally, they help the climate and they help us breathe, so why wouldn't you want them?"

At May's YPC ordinary meeting, elected members voted to make a financial contribution of $60,000 to the project, which was reallocated from the Charles Street Reserve streetscape project.

However, Mr Daniell said this funding would not be enough to complete the project and the group was now looking for volunteers willing to dig, plant, stake or water the new trees.

"We're wanting to hear from people who would like to adopt a tree, but also the people who have concerns and need more information,"

Though the feedback had so far been quite positive, Mr Daniell acknowledged there could be a lot of concerns around urban trees ranging from falling limbs to root interference.

"We've strategically looked at placing our trees so the root invasion won't have any consequences — they won't grow into power lines," he said.

"There's only two streets where they will be planted under power lines, and those species are shorter, so we've taken care of that.

"We've also taken care in choosing species that don't drop limbs, with most of them being ornamental, so they'll lose their leaves quickly and they can be cleaned up by road sweepers."

Mr Daniell said it was important to get started on the project because Yorketown was falling behind other initiatives, such as the State Government's Urban Greening Strategy in metropolitan Adelaide, which intends to reach 30 per cent tree canopy cover by 2055, and the Urban Forest Strategy in Shepparton, Victoria, which aims to increase its green canopy to cover 40 per cent of urban areas by 2037.

"We've got to start catching up and make the place a more welcoming and pleasant place to be," he said.

Mr Daniell believes creating green yorketownstreettrees@gmail.com.

spaces in Yorketown would strengthen the community by creating more public areas which would give more opportunity for interactions outside of smaller groups and clubs.

"I'm trying to get something to happen so we can bring everyone together again because we had such a great time in Yorketown as little tackers," he said.

Sentencing deferred as appeals progress

A DATE for Narungga MP Fraser Ellis's sentencing on four deception convictions will not be set until at least August 25.

The matter returned to the Adelaide Magistrates Court yesterday (Monday, May 26) where Magistrate Simon Smart deferred setting a sentencing date to allow time for appeals lodged by both Mr Ellis and the Director of Public Prosecutions.

Mr Ellis was found guilty in July of four counts of deception relating to claims made under the Country Members Accommodation Allowance. The offences, totalling $2738, occurred between April 2018 and June 2020.

He was originally charged in February 2021 with 23 counts of deception involving more than $18,000, but was acquitted of 19.

The DPP is appealing the acquittals, while Mr Ellis is appealing the convictions.

Building consultancy Tecon Australia was granted stage 1 building consent for Lots 32, 34 and 35 Frances Terrace on March 20, according to Plan SA.

This follows Copper Coast Council's planning consent, granted to Development Holdings on January 7.

The commercial development will include one shop (restaurant), two bulky goods outlets (shops) and verandah advertising signage, along with site works, carparking, and landscaping.
Currently, 'Development ap-

The application was lodged in June 2023, and the project remains a confidential item in Copper Coast Council meetings.

Clean up after storm

Michelle Daw JOURNALIST

PROPERTY owners and councils on Yorke Peninsula are cleaning up after the region was hit by massive tides and ferocious winds yesterday (Monday, May 26).

Tides surged over jetties and coastal retaining walls, and a shack at Marion Bay was broken up by surging waves.

In a statement issued at 10am today (Tuesday, May 27), SA Power Networks said there were about 150 customers without electricity on YP because of the storm.

Crews had made good progress in restoring outages, with approximately 55,000 customers impacted throughout the storm event, and customers who had subscribed to the SA Power Networks SMS service would be kept up to date on estimated restoration times, the statement said.

An SES spokesperson said the organisation had responded to more than 500 requests for assistance across the state, including 50 call-outs on YP between midnight on Monday and 10.30am today.

They said most calls had been for assistance when trees had fallen down, but none had caused injuries.

The CFS also responded to incidents across YP, including fallen trees near Hardwicke

Bay, Clinton and Koolywurtie.

A Copper Coast Council spokesperson said council had attended a number of weatherrelated incidents today.

"Crews began with the removal of seaweed, rocks, and storm surge related debris from the Moonta Bay jetty carpark," they said.

"Wallaroo jetty carpark was also hit particularly hard with a significant number of rocks pushed into the carpark by the surging tide and high winds."

Seaweed clean-up was also required along the walking track between the ferry terminal at Office Beach and The Shores Eatery cafe, near the jetty.

The spokesperson said a pylon and some smaller structural items had been dislodged and were floating around the Port Hughes boat ramp and

"However, it is important to note council believes that no new damage has been sustained, the pylon that came loose was already due for remediation work," they said.

"Boaties are encouraged to be mindful of floating debris in and around the Port Hughes area."

Barunga West Council responded to numerous storm-related callouts on Monday afternoon, with staff attending to more than 20 instances of fallen trees obstructing local roads.

Wild weather

MINLATON recorded the strongest wind gusts in the state during the storms that hit many areas of South Australia yesterday (Monday, May 26).

An SES spokesperson said information from the Bureau of Meteorology showed winds gusted up to 107 kilometres an hour at Minlaton at 1.05pm yesterday.

Wind gusts of up to 87km/h were recorded at Edithburgh at 11am on Monday and there were gusts up to 83km/h at Warburto Point, between Moonta and Wallaroo, at 3pm.

Winds also got up to 83km/h at Stenhouse Bay at 3.30pm yesterday and at 2am today at Minlaton Airport.

Edithburgh had 13.4 millimetres of rain in the 24 hours to 9am today while Stenhouse Bay had 26.2mm.

In that same period, Minlaton Airport had 9mm of rain and Kadina had only 4.2mm.

Abnormally high tides were also experienced yesterday, with the peak sea level at the Port Pirie tide gauge reaching 4.580m

SAPOL issued a traffic warning for country South Australia yesterday, after severe weather caused dust storms which significantly reduced visibility on roads.

The prolonged drought also exacerbated dust storms in areas such as the Mid North.

"While parts of the coastline experienced battering winds, early inspections suggest only minor erosion and limited infrastructure damage," a council spokesperson said.

"Most council assets withstood the conditions well, and no significant damage has been reported at this stage.

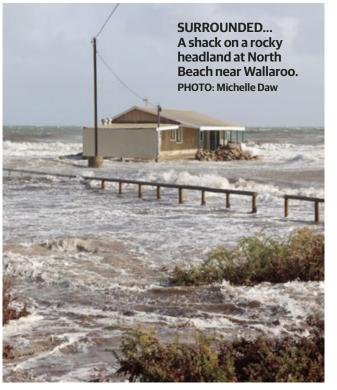

'Council staff will continue to monitor and assess affected areas as required."

Yorke Peninsula Council was approached for comment.

A Primary Industries and Regions South Australia spokesperson said satellite imagery and water sampling would be used to assess whether the storm had the desired effect of breaking up the enormous toxic algal bloom affecting many coastal areas of the state, including YP.

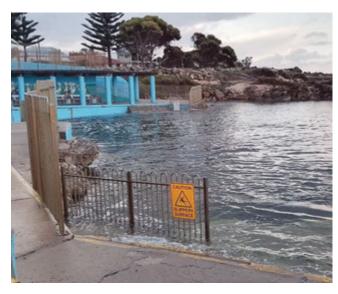

They said it would take at least a week before results could be finalised.

NEW ART... Dhilba Guuranda-Innes National Park Co-Management Board members Cyril Kartinyeri, Carlo Sansbury, Doug Milera and Lynette Newchurch with Keven Newchurch's giant kangaroo sculpture at West Cape.

Sarah Herrmann

JOURNALIST

DHILBA Guuranda-Innes National Park is home to five new Narungga sculptures, unveiled by state Environment Minister Susan Close during a community open day on Saturday, May 17.

The sculptures were commissioned as the first stage of an interpretation plan, developed by the DGINP Co-Management Board, aimed at allowing visitors to experience the park through a Narungga lens.

Created by Keven Newchurch and Janet Milera, the sculptures reflect Narungga totems and Creation stories.

Stenhouse Bay Visitor Centre is now home to a gynburra (butterfish) piece by Mr Newchurch; gynburra were used by the Narungga for initiation purposes, as well as to eat.

Widhadha (shark), the totem animal for the Dhilba clan (the southern clan of the Narungga people), is represented at the Gulawulgawi Ngunda Nhagu-Cape Spencer Lookout, while a Narungga wurly shelter sculpture is located at the Inneston carpark.

At West Cape are sculptures of a kangaroo and giant kangaroo, National Parks and Wildlife Service SA regional operations manager, and member of the co-management board, Craig Nixon said.

"It depicts the links of Narungga back into prehistory, that they were here when megafauna was still around the place and they were also here before the gulfs were formed," he said.

"Narungga were around during the last Ice Age when the sea was a lot further away.

"They could walk to Port Lincoln and Kangaroo Island, and this sculpture is linked to a Creation story about how the giant kangaroo created the gulfs by digging up a spring."

In the Pondalowie Bay carpark is a paper nautilus sculpture.

"It's about Pondalowie being a women's site and the collection of seashells and using them to create jewellery and other things was really important for Narungga women," Mr Nixon said.

As well as the art, new signage has been installed, and visitors can learn more about the stories and language via the National Parks phone app.

Ms Close officially unveiled the projects at the park's open day on May 17.

While in the park, Ms Close also witnessed the work of the Northern and Yorke Landscape Board's Marna Bangarra project, which reintroduced locally extinct yalgiri (brush-tailed bettongs) to the project area.

"These small marsupials are known as soil engineers because they turn over the soil, which composts leaf litter, aerates the soil and leaves small divots for native seeds to germinate," an NYLB spokesperson said.

"We showed Minister Close some patches of yalgiri diggings and she seemed excited to see the positive impact this reintroduced species is having on the landscape.

"We also showcased innovative feral cat and fox technology that is working to reduce predator numbers in the project area."

Open day attendees were also able to get up close to species like the brush-tailed bettong, tawny frogmouth and quokka thanks to NYLB and Animals Anonymous. ■ From page 1

Sorry Day honoured across YP

AUSTRALIANS across the country acknowledged and honoured survivors of the Stolen Generations yesterday, Monday, May 26 — National Sorry Day.

For many survivors, Sorry Day is a time to reflect on their experiences and the ongoing impacts of forced removal from family and community by colonial authorities.

This year also marked the 28th anniversary of the Bringing Them Home report, tabled in the Australian Parliament in 1997.

The inquiry was a landmark truth-telling process that revealed the extent of Australia's stolen generations history and shared those stories with the nation. The report made more than 50 recommendations to support healing and justice.

However, a recent report by the Healing Foundation found that only six per cent have been fully implemented — nearly three decades later.

The 2025 Sorry Day theme, We cannot wait another generation, highlights the urgency of acting on these recommendations.

Across Yorke Peninsula, football and netball clubs acknowledged Sorry Day during the First Nations Round.

The Ardrossan Football and Netball Club hosted a smoking ceremony led by Quenten Agius to honour First Nations people.

See this week's sports section and page 56 for more on how the Yorke Peninsula Football League and Yorke Peninsula Netball Association commemorated the First Nations Round.

Point Turton duo named as finalists in SA awards

TWO Yorke Peninsula men have been named finalists in the South Australian Young Achiever Awards, recognising their outstanding contributions in their chosen fields.

Hugo Taheny and Tyler Peterson-Dix, both from Point Turton, will attend the awards dinner in Adelaide next month.

Mr Taheny is a finalist in the University Senior College Create Change Award category for his efforts to make sport more accessible for people with disabilities. His work aims to ensure all athletes have an equal opportunity to compete at a high level in their chosen sport.

Mr Peterson-Dix is a finalist in the Department of Human Services Aboriginal Achievement Award.

He is recognised for his accomplishments across several areas, including acting, screenwriting and his involvement in companies that support the arts and the production of Indigenous films.

Both finalists will attend the awards ceremony on Saturday, June 14, with hopes of taking home wins in their respective categories.

Seven West Media to buy Spencer Gulf TV licence

SEVEN West Media has secured a deal with Southern Cross Media Group to buy its regional television assets, including those in Spencer Gulf.

The news comes after a previous deal between Southern Cross and conservative broadcaster Australian Digital Holdings, announced in February, fell through due to viability risks.

Assets in Darwin, Spencer Gulf, Mount Isa, Broken Hill and across central and eastern Australia will be sold to Seven West for $3.75 million.

SCA axed the 7 Spencer Gulf Nightly News bulletin, which featured stories produced by journalists based in Port Pirie, Whyalla, Port Augusta, Port Lincoln and Broken Hill, in April 2023.

It was the last locally produced commercial television news program in regional SA and had been operating since 1968.

Oyster closure hits Port Vincent waters

Sarah Herrmann JOURNALIST

OYSTER farms in Port Vincent have joined those in Stansbury in pausing operations due to the detection of brevetoxin in oysters.

Jack and Judy Degiglio, who run Port Vincent Oysters, said they were forced to temporarily close from Monday, May 19 two weeks after the Stansbury closure began, and based on the same food safety

Ms Degiglio said theirs was one of two oyster farms in Port Vincent; the YP Country Times understands six farms in Stansbury have been affected.

"They'll now test the water weekly and it all depends on the readings as to when we're allowed to open again," Ms Degiglio said.

"The very first suggestions were up to eight weeks and that will just be a disaster for us economically.

"Our oysters look beautiful, really healthy but we can't sell them for human consump-

Ms Degiglio said, apart from a few more than usual tiny cuttlefish bones, she hadn't seen any deceased marine life wash up on

"I believe there has been more over on Back Beach behind us but I haven't been around to have a look," she said.

"What we have noticed is when we pull the baskets up out of the water, normally we have lots of little fish and eels and worms and blue ring octopus come up into the boat, but over the past three weeks there's been

"We have started to see the very start of little flathead, probably 1.5cm long, so that's possibly a good sign."

Department of Primary Industries and Regions SA said, on Friday, May 23, regular ongoing testing was continuing at Stansbury and Port Vincent, as well as at American River on Kangaroo Island, to determine the specific species of Karenia producing the brevetoxin.

"SA Health advises that, while brevetoxin can cause illness if people consume contaminated shellfish, the concentrations at both American River and Port Vincent are currently below the levels of concern," a spokesperson said.

