BABY BOOM

ABS figures show birth rate rise

Jarryd Rowley
JOURNALIST

THERE is a baby boom in the Barunga West Council area. Birth rates for 2021 revealed by the Australian Bureau of Statistics showed Barunga West Council has the third highest in the state.

Rates hit record lows in 2020 with an average 1.59 births per woman; this figure rose to 1.70 in 2021.

The 2021 rise is first time the annual average had increased since 2008, which had an average 2.02.

Despite the lowering averages in recent years, BWC's birth rate has increased dramatically since 2018, rising from 1.78 to 2.82.

These figures rank the area as the ninth highest in the country and third in the state behind Mount Remarkable 3.26 and Tumby Bay 3.41, both of which are in the top three councils in the country.

Yorke Peninsula Council ranks sixth in the state with an average of 2.30, while Copper Coast Council women average 1.92 births each.

Despite having three local councils in the top 10 nationally, South Australia (1.66) still ranked behind New South Wales (1.78), Queensland (1.79), Western Australia (1.75) and the Northern Territory (1.82).

Warning – be asbestos aware

I’VE built a career renovating properties and teaching others how to do cost effective renovations for profit.

Renovating is exciting, it’s fun and rewarding but it can also be lethal if property owners aren’t aware of the potentially deadly asbestos-containing materials which lurk in one in every three Australian homes.

Every year around 4000 Australians die from asbestos-related diseases (more than double the national road toll) because people don’t know how to manage asbestos safely while others continue to ignore the warnings.

Asbestos was used extensively in the manufacture of more than 3000 building and decorator products which can still be found in any brick, fibro, weatherboard or clad homes, apartments or sheds built or renovated before 1990.

These materials are not considered dangerous if undisturbed and in a stable, sealed condition.

If disturbed during maintenance, renovation or demolition, invisible asbestos fibres are released into the air and can be inhaled, which can lead to asbestos-related diseases including malignant mesothelioma.

There is no cure for this preventable cancer with the average survival time after diagnosis just 10 to 12 months.

So, if you’re a homeowner or a passionate renovator and you don’t respect asbestos, you could be risking your life and the lives of your loved ones.

Before taking up tools on any home built or renovated before 1990, visit www.asbestosawareness.com.au to learn the sorts of products to look for and how to manage asbestos safely.

As a professional renovator and someone who lost their grandfather to an asbestos-related disease, I know personally the importance of respecting the ever-present danger of asbestos.

I urge all homeowners and renovators to protect themselves, their families and neighbours by managing asbestos safely because it’s not worth the risk!

LIV Golf

LIV Golf is coming to South Australia and according to its CEO Greg Norman, it will be around for some time, possibly the next four years or more.

South Australian premier Peter Malinauskas announced his government would be assisting the promotion for an undisclosed sum.

There is a certain irony to this.

Greg Norman is recognised world-wide as a golf course architect, and yet here in Port Hughes we have one of his masterpieces stalled at the halfway stage with just nine holes in play.

This is unique anywhere in the world, but it doesn’t have to be this way.

If government bodies stepped in and the project was completed, given the course is in public hands, the boost to the local economy would be profound.

According to its original developer Peter Butterly, the course was designed to hold major tournaments thereby bringing the Copper Coast into sharp focus.

What a coup that would have been.

One wonders if Mr Norman will ever venture back to The Dunes during his tenure in South Australia and reflect on what might have been?

But really the government should reflect on what might have been had they been more proactive during the GFC in assisting the project to get over the line.

Now, the SA Government wants to spend up big on assisting LIV Golf as a spectacle.

But how impressive would it be if they completed The Dunes project as a gift to SA golf, growing the game for decades to come, and increasing business and development in the area.

After all this is their mantra, but will they walk the talk?

OUR VIEW

Year 12s over and out

YEAR 12 students across the peninsula are breathing a sigh of relief, now their final secondary school exams are done.

Now, is the fun part with formal and Schoolies, and taking a well-deserved break to take stock of what they have achieved.

This moment is also a time of celebration for the family and friends who supported the student, and teachers too, for getting through this.

Year 12 can be a stressful, expectation filled moment of time, although I think as a society we’ve moved forward into a place of encouraging balance and self-care.

But at the end of the day, this year is just one year in a whole life of amazing achievements.

Everything feels big and heavy at the time, but it is not the be all and end all.

Thinking back to my year 12 studies, I don’t think I could have gotten through without the help, time and patience of my family — I was not always a joy to live with, and they could probably argue I am still not.

SACE results will be released next month and university offers, for those who have applied, following that.

This wait can be anxious but is also exciting and filled with possibilities.

It can also be disappointing if results don’t meet hopes, but paths are not always linear.

There are ways to achieve your goals, even if it doesn’t quite work the first time.

Right now, though is a moment for everyone to take a breath and celebrate the hard work of the past year and, in fact, entire schooling journeys.

Enjoy your achievements and get ready to build on so many more.

Ellis tables mining bill in state parliament

Patrick Goldsmith
JOURNALIST

MEMBER for Narungga Fraser Ellis introduced the Mining (Land Access Inquiry Recommendations) Amendment Bill 2022 to state parliament last Wednesday, November 16.

The bill is an attempt by Mr Ellis to legislate the recommendations from the select committee formed in the previous parliament which delivered a report on how to better improve the system.

“Work on this topic has been a long-held passion of mine and it is not something I will let die away,” Mr Ellis said.

“I continue to believe this would never happen in the city; you would never have a multigenerational cafe get a knock on its door from an alternative private enterprise saying, ‘you need to vacate because our returns to the government will be more lucrative.’

“But it does happen in the country, where farm families get that knock on the door regularly, asking them to vacate because a mine needs to be built so we can get access to the lucrative royalties that will flow from it.”

Mr Ellis explained the propositions which featured in bill, including the establishment of a mining land commissioner, an increase in legal assistance support and a code of conduct for exploring companies to abide by.

“Currently, the law allows for $2500 to be paid in legal assistance; this bill would increase that to $10,000 of professional assistance,” he said.

“Secondly, and perhaps most importantly, is the establishment of a mining land commissioner, which would separate the functions of Department for Energy and Mining and allow the regulation of land access to be considered by someone independent of the promotion of the same industry.

“A third feature of this bill will be a compulsory code of conduct for explorers to abide by; I am particularly hopeful of this part achieving widespread support because I note the department is currently working on a code of its own.”

Mr Ellis said land access is a cause he will passionately champion as long as he can.

“I have introduced this bill because I earnestly believe that it will provide improvements to the way in which land access disputes are conducted, thereby providing benefit to both the farming and mining communities,” he said.

“I continue to believe this would never happen in the city; you would never have a multigenerational cafe get a knock on its door from an alternative private enterprise saying, ‘you need to vacate because our returns to the government will be more lucrative’.

– Fraser Ellis, Member for Narungga

Minister for Energy and Mining Tom Koutsantonis said the government would assess Mr Ellis’s proposed legislation in its entirety.

“Fraser is obviously very committed to the local farming communities of Yorke Peninsula, and that’s admirable,” he said.

“But the government has to approach this with a state-wide view.

“I understand exactly what his frustrations are, but I won’t be supporting this bill, because I believe these issues are best approached by broader government-led reform, rather than private members’ legislation.

“Nonetheless, debate on this legislation will give us a useful summary of regional members’ views on what needs to be done – and we can use that to inform future reform of the Mining Act.”

SPLASH... Macey, Blair and Jed, of Kadina, are all smiles despite continued wet weather this month.

Wild weather resumes throughout peninsula

A SECOND consecutive significant weather event has been felt across most of Yorke Peninsula.

Intense thunderstorms rolled across the region leading to wind gusts of up to 100 kilometres per hour and more significant rainfall between Saturday and yesterday (Monday), November 19-21.

Wind speeds reached 100km/h in Kadina at about 3.15pm on Saturday, while Minlaton felt 80km/h gusts in the same afternoon.

Edithburgh notched 94km/h, and Stenhouse Bay 76km/h, both late Sunday morning.

The Northern YP CFS Group received at least five callouts to wind-related incidents on Saturday afternoon.

“All NYP CFS brigades were called out to incidents of trees and branches falling over,” Group Officer David Bussenschutt said.

“But everyone was back to their stations in about half an hour so it was a good response by our crews.”

Despite the severe winds, Southern YP CFS Group did not receive a callout on the weekend.

Central YP felt the heaviest rainfall across the three days, with Maitland topping all towns at 25.2 millimetres.

Minlaton, 19.6mm, fell just short of its November average of 20.6mm, while Kadina 15.2mm, Stenhouse Bay 14.2mm, Yorketown 14mm and Bute 12.3mm, all had rain gauges filled.

La Niña, IOD expected to ease

Weatherzone meteorologist Andrew Schmidt said the weekends isolated storms meant more rain was received under the passing storm cells.

“A strengthening low-pressure system south of Tasmania and a high-pressure ridge over Western Australia moved closer together which caused a tight pressure gradient and strong winds to develop,” Mr Schmidt said.

“The low-pressure system continues to send a series of troughs and cold fronts through South Australia, which is why we are seeing so many days of stormy and showery weather.

“This was all occurring under the jet stream (winds much higher in the atmosphere) which further enhanced the strength of the winds.”

Mr Schmidt said La Niña was still contributing to increased rainfall and storm activity in the state.

“But there are other climate drivers and factors which have also increased rainfall events, such as a negative Indian Ocean Dipole (a change in temperature patterns),” he said.

“Both La Niña and the IOD are weakening and are expected to return to neutral values (hence ending the events) heading into next year.

“This means rainfall is more likely to conform to averages, as opposed to the higher-than-average rainfall we have seen in previous months.”

When compared with the past fortnight, Mr Schmidt said he expected winds and showers to ease slightly thanks to a building high pressure system.

“However, the next front should push through this Saturday, bringing another round of showers and storms,” he said.

“That system will quickly move through before it becomes generally dry and settled towards the end of November and start of December.

“December rainfall totals should closer align to averages as La Niña and the negative IOD weaken.”

Low range drink driver sent to court

A MAN will appear in court after being caught drink driving early on Friday morning, November 18.

Copper Coast police stopped a vehicle and submitted the driver to a breath test on Clarke Street, Wallaroo, at 1.52am.

The driver, a 43-year-old man from Tailm Bend, recorded a positive blood alcohol test and was subjected to further breath analysis, to which he returned a reading of 0.068.

Despite only returning a category one reading, the man will be summonsed to appear in the Kadina Magistrates Court due to previous drink driving offences.

Local man caught by Traffic Enforcement Unit

A Yorke Peninsula man was among three drivers who had their cars impounded after being caught drink-driving in Kapunda on the weekend.

Nine offenders were detected by the State Traffic Enforcement Unit, which set up driver testing stations around the Kapunda Rodeo on Saturday and Sunday, November 19-20.

A 25-year-old YP man recorded a positive result of 0.081.

His car was impounded and he was issued with a six-month immediate loss of licence.

The man will be summonsed to appear in court at a later date.

State Traffic Enforcement Unit Sergeant Paul Watts said the poor choice made by the drivers to drink and drive when leaving an event was extremely disappointing.

“With drivers travelling at high speeds in dangerous weather conditions, their choice could have easily resulted in a fatal or serious injury collision,” Mr Watts said.

“Drivers are reminded to make better choices and explore other options to travel home if they intend on drinking at events leading into the holiday period.

“State Traffic Motorcycle Police continue to actively patrol throughout the state in an effort to detect and prevent such behaviour.”

Alleged syndicate head refused bail

THE alleged head of a national drug and money laundering syndicate has been identified as 47-year-old Shane Geoffrey May.

Mr May, who was charged with drug trafficking and money laundering crimes on Yorke Peninsula in August, applied for bail in the Adelaide Magistrates Court recently.

Having been wanted by the FBI, police believe Mr May has laundered about $5.2 million and directed commercial quantities of illegal drugs.

The court heard Mr May had fled Australia when 50 kilograms of methamphetamine was seized at Port Wakefield on April 6, 2021.

The prosecutor said Mr May’s immigration status was listed as offshore, meaning he returned to Australia through an unknown point of entry.

The magistrate refused Mr May’s application for bail due to the seriousness of the charges.

Mr May is yet to enter a plea.

Copper Coast MFS stations best in the state

Jarryd Rowley
JOURNALIST

KADINA and Moonta MFS stations have been acknowledged as the most proficient regional stations in the state following the MFS Regional Operations 2022 Audit and Proficiency Assessment.

Kadina MFS station received first place and was awarded the Chief Officer’s Shield, while Moonta received second place and the Regional Command Shield.