"PIRSA conducts regular ongoing monitoring of shellfish harvesting areas through the South Australian Shellfish Quality Assurance Program, a joint initiative by the State Government and the shellfish sector, which conducts a rigorous ongoing testing regime aimed at assuring consumers of commercially harvested oysters, mussels, cockles and scallops that they are safe to eat.

"This testing regime has currently led to closures of the Stanbury, Port Vincent and American River harvesting areas.

"Ninety-five per cent of South Australian harvesting areas remain open with produce from those areas safe to eat."

PIRSA maintained there was no public health concern.

Greens call for algae bloom solutions

THE SA Greens are lobbying for State Budget funding to further investigate the algal bloom killing marine life along Yorke Peninsula, Fleurieu Peninsula, Kangaroo Island and Adelaide coastlines.

Robert Simms MLC announced on Tuesday, May 20 that, when parliament returned, he would present a motion to secure funding for research and remediation work in the budget, which will be handed down on June 5.

He said the motion would also call on the SA Government to end gas and oil subsidies, as experts warned fossil fuels were contributing to the rising ocean temperatures, ideal for toxic algae to spread.

'We need urgent funding now to commence research and remediation work to protect our oceans, marine life and our beautiful beaches from this unprecedented toxic algae threat," Mr Simms said.

State Environment Minister Susan Close, who visited southern YP on May 17 (see opposite), was contacted for comment.

Public forum on algal bloom

YORKE Peninsula residents will have the opportunity to share their experiences of the devastating algal bloom affecting the region's marine environments at a community forum.

The bloom is estimated to be the size of Kangaroo Island and is affecting coasts throughout SA, killing many species of marine life.

The event will be held at the Marion Bay Community Hall on Sunday, June 1, when participants will also hear presentations from These will include marine ecologist Janine Baker; Ozfish project manager and iNaturalist citizen science coordinator Brad Martin; Nharangga elder Angelena Oongalla Harradine; and YP educator and marine conservationist Lochie Cameron.

Co-organiser, marine biologist Dr Mike 100m south of the Marion Bay jetty.

Bossley, said there was scientific consensus that the size, intensity and duration of the current bloom was a consequence of the marine heatwave affecting South Australia's coastal waters for months.

"It is almost certain that such conditions will recur more frequently because of climate change," he said.

"Unfortunately, this will not be the last harmful algal bloom to impact our waters."

Video footage by Stefan Andrews showing the impacts of the algal bloom under Edithburgh jetty will be shown.

Event MC will be local Brian 'Squizzy' Taylor, aquatics instructor and surfer.

The forum will be held from 10am to 2pm, and entry is free. The Marion Bay Community Hall is on Slow Street, about

Water network puts 1000 homes on hold

QUEENSLAND developer Metacap had planned to build Riverbend — a major estate featuring 680 residential allotments, an over-50s village and a five-star motel — just south of The Dunes golf course.

During Question Time in October, Narungga MP Fraser Ellis revealed the project was being delayed due to infrastructure issues, saying Metacap had not received adequate support from SA Water.

Metacap's managing director told the YP Country Times at the time that the company was willing to fund the infrastructure upgrades itself, with the possibility of SA Water contributing in future.

Mr Strong said construction of the proposed lifestyle village is yet to begin, with trunk upgrade delays and ongoing cost-sharing negotiations between the developer and SA Water continuing.

"For SA Water to be able to complete the trunk upgrade works needed to get development underway, there needs to be increased financial and political support from the South Australian Government," he said.

"Council assists developers where possible to ensure that developments are sustainable, but ultimately the supply of services sits with the likes of SA Water, and liability sits with developers."

SA Water response

An SA Water spokesperson said investigations into water and wastewater infrastructure requirements to support development across the YP are ongoing.

They said water planning had recently been conducted for the Copper Coast, with infrastructure needs clearly defined for a development in Port Hughes.

"Comprehensive planning for our major water networks that service the Yorke Peninsula is occurring during 2025.

"This will identify the upgrades required to enable development across the region by incorporating the latest growth forecasts and guide any proposed investment during our 2028-32 regulatory period."

The spokesperson said SA Water has invested $1.5 billion into South Australia as part of the SA Government's Housing Roadmap during the current four-year regulatory period. However, no additional funding is available for upgrades outside designated priority areas.

"We understand the important economic benefits that developments across the state will deliver and have prioritised engaging with councils and developers in areas like this to understand the specific upgrades required to our infrastructure to enable ongoing development growth," they said.

"As is the case across our state-wide networks, developers are expected to make financial contributions to any network upgrades or expansions required to enable water or wastewater services to their development.

"This protects affordability for our existing customers by ensuring SA Water — and our broader customer base — is not subsidising any realised profits from private development.

"Should a developer want to fully fund the upgrades, we would enter into an agreement with them and undertake the work."

They added that while the existing drinking water networks in Port Hughes meet current demand, significant augmentation is required to support large-scale developments.

Metacap was contacted for comment but did not respond by the publication dead-line.

Coalition cracked

Sarah Herrmann
IOURNALIST

WHILE the 80-year Liberal-National Coalition has split, the situation appears to be temporary, and likely new Member for Grey Tom Venning says being part of a smaller opposition would not affect his ability to deliver for the electorate.

Nationals leader David Littleproud announced his party's separation from the Liberals on Tuesday, May 20, after unsuccessfully demanding policies about supermarkets, nuclear power, a regional future fund, and the telecommunication universal service obligation be retained.

However, within days, the two parties were back in talks to repair their partnership.

If the reunion is unsuccessful, the Liberal Party would be the formal opposition because it has a higher number of MPs than the Nationals, who would sit on the crossbench.

With some seats still in doubt, Labor currently has 94 seats in the lower house, the Liberals hold 28, and the Nationals 15.

University of Adelaide Emeritus Professor of politics Clement Macintyre said, speaking on May 21, the Coalition's split would make winning government "much more difficult" for the Liberal Party.

"I think there have been three elections since the Liberal Party was formed when they won enough seats in their own right to govern without the Country Party or the Nationals," he said.

Prof. Macintyre said being unattached to the Nationals may allow the Liberals to better reflect on their reforms without needing to compromise; however, this could make it more difficult to patch things up with the Nats later on.

"Having said that, if the Coalition is not rebuilt, the Nationals are even further away from government — there's no prospect of them ever being in office in their own right," he said.

"If they don't come together, they (both parties) are casting themselves into the political wilderness."

The academic said it was not good for democracy to have one of the major parties so decimated.

"Good government needs a good opposition," he said.

"Governments with big majorities that don't have to worry about a challenging opposition that keeps them accountable tend to get a bit lazy and bad policy tends to come through. "It's not a healthy position to be in."

Effects on Grey

Mr Venning said his party knew achieving government in the future depended on the Coalition reuniting.

"While it's disappointing that the Nationals have chosen to step away from the Coalition, the Liberal Party remains focused on unity, renewal, and reflecting the values of the Australian community, particularly regional communities," he told the YPCT on May 22.

"We greatly respect David Littleproud and his team and stay open to working with them collaboratively."

Mr Venning said his focus was listening to the people of Grey and making sure their concerns are heard in Canberra.

"My job is to fight for Grey every single day, and that doesn't change with the size of the opposition," he said.

"I'll continue to push for practical outcomes for the people and communities of Grey, especially battling a Labor Government that's focused on the cities.

"I'll work with anyone, across party lines if necessary, to deliver results for our community."

Kadina barber's 24-hour cut-a-thon raises $4000 for lymphoedema

FIRST CLIENT... Ollie, 5, was Saxon Raymond's first client of the 24 hours, at 10am on May 24. Right: CHALLENGE... Barber Saxon Raymond rose to the challenge and successfully cut hair for 24 hours in Kadina on Saturday, May 24, to raise money for the Cancer Council SA Northern Yorke Peninsula branch. He is pictured next to the countdown, when he had one hour and 32 minutes left — meaning he was 22 and a half hours through.

Joanna Tucker JOURNALIST

KADINA barber Saxon Raymond has completed a 24-hour cut-a-thon to raise money for local people living with lymphoedema.

The event started at 10am on Saturday, May 24 and finished at 10am on Sunday, May 25. Every dollar raised was donated to the Cancer Council SA Northern Yorke Peninsula branch to help maintain the lymphoedema machines at Wallaroo Hospital.

Mr Raymond completed more than 40 haircuts during the 24 hours and said he was blown away by the community support.

He has so far raised over $4000 double his original goal of $2000.

The initial goal was to cover one year of maintenance for the lymphoedema machines, but the total raised will now cover two years.

"I think it equals out to be close to 50-50 of the amount raised being both donations and haircuts," Mr Raymond

He described the challenge as difficult, with a quiet period around 5.30am being the hardest.

"I felt a bit drowsy for about 20 minutes there until I had a bit of a jump around," he said.

"I am so thankful to everyone who helped where possible and for coming in and giving it a fair go."

Donations remain open until noon on Wednesday, May 28, and can be made online or in-store at Short Cutz Hair & Beauty, Kadina.

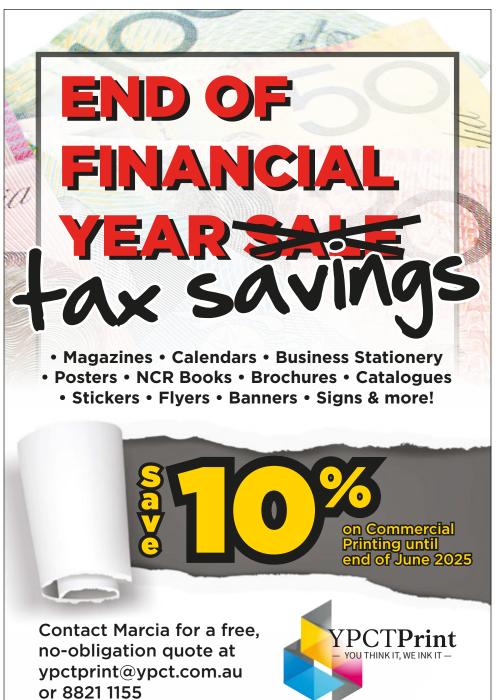

Each contribution — whether a donation or a haircut — earned an entry into a raffle featuring prizes from local businesses. A $2 donation provided one entry, with every additional $10 donation earning another entry.

Mr Raymond expressed his gratitude to the local businesses that supported the fundraiser.

"Having so many local businesses partaking and donating prizes as well as so many donating without getting a haircut was amazing," he said.

YP tourism overhauled

Sarah Herrmann JOURNALIST

TOURISM on Yorke Peninsula is set for a shake-up, with the YP, Clare Valley and Southern Flinders regions coming together to form the Mid North and Yorke Tourism Zone by

The MNYTZ board of directors has been appointed, including a representative each from Barunga West and Copper Coast Councils, but not Yorke Peninsula Council.

A YPC spokesperson said, despite not being represented on the board, the council would continue to work closely with staff and board members to ensure strong support for the tourism industry and the broader community.

YP Tourism chair Craig Costello said YPT would fold into the new management zone as part of the restructure brought about by a South Australian Government review of regional tourism.

"Each region will maintain its own identity, with the purpose of the new zone being to rationalise administrative services and have additional resources to assist industry in the areas of business capability and product development," Mr Costello said.

Eventually, five administration zones will be formed across the 11 SA tourism regions, with the zones being funded by the SA Tourism Commission while working

War Memorial Walk locks in special guest

EDITHBURGH'S upcoming opening of the Vietnam War Memorial Walk will feature a special guest — General the Honourable Sir Peter Cosgrove AK AC(Mil) CVO MC (Retd).

The former Governor-General of the Commonwealth of Australia and Chief of the Australian Defence Force said he looked forward to the event and was a strong supporter of the memorial, which is being established along the Walk The Yorke track between Edithburgh and Coobowie.

"This Vietnam Veterans' Day we commemorate 50 years since the conclusion of the Vietnam War and I congratulate everyone involved in the Memorial Walk project which marks the occasion and pays tribute to all who served in the conflict," Sir Peter said.

Project leads Roger Hogben and John Edwards said they were thrilled to welcome Sir Peter and his wife Lady Lynne Cosgrove to the official opening, on Monday, August 18.

"It has been a dream of ours to have Sir Peter officially open the Memorial Walk, which will be the first memorial detailing every Australian unit that served in Vietnam, making it a project of true national significance," Mr Hogben said.

"Sir Peter served in Vietnam as part of a long and highly distinguished military career, and remains a tremendous supporter of veterans there is nobody we would rather have to officially open the Vietnam War Memorial Walk.

"With the attendance of Sir Peter and many other high-profile guests from all throughout Australia, as well as a genuine Vietnam-era Huey helicopter flying in, this is shaping up to be a huge event and we welcome the wider community to all come along to the official opening and luncheon."

The Vietnam War Memorial Walk is proudly supported by Yorke Peninsula Council and has been funded by the Federal Government's Saluting Their Service grants.

The opening is supported by two grants from Veterans SA.

Australia officially ended its combat role in Vietnam in December 1972 and the USA withdrew its combat troops from March 1973.

A century ofgrace

Laura May turns 100

LAURA May (nee Borgmeyer) has reached the extraordinary milestone of 100 years — a century marked by resilience, wisdom and the deep love of five generations.

Born in 1925, Laura has witnessed profound change across a lifetime, while quietly building a lasting legacy for her family and community.

Her daughter, Pat Franke, reflected on Laura's enduring influence.

"From 1925 to $\bar{2}025$, Mum has seen the world transform in so many ways, and through it all, she's been our anchor. "She has guided us with strength and wisdom through both joyful and difficult times," Pat said.

"Her stories have connected us to our past, and her spirit teaches us to live each day with grace and determination."

Pat said reaching 100 was not just a celebration of years lived, but a recognition of the love, memories and lives Laura had touched along the way.

"It's a gift to celebrate this remarkable milestone with Mum.

"Her life reminds us that true achievement is found not only in longevity but in kindness, connection and the difference she's made in all our lives."

Love for mosaics brings community together

Each week, the YP Country Times highlights local volunteer groups and their vital work across Yorke Peninsula. If you're part of a group and have a story to share, email joanna@ypct.com.au.