The annual Regional Audit and Proficiency Assessment reviews all 17 of the regional MFS stations across South Australia.

Kadina Station Officer Brett Raymond said he was proud of the way his team conducted itself through the audit and pleased they were recognised for their dedication.

“It’s quite the honour,” Mr Raymond said.

“This is my fourth Chief Commander Shield and my first as Station Officer

“It’s the station’s first since 2012 so it has been a while between drinks, but we’re happy our hard work and dedication have paid off.”

During the audit, stations are tasked with real-life scenarios while showcasing their skills completing proper protocols in the event of a call out.

“One of the scenarios we were required to complete was a road crash incident,” Senior Fire Fighter Daniel Gregory said.

“We had to demonstrate we knew the proper procedure, which we clearly did very well.

“We then had to prove we could correctly log and file incident reports on the computer and complete the admin that goes along with it.”

Moonta was also recognised as the most improved station of the past year, rising in the rankings from 14 to second.

“Our team here really put in the hard yards and it has paid off this year,” Moonta Senior Firefighter Kym Roberts said.

“For most of them, it’s their second jobs.

“They own their own businesses and then come here and work part-time on top of their 9 to 5 jobs.

“Even though we aren’t the biggest station when it comes to members, it’s great to see the dedication of those who are in our team is recognised.”

Yorke and Mid North Regional Commander Michael Shepherd encouraged more individuals to consider joining their local MFS crews as regional paid part-time firefighters.

“Kadina MFS has sufficient crew numbers involved with the station, but that isn’t the case everywhere,” Commander Shepherd said.

“Wallaroo and Moonta MFS Stations are actively seeking new recruits to bolster their existing crew.

“If you are a person who is physically fit, live within 10 minutes of your MFS station, and want to support your community, I would strongly encourage you to apply to become a paid part-time firefighter with the MFS.”

To enquire about joining a local MFS station, contact Regional Commander Michael Shepherd on 0429 457 160.

Birth rates are on the rise

PORT Broughton resident Jessica Hewett is a mother of three and gave birth to her youngest child, Lily, four months ago.

Mrs Hewett said she believed the community and relaxed lifestyle of people in the Barunga West Council area have led to more people looking to start families.

“We are in close proximity to the water and I also believe being in the country contributes to that.

“There is a real comfort and safety net that comes with living in a small country town.

“On the other side of that, job opportunities for women in Port Broughton are primarily in aged care, education and health, all of which have heavy support for pregnant and child-rearing women.

“We have also seen an increase in females sole-trading and operated businesses lately, who are able to coordinate their work around their families.”

Mrs Hewett said she thought the area’s reliance on primary industries would have also contributed to the increase.

“When you live in a primary industry area it can be quite holistic, the mothers tend to stay at home and support the farm or the business,” she said.

2021 birth figures by council area

	Estimated population	Births	Fertility rate
Barunga West	2676	24	2.82
Copper Coast	15,336	141	1.92
Wakefield	6926	75	2.03
Yorke Peninsula	11,828	102	2.30

BABY BOOM... Merrilyn Hewett and daughter-in-law Jessica (holding daughter Lily) believed the relaxed lifestyle of people in the Barunga West Council region makes it a great place for people to start families, highlighted by recent fertility figures released by the Australian Bureau of Statistics.

Bumper summer approaches YP

Fin Hansen
REPORT BY

TOURISTS are set to flock to Yorke Peninsula for another busy holiday season.

Coastal towns could experience a bumper summer period with ongoing flooding across other parts of South Australia.

YP Tourism manager Jess Greatwich said she was looking forward to showcasing the best of the peninsula this holiday season.

“The late start to summer (weather) may have an impact on visitor numbers, but we expect there to be strong visitation across the region nonetheless,” Ms Greatwich said.

“Our region’s success at the recent SA Tourism Awards highlights the diversity and quality of our tourism offerings.

“This was supported by fantastic success in the Top Tourism Towns initiative, with both Moonta and Wallaroo recognised as category winners in recent years.”

Ms Greatwich encouraged visitors to seek out new experiences on the peninsula.

“Explore a new town or beach you haven’t been to, attend a community event, visit one of the fantastic retail stores, or discover a new cafe,” she said.

“Our region is both diverse and accessible — the perfect reason to broaden your horizon while you’re here.”

Moonta Bay Holiday Park, which manages Splash Town, is set to be among local accommodation hotspots this summer.

Work is almost complete on the construction of 22 new cabins within the park, with the majority expected to be ready for Christmas, manager Adam Hawke said.

“We average about 40,000 nights booked every summer and we’re looking forward to another strong season,” Mr

SILLY SEASON... Moonta Bay Holiday Park manager Adam Hawke and Copper Coast Council CEO Russell Peate are anticipating families to experience a variety of Yorke Peninsula’s key tourist attractions, including Splash Town, Moonta Bay, this summer.

Hawke said.

“After working closely with council, we’ve extended Splash Town’s opening hours by an hour, so it’s now open from 10am to 6pm every day.

“I expect there’ll be an increase in tourists along the coastlines this summer with the (Murray) River being flooded.”

Port Vincent Foreshore Holiday Park manager Louise Biddell said the park was fully booked out from Boxing Day through to the end of January.

“I think the thunderstorms and wet weather have kept some of the early tourists away, but there’s definitely still been some around,” she said.

“Hopefully the sun comes out soon and we enjoy another strong holiday season on YP.”

Councils optimistic re holiday season

Port Broughton has braced for an influx of visitors, particularly families, water users and cyclists, ahead of summer. Barunga West Council

CEO Maree Wauchope said she expected local tourism to rise with the help of new website www.topoftheyorke.com.au.

“This website will further enhance council’s latest Recreational Trails Strategy which includes exciting and innovative trail opportunities,” Ms Wauchope said.

Yorke Peninsula Council mayor Darren Braund said many people would likely soak up the peninsula’s picturesque scenery and country hospitality this summer.

“YPC holiday park managers have been experiencing high numbers of enquiries for accommodation for the summer period,” Mr Braund said.

“We encourage anyone looking to stay at one of our beautiful parks to book well in advance to avoid disappointment.

“Council also expects its 19 bush camping sites, including Burners Beach, Gleesons Landing, Daly Head and Wauraltee, will be popular.

“We ask beach users to leave only footprints; enjoy the beach, but stay out of the dunes this summer.

“We all want to get to our destinations safely these holidays so please respectful to all road users.”

Copper Coast Council CEO Russell Peate said he was looking forward to seeing families enjoy a range of local attractions.

“We’re expecting a bumper holiday season with many people still making the most of what South Australia has to offer after Covid,” Mr Peate said.

Feedback sought to improve Grey mobile coverage

THE federal government is looking for feedback on new guidelines which will drive investment to address poor mobile phone coverage.

Feedback from industry and the community will help inform the Grant Opportunity Guidelines for the $40 million Improving Mobile Coverage Round of the Mobile Black Spot Program.

The IMCR will provide grant funding to mobile network operators and infrastructure providers to address identified mobile coverage and quality of service issues in 54 target locations, including at Port Rickaby and Wool Bay.

In addition to regional communities, this dedicated round of the MBSP is targeting mobile phone coverage issues along a number of regional roads and highways to ensure travellers have access to essential mobile phone services in the event of an emergency.

“The Albanese Government’s Better Connectivity Plan for Regional and Rural Australia delivers on commitments to improve the digital quality-of-life and bridge the digital divide for Australians — no matter where they live,” Minister for Communications Michelle Rowland said.

“The budget also contains $400m to expand mobile coverage and boost communications resilience, and the department expects to begin consultations on these next year.

“This new funding addresses known mobile communications issues at 54 target locations, including Port Rickaby and Wool Bay.

“I strongly encourage industry and local residents in Grey to contribute their feedback on the guidelines for this important program.”

South Australian Senator Karen Grogan said local feedback would make sure our community’s views are heard.

“I strongly encourage locals to participate in the public consultation process, and look forward to working closely with local residents to deliver the reliable mobile coverage they rightly deserve,” she said.

Help shape the future of Marna Banggara

NORTHERN and Yorke Landscape Board is calling for input to shape the next five years of the Marna Banggara project.

Marna Banggara is jointly funded through the Northern and Yorke Landscape Board, the Australian Government's National Landcare Program, the South Australian Department for Environment and Water, WWF-Australia, and Foundation for National Parks & Wildlife, in partnership with the Narungga Nation Aboriginal Corporation.

Endangered brush-tailed bettongs have already been reintroduced to the area, meeting Marna Banggara's aim to create a safe haven for some of Australia's most threatened native species, reinvigorate iconic bushland and benefit the community, economy and agriculture on Yorke Peninsula.

Newly appointed community engagement officer Rebecca

New workplace vaccine policy for SA Health

THE state government has introduced an updated workplace vaccine policy, outlining the minimum standards of immunity SA Health employees must have to certain preventable diseases.

This policy comes as the remaining vaccine requirements in healthcare settings will now transition to workplace health and safety policies, with each site responsible for its own requirements.

The new state policy applies to all SA Health services, including hospitals, ambulance services, disability and aged care sites and follows extensive feedback from SA Health workers, unions and businesses.

Every role within SA Health will be assessed and classified either Category A, Category B or Category C depending on various factors, including direct physical contact with patients and performing duties in high-risk clinical areas.

Chief Public Health Officer Professor Nicola Spurrier said healthcare workers have an increased risk of acquiring some vaccine preventable diseases because of the nature of their work.

"In some circumstances, there is an increased risk of transmitting these diseases to other healthcare workers and patients," she said.

"We have a responsibility and duty of care to our staff and patients to ensure we're providing the safest possible work environment, and this vaccine policy will help us to do that."

Other South Australian Public Health Act directions expire on November 24.

Van Schaiking up NYC Marathon

Fin Hansen
REPORT BY

TOM and Sarah Van Shaik have gone from slogging it out in central Yorke Peninsula rain to the New York City Marathon finish line.

The Maitland couple ran 42 kilometres through the five New York boroughs (suburbs) to finish in less than four hours and 44 minutes on Sunday, November 6.

It was Sarah's second NYC Marathon medal — her first came in 2018 when Tom watched from the sidelines.

"The day before the marathon ballot closed in March this year, Tom asked if I'd be keen to put our names in and see what happens," Sarah said.

"Usually, there's a less than 10 per cent chance of getting in through the ballot, so I was incredibly lucky for a second time and we did a travel partner entry for Tom."

The couple completed 700-plus kilometres of training across 28 weeks which consisted of two "shorter" runs through the week before a longer distance effort, which often reached half-marathon distance, on weekends.

"We both work full-time, Tom runs a building company, we are building our new home and we have a 1-year-old son, so fitting in our training schedule was a fine art and came down to a very good routine," Sarah said.

"I know a lot of people saw us running up and down the Maitland to Artherton (Upper Yorke) road, a lot of the time in wind and rain!

"Just getting to the marathon — completing the training and arriving injury free is a feat in itself which I'm incredibly proud of."

Sarah said the atmosphere at the event had to be experienced to be believed.

"There were DJs, bands, homemade signs, bars packed with people and people lining the streets yelling at us to keep going — we didn't need headphones that's for sure!" she said.

"The plan was always to run together no matter what, but our goal time flew out the window when I was sick during the race.

"This was the second hottest NYC Marathon on record, and the humidity made it very difficult.

"There were a lot of unwell people along the way due to the conditions — the men's pro leader for almost 20 miles (about 30km) collapsed due to heat exhaustion.

"Tom claimed a two second victory, even though we finished side by side, but I wouldn't have made it through without him after he patiently waited when I took five bathroom stops!"

More than 50,000 runners were staggered across three start lines and six start times, and they all merged to one group at about the 8km mark.

"Weaving our way through the runners on the course wasn't easy, especially when people started to walk up the bridges," Sarah said.

"The crowds were also so large in some areas they spilled onto the course, leaving only a five-person wide gap to run through.

"Running through the five boroughs of New York is an amazing way to see the diversity of the city."

Sarah said crossing the finish line alongside Tom was a moment she would never forget.

"It was a very special moment and we were beyond proud of each other," she said.

"Unfortunately, we had to leave our son Jack at home with my parents, who we cannot thank enough for allowing us to take this opportunity."

MARA MADNESS... Tom and Sarah Van Schaik, of Maitland, completed the New York City Marathon in less than four hours and 44 minutes earlier this month. Right: The Van Schaiks dedicated their run to 1-year-old son Jack who stayed home in Australia.

TICKERA MASTER PLAN
- HAVE YOUR SAY

A draft master plan for Tickera is open for public consultation for three months as Council looks to establish sustainable growth and development policies for the quiet fishing and farming settlement.