ANNI Telford, creator of the Moonta Mosaic Group, says her group is about much more than mosaicking.

You get to meet more of your community and create community," Ms Telford said.

The MMG runs two sessions every Thursday at the Moonta Community Activity Centre, providing a space for likeminded people to develop and share their mosaic skills in a supportive environment.

Ms Telford, who now cocoordinates the group with Marie Matthews, said it is a sociable and welcoming space.

"People are really happy to share their skills and knowledge, and evervone who comes says what a lovely group it is," she said.

"They all just hop in and help, offer advice or provide support — that's the thing I hear all the time — 'such a lovely group."

Despite only promoting the group by word of mouth, MMG has grown steadily. A second afternoon session was introduced after the morning session reached its cap of 35 participants.

"The morning group is limited to around 35 and the afternoon group will be limited to 35," Ms Telford said.

"Our expectation was that it would take a little time for the atternoon group to fill up, as it seems a lot of people prefer the mornings.

"I usually get one or two inquiries a week about coming along, so I'm confident that by the end of the year we will have as many in the afternoon group as we do in the morning."

The group has also formed a management committee of around seven members.

Ms Telford emphasised the value of support from her group and other local organisations.

"Even just being sick myself now, the number of people I've met through the mosaic group and other groups in Moonta has made my coming back home to recover so much easier," she said.

'That support in the community is so important - community is extremely important." The MMG partners with the Moonta Men's Shed, which provides access to a range of resources and practical help for community projects. "One of the things we are preparing for at the moment is an installation of a mosaic on a Stobie pole at Port Hughes," Ms Telford said. 'It may be useful to get some more volunteers in terms of putting the mosaic up, transporting it and those things. "If we wanted something transported, I'm sure the Men's Shed would help with that too."

MMG meets Thursdays from 9am to 11.30am and again from 12.30pm to 3pm. Membership is $35 annually, with a $5 weekly fee that covers tea and coffee.

For more information, contact co-coordinator Anni Telford on 0427 012 938.

The group also shares updates and videos on its Facebook page, Moonta Mosaic Group, which currently has 474 members.

Port Broughton Hospital celebrates 50 years of service

PORT Broughton District Hospital and Health Service is marking 50 years of caring for the community with a celebratory afternoon tea later this week.

The free event will be held on Bay Street, outside the front of the hospital, and will recognise the contributions of staff, volunteers and community members past and present.

Students from Port Broughton Area School will perform, and Dr Alison Edwards will share insights into the history of health care in the region.

Yorke and Northern Local Health Network chief executive Roger Kirchner said it was important to celebrate the service's legacy as well as its ongoing contribution.

"We invite our community to celebrate Port Broughton District Hospital and Health Service's 50th anniversary from 2.30pm this Friday, May 30," Mr Kirchner said.

director of nursing Melinda Yelland said the milestone was an opportunity to honour the hospital's proud history and dedicated staff.

"We are looking forward to highlighting the rich history of Port Broughton District Hospital and Health Service, as well as recognising the efforts of our passionate staff who provide care to our consumers," Ms Yelland

The hospital officially opened on June 15, 1975, with patients moving in on

It is a 16-bed acute care facility with a 24/7 emergency department and a range of health services, including allied health, community health, inpatient and outpatient services, and day therapy.

Country needs trees to survive

Rachel Hagan JOURNALIST

DESPITE recent weather bringing a small amount of some much-needed rain, Nharangga fire practitioner Peter Turner says it's not just water the trees on Yorke Peninsula need to thrive.

Two years of drought has had a huge effect on YP's trees, with many already dead and the rest struggling to stay alive with limited water.

During the past two days, several of these vulnerable trees have been taken down by the strong winds, but Mr Turner said drought is also causing the trees to drop high amounts of foliage, which is building up at the base of the trunks.

"One year without enough rain is rough, but two, it's going to be dropping limbs because it just can't support it — there's no moisture," Mr Turner said.

"Our trees are the elders of Country, they have been looking after Country for a long time because it's them, the grasses and the life in the soil that takes care of it."

Cool burning fires have been used for tens of thousands of years by First Nations people to manage vegetation and reduce risks of devastating bushfires.

These fires burn at a lower intensity, and help encourage new growth on many native species.

However, since colonisation, First Nations peoples have lost access to the majority of their land, and large amounts of fuel, especially around the base of trees, have built up across the Country.

"Dogs used to dig down under trees in the dirt for that cool earth during the summertime to keep cool, but you can dig two metres now and it's just dust," he said.

"It was an annual clean up every year and certain people in our mob would be allocated to go run fire and burn a massive area over 20, 40 to 50 kilometres.

"Australia was like a manicured garden with each nation looking after their area of Country, and they maintained it in a harmonious way with nature.

FIRE IS LIFE... National Indigenous network Firesticks says Western burning practices, though well intentioned, have often contributed to further damage to the Country by lighting hazard-reduction fires that are too hot and lit at the wrong time and in the wrong place. Nharangga fire practitioner Peter Turner agrees and warns there are dead trees that have not received enough water all over the peninsula.

"And now most of our native grasses are not here — they are gone and most of this stuff is introduced.

"(It) doesn't belong here, it belongs in Africa, it's elephant

Though the CFS does protect communities with prescribed burns, Mr Turner said this was not helping Country, and they were killing the environment with the hot fire being used.

"That's not looking after Country, that's looking after an asset or a town," he said.

"If they want to look after the asset and Country, they need to listen to us and understand how to get the balance right."

Millions of dollars are spent every year on prescribed burns, but Mr Turner said he would like to see that funding given to First Nations, so they could take care of their Country properly.

"And it wouldn't cost $28 million — I can tell you that," he

The Australian Government Department of Climate Change, Energy, the Environment and Water has predicted, with very high confidence, winter and spring rainfall over YP will continue to decrease.

Projections show, by 2030, under all emission scenarios winter rainfall will decrease by 15 per cent, and later in the century by 25 per cent, creating a harsher fire climate.

It said the decreases for autumn and summer are less clear, but the results suggest a continuation of the observed autumn

FOOD EVERYWHERE... At the recent Nharangga Cultural Day, Mr Turner took tour groups through the Minlagawi Gum Flat reserve, and gave attendees a glimpse into what Nharangga Country used to look like when a smorgasbord of food was readily available.

RIVERLAND & MALLEE OF CONTROL OF

A 2025 HOLIDAY IN THE RIVERLAND

The Riverland is a vibrant destination at all times of year, offering visitors a blend of natural beauty, cultural experiences, and outdoor adventures.

Canoeing along the Murray River remains a highlight, with operators like Canoe Adventures - Riverland offering guided tours through tranquil waters and lush wetlands. For those seeking a more immersive experience, the Murray River Walk provides a multi-day trek through the region's diverse landscapes. Cycling enthusiasts can explore the scenic trails that wind through the region, offering picturesque views and a chance to spot local wildlife.

Cultural events

The Riverland's event calendar is packed for the rest of 2025.

The Morgan Living River Festival, on June 14 and 15, is an event that recognises the historical past of the town's connection to the Murray River, bringing together the small wooden boats and the paddle steamers of a past era.

The Renmark Rose Festival, spanning 10 days in October, celebrates the region's horticultural heritage with stunning floral displays and community events

Culinary Delights

Food enthusiasts can indulge in local delights at the Riverland Wine Centre, where tastings and tours highlight the area's rich agricultural offerings. The region's wineries and distilleries, such as the 23rd Street Distillery in Renmark, offer tastings of locally produced wines and spirits.

Unique Experiences

For a truly unique experience, visitors can explore the River Murray International Dark Sky Reserve, one of the darkest places on Earth, offering unparalleled stargazing opportunities.

Whether seeking adventure, cultural enrichment, or culinary delights, the Riverland offers a diverse range of activities for every visitor.

HISTORY, A VIEW, PLUS GREAT FOOD AND DRINK

Those planning a visit to the Riverland can enjoy an insight into local history at one of the region's most popular hotels.

Situated on the banks of the beautiful Murray River, the Swan Reach Hotel boasts quality meals and that good, old-fashioned country hospitality in a breath-taking setting.

Located just a 90-minute drive from Adelaide, Swan Reach is a popular destination for holiday makers, especially during the summer months.

The Swan Reach Hotel is unique in hotel standards, as it was not purpose built, but was formed around the original Swan Reach Homestead, built circa 1865.

Over its years of operation, the hotel has undergone several major transformations including the addition of the stone oneroom public bar in 1907 and the second story in 1912. In 1996, in order to make the most of the exquisite views, a new dining room was built directly overlooking the river.

Today, the Swan Reach Hotel has a walk-in bottle shop, a welcoming, traditional style Front

Bar including TAB facilities, a small Saloon Bar area with great river views, gaming room, eightball and games room, main Bistro area with sensational river views and upstairs, modest country hotel accommodation.

MORGAN RIVERSIDE CARAVAN PARK

a Riverland gem

The Morgan Riverside Caravan Park is dedicated to providing an authentic Riverland experience for anyone planning a visit to the region.

Staying at the Morgan Riverside Caravan Park provides a snapshot into the potential of the Riverland as both a hub for adventure and a relaxing getaway.

Looking to have fun on the Murray River during your stay? Guests at the park are able to hire a tinny boat, or kayak, along with all the necessary equipment to safely enjoy time on the water.

On-site cabin accommodation is available, plus grassed powered and unpowered sites that are surrounded by native trees helping your family get back in touch with nature.

Those bringing their four-legged friends along on their holiday even have access to a dogwash facility.

The park is just a short walk away from both the Commercial Hotel, and Terminus Hotel, in Morgan, and is also just an hour's drive from either the Barossa Valley and Clare

Whether you enjoy fishing, canoeing, water skiing, bird watching, swimming, a round of mini golf, or just sitting back and relaxing, there are possibilities to please everyone at the Morgan Riverside Caravan Park.

For further information, or to make a booking, phone 8540 2207, or visit the website (www.morganriversidecaravanpark.com.au/).

5 ways to get onto the water

1 HIRE A BOAT

Why watch from shore when you can be on the water? Freedom Boat Hire offers a range of vessels to match your adventure. Choose a ski or wake boat for fun, or take a tinny out for some fishing or yabbying. There's something for everyone—no boat ownership needed.

2 CANOE/KAYAKING

Slow down and soak in the serenity. Canoeing or kayaking is a peaceful way to explore the Murray River. Paddle through creeks, spot wildlife, and enjoy the beauty. Canoe Adventures - Riverland offers guided and self-guided tours, perfect for solo explorers or relaxed group outings.

3 FERRIES

Prefer to stay dry? The Riverland's four ferry crossings offer a laid-back way to experience the river. Take the Morgan ferry toward Cadell to pass lagoons and parks, or ride the Lyrup ferry and stop for dinner at the local club. See the region from a new perspective.

4 DINNER AND A CRUISE?

Enjoy dinner with a view on a floating restaurant. Berri Riverside Holiday Park offers river cruises with themed dining nights. For a hands-on option, BBQ boats let you cruise at your pace while grilling. With space for up to 12 people and no licence needed, it's river living made easy.

5 WHATEVER THE VESSEL

The Murray isn't just for paddling—it hosts events like the Riverland Dinghy Derby, yacht races at Lake Bonney, and the 36km Wharf to Woolshed Long Row. Whether you're competing or watching from the bank, the region's boating culture has something for everyone.

The Riverland has a way of making you feel at home and relaxed, so it's no wonder people come for a few days and don't want to leave.

Luckily, a vast variety of accommodation options are available for a one-night stay, or for when you're in the mood to linger a little longer.

From hotel suites and luxury river-front villas, five-star houseboats and multi-bedroom cabins at a family park, to the simple camping spots under the stars, there are options for every type of traveller.

Let the stunning natural Riverland landscapes provide the perfect backdrop for your campervan or tent as you wake up to birdsong, gum trees and sunlight, and memories that are created while sitting around a campfire with friends and family.

Hotel, motel, inn

Enjoy Riverland hospitality at its finest, offered by the numerous community-operated hotels, with stunning views from many rooms, plus great dining and entertainment options. Guaranteeing ease, dependability and high-level service, there are several options through the Riverland to suit your group size and budget.

Caravan parks

If you have a caravan in tow, there are a number of highly rated caravan parks in the region, ideal for a quiet couple's retreat, or with plenty of fun activities to keep children occupied. From drive-in caravan and camping sites, to cabins and luxury glamping experiences, many offer some of the region's best spots close to the river. A growing list of family friendly facilities including pools and water parks, jumping pillows, games rooms, playgrounds and outdoor cinemas are on offer. Public campgrounds and RV parks are also available in most Riverland towns, or if you're looking for an experience off the beaten track, spend a night or two at one of the region's national parks. Each park charges a nominal nightly camping fee, and you can even book online to reserve your favourite site (www. parks.sa.gov.au/).

Private rentals

Spend some time truly living like a Riverland local by booking one of the numerous country homes, cottages, or cabins now available through Airbnb. If you're planning a trip to the Riverland on short notice, or are looking to stay somewhere a bit out of a town's CBD, Airbnb options in the region are perfect to suit families or groups of friends.

THE BEST WAY TO HOLIDAY

When it comes to planning a stay in the Riverland, few words come to mind as quick as 'houseboat'.

Get your friends or family together, stock up on food and drinks, and get ready to enjoy the region while travelling the river's picturesque setting – what could be better?

Houseboating allows you to experience the river environment in the most relaxed way possible, and vessels can be suited to both small families or larger parties.

Whether you're staying in Renmark, Berri, Loxton, or Waikerie, the Riverland boasts a number of houseboat operators ready to make your time in the region as enjoyable, memorable, and stress-free as possible.

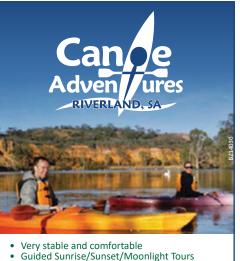

Operators throughout the region are ready to help make your holiday on the river an unforgettable experience.

Look online or on social media to discover the Riverland's range of houseboat operators and find the perfect option for your getaway. Explore at your own pace while waking up to stunning river views, stop wherever you like for a swim, paddle or explore the land and at night relax under a blanket of stars.