Council wants to define a vision and general plan for the entire township of Tickera, located 40km south of Port Broughton, and is seeking feedback from the community and other stakeholders between 26 September and 9 December 2022.

The master plan, once finalised, will be used as a basis for planning code amendments and capital works grant funding.

Among its draft recommendations are to pursue funding avenues for road upgrades including sealing the Alford to Tickera Road, recreational walking trails, an improved boat launching facility, and for a Telstra site base station.

The draft master plan also proposes an expansion of tourism facilities including seeking funding to redevelop the disused Tickera Oval into a ground that could accommodate camping, caravans, motor homes and boats along with toilets, potable drinking water, picnic areas, shaded BBQ facilities, an onsite dump point and a rubbish bin station.

Other draft recommendations include seeking the release by the State Government of 31 Crown Land allotments, investigating whether eco cabins could be placed south of the community centre and golf course, and working with the Landscape Board, Tickera community and Aboriginal nations to formalise one coastal camping location.

A copy of the draft plan, feedback form and an online survey link is available on Council's website at: www.barungawest.sa.gov.au/consultation

Public consultation closes Friday 9 December 2022 5pm.

Council will be holding a drop in community consultation session this Thursday (24 November) at Tickera's Community Centre from 6pm onwards where residents can ask questions of staff and provide their feedback in person.

ELECTION RESULTS – 2022

The citizens of Barunga West are to be congratulated for their healthy engagement in the democratic process of the 2022 Council Elections, with the region recording above average postal ballot returns.

While it is not compulsory to vote in local government elections, a high number of Barunga West residents responded and had their say on their local decision-makers.

The level of interest and participation shows a strong interest from our community to contribute to the civic leadership of our region.

There were nine councillor vacancies in Barunga West contested by 11 candidates.

The newly elected Council for the next four years is made up of Peter Button, Cynthia Axford, Leonie Kerley, Kim Gregory, Kevin Beinke, Brian Lockyer, Margaret McDonald, Dave Eason, and Grant Rowlands.

Mayor and Deputy Mayor

Barunga West is one of the few remaining councils that is still eligible to elect a mayor and deputy mayor from among the elected body. Councillors will conduct this vote at their first meeting scheduled for 6pm on 22 November 2022.

Thank you for your contribution

Council would like to thank past Councillors Georgie Simmons, Rob Locke and Rebecca Hewett for their contribution to Council.

Georgie Simmons, 88, a familiar face around the district has represented her community on Council for 25 years.

Rob Locke while only serving for one term has made a valuable contribution and has also played a key role on legislated committees.

Former councillor Rebecca Hewett has served several terms with Barunga West and decided to nominate for a position with Mount Barker Council and has successfully been elected.

GRANT SUCCESS

Nature-based coastal protection measures to better protect the Port Broughton coastline from erosion will be implemented after Council won a $359,000 funding boost from the Australian Government.

The funding, awarded under the Coastal and Estuarine Risk Mitigation Program (CERMP), will enable Council to undertake a range of nature-based coastal protection measures.

The measures will target areas from Port Broughton Beach South to the northern extent of the beach adjacent John Lewis Drive, and will include sand replenishment works and re-vegetation. Council was one of six successful grant applicants from South Australia for the 2022-23 funding round, announced this month by Emergency Management Minister Murray Watt.

The $50 million national CERMP, funded by the Emergency Response Fund, supports projects that reduce the impact of disasters on coastal communities. The $359,000 will enable Council to build on sand replenishment works to date and for ratepayers it will mean work can immediately start to build up the profile of the beach around the jetty and foreshore area over the next 12 months.

It will involve bringing in locally sourced sand to build up the profile of the beach by approximately 50 to 75 centimetres along the coastline every 12 months for three years.

Once the sand is settled and reaching a stable height, we will re-vegetate some areas with endemic plants to hold the sand in place and encourage continual stability of the coastline. Council is planning sand replenishment works around the jetty and foreshore next year once the Easter holidays are over.

Free Kerbside Giveaway this weekend

COPPER Coast Council is readying for its second Kerbside Giveaway event of 2022 this Saturday and Sunday, November 26-27. Community members are encouraged to place unwanted items on their kerbsides for free collection by the public. Council coordinator waste and inspectorate Ivan Nolte said one person's trash could be another person's treasure. "People can offer up items like office furniture, working electronics and white goods this weekend,"

Mr Nolte said. "We've found the ends of May and November as times of the year when people most like to get rid of these types of belongings. "This is a great chance to clean out your shed or house ahead of Christmas and donate to the community instead of increasing your general waste." If your items remain on the kerb, it is your responsibility to remove them. For further information or any enquiries, call the council office on 8828 1200.

Draft bill out for First Nations Voice

A DRAFT bill, which would provide a directly elected First Nations Voice to state parliament, is out for public consultation. The First Nations Voice Bill 2022 forms part of the government's commitment to a state-based implementation of the Uluru Statement from the Heart. The bill proposes a State-wide First Nations group, made of a number of First Nations Voices, be formed (the State First Nations Voice), to advise and address Parliament.

Regions would be established around the state, each with their own directly elected Voice who would talk and consider matters of interest to local First Nations people. The State First Nations Voice will consist of the two joint presiding members (male and female) from each of the Local First Nations Voice and will be able to address parliament on particular legislation of interest to Aboriginal people, make an annual address, provide reports on matters of interest and engage Ministers and Chief Executives about department budgets and priorities in annual meetings. "Overwhelmingly, people have told me about the need for grassroots voices to be heard and that First Nations people should choose who represents them," inaugural First Nations Voice commissioner Dale Agius said. "Following my first round of engagements I have worked closely with the Attorney-General Kyam Maher and his department to ensure the bill has been informed by the voices of South Australian First Nations people. "My report captures the resounding message I heard in these conversations — First Nations people in South Australia want to have a say in their affairs based on the principle of self-determination. "They want to be able to influence the decisions being made about them at the highest of levels — in the Parliament." People can have their say at <https://yoursay.sa.gov.au>.

Personal protection for Bute Lions

BUTE Lions Club has purchased new personal protective equipment with a $2880 grant from the state government's Regional Capability Community Fund.

The fund aims to support farmers and farming businesses to better equip themselves against potential bushfires.

There were more than 1200 applications for the first round of funding with successful recipients receiving between $200 and $3000.

"The Bute Lions Club acknowledges most firefighting volunteers in the area already have suitable equipment but they usually do not wear suitable PPE when attending fires," club member and grant writer John Green said.

"In the interest of safety and protecting our local volunteers, we successfully applied for a Regional Capability Community Fund.

"We were able to use the funds that were granted to us to purchase fire safety jackets from YP Work and Safety Wear.

"We extend our gratitude to the Minister for Police, Emergency Services and Correctional Services Joe Szakacs for making this grant available."

New Women's and Children's Hospital moves forward

LEGISLATION to fast-track Adelaide's new Women's and Children's Hospital has passed through both houses of parliament.

The New Women's and Children's Hospital Bill 2022 removes planning and development barriers which could increase the new hospital's cost and construction timeframe.

The changes will help ensure the delivery of a bigger and better hospital on a larger site, with capacity for 414 beds — 76 more beds than the existing hospital, and 70 more beds than the former government's proposal.

"I am grateful both houses have supported this legislation to fast-track building a new Women's and Children's Hospital that sets us up for the long term," Minister for Health and Wellbeing Chris Picton said.

"We will now get on with delivering our commitment to provide better care for children, increase capacity in our hospitals and boost parklands access for families.

"We will continue listening to our clinicians throughout this process which puts the healthcare needs of future generations first."

Margaret reflects on lengthy Copper Coast commitment

Fin Hansen
REPORT BY

MARGARET Pope has stepped away from serving the community after 14 years.

Margaret, with Dean Rodda, were the only two incumbent councillors who decided not to run in the recent Copper Coast Council elections.

Margaret, of Wallaroo, said it was time for some fresh eyes to take over after four (not consecutive) council terms.

In her sole stint as deputy mayor, Margaret chaired two monthly council meetings in place of Mayor Roslyn Talbot, including her third meeting in the role and second to last meeting four years later.

She successfully ran for the District Council of Copper Coast (now CCC) in 1997, one of three members elected to represent the Wallaroo Ward.

"I first decided to run for council because I didn't want to see the development of Wallaroo get left behind when the Corporation of the Town of Wallaroo amalgamated with the District Council of Northern Yorke Peninsula," Margaret said.

"I thought running for council was the best way to have a voice for my town.

"Council was much different when I first started (to what it is now) — there were four different wards with councillors who only really focused on their respective towns," Margaret said.

"There were often disagreements about where our money went."

Since renaming to Copper Coast Council in 2010, elected members haven't been required to nominate for individual wards.

"Once there were no wards, it broadened our (councillors') outlook on the whole district and we started looking at the big picture," Margaret said.

A lifelong school teacher, Margaret's career began at Port Pirie where she taught primary students for four years.

"I loved my early teaching days — they turned me into a country girl," she said.

"There were lots of other young teachers there (in Port Pirie) at the time so it was a great social environment."

Margaret later took her teaching passion overseas and became an English teacher at a school in Indonesia.

"Living in Indonesia for four years really made me realise what it's like to be in a minority group," she said.

DEDICATION... Wallaroo's Margaret Pope has retired from her role with the Copper Coast Council after 14 years as a councillor and deputy mayor.

"It gave me a huge appreciation for people of other cultures who come to live in Australia and have to learn a new language."

In 1975, Margaret returned to South Australia and started working at Kalori Catholic School (now St Mary MacKillop School), Wallaroo, where she met future husband Neville and commenced a life on her beloved Copper Coast.

"When I first started on council, (monthly) meetings were held at 9am which was very inconvenient for a teacher, so we had it changed to the evening," she said.

"I spent many Sunday afternoons driving around the Copper Coast to try and be the eyes and ears of the community as best I could.

"I always tried to learn as much as I could about what our towns needed, particularly outside Wallaroo."

Margaret said monthly meetings were often important decision-making times for council.

"Prior to meetings, we (councillors) would read the agenda and have ideas about what results we hoped for from each item," she said.

"But during meetings, it was important to listen to the opinions of other councillors and quickly decide whether they aligned or outweighed my thoughts.

"Keeping an open mind was crucial in achieving the best outcomes."

When it came to reaping the rewards of council decisions, Margaret's favourite moments involved seeing the completion of projects, drawing new visitors to the region and planning for the future.

"I like to think I've helped initiate a few major projects (including) the Food Organics and Green Organics bin system, the new shared recreational trails and the Resource Recovery Centre," she said.

"(Potential) future projects I would love to see include a new walking ramp over the Wallaroo marina to improve accessibility to the township, and a Kadina to Moonta bike trail to create one big trail network."

Margaret said she was very disappointed to see just eight people nominate as area councillors in the recent elections.

"I think more people definitely would've put their hands up if nominations were able to be disclosed, so I think the nomination process could potentially be changed," she said.

"It would be great to see some younger faces run for council in the future, that way a broader range of needs could be considered.

"The most recent council was very stable, thanks to Mayor Talbot's great leadership.

"We all got along well and seemed to agree on most things, which probably had something to do with all of us being around the same age!

"I've absolutely grown a passion for the Copper Coast and certainly wouldn't have run for as long as I did if I didn't love where I live."

Community

Join South Australia's Friends of Osprey

NEW group Friends of Osprey is working towards increasing South Australia's population of this endangered raptor, including on Yorke Peninsula.

The group's chair is David Speirs, former Environment Minister and now Opposition Leader.

Funded by grants and donations, the group's conservation activities have so far included constructing elevated nesting platforms to increase the number of birds successfully fledging from nests, GPS tracking the birds, and community education.

Nesting platforms have been built in partnership with Ardrossan Men's Shed members, who worked with conservationists to design and build these structures.

So far, five platforms have been installed on YP, at Price, Port Broughton, Gleasons Landing, Point Davenport and Sheoak Flat.

Others are planned, including at Edithburgh where an osprey pair has nested successfully in a telecommunications tower.

Friends of Osprey management committee member Kylie Correll from the Price Progress Association said she believed the Price platform had the potential to draw birders to the region.

"The platform was installed in Wills Creek Conservation Park in 2021 with the assistance of Malcolm Walker from Price, and Friends of Osprey committee members Ian Hodson and Ian

About the osprey

LARGELY coastal dwelling, ospreys are found around the world and feed primarily on fish.

The South Australian osprey sub-species — the eastern osprey (Pandion haliaetus cristatus) — is distinct from interstate species and was once widespread around the state's coastline and along the River Murray.