Don honoured for life

THIS National Volunteer Week, the Royal Flying Doctor Service Southern Yorke Peninsula Support Group arranged a special ceremony at Eldercare The Village Maitland to honour the group's newest life member.

They were there to recognise the tremendous efforts of volunteer and current group member Don Hughes.

The group's inaugural honorary life membership was presented to Don by the president Joan Bannon, accompanied by vice-president Rob Tonkin.

Peter Stockings, better known as Soxy, gave a speech acknowledging Don's community work and his contribution to the RFDS SYP, along with humorous references to his hijinks in younger times.

Morning tea was served after the formalities with discussion centred around the work of the RFDS and its service to Yorke Peninsula.

Paul, Don's son, said the number of RFDS flights from Yorketown and surrounding areas was astounding.

He said more people should know just how many flights operated from these locations.

"It really opened my eyes", Paul said about the stats.

Thank you to everyone involved, and thank you to Tam Erskine and staff at Eldercare The Village Maitland.

Heartiest congratulations and thanks to Don for his generosity over many years raising funds for the RFDS. RFDS SYP Support Group

Screening for skin cancer unit at Wallaroo

DEDICATION... Volunteering during the Lions Medical Research Foundation SA Skin Cancer Mobile Unit's visit to Wallaroo are Christine Haar, Leonie Edwards, Dot Marshall, Carol Barnes, Heather Holmes and Ian Marshall.

WALLAROO hosted the Lions Medical Research Foundation SA Skin Cancer Mobile Unit at the Wallaroo Town Hall on May 10 and 11.

Wallaroo Lions Club secretary Barb Newman said it was a huge event to organise.

"A club member had to sit by the phone for five or six days... we were actually booked out at the end of day three," Ms Newman said.

"Advertising, meals for support staff and a roster for the book-in table all had to be or-

"Even with 10 cancellations or no shows, 153 people were screened."

More than 10 per cent of people were referred to their GP.

'Thank you to the five-member crew of the screening unit, who are all volunteers, giving up 19 weekends this year to provide this valuable free service throughout country South Australia," Ms Newman said.

"So many people have said the screening unit needs to be here for a week!

"We thank our community who generously donated over $800 toward supporting provision of this service.

"That's a fair effort in today's economy, and clearly demonstrates how much the community appreciates our service."

Empowering Scouts through generations of leadership

SCOUTS Australia commenced in 1908. Since this time, generations have reaped the benefits, both youth and leaders, through trying new skills and building resilience.

The 1st Moonta Scout Group has been a longstanding part of the Copper Coast community for over a century, with brief periods of recess due to a lack of available leaders.

Wendy Butler and Frank Camporeale have each been leaders in Scouts Australia for more than 50 years, both describing their beginnings with the organisation as incidental.

After a two-year recess, 1st Moonta Scouts reopened in July 2024, with Adam Watson stepping up from adult helper at Wallaroo Cubs to Scout Leader at Moonta.

Mr Watson, who had children completing the Cubs program, spoke of the prompting he felt to consider this valued leadership role.

"I realised pretty quickly that once they got to the top age of the program, there was nowhere for them to transition to," Mr Watson said.

Community group involvement that offers alternatives to screen time and social media was a strong draw-

"One of the core values of Scouts is the bushwalking and camping skills," he said.

"The Scout programs address some of the issues impacting self-esteem and confidence in young people, including isolation.

"There is a time and place for electronics, absolutely.

"Activities like Scouts provide an opportunity for balance."

Leadership with Scouts requires training and the completion of competencies.

Mr Watson undertook this mandatory training within tight timeframes to support the Scouts to attend the Jamboree at Maryborough, Queensland, in January.

A delayed presentation ceremony was held on Tuesday, April 29, with Scouts, families, leaders, and the Scout District Commissioner Wendy Lane in attendance.

Since recommencing, 1st Moonta Scouts has grown to 24 weekly participants, with numbers currently capped until new leaders can be trained.

There is a shared vision among leaders for the future: recruit another leader to expand Scouts to two nights, restart Venturers for older youth, and relaunch Joeys and Cubs so local families can complete the full program.

The 1st Moonta Scouts are calling on adults in the community to consider taking up leadership roles to extend these valuable programs.

Compassion, tolerance, communication and understanding were described by the leaders interviewed as essential qualities.

"If you have an open mind and you are willing to listen and learn, you will always have the support of experienced leaders," Mr Camporeale said.

Wallaroo Lions Club update

WALLAROO Lions Club is continuing to support the community, locally and further afield.

So far this year, the club has made more than $10,000 in donations, supporting The Station, Mary's Pantry, Foodbank SA and NT, the Lions Eye Health Program and budding archer Brock Penna.

The monthly Wallaroo Lions Market is now on its winter break and will return to the Wallaroo Town Hall on September 13.

The club thanks its stallholders and customers for their continued support, and extends special thanks to market coordinator Sharon Launer.

Bingo ticket sales continue fortnightly on Wednesdays at Drakes Wallaroo and are also available at the Wallaroo Hotel. The club is grateful both businesses for their ongoing assistance with fundraising.

Past district governor Kevin Masters has inducted new member Peter Dixon. His sponsor, Moira Copping, led the club in welcoming Peter. The club recently heard from Jaysin Jones, who spoke about his initiative, Changeology Support Service. The program mentors boys and young men who are experiencing challenges.

Jaysin is looking for male volunteers to support the boys in activities and to help with fundraising.

A few Lions members offered their support, and Changeology has now been added to the club's market barbecue roster.

Members also supported the Wallaroo Primary School Sports Day, hosting a sausage sizzle for students, staff and families.

The event was part of the Lions Childhood Cancer Research Foundation's Biggest Barbecue initiative.

Time capsule return planned for 2025

JULIUS Messent, Wallaroo's first official Postmaster, died in 1869. In 1992, Wallaroo Lions Club members, assisted by Paul Goerecke, restored his grave and placed a time capsule at its foot.

The capsule was dug up in October 2000. At the time, club president Lloyd Hughes pledged to return it with updated contents.

He also lodged a letter with the club requesting the grave be maintained and the capsule reinstated in 2025.

Current members are organising the event and are looking forward to seeing, and adding to, the contents of the capsule.

Golden Harvest quilts for charity

CHARITY QUILTS... Golden Harvest Quilters members Fiona Bilney, Marlene Durdin, Pam Wilton and Teresa Barrand with quilts sorted ready for donation.

GOLDEN Harvest Quilters members have continued their "Quilt for Others" program this year.

With financial assistance from a Yorke Peninsula Council community grant, more than 70 quilts have been completed and donated to other organisations by the Minlaton-based group.

Most recently, a quilt was given to Charlotte Germein for her Paws for Celebration dinner, a fundraiser for Seeing Differently, formerly Royal Society for the Blind.

Locally, other quilts have gone to Maitland Hospital, SYP Show Society's showground building preservation group, Yorketown Hospital Auxiliary, Friends of Palliative Care, and Minlaton Traders Group.

Further afield, donations have been made to SA Quilters Flinders Kids, Green Leaves Early Learning Pink Ribbon event, Calvary

Connery Centre, Ovarian Cancer SA Support, and Uniting Country SA (Kadina). Some are gifted to clients and others are auctioned or used as raffle prizes. The group also makes Boomerang Bags utilising recycled fabrics; these are available free at the Pepper Tree Markets, Minlaton. Biennial display

Members are busy preparing for their biennial display, titled A Stitch in Time, this will be held as part of Minlaton's 150 Jubilee celebrations March 27-29, 2026.

Golden Harvest Quilters meet at the Minlaton Uniting Church Hall from 10am on the second Wednesday of each month.

They also get together on the fourth Wednesday to work collaboratively on the Ouilts for Others projects.

New members and visitors always welcome. MH and FB

NYP Quilters Kernewek Lowender roundup

NORTHERN Yorke Peninsula Quilters held a successful exhibition at the Moonta Town Hall during the Kernewek Lowender Copper Coast Cornish Festival in May.

A display by the Embroiders' Guild was an added attraction for visitors.

Also available for visitors was a display of quilts at the NYPQ rooms at the old Wallaroo Mines Institute, where a Cornish tea was offered.

The trading table was popular, with the handmade items made by members selling quickly.

Money from these fundraising events will be distributed between the Wallaroo Hospital Auxiliary and NYPQ.

Preceding the festival opening, five SA Quilters Judging Panel judges visited, as a training exercise, with the following results:

- Pieced quilts: first, 81 (Mobius Radial Quilt), Carol Sims; second, 45 (Don't be a Square), Carol Sims; third, 41 (Flutter), Helen Smart.
- Applique and pieced quilts: first, 17, Sandra Price; second, 78, Fran Halls.
- Art/ pictorial quilts: first, 71 (Elephant Abstraction), Carol Sims; second (Sunset over Wheat), Janet Shane.
- Best of show: winner, 71 (Elephant Abstraction), Carol Sims; runner-up, 17 Sandra Price, with the comment "The beautiful hand applique made this quilt shine". Well done to all those members.

Three beautiful quilts were raffled, with the delighted winners being Kathy McDonald, Barry Herbert and Dawn Bruce.

Members joined in the Moonta Street Parade on Friday, May 16, and judged the Cousin Jack and Jenny Competition (which NYPQ sponsored) at Kadina on Saturday. Thankfully the rain held off during both events (but not before and after).

On Monday and Tuesday after the festival, residents from Estia Health, Kadina, and Star of The Sea Home for the Aged, Wallaroo, were invited to the Institute to view the display, with a Cornish tea provided.

This was delightful for the both the residents and the NYPQ members who assisted.

Thank to the Moonta Lions Club who helped erect the quilting frames and hang quilts in the town hall and then helped take them all down again and return them to the NYPQ shed.

Thank you also to of the Kernewek Lowender subcommittee members Liz Kemp, Fran Hall, Astrid Zanker and Mary Greven, who put in many hours to organise the exhibition, signage, advertising, the Challenge Competition, and everything else that goes with an event such as this.

Gifting quilts

In this financial year, 182 quilts have been donated to nursing homes and other worthy organisations, with 26 to Star of The Sea, 34 to Estia, 22 to Parkview, plus 100 distributed to St Vincent de Paul, Salvation Army, Flinders Kids, Kadina Uniting Church, and Uniting Country Port Pirie and Kadina.

Fundraising from the Cornish festival helps purchase wadding for members to make gifting quilts.

Workshops

A two-day workshop to be held in July by Suzanne Gummow, renowned fabric artist, still has a few spaces left. Anyone interested can call via the numbers below.

New members are always welcome; NYPQ meet Wednesday and Thursday weekly, and the third Saturday of each month, at the Wallaroo Mines Institute, Stirling Terrace, Wallaroo Mines.

For information, contact Janet (0427 310 838) or Fran (8823 3039) or just go along and enjoy a day of friendship and quilting.

Double double for Linkes

Tara-Shae Linke, Kadina, had a successful day at the Port Pirie harness races on Tuesday, May 20.

Half-sisters Sea Salt and Coco Mia, which Tara-Shae owns and bred, won the first two races on the card, both winning by a head.

The two are trained by Tara-Shae's brother Tyson Linke.

Sea Salt finished best to win the H&P Hire Pacing For Pink Pace (1609m), then Coco Mia also came with a strong run to score from stablemate Magic Storm ($1.85 fav) in the Pirie Signs & Designs Pacing For Pink Pace (1609m).

Tyson Linke said Tara-Shae had a love of standardbreds and took pride in the breeding side of the industry.

"Jet Quick, the dam of Sea Salt and Coco Mia, was a grey and Tara-Shae always hoped to breed a grey foal," Mr Linke said.

"She was told the odds were very much against it, but she succeeded because Sea Salt is a grey.

"And now her pride and joy is a weanling colt by Cattlewash, which is also a grey, so she has beaten the odds twice." Driven by Wayne Hill, Sea Salt settled one-out, one-back in a field of eight.

The favourite, Fearful Dragon, found the front and was well rated, but the grey filly sprinted strongly with a last 400 metres in 28.3 seconds to arrive just in time.

Tyson said Sea Salt was a work in progress. "She is still not quite balanced and can do things wrong but was on her best behaviour on Tuesday," he said. "Wayne said he closed his eyes a couple of times thinking she might go out of her gear, but she did not and then sprinted home to grab victory. "Wayne made a few suggestions to alter her gear to help her action which

"She has a good motor, and I believe she can have a good career. "From the time we have taken her to trials, Tara-Shae has been ribbed that she has the next clerk of the course horse because of her colour. On Tuesday, she had the last laugh."

The trainer said he was considering throwing Sea Salt into the deep end in the $9999 Pacing For Pink Classic (1800m) at Globe Derby Park on Saturday, May 31.

"I will look at the nominations before making a final decision, but I would be tempted if it was just local three-yearolds," he said.

Linke said Coco Mia was a quality mare. "I was so proud of both Coco Mia and Magic Storm on Tuesday.

"It is very rare for a leader to run a last half (800m) in 55.6 seconds and be beaten but that was the case at Port Pirie.

"Magic Storm was racing up in class and did a fabulous job, it was just that Coco Mia proved a little bit better.

"As a 3-year-old, we thought Coco Mia was going to be a high-quality filly, but she suffered an injury which resulted in

"She now has won 10 races from just 22 starts and hopefully she can build on that record over the next few months.

"I think Tara-Shae is considering breeding with her later in the year." Graham Fischer

Trengove named in final SA U18s squad

Peter Argent REPORT BY

As expected, Bute footballer Imogen Trengove has been named in South Australia's final 30-player Under 18s squad for the 2025 AFL Women's National Championships, which begin in

Trengove, who was part of the squad as a bottom-ager last year, played a couple of matches in the 2024 program and is tipped to be an important contributor this

She is one of four Woodville-West Torrens players selected, alongside Julia Faulkner, Ruby Lynch and Lucy Moore.

A rising talent in the SANFLW

League ranks, Trengove was named a SANFLW Powerade Breakthrough Player earlier this

Since debuting in round 4 of the 2024 season, she has become a regular in the Eagles' league side, notching up 24 games.

This season alone, she's featured among the best players in five of her first 11 matches

Last year, Trengove pulled on the state colours in two matches - firstly against Vic Metro, then against Western Australia in August.