Now, they are now mostly found on offshore islands and isolated Eyre Peninsula and Kangaroo Island coasts.

Ospreys are susceptible to disturbance when breeding and will quickly abandon their nests if they feel threatened; there are also examples of nests being preyed upon by foxes.

Consequently, the success rate of nests is low, which has sent the population into freefall over recent decades.

Falkenberg," Mrs Correll said.

"We're excited about the success of last year's fledglings, which are now nearly 12 months old.

"Planned educational signage and a mural will enhance community engagement."

The group is keen for the public to share photos of osprey sightings to its Facebook page or email friendsofosprey@gmail.com.

To learn more about Friends of Osprey or to join the group, visit www.friendsofosprey.com.au or follow it on Facebook.

New members and guard rails at Moonta Probus

THREE new members were welcomed at Moonta and District Probus Club's Monday, November 7, meeting.

President Marg Bastian inducted Ronda and Peter Hall, proposed by Richard Herbert, and Bruce Oxley, proposed by Malcolm Coleman.

Also welcomed were Geoff Hall and guest speaker Rex Herde.

Using a PowerPoint presentation, Rex illustrated his long involvement installing guard rails and safety fencing on South Australian roads.

From a family background of builders in Quorn, he attended school in Adelaide and became interested in music.

After a time at Roseworthy, he worked as a shearer with his brother-in-law in the South East and on Kangaroo Island.

Shifting his interest to contract fencing and guard railing roads and highways, he worked out of Maitland across much of SA.

The Eagle on the Hill tunnel involved his people for four years, he said.

More construction on the Gawler bypass, Port Wakefield Highway duplication, South East Freeway tollgate and countryside by Rex's business SA Guard Railers was illustrated.

The complexities of making roads safe for motorists was made clear along with the science in what materials, cables and concrete to employ.

Rex thanked his family for their support in a high-pressure world of government contracts, deadlines and innovation.

Doug Warmington thanked Rex for his eye-opening address.

Marg extended birthday greetings to Jan Cheesman, Peter Hall and Dot Fuss, and reminded members of the Christmas meeting at the Wombat Hotel, Kadina, at noon on December 5.

Many members lunched at Kadina's Royal Exchange Hotel before visiting Rex Herde's Kadina property.

Retirees are welcome to contact Helen Colliver for information about the club, phone 0419 839 869.

Golden Harvest Quilters' post-pandemic display

BACK from the Brink was the theme for Golden Harvest Quilters' biennial patchwork and quilting display held at Minlaton on Friday and Saturday, November 11-12.

The exhibition was held at the Minlaton Over 50s (formerly Senior Citizens) Rooms and featured works largely completed during Covid restrictions.

A total 28 quilts made by 18 members were displayed, and a variety of techniques were evident in this colourful showcase.

Completed Quilts for Others works were also on show.

A lace making demonstration, led by Pam Blythman and Nanette Chamberlain, intrigued many visitors, and the Golden Pins Craft stall, along with goods displayed by Julie Nixon from A Patchy Affair, Ardrossan, added to the attractions.

Patrons also enjoyed visiting Michelle White's local store Heart'n Soul Patchwork, the Peppertree Market, Harvest Corner and other local shops.

A power outage on the Saturday meant the display closed an hour earlier than planned.

Raelene Bowman of Wool Bay won the magnificent raffle quilt.

Michelle White presented viewers' choice winners with a gift selection from her store.

Chris Watters' blue and white diamond quilt, Girl's Best Friend, was the most popular small quilt/article, and Michelle Hawthorne's version of Michele Hill's Bee Mindful won the large quilt voting.

Custom quilting by Julie had enhanced both winning quilts.

Golden Harvest Quilters thank Michelle and Julie for their support and congratulate all involved in the great display.

A couple of swallows

A COUPLE of swallows have built their nest in a cosy spot just under the roof of our back verandah.

Sometimes in the early morning they will sing and chirp away, and sometimes they'll perch on a small clothesline we keep there.

We often see them fly in and out or peck up any crumbs we've left on our back lawn.

In some ways they're a nuisance — we often have to clean up a minor mess under their nest — but we've come to accept and even enjoy them.

They remind me of a little verse in the New Testament in which Jesus said, "Look at the birds: they do not plant seeds, gather a harvest and put it in barns, yet your Father in heaven takes care of them! Aren't you worth more than birds?" (Matthew 6:26).

In other words, God cares for us all.

Pathways to Life

by Roger Norris-Green

He is our great creator and he loves us as individuals. Of course, things can and often do go wrong.

Our two swallows built an earlier nest and it fell down. But they persevered and tried again.

It's the same with us on the pathways of life. We have our problems and difficulties. Sometimes things do go wrong and we need to ask for help.

God promises to be there for us.

Right now, we are about to enter Advent, the season leading up to Christmas.

The first Sunday in Advent will be celebrated in many Yorke Peninsula churches, and elsewhere, on Sunday, November 27.

It's in Advent especially we think of the coming of Christ.

It was in the birth of Jesus, the giving of his only Son, God shows how much he loves and cares for us.

Have a happy Advent!

Yorke town carols service on again

YORKETOWN’S annual ecumenical carols service is just around the corner.

The service will be held at Progress Hall, Weaners Flat, beginning with games at 6pm then the service at 7pm on Sunday, December 4.

“This year we will be returning to Weaners Flat as our venue but the service will be indoors,” carols committee secretary Cheryl Bates said.

“If the weather is pleasant, families may like to bring a blanket and picnic on the lawns.

“Donuts will be available for purchase, Colin Franke having agreed to cook them for the evening.”

The family-friendly service will feature lots of carols. The Venerable Father Andrew Lang will be emcee and Louise Lang, Peter Bilney and Paul Preuss will present bible readings.

Ruby Barlow will play a solo, an instrumental group from Yorketown Area School will perform and there will be a video skit titled Sing Noel.

“Robert Martin will provide music and, with some enthusiastic voices from the community, it promises to be a joyful musical evening and a wonderful way to experience the spirit of Christmas,” Cheryl said.

“Operation Christmas Child, convened by Samaritan’s Purse, an organisation dedicated to Christian relief and evangelism, will be explained.

“It arranges for shoeboxes of items to be packed and sent to underprivileged children, mainly overseas.

“The offering will go towards shoebox distribution freight costs and will be collected after a message from Gina Voigt.

“A light supper of tea, coffee and biscuits will be available after the final carol.