Brad Snell will return as head coach for a second season.

SA will play four games in this year's national championships, starting with Vic Metro in Melbourne on Sunday, June 22.

The team will then face WA in Perth on Sunday, June 29, followed by two home games in Adelaide against Queensland on Sunday, August 3, and Victoria Country on Sunday, August 10.

Snell will be supported by newly appointed Norwood SANFLW coach Alison Ferrall, former AFL and SANFL player Jack Hannath, Craig Lum and ex-North Adelaide SANFLW player Brianna Arthur.

Strong performances at the national level could significantly boost Trengove's draft prospects.

The 2025 AFLW Trade Period runs from Thursday to Wednesday, December 4 to 10, with the National Draft scheduled for Monday, December 15.

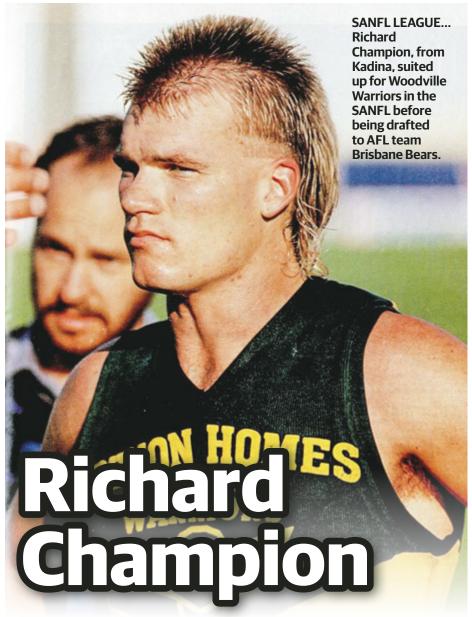

STATE PLAYER... Imogen Trengove also competed in state colours last season.

Woodville (SANFL) and Brisbane (AFL)

Peter Argent REPORT BY

Born in Kadina in 1968, Richard Champion is a proud Yorke Peninsula product, who carved out a stellar career at SANFL and AFL levels.

Known for his athleticism, toughness and strong marking, Champion was an energetic defender who brought spirit and tenacity to every contest.

SANFL beginnings: Woodville days

Champion began his football journey as a Bloodhounds junior and progressed through the SANFL underage programs.

He debuted for Woodville Warriors in 1987 as a teenager, playing 79 league games over the next four seasons - during a period widely considered the SANFL's peak.

He was a standout performer in the 1990 City v Country West End Challenge match, a one-off all-star game organised by the SANFL in place of Representing the Country All-Stars, Champion helped his side to a 41-point win.

This was the last official SANFL representative match before the arrival of the Adelaide Crows in the AFL, a shift that fundamentally changed the state-league landscape.

Making the leap: From Warriors to Bears

Champion's early form caught the attention of VFL recruiters.

Drafted by the Brisbane Bears with pick 30 in the 1988 VFL Draft, he didn't move north until the preseason before the 1991 AFL season.

Wearing the number 1 guernsey, Champion became a cornerstone of the Bears' defence during some of the club's toughest years.

Despite the struggles, his reliable performances and club-first mentality earned him multiple Best Clubman awards and the adoration of fans, especially following Brisbane's move from Carrara to Champion went on to play 183 AFL games -119 for the Bears and 64 for the Brisbane Lions after their 1997 merger with Fitzroy.

He kicked 110 goals across his combined SANFL and AFL career, which totalled 262 games. Representative honours and accolades Champion also represented South Australia in State of Origin football in four seasons — 1992, 1994, 1995 and 1996 — when these contests were among the highlights of the football calendar.

In 2000, Champion was awarded Brisbane Lions Life Membership following his retirement.

In 2006, as part of the Lions' 10-year anniversary celebrations, he was named on the interchange bench in the club's Team of the Decade.

Beyond the boundary

Post-footy, Champion became a well-known media personality in Queensland.

He has worked as a television presenter and radio commentator in Brisbane, continuing to contribute to the game off the field.

Nutrien Ag Solutions Cup preview

Austinn Lane JOURNALIST

With the 2025 Nutrien Ag Solutions Cup just around the corner — to be played at Mallala on Saturday, June 7 it's the perfect time to spotlight the competition rules and team guidelines for the A grade squad.

This annual event brings together four football leagues to compete for regional honours.

The Yorke Peninsula Football

League will face off against the Northern Areas Football Association, Adelaide Plains Football League and North Eastern Football League in both A grade and Under 17 competitions.

In the A grade, teams are required to include a minimum of four players under the age of 21, to encourage the development of young talent, giving rising stars an opportunity to perform on a bigger stage.

At the other end of the scale, players aged over 28 who are selected for the final team have the option to decline their place.

Training sessions will be held on May 28 and June 5. The full squad will train together on May 28, after which the final 25-player team will be announced. The final group will return for the second session on June 5.

For the A grade squad selections, see the YP Country Times May 20 edition.

Schulz brings up 350 games for Ardrossan

MILESTONE MAN... Matt Schulz runs through the banner pre-game against Bute with his children Aviella and Isaiah, marking his 350th senior game for Ardrossan.

Austinn Lane

JOURNALIST

Veteran Ardrossan Football Club player Matthew Schulz brought up an impressive milestone on May 17, when he took the field against Bute.

The 45-year-old celebrated his 350th game in round 6 of the 2025 Yorke Peninsula Football League season — a feat that sparked celebrations across the weekend.

Schulz has been playing since he was 8 and made his B grade debut for Ardrossan in 1995, aged 19.

"My faith is really important to me and it is a huge reason why I have played for so long," Schulz said.

To play for the same club for 30 years, it has taken a lot of time and effort from the club put into me.

"My dad played footy when I was growing up. I looked up to him and followed in his footsteps in a sporting sense.

"I have been fortunate that my body has held up for this long and I haven't had to cut back on footy due to age or injuries.

"I also have the joy and love for the sport still, which is amazing."

Reaching 350 games was a proud moment for Schulz, who said he felt the support from across the community.

"Reading posts and comments on social media, they were really touching," he said.

"The club has been really supportive over the years. They've put time into me and given me the opportunity to not only play but play well and reach this milestone.

Schulz said the connections he had formed over the years made the experience even more rewarding.

"It's the people who make it enjoyable - connecting with special people in and around the club and the wider YPFL com-

While he has plenty of career highlights, the standout remains the 2004 premiership win with Ardrossan at home.

"I played a couple of seasons in Darwin with friends who also played at Ardrossan, which was a different and fun experience," he said.

"But I much prefer country sport. It's a great outlet and a great way to connect with your community in smaller towns."

As for the next milestone? "I'm just taking it one week at a time, trying to play well and enjoy my footy for as long as I can," he said.

Lesley honoured with state hockey recognition

Austinn Lane JOURNALIST

Former Yorke Peninsula resident Lesley Ferguson has been recognised for 15 years of involvement with the National Women's Masters Hockey Championships.

Ferguson has competed in the championships since 2008, only missing 2020 and 2021 due to COVID-19 restrictions.

"I find representing your state to be such a valuable experience, and wearing state colours gives me pride," she said.

Born on YP, Ferguson has spent much of the past 46 years involved in local hockey.

She played three seasons for Arthurton Hockey Club before moving to Adelaide for work but continued as a key player for the

For the next 34 years, she travelled between Adelaide and YP each weekend to play.

"I felt it was a way I could contribute to keep country clubs going," she said.

"I played around three to four games per week for over 30 years.

"I would play in Kadina on Saturday, Adelaide on Sunday for North East Hockey Club, then fill in during the week for any team that was short in the social comps.

In 2018, Arthurton Hockey Club was unable to field a team and missed the season. Ferguson then joined Minlaton, playing there until 2020, when the club was impacted by the Covid-19 pandemic. Since then, she has represented Moonta.

Ferguson also discovered the South Australian Masters Games, which she joined in 2021. In her first three years, the YP team claimed gold each time.

Top racing for 125 Peninsula Cup

Yorke Peninsula Dirt Kart Club met at its track between Wallaroo and Kadina on Saturday, May 24, for another great race meeting.

The fields were smaller but the racing was still exceptional in all grades.

The racing would not happen without the many volunteers and officials and we thank them.

The strong winds meant the weather wasn't on our side but we still managed to have four heats and a final in five hours with a stoppage for sunset.

Well done everyone, including the drivers and crews.

Super Netball League

In the opening game of round 7, the NSW Swifts secured an eightgoal win, 70 to 62, over the Sunshine Coast Lightning in their away clash. Yorketown product Sarah Klau impressed in the Swifts' defence, finishing with three intercepts and a rebound in a composed performance.

The Adelaide Thunderbirds travelled to Melbourne and recorded a solid sevengoal victory over the Mavericks, 66-59.

Despite the loss, Mavericks shooter Sasha Glasgow (Copper Coast) stood out, shooting four from four in the twopoint super shot zone and going three from four from standard range.

She also tallied 15 goal assists, 14 centre pass receives, 18 feeds and an intercept in a well-rounded display.

For the Thunderbirds, Georgie Horjus (Bute and Ardrossan connections) made an impact after starting on the interchange, rotating through the midcourt and contributing 15 goal assists, 16 centre pass receives and a team-high 25 feeds.

AFL

Played at Marvel Stadium in front of 36,468 fans, Carlton was overpowered by the GWS Giants in a key Saturday afternoon clash as part of the second week of the 2025 Sir Doug Nicholls Round.

The contest was tightly fought early, with the two sides neck and neck until just before halftime.

From there, GWS gradually took control, building momentum and asserting their dominance as the match wore on.

Carlton midfielder George Hewett (Broughton-Mundoora) was closely tagged throughout, finishing with a season-low 17 disposals — 13 of those handballs — along with two marks and just three clearances. It marked the first time in 2025 he had dipped below 25

GWS halfback Jacob Wehr (Bute and Maitland connections), was reliable, collecting 11 disposals, four marks and laying two tackles in a solid defensive performance.

SANFLW League

In a clash between the competition's top two teams, Woodville-West Torrens gave South Adelaide a flying start before storming home, only to fall agonisingly short by four points, 4.5 (29)

South, the reigning premiers, came out firing with five goals in the opening term. Remarkably, the Panthers were held scoreless for the rest of the match, but their early lead proved just enough.

Imogen Trengove (Bute) had one of her quieter outings this season, finishing with seven possessions and a

In the late game at Glenelg, West Adelaide bounced back with a solid 23point win over Glenelg, 4.9 (33) to 1.4 (10).

Hannah Button (Stansbury) impressed on both sides of the ball for the Bloods, collecting 16 disposals — eight kicks and eight handballs — and laying a game-high eight tackles to go with four clearances in a complete performance.

Nicole Hooper (Maitland) had limited opportunities but made her touches count, finishing with one of the Bloods' four goals.

VFLW League

Jaimi Tabb (Moonta) and the Western Bulldogs fell to the Box Hill Hawks by 34 points in their round 6 clash at Box Hill.

As always, Tabb worked tirelessly around the stoppages. She finished with 11 disposals — nine of them kicks along with nine tackles, two marks and two clearances in another gritty performance.

SANFL League

It took a half for Sam Jacobs' Woodville-West Torrens Eagles to shake off South Adelaide at Oval Avenue, but they responded with poise and composure to post a 35-point win.

Trailing by three goals at the main break, the Eagles stormed home to win 14.10 (94) to 9.5 (59), lifting their intensity and execution in the second half.

In defence, Kade Herbert (Bute) and Max Litster (Minlaton) were composed, each finishing with 14 disposals and a couple of tackles.

Jett Hasting (Maitland) added 13 possessions and kicked 1.1, while Bailey Hann (Wallaroo) was also solid with 12 by 71 points, with coach Shane Reardon touches and a goal.

For the Panthers, co-captain Jake Summerton (Wallaroo) stood tall in defence, directing traffic and providing strong leadership throughout the

VFL League

Caleb Poulter (Ardrossan) was among the standouts in Footscray's 23point win over Geelong on Friday.

Poulter delivered a strong all-round performance, finishing with 2.2 from 20 disposals, also taking nine marks and laying a tackle.

In a high-scoring affair, Southport claimed a 40-point win over Frankston in a match that featured 38 goals.

Boyd Woodcock (Bute) was exceptional, booting five goals and racking up a game-high 37 disposals. His dominant outing also included 15 clearances, four marks and five tackles — a brilliant individual performance in a goal-laden

SANFL Reserves

Will Neumann was among Woodville-West Torrens' best despite the Eagles' 22-point loss to South Adelaide, 11.14 (80) to 8.10 (58).

He racked up 22 disposals, five marks, six tackles and four clearances in a well-rounded performance.

SANFL Under 18s

An undermanned Woodville-West Torrens went down to South Adelaide acknowledging the challenge.

"We were disappointing, but had a go at least," Reardon said.

Freddie Wilson (CMS Crows) stood tall as the Eagles' only ruckman, playing 100 per cent game time.

He took a couple of strong marks and competed hard at ground level, finishing with 13 disposals, 11 hit-outs, four inside 50s and five ground-ball gets.

Jack Mumford (Wallaroo) had a strong first half up forward, taking five marks and setting up a goal. Although quieter after the break, he continued to compete, finishing with two more marks and two kicks.

Hunter Wellgreen (Wallaroo) worked effectively on-ball, particularly in close, collecting 14 possessions — including 12 handballs — three clearances and

SANFL Under 16s

Woodville-West Torrens U16s faced an even tougher task, going down to South Adelaide by 150 points, 3.4 (22)

Cash Meyers (Ardrossan) provided a small highlight, kicking two of the Eagles' three goals.

At Elizabeth, Central District's U16s recorded a strong 58-point win over Norwood, 12.10 (82) to 3.6 (24).

Archie Faulkner (Kadina) was among the best on ground, racking up 18 disposals, five marks, five tackles and three clearances, capping it off with a goal in a standout performance.

Eagles outmatched in tough clash with Roos

"Eagle Eye" REPORT BY

Broughton-Mundoora faced blustery, dusty conditions at Orroroo in what shaped up to be a tough contest against last season's grand finalists, the Roos.

Coming off a disappointing fortnight, the Eagles were in need of an energy lift to win the arm wrestle.

Orroroo came out strong, seeking redemption after their last outing against BM. They brought early intensity and composure, dominating the first quarter.

Their forward line looked dangerous, piling on five goals to the Eagles' two. William Hewett added to his season tally, proving a handful for the Roos' defence, while Aaron Laverty and Kallis Freer found plenty of the ball through the middle.

The second quarter was a typical grind against Orroroo, but the key difference was scoreboard impact. Both sides had 12 scoring shots by halftime, but the Roos made theirs count and took a 20point lead into the main break.

After halftime, fatigue set in and the game became a scrappy, low-scoring affair. Orroroo managed just two goals, while the Eagles couldn't capitalise on their chances, adding six behinds for the quarter.

Young halfback Bodhi Sims stood out with his best performance of the season, skipper K Freer showed his class under pressure, and W Hewett led the scoring with two goals.

Blake Burt made an impact after a move from defence to attack, joining the goal scorers, while Jacob Akker held firm at fullback under relentless pressure.

At the end of the first round of NAFA matches, Broughton-Mundoora sits fourth on the ladder with two wins and three losses.

They'll be eager to bounce back this week at home against Southern Flinders — and will be desperate to return to the winners' list.

Roosters edge out Bloods in hardfought Indigenous Round clash

'Newsman Norm' REPORT BY

Kadina paid tribute to the late Jacqueline East by wearing black armbands during Saturday's Indigenous Round match.

In a moving gesture, Kadina and Bute players also donned red armbands to honour Emma Borlace, who recently lost her battle with leukaemia. The red symbolised blood and served as a call for people to donate theirs.

The match opened with a Welcome to Country delivered by Kadina Under 11s players Halle Faulkner and Sebastian Ziersch.

Kadina took full advantage of the wind in the first quarter, starting hot with two early goals. Bute found rhythm through the middle but couldn't connect inside 50. Halfway through the term, Kadina led four goals to one.

Dylan Boundy showed his class to snap Bute's second, but Jake Westbrook answered with a brilliant run through traffic and a booming finish. Bute surged late in the quarter, with midfielder Seth Harris and Boundy combining for back-to-back goals, capped off by a composed set shot from Rhys Arriola.

The second quarter was a tough contest, with both sides struggling to capitalise inside 50.

Bute eventually broke the deadlock with some sharp ball movement.

As the wind shifted and the cold rolled in, Bute lifted. Jake Hodby slotted his first, followed by a steady set shot from Thomas Grillett.

Jack Elsworthy, Jayson Manners and Matt Borlace began to control the midfield, setting up Daniel McDonald for a late goal to send Bute into halftime with a two-point lead.

Rain set in after the break, turning the match into a scrap.

Both midfield groups battled to push the ball forward by any Kadina managed a goal from a contest, followed by some smooth play from Giles Ellis. Down back, Kye McDonald was rock solid for Kadina, limiting Bute's chances, while Borlace kept the pressure high up forward.

A low-scoring quarter ended with a crucial late goal to Bute.

Trailing by five points at the final change, Kadina came out firing but couldn't make it count on the scoreboard.

Bute responded with back-toback goals at the clubhouse end, pushing the lead to 15 points midway through the last.

But Kadina weren't done. Chris Flavel and Westbrook goaled to cut the margin to three. In a frantic finish, Kadina kept pressing, but Bute held firm to claim a thrilling three-point win, knocking Kadina out of the top five.

Results as expected, with a twist

"Eric 'Tippy' Tipwood'

The forecast for last weekend looked grim, but the weather held off and it turned into a mostly lovely afternoon for footy. Most results went as expected, though not without a few twists.

Moonta showed their class with a big win over the Eagles. The Cougars racked up a huge score against Wallaroo, and the Crows comfortably handled Ardrossan.

The match of the round was a thriller between Bute and Kadina, with the Roosters getting up by just three points. Kadina had their chances, kicking four behinds in the final term.

This week's fixtures are shaping up as tight contests, with most teams sitting close together on the ladder.

The competition remains wide open.

Round 8 tips

Ardrossan v Southern Eagles

It's 7th v 8th, and the Roos will like their chances at home. The Eagles have a couple of wins and showed promise against Paskeville. They've got more experience and a stronger percentage, but Ardrossan are improving week by week.

At the final siren... Southern Eagles by 2 goals.

Kadina v Wallaroo

Kadina have been close in most matches this season and will be targeting a big win to re-enter the top five. Wallaroo did beat them at Kadina last year, so they'll come in with belief. But this time, Kadina's depth and polish should prove too much.

At the final siren... Kadina by 10 goals. CY Cougars v Paskeville

Both teams are locked on three wins, making this clash a potential turning point in their seasons. The winner stays in the five; the loser drops out. Neither has found consistency, with each dropping winnable games. Expect a fierce contest, with forward firepower on both sides and pressure on the defences to hold firm.

At the final siren... Cougars by a goal.

Bute v CMS Crows

This shapes as a genuine finals preview. Both sides are humming along with consistent form and sit comfortably in the top three. The Roosters are solid across the ground, while the Crows just keep finding ways to win. Expect a high-quality contest with big implications.

At the final siren... Crows by 2 goals.

Moonta have the bye

With the association squad to be selected soon, expect a few players across the league to turn heads as they push for a spot in the Mallala team

Crows outmuscle Kangaroos in tough Ardrossan conditions

"Roo Ted" REPORT BY

More than 400 eager fans braved the blustery weather at Ardrossan to watch the Kangaroos take on the CMS Crows in a match dominated by strong winds and hard contests.

Wallaroo bloods five colts in tough outing

Central Yorke Cougars faced young and undermanned Wallaroo Dogs outfit in cool, windy weather at Maitland on Saturday.

Cougars' experience and polish were clear from the outset. Their centremen consistently won the ball and moved it efficiently into attack, setting the tone for the game.

Zac Bates led the scoring with six goals, followed by Cooper Jarrett with five. Ashley Williams and Corey Graham each added three of their own.

Leading by 17 points at quarter time, the Cougars shifted into top gear in the second term, piling on unanswered goals to take a 79point lead into the major break,

Moonta wins Indigenous Round Trophy

"D. Monn" REPORT BY

The A grade clash between Moonta and Southern Eagles began with a powerful celebration of culture as part of the First Nations Round.

Before the first bounce, Cheylen Wanganeen delivered a heartfelt Welcome to Country, honouring his grandfather Michael Wanganeen, followed by a traditional Smoking Ceremony performed by Peter Turner.

With the Michael Wanganeen Indigenous Round Trophy on the line, the match started with high

The Eagles had early momentum but failed to capitalise on the scoreboard.

Moonta's Matthew Spirrit broke the deadlock with the opening goal, quickly followed by Lachlan Slack. Tyler Andrews dominated through the middle, and Dylan Aldridge stood strong in defence, repelling numerous Eagles' attacks.

Jack Muirhead slotted Moonta's third, and the Eagles started to look unsettled.

The Demons pressed hard inside their forward 50, but inaccuracy saw them finish the term with 3.4, while the Eagles managed just three behinds.

In the second quarter, the breeze picked up in the Eagles' favour, but Moonta struck first again, with Slack kicking his second within seconds of the restart.

Bernard Taheny and Nathan Allan began to lift for the Eagles, resulting in their first goal via Michael Beelitz.

Moonta answered through Jayga Warmington before George Bond replied for the Eagles to keep them in touch.

With the wind proving tricky, both sides struggled with accuracy, each kicking four behinds for the quarter. A late major from Slack extended Moonta's lead to five goals at halftime.

True to form, Moonta owned the third quarter, piling on five goals and keeping the Eagles goalless. Warmington lit up the forward line, while Slack continued his strong return. Onballers Andrews, Alex Elsworthy and Matt Appleton controlled the midfield, with Mullins and Aldridge leading a resolute defence. The Eagles found the ball through Allan, Taheny, Patrick Neal-Bullen and Wesley Goldsmith but couldn't convert it into goals.

Heading into the final term with a 10-goal buffer, the question was whether the Demons would blow the game wide open or if the Eagles could regain some pride.

Moonta struck first through Jackson Zwar before icy winds swept across the ground. To their credit, the Eagles dug in and kicked three goals - courtesy of Matt Barlow, George Bond and Jordan Carrocci — to prevent a complete blowout.

Moonta continued to score, with Slack finishing the day with four goals in his first game back after several years out of footy an impressive return.

At the final siren, the Demons had sealed a commanding 73point win. Acting captain Matt Appleton accepted the Michael Wanganeen Indigenous Round Trophy from Michael himself a proud moment for all involved.

Well done to everyone who helped make the First Nations Round such a meaningful and successful occasion.

Pride on display in Saturday's First Nations Round games

"Benchwarmer" REPORT BY

It was great to see all players take to the court with pride and respect for First Nations Round on Saturday.

From the beautifully designed bibs to those teams who had inspiring speeches from teammates, and all those who simply took a moment to acknowledge that we play on Nharangga Country and the traditional owners of the land upon which we play our great sport.

My tipping was a little off, maybe in part due to the fact that some of the players I had expected to take the court were no shows.

Cougars were out to prove me wrong and that they did to elevate themselves from the bottom of the ladder and build some confidence heading into the second half of the season.

The Moonta v Eagles game was the only one I had close to being correct with Bute taking care of Kadina by much more than I had expected and Crows rolling Ardrossan by more than double my forecast.

Those with club byes coming up have a messy few weeks ahead with the June long weekend looming as

Now is the time to play around with those game plans and combinations before making a run for finals in the second half of the season.

Round 8 tips

Cougars v Paskeville

Cougars will be looking to continue building the form they found against Wallaroo on Saturday but Pasky knows this is a must-win game to stay in touch with the top four.

Cougars have a settled line-up and young goalies Gabrielle Hickman and Iluka Zilm-Smith are combining well. They are fed beautifully by Laura Trenorden who plays a consistent role through the centre.

Pasky has finally settled its line-up, although didn't defeat the Eagles by as much as I had expected.

Playing coach and defender Aleisha Michael is a force for her team, determined to turn over as much ball as possible.

She will team up with experienced A grader Eliza Kitschke or Cassie Mills. At the final whistle... Pasky by 6.

Ardrossan v Southern Eagles

Despite not having a win to their name yet this season, the Eagles certainly haven't been putting on dismal

This Saturday will be another tough match against Ardrossan who will be pretty keen to get back on the winners' board after a tough couple of weeks against the top two sides.

Despite Kate Pfeiffer's unavailability, the Roos have been stoic but unfortunately can't match it with the Staci Kennedy does everything she can for her Roos team, whether that be slotting in to fill the GD position or being swung down into goals if things are going pear shaped.

For the Eagles, Meg Day can do the same thing — play at either end. She is well supported by Sarah Ramsay in GK but she will be outmatched in height this Saturday by Roos' Sophie Thornton.

At the final whistle... Roos by eight. Kadina v Wallaroo

Kadina is one of those teams I am talking about that seems to have a bye, play a couple, then have another bye.

Along with player availability, this is making it difficult for Kadina to build momentum — something it is going to have to do pretty quickly if it wants to hold that spot in the top four.

However, the Bloods do have some consistency with their goalie line-up and the reliability of Monique Manners and Sophie Driver in the midcourt.

Young Bulldogs Natalia-Rose Bagnato and Sydney Lockwood will have their work cut out but they also have zip and drive.

If Issy Burfitt is back for Wallaroo and Emily Ramsey's goals are on, this game could be closer than we think.

At the final whistle... Kadina by 10. Bute v CMS Crows

This is Bute's opportunity to test if it is the real deal this season.

The closest anyone has come to the Crows so far is seven goals. Well done Moonta back in round 4! Aside from that, winning margins for the Crows have been 26, 42, 33, 24 and 33.

It would be great if Bute could do what Moonta did and give the Crows a challenge.

Bute GA Montana Briggs will have to hold her ground strongly against Crows GD Lauren McSkimming and GK Georgina Farrow.

At the other end, Crows GA Tasmyn Biddell could be outrebounded for once by Bute's Marissa Hewett.

I really see this game as being a tussle of the two ends.

At the final whistle... Crows by 5 but also happy for Bute to prove me

Moonta v Southern Eagles

Sunny and breezy weather set the stage for a competitive Indigenous Round match between Moonta and the Eagles at the Moonta courts. The game began with a special milestone, as Eagles' Katie Hocking was honoured for her 100th senior game with a guard of honour from both teams.

Eagles took the first centre pass in a close and physical opening quarter. Defensive pressure from Eagles' Alice Johnson and Moonta's Niamh Henry created early turnovers, but it was Moonta's back line -Carlin Macro and Teesha Angus — who took control, helping the home side score seven unanswered goals. The Eagles regrouped well, levelling the scores by quarter time, 10 apiece.

Moonta came out firing in the second quarter, with shooters Ella Aldridge and Charlotte Keleher finding their rhythm despite the wind. Eagles stayed in the contest, with Stacey Evans feeding well into the circle, and defenders Sarah Ramsay and Hocking making life difficult for the Moonta attack. While Eagles converted some turnovers through Johnson and Jessie East, Moonta's consistent pressure across the court helped them build a lead. Halftime: Moonta 30, Eagles 22.

The third quarter saw Moonta extend their advantage. Clean ball movement and turnovers from Amber Aldridge and Henry created more chances for their shooters, who continued to convert reliably. Eagles' Meg Day made an impact late in the term with three quick goals and a couple of key intercepts. Ramsay and Hocking continued to work hard defensively, helping limit further damage. Three-quarter time: Moonta

Moonta maintained control in the final quarter, with Henry, Keleher and Angus all picking up timely intercepts. E Aldridge and Keleher remained accurate in the circle, leaving little for the Eagles' defenders to rebound. Day was again a standout in attack for the Eagles, shooting well and holding strong under pressure. Despite some late goals from turnovers, the Eagles couldn't bridge the gap. Final scores: Moonta 60 d

CY Cougars v Wallaroo

Wallaroo had the first centre pass, but Cougars quickly disrupted play. Georgia Hann opened the scoring for Wallaroo, only for Cougars' Iluka Zilm-Smith to respond immediately. The teams traded goals throughout the first term, with minimal margin for error. A key intercept from Cougars GA Gabrielle Hickman shifted momentum, allowing Cougars to edge ahead. Despite strong rebounding efforts at both ends, Cougars finished the quarter leading

Cougars came out firing in the second quarter, capitalising on a Wallaroo error at the centre pass to secure back-to-back goals. Cougars' Prue Brind made her presence known with a leaping intercept that led to a quick conversion. Although Wallaroo GD Ella Phelan intercepted to briefly halt the Cougars' charge, Wallaroo struggled to convert turnovers. At halftime Cougars

Wallaroo opened the third quarter with etermination to close the gap. Wallaroo's Emily Ramsey sneakily turned a baseline throw in into a quick pass to the goal post and a score for her team. Cougars maintained composure, with GK Joanne Davey applying strong defensive pressure and turning over key possessions. Cougars' shooting duo, Gabrielle Hickman and Iluka Zilm-Smith, continued to find the net, giving their side a 23-16 advantage heading into the final quarter.

Wallaroo were determined in the last quarter, scoring early to cut the deficit to just five. Momentum seemed to swing their way in the opening minutes, but Cougars responded with renewed defensive pressure. Jade Pedler's crucial turnover in the circle proved vital as Cougars began to pull away again. While the final quarter featured endto-end action and sharp shooting from both sides, Cougars' consistency and composure enabled them to finish with the win. At the final whistle Cougars 34, Wallaroo 23.

Ardrossan v CMS Crows

A stiff breeze swept over the Ardrossan courts for the first senior game, but the sun was shining.

CMS had the first pass and worked hard to break through Ardrossan's defence. GA Tasmyn Biddell opened the scoring. A deflection by WD Bree McNeilly turned the ball over, and Biddell capitalised again. Another centre pass led to a third goal for the Crows, this time from GS Bronwyn

In the Ardrossan circle, GA Alexa Simmons and GS Sophie Thornton worked well to counter the height and reach of Crows defenders GD Lauren McSkimming and GK Georgina Farrow. Ardrossan moved the ball cleanly through the centre, with accurate feeds from C Zali Turner and WA Cameron Kennedy helping them take the lead midway through the first quarter.

Crows' defence stepped up, with GK Kimberley Langley and GD Staci Kennedy making shots difficult. However, strong rebounding by Biddell gave Crows second chances. They led by five goals at the first

In the second quarter, Crows increased their intensity. Biddell and Farrow found their range, while Simmons and Thornton had fewer clear chances. Midcourt play was fast and physical, keeping the umpires busy. Crows capitalised on deflections and errors to build a strong 36-18 lead by halftime.

The wind strengthened in the third quarter, affecting shooting accuracy. The ball stalled or floated off course. Crows kept Ardrossan to five goals for the term, maintaining pressure and intercepting passes disrupted by the wind.

Ardrossan made key changes in the final quarter, moving Staci Kennedy to GA. She combined well with Thornton, supported by accurate feeds from C Kennedy and M Rowntree. Thornton adjusted for the wind and took most of the shooting load. As fatigue set in, both teams gave away more penalties and the game lost some structure.

Despite Ardrossan's efforts, Crows held their advantage and finished strong, winning 63-37.

Kadina v Bute

With Bute sitting atop the ladder and Kadina holding firm in the top four, this indoor matchup promised a strong contest. The goalies, no doubt, were glad to avoid the blustery weather outside in Kadina.

Kadina opened the scoring through Neve Smart from the first centre pass. Bute responded swiftly with three unanswered goals, supported by strong defensive rebounds from Demi O'Brien. The opening quarter remained tight, both teams displaying intensity and speed that suited the indoor surface. Kadina found momentum late and took a narrow 13-12 lead into the first break.

Bute made positional changes in the second quarter, moving Marissa Hewett from GS to GK and introducing Lori Mildren at GS. The combination of Montana Briggs and Mildren in goals was effective, though hard-earned. Monique Manners was a key disruptor for Kadina, working hard through the midcourt to pressure Bute's transition. The teams remained neck-and-neck until Bute surged ahead with five late goals, giving them a 28-24 advantage at halftime.

Bute kept their lineup unchanged in the third term and started strongly with three quick goals. Kadina's young shooters, Smart and Kayla Russel, maintained composure under pressure from the experienced Hewett. WA Lahni Smith continued to provide valuable drive for Kadina. Key midcourt intercepts from GA Briggs helped Bute maintain control, stretching their lead to 40-34 by the final change.

In the last quarter, Bute lifted again. Despite the efforts of Kadina defenders Alex Wehr and Nikkita Aldridge, Bute's goalies proved too strong. Their ability to maintain pressure and consistency across all four quarters was evident.

The final whistle confirmed Bute's dominance, securing a 59-43 win and reinforcing their position at the top of the ladder.

Eagles, and Na'delle Matz, Moonta, compete for a high pass in the goal circle.

has proudly supported Yorke Peninsula resident Brock Penna with a $1000 donation to help him continue pursuing competitive archery.

Penna, 14, began archery in 2018 and has largely funded his own progress in the sport.

Equipment alone costs thousands of dollars, with additional expenses for travel to state, national and international championships, where he often competes successfully against adult archers.

At the State Field Championships September 2023, Brock broke a 26-year-old under-14 record held by Olympian David Barnes.

Brock is aiming high, with hopes to represent Australia at the 2032 Olympic Games.

Results 23-5-25

There were only three games played on Friday as Triple A's forfeited to Roulettes 0-10.

Swifties played Cousin Jacks, in a competitive game that featured father and daughter captains.

First year Swifties defeated the experienced Cousin Jacks 15-9.

Old Bags all played well, winning their second game in a row, defeating Mascots 17-11.

Rubies scored five on an early end in the game against Cobalts, who were unfortunate on many shots. Rubies won 14-9.

This week again there will be no games for Roulettes, this time receiving a forfeit from Cobalts. "Thru the Gap"

Harvest down for 2024-25

SOUTH Australia's grain production in 2024-25 was 43 per cent below the five-year average, at 5.2 million tonnes, with an estimated farmgate value of $2.1 billion.

These figures are included in the latest Crop and Pasture Report -2024-25 Post Harvest, produced by Primary Industries and Regions South Australia.

The report states that the 2024-25 harvest was the lowest total since 2008-09, when 4.9 million tonnes were harvested.

Rainfall was well below average across all cropping regions in South Australia during the 2024 season, following a dry finish to the 2023 season.

"Crop performance was poor in most regions, with yield limited by the combination of late crop emergence, a dry winter and the early onset of spring conditions," the report states.

"Severe and widespread frost events in September led to further yield reductions, with severely frosted crops cut for hay as a salvage strategy.

"In marginal cropping regions, significant areas of failed crops were utilised for grazing or abandoned rather than harvested for grain, further reducing harvested grain production.

"Yield reports from harvested crops were significantly below av-

"However, widespread rainfall in October stabilised crop yield potential in later districts due to improved grain and pod fill and slowed grain maturation.

"Later districts were also helped by a lack of extreme heat and wind events during ripening and har-

The report also notes that rainfall is well below average across all cropping regions for the current season, and stored soil moisture is extremely low. Significant rainfall is required to return to neutral conditions.

"Despite the severe seasonal challenges experienced throughout South Australia's cropping districts, modern farming practices that conserve moisture and improve water-use efficiency have enabled crop yields that were not possible historically," the report states.

Pasture cover continued to be poor, with farmers continuing to source fodder from non-traditional sources.

Many livestock producers had to provide supplementary feed or destock due to the lack of paddock

Where grazing was difficult to manage, soil cover was low, increasing the risk of topsoil loss and dust storms.

Primary Industries and Regions Minister Claire Scriven said the South Australian Government was committed to supporting primary producers and regional communities through its $73 million Drought Support Package.

"The support package has been designed based on direct feedback from farmers and not only offers financial assistance, but also funding for donated fodder transport, health and wellbeing support, and grants for community events that bring people together," she said.

The package includes the $6 million SA Donated Fodder Transport Drought Assistance Scheme to assist charities with the cost of transporting donated fodder to farmers in need.

"To date, the scheme has supported charities to deliver more than 4200 tonnes of donated fodder to 436 primary producers," she said.

A total of $13 million has been made available through the On-Farm Drought Infrastructure Rebate Scheme, which enables drought-affected farmers to apply for grants of up to $20,000 for projects to manage drought conditions and strengthen preparedness.

Primary producers and rural small business owners experiencing financial hardship can also apply for the SA Government's Rural Support Grants, which provide up to $1500 in financial assistance.

Triple fungicide resistance detected in net form net blotch on Yorke Peninsula

Peninsula are being urged to review their disease management strategies following confirmation of triple fungicide resistance in the fungal disease, net form net blotch.

Recent testing of barley samples from Corny Point, Warooka and Paskeville revealed the disease is now resistant to all three major fungicide groups — Groups 3, 7 and 11 — currently used to manage the pathogen.

The samples, analysed by the Australian Fungicide Resistance Extension Network, also included one from Streatham in Victoria, where resistance mutations were detected but fungicide control has not yet failed.

The discovery raises significant concerns for future disease control and crop productivity, AFREN project lead, Associate Professor Fran Lopez-Ruiz, based at Curtin University, warns.

"Fungicide resistance of this level means growers can no longer rely on BARLEY growers on Yorke chemical control alone," Associate Professor Lopez-Ruiz said.

"The triple resistance mutations likely explain the failure of fungicide treatments across Yorke Peninsula

Net form net blotch significantly reduces barley yields and grain quality.

Its spores can be spread by wind or water, making rapid localised dispersal likely.

Ruth Peek, Grains Research and Development Corporation crop protection manager - south, advised growers to act quickly by removing volunteer barley plants that can host the disease (known as the green bridge) and consulting agronomists about local management op-

"Producers should also look ahead by planting non-barley rotations and choosing barley varieties with improved resistance to the disease," she said.

Associate Professor Lopez-Ruiz said shifting to integrated management strategies is critical.

These include non-chemical methods such as stubble grazing, crop rotation and selecting disease-resistant cultivars.

To limit the spread and impact of resistance, growers are encouraged to follow AFREN's Fungicide Resistance Five principles:

- Avoid highly susceptible crop varieties
- Rotate crops
- Use non-chemical controls
- · Spray strategically
- Rotate and mix fungicides

"Fungicide use for other barley diseases can still select for resistance in net blotch pathogens," Associate Professor Lopez-Ruiz said.

"We need to reduce overall fungicide exposure and shift to practices that preserve the effectiveness of existing chemistry."

AFREN, a GRDC investment, supports growers with best practice resources to help slow the emergence and spread of fungicide resistance across Australia's cropping

OUT OF CONTROL... Associate Professor Fran Lopez-Ruiz, who leads national research on fungicide resistance, warns that growers can no longer rely on chemicals alone to control net form net blotch.

Podcast launch digs into carbon farming

NORTHERN and Yorke Landscape Board has launched a new podcast to help primary producers understand carbon farming and its benefits.

In the first episode, sustainable agriculture facilitator Molly O'Dea explains how carbon farming can reduce emissions, improve soil health and boost business sustainability.

The podcast also explores how producers can get involved in the Australian Carbon Credit Unit Scheme.

The series is supported by the Australian Government through the Climate-Smart Agriculture Program.

Australian stock feed maker moves on Incitec Pivot

AUSTRALIAN stock feed manufacturer Ridley has announced it plans to purchase Incitec Pivot Fertiliser's distribution business for $300 million.

A Ridley spokesperson said this meant IPF Distribution would remain in Australian hands, with completion of the deal with parent company Dyno Nobel Limited anticipated in the third quarter.

"The acquisition cements Ridley's position as one of Australia's leading ag services businesses and is an investment that aims to support Australian farmers into the future,"

"IPF is Australia's number one distributor of fertilisers with 46 per cent market share on the East Coast.

"It recorded 2.2M tonnes of distributed product for the year ending September 2024."

IPF Distribution has 13 primary distribution centres, including at Wallaroo, Port Pirie, Port Adelaide and Port Lincoln, plus seven regional service centres and three Easy Liquid distribution sites.

Included in the acquisition is an offtake agreement for the ongoing supply of MAP, DAP and Granulock from Phosphate Hill, north-west of Mount Isa.

The Phosphate Hill operations are subject to a strategic review, which is primarily focused on identifying a qualified third-party buyer.

Destocking a harsh reality as drought deepens

UNPRECEDENTED DROUGHT... Dr Nicola Centofanti, SA Opposition spokesperson for primary industries, says drought support must be practical, inclusive and responsive to the realities faced by regional farmers.

DROUGHT conditions across South Australia are forcing many farming families to make difficult decisions, with some calling for more practical and timely support to help manage the ongoing challenges.

Third-generation Murray Mallee farmer Cassie Oster said the prolonged dry had severely impacted both cropping and livestock operations on her

"We held onto our stock for as long as possible and it's hard to have to destock at this level because re-entering the market once seasonal conditions recover will be incredibly expensive due to the lack of young female breeding stock available," Mrs Oster said.

The family has recently destocked 800 sheep due to the rising cost of feed and water.

"It will take us at least four to five years to get back to where we were three years ago, provided we have favourable seasonal conditions moving forward and support to keep going," she said.

"This drought is completely unprecedented, and our preparedness can only withstand so long.

"Being another year on and it still being so dry with a poor rainfall outlook we absolutely need useful, practical and equitable support to provide relief from high input costs and to feed the sheep we have left."

Mrs Oster said existing drought support programs had not met the needs of many in the region.

"There is too much red tape, too much time required to access help and lengthy waiting times for outcomes.

'In a widespread drought like this we can't afford to help some and not others.

"We need to reduce the pressure swiftly and sensibly so we can make better plans to help navigate hard de-SA Opposition spokesperson for primary industries, Dr Nicola Centofanti, said the situation was being echoed across other drought-affected areas.

"We're hearing from farmers in the Mallee, Eyre Peninsula, South East and beyond, and the message is clear they're doing it incredibly tough, and they're not getting the help they need," Dr Centofanti said.

She noted concerns around the accessibility of current programs.

"The narrow eligibility criteria for support has excluded many primary producers who are experiencing significant financial and emotional stress."

Suggestions from affected communities include relief from government charges, subsidies for water carting, and targeted assistance to maintain core farming operations.

This is a chance to listen, to act, and to ensure support is practical, inclusive and delivered where it's needed most," Dr Centofanti said.

Spray drift workshop at Minlaton

GRAIN Producers SA is hosting a free spray drift workshop in Minlaton this Thursday, May 29, as part of a statewide program aimed at improving chemical stewardship and spray application practices.

Supported by Primary Industries and Regions SA, the workshops provide practical, science-based guidance to help grain producers minimise the risk of spray drift and manage inversion conditions.

Spray application specialist Mary O'Brien will lead the session.

With more than 25 years of experience working with farmers and agricultural industries across Australia, Mary combines deep technical knowledge with a relatable, engaging style.

"Spray drift poses a real risk to our industry's social licence," GPSA chief executive Brad Perry said.

"These workshops are about giving growers the confidence, tools and information to make safe, effective decisions - and to show the wider community that we take our responsibilities seriously."

Topics include spray behaviour, weather conditions, nozzle selection, and recordkeeping.

GPSA has already delivered 11 workshops with strong attendance and positive feedback.

The Minlaton workshop will run from 9am to 3pm at the Minlaton District Community and Sports Centre.

Morning tea and lunch will be provided.

This is also a workshop at Crystal Brook Football Club tomorrow, Wednesday, 28 May.

Grain producers, spray operators, agronomists, machinery operators and farm workers are all encouraged to attend.

Two homes, 124 acres and a beachside lifestyle

A RARE chance to secure two stunning homes on 124 acres of natural scrubland just minutes from the coast is now available on lower Yorke Peninsula.

Marketed by Nutrien Harcourts' Troy Goldsworthy, the property includes a beautifully renovated six-bedroom stone home and a fully self-contained two-bedroom stone cottage — all within a five-minute drive of the beach.

"This is a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to secure two properties in one, with immense potential as a family estate, holiday rental or lifestyle retreat," Mr Goldsworthy says.

The main residence is designed for entertaining and comfort, with six generous bedrooms, a rumpus or bunk room, two bathrooms and a separate laundry.

Multiple indoor and outdoor entertaining spaces cater to both large gatherings and more intimate settings.

"It's an entertainer's paradise, equally capable of hosting a group or providing a quiet retreat for the family," he says.

A large, partially covered rear deck and a nearby cemented firepit area offer relaxed outdoor living, while the surrounding yard features open spaces for customisation and natural bushland rich in seasonal flora and

Separate from the main house, the fully self-sufficient stone cottage offers open-plan kitchen, dining and living areas, two large bedrooms and a spacious bathroom — ideal for guests, extended family or holiday rental in-

Just 20 minutes away is Flahertys Beach, renowned for its white sands, turquoise waters and relaxed atmosphere.

"It's the kind of place where families can truly unwind, with safe, shallow waters perfect for kids and plenty of space to enjoy the coast in peace," Mr Goldsworthy says.

This unique dual-property offering provides an unmatched blend of privacy, space and coastal proximity, making it a standout opportunity on Yorke Peninsula."

Conveyancing fantasies come true

Advertising promotion

CHALLENGED to imagine a world run by conveyancers, the Mildwaters Byrth Lawyers & Conveyancers team reckoned they'd like you to meet yours just after birth.

While you're registering that birth certificate, they'd say, why not open a conveyancing file for your child's future property

Of course, this is wildly exaggerated, but registered conveyancer Anna Przibilla is making an important point about timing that could save you significant stress and money.

"In our imaginary conveyancerruled world, before attending a single open inspection, you'd consult with your conveyancer about areas you're considering,"

"You'd say 'I'm thinking of looking at houses in Kadina this weekend' and your conveyancer would say 'Let me run a full title search on EVERY property in Kadina so you know exactly what you're getting into before you even step foot in a home'.

"While running searches on every property would be excessive, this is where our fantasy starts overlapping with practical advice."

Ms Przibilla says if you've narrowed down your search to a few properties, it not actually ridiculous to touch base with your conveyancer, who can check titles for easements or encumbrances that might affect your decision.

"If you drive around a new subdivision at Moonta or any new estate, you'll notice none of them have front fences — that's because they're not allowed to have front fences," she says.

"At the Dunes, you'll notice they've all been designed with specific house styles because that's what the encumbrance

Beyond the fantasy scenarios, the ideal time to contact your conveyancer is immediately after signing a contract to purchase.

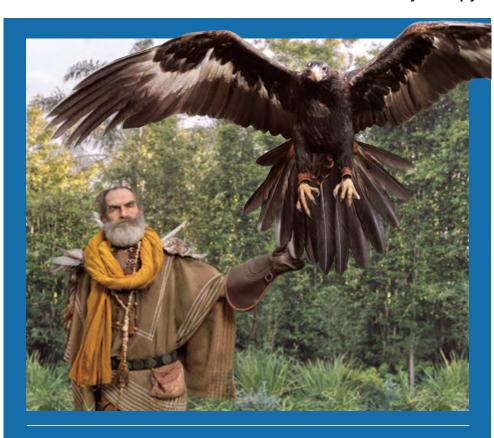

However, there are situations where earlier contact makes perfect sense: when you've shortlisted properties (to get titles checked for potential issues), when you're planning to bid at auction (to understand your obligations), before signing anything (to allay uncertainty about the contract or Form One), and when you decide to sell (to get advice on ATO clearance).

"Having an experienced local conveyancer by your side is the next best thing to conveyancers ruling the world," Ms Przibilla says.

Contact the Mildwaters Byrth Lawyers & Conveyancers Kadina office on 8821 2199 or Minlaton office on 0448 725 447; for more information go online to mildwatersbyrth.com.au/ conveyancing-services.

STRESS FREE... Mildwaters Byrth Lawyers & Conveyancers say the earlier they're involved, the more easily they can help you buy or sell your home.

Dear patients of Dr Philip Clarke I have worked as a General Practitioner

Public Notices

I have worked as a General Practitioner with the Medical HQ – Ardrossan Clinic since 2021. As of 17th April, 2025, I have been advised that MHQ Ardrossan has decided to terminate its service agreement with me. My service arrangement with MHQ will cease on 18th July, 2025. Accordingly, I will not be able to continue to provide medical care to you, and you will need to arrange for other doctors to continue your care.

For patients with DDU authorities for section 8 medications, I will now need to seek to have revoked my authority to prescribe scheduled medications, so as to allow sufficient time to enable the Medical HQ practice and you to make ongoing treatment arrangements before prescriptions expire.

For patients with prescriptions for medications under the Special Access Scheme, I am advised by MHQ that its practice will have no capacity to continue these medications, and that you will accordingly have to make alternative arrangements.

You may wish to direct enquiries or questions to MHQ Ardrossan, or make contact with other medical practices.

"I NEVER THOUGHT I'D BE HOMELESS."

More people are now facing homelessness than ever before.

Entertain by Sarah Herrmann

Looking for representation

"I COULD just imagine them letting a wog be prime minister," Josie Alibrandi quipped in the year 2000.

Twenty-five years later, our PM's surname is Albanese, but Looking for Alibrandi hasn't lost its resonance.

Not for the thousands who gathered to watch its State Theatre run in Adelaide this month.

I see a lot of myself in Josie we're both third-generation Italian-Australian women, balancing tradition and family with the modern world.

I was the only kid at my rural primary school with a nonna, so I never uttered the word in that

I didn't tell people I had a nonna until my teenage years, and just a few years ago I discovered Looking for Alibrandi, feeling seen in a way I hadn't before

So I wasn't going to miss seeing it in a new form.

The play takes the sauce-day set from the open and close of the film and book, and keeps it throughout the production, which looked great and lighting was well-used to transition between scenes

Another of my favourite decisions was casting a plus-size actress to play Josie — it made me relate to her even more.

No one ever mentioned or criticised her weight, but she did undress multiple times on stage, and I find that an incredibly important choice.

Curvy women are so often not cast in leading roles, they're typecast as villains, their bodies are hidden and they're even less likely to be shown in a romantic light.

Looking for Alibrandi shatters all these customs.

Additionally, having some actors play multiple roles draws strong parallels between those characters and creates even more depth in the 30-year-old

There were some things that didn't quite hit the same though, like Jacob's famous democracy speech, but for the most part I love what they did with the production.

Though apparently the actor who played Michael couldn't speak very good Italian and the costumes weren't ironed, I heard some women complaining in the line for the loo afterwards.

I guess the nagging is one stereotype we're not escaping anytime soon.

But I'm proud of our collective matriarchs' strength, I'm grateful they've allowed me to become who I am today, and that our stories are being told.

Looking for Alibrandi is at Dunstan Playhouse until May 31.

Deaths

BORLACE, Emma Louise.

9-2-1999-20-5-2025 Aged 26 years.

Passed away peacefully at home in Wallaroo after a valiant battle with leukaemia.

Beloved and devoted partner of Hugh.

Cherished daughter of Martin and Katrina, and adored sister of Matthew.

Embraced as a daughter and sister by Jane, Paddy and Issy.

Loved by extended family.

Emma left this world surrounded by family, her partner, and friends, and left behind a legacy of love and laughter.

Her intelligence, sharp wit love of animals and genuine care for her family and friends left an indelible mark on us all.

Her absence is deeply felt, but her memory will live on in the hearts of those who knew her.

May she rest in peace.

Deaths

BORLACE, Emma

The Kadina Football and Netball Club extend their deepest condolences to Katrina, Martin, Matt and Hugh on the passing of Emma.

The Borlace family are a much-loved part of our 'Bloods family'

Emma got to play one of her favourite sports with some of her favourite people at our club and for that we are truly honoured

BORLACE, Emma.

Wallaroo Football Club sends condolences to Martin, Katrina, Matthew and Hugh on the sad pass-

CLARK, Raelene. Passed away 19th May,

Dearly loved and verymuch-cared-for daughter of Barbara and Les Clark (both deceased).

Loved sister and sister-inlaw of Jude and Tren. Your time to rest now

Rae.

EAST, Jacqueline Mary. Darling Jackie,

Your love and friendship became the guiding light that helped me through some dark days and for that I will be forever grateful.

You faced your own challenges in the way you faced everything in life – with courage, grace, dignity and a smile

Much love and sympathy to Graham, Jo-anne, Mathew, Annabel and

From Rhonda, Paul and Liz, and Peter.

"Of all the special gifts in life, however great or small, to have had you as my dearest friend has been the greatest gift of all.'

EAST, Jackie.

My sincere sympathy to Graham and family in the loss of their dear wife and mother Jackie. Jackie was my special friend and bridge partner. I will miss her so much.

EAST, Jacqueline.

The Kadina Football and Netball Club express our condolences to Graham. Matt and Desra, Sophie and Zac, Alex and Holly, Izzy and Cody, and extended families on the passing of Jacqueline.

The East family are wonderful supporters, sponsors and players of our club.

HOT FISHING TIPS

with Greg James www.gregjamesfishing.com.au

Welcome to the column with all the hot tips for fishing around Yorke Peninsula; contact Greg by email at greg@gregjamesfishing.com.au.

Wallaroo: Generally clear water, good tides and calm seas were here for much of last week as the jetty enjoyed plenty of visitors but did not have much by the way of fishing. Boat crews tried all over for squid, King George whiting and the odd garfish. There are some nice flathead in the small sandy bays between the rocks at Point Riley for the shore-based Moonta Bay/Port Hughes: Local coastal towns right round SA are seeing an increasing exodus of visitors as they decide against the odds of fishing with the omnipresent algal bloom. Unfortunately, this is happening on YP as well. Boat crews are running out to try for whiting, gar, big squid and snook. The jetties have squid at night but it is cold work!

Port Victoria: KG whiting are in small pods about 3km from the boat ramp and then further out to Wardang and Rocky Islands. Snook, squid and tommy ruff (Australian herring) have been the other main reports.

Point Turton: Night-time snook have been sighted at the jetty up at Port Rickaby as they hunt baby squid and ruffs. Boat crews are having to fish long hours for a feed of whiting, red mullet and squid.

Stenhouse Bay/Marion Bay: The jetties have not a lot of fish to offer as the effects of the algal bloom continues unabated. There have been reports that some oyster farms on Kangaroo Island are now contaminated and satellite imagery shows the spread of the pollution. There are a few tuna barrels well offshore, plus red nannygai and kingfish Edithburgh: The letty has overnight tommies with keen boat crews fishing Tapley Shoals, Rocky Gully and north of Coobowie for KG whiting and squid.

Ardrossan: Boat crews have been fishing Gus Shoal, the artificial reefs at Windara (no anchors) and north-east for squid, whiting and a few flathead. Salmon trout and mullet are at several shore-based spots including Tiddy Widdy beach, the town jetty and Price.

Port Wakefield: Plans are well underway for improvement of this great little town's recreational fishing, caravanning and all round water-based activities (when I called in last week). Snook, garfish, overnight mulloway and the last of the blue crabs have been caught in recent days - please respect and observe the Marine Park and other sanctuaries at the top of the gulf.

Tight lines and see you next week!

Celebrating First Nations Round

Austinn Lane JOURNALIST

ROUND 7 of the 2025 Yorke Peninsula football and netball competitions' season marked the celebration of First Nations Round — a special opportunity to recognise Indigenous players and culture across YP.

Played on Saturday, May 24, the round preceded the start of Reconciliation Week (May 27 to June 3) and coincided with the AFL's Sir Doug Nicholls Round.

Matches were hosted by Moonta, Central Yorke, Ardrossan and Kadina, with clubs embracing the chance to honour Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples and their contributions to the game.

YP Football League president Brad Haylock said the round was a meaningful step in acknowledging the importance of First Nations people in football.

"Indigenous people are a massive part of football and we are proud to recognise this in our league," he said. "We've had plenty of great past and current Indigenous footballers on the peninsula, so this is a really special round."

Several clubs took extra steps to showcase their support. Kadina Football Club wore a one-off guernsey that highlighted the club's connection to Indigenous culture. Central Yorke Football Club and CMS Crows also took to the field in specially designed guernseys for their matches against Wallaroo and Ardrossan, respectively. Moonta Demons and Southern Eagles also sported uniquely designed jumpers in their clash at Moonta.