“The committee asks intending patrons to bring their family, friends, and their voices for what promises to be a wonderful introduction to the Christmas season.”

See Community Calendar last edition for information.

A remarkable YP centenarian

SPRITELY... Jean Daniel cuts her 102nd birthday cake.

AT 102, Jean Daniel can read The Advertiser and YP Country Times without glasses.

And she cooked sausage rolls, jelly slice and cream puffs for the family gathering at her house for her recent birthday celebration.

Born Jean Lamming at the Sister Berry Hospital, Kadina, in 1920, her childhood home was a farm about two miles out of Paskeville.

She attended school at Paskeville and was taken there by horse and cart each morning by her father.

After finishing her schooling at Paskeville, she went home to work at the farm.

Jean liked to play netball and then, on Saturday nights, she would attend dances at Paskeville.

It was at one of those dances Jean met John Daniel; to attend the dances John would ride his horse seven miles to Paskeville and then home again.

Jean (20) and John (21) married in the Paskeville Methodist Church and travelled by train from Paskeville to Victor Harbor for their honeymoon.

The newlyweds went to live on the family farm with John’s parents Clarry and Sis Daniel.

When John’s family moved to Kadina, Jean and John managed the farm with their children Margaret, Evan and Glen attending school in Kulpara.

John died aged 50 and Jean later moved to Kadina where she enjoyed working in Connie Brind’s florist shop.

After retiring, Jean, Mille Pontifex, Marj Drewett and Rhonda Donnell had many wonderful holidays together.

They also enjoyed going out for a meal on a Saturday night and then going back to one another’s homes to play cards.

Jean’s pastimes also included going to Wontama to play cards and doing Meals on Wheels.

She loves to read The Advertiser every day and can’t wait for the YP Country Times to be thrown out so she can pick it up and go inside to read it.

Jean loves to read books and has devoured every one of local author Tricia Stringer’s books.

A remarkable lady, Jean loves cooking, doing her own washing, and likes to get out into the garden to fertilise her roses.

Jean and John had three children, nine grandchildren, 17 great-grandchildren and six great-great-grandchildren.

Right: NEWS SPOT... Southern Cross Austereo journalist Annabel Francis interviews Cancer Council SA CEO Kerry Rowland CEO, Raelene Bussenschutt and Helen Rodda.

HELEN and Dean Rodda hosted more than 460 people for the annual three-day springtime opening of their Camelot Garden in New Town.

The event was a fundraiser for the Cancer Council SA Northern Yorke Peninsula branch and the local Royal Flying Doctor Service support group.

Cancer Council SA CEO Kerry Rowland visited Camelot for the first time and had morning tea with some of the NYP branch members.

Kerry said she was blown away by the garden and thanked the Roddas for making it available to raise a total of more than $100,000 for South Australians impacted by cancer from its open days over the past decade or so.

Good weather on Friday and Saturday brought the crowds out to enjoy strolling in the garden, the RFDS trading table, morning tea and a chat in the tranquil surroundings.

“Once again we thank you the public for your visits to the garden and the continued support of Cancer Council SA and the RFDS,” the Roddas said.

“Cancer Council SA NYP branch raised more than $10,000 and the RFDS support group over $3300 during the weekend.”

St Mary's welcomes back Coro Quattro

ST Mary's Anglican Church at Wallaroo is bringing back its Something on Sundays concert series.

After a long break due to Covid restrictions, the first concert — on Sunday afternoon, December 4 — will feature the harmonies of Coro Quattro.

Coro Quattro's previous Copper Coast performances include at Kernewek Lowender Cornish Festivals.

Like so many entertainers, the quartet can't wait to be back doing what they do best.

A former local, group member Mark Roberts is the son of Pat and the late John Roberts.

He will be joined by Christopher Simpson, Catherine Cox and Nicola Bevan.

The group's love of singing brought them together some time ago; they sing extensively in and around Adelaide, occasionally performing in regional areas when they can.

“Coro Quattro particularly enjoys performing in St Mary's Church because of the acoustics and the connectiveness with the audience,” Mark said.

“We have chosen a collective of Christmas music with a mix of traditional carols, festive songs and a cross section of choral work of German, Polish, Catalan and, of course, Australian origin.”

Tickets cost $12 and can be purchased from the Anglican Church Cafe Kadina, Tuesday to Thursday, or at the door; see Community Calendar advert for details.

Harvest students learn Estia Health traineeship

HARVEST Christian College, Kadina, students Bella Donald and Ella Balfour have been completing school-based traineeships at Estia Health, Kadina, to kickstart their careers in aged care.

Traineeships and apprenticeships are one of several VET options students can enrol in as an alternative path to achieve their SACE.

The two have been working to complete their Certificate III in Individual Support and were required to complete a work placement.

Bella and Ella were offered the chance to apply for a traineeship at Estia Health and had to sit separate interviews.

“We congratulate both Bella and Ella, and thank Estia Health for working with us to provide this excellent opportunity for our students,” a Harvest spokesperson said.

St Mary's students think practically in VR

ST Mary MacKillop School, Wallaroo, students Chelsea Crawford and Mia Dunstan have wowed members of Catholic Education South Australia by winning the Practical Problem Solver Award for their work in the Lumination XR Challenge.

The XR Challenge is a joint initiative between Catholic Education South Australia and Lumination, which utilises immersive technology to engage students in real-world situations such as water sustainability, waste and natural disasters.

The real-world issues conveyed in the challenge are directly related to the UN's Sustainable Development Goals initiative

As part of the challenge, Chelsea and Mia were tasked with solving a local issue.

The two were made aware of several litter-filled drains in Wallaroo which led into the sea and looked at ways to overcome this issue.

They came up with and constructed the Drain Sock, which would sit over the end of the pipe and collect any waste while allowing water to flow.

Chelsea and Mia turned the idea into a virtual reality experience, where people could see how their design works and the different benefits of the Drain Sock.

VIRTUAL REALITY... St Mary MacKillop School, Wallaroo, students Chelsea Crawford and Mia Dunstan have won the Practical Problem Solver Award as part of the Lumination XR Challenge.

Years 7 to 9 teacher Masha Sudareva said the girls should be proud of their achievements.

“It was a brand-new experience for the girls,” Miss Sudareva said.

“It was challenging for the girls, but they took to the challenge and really worked hard on presenting their idea.

“The idea of the Drain Sock was completely theirs.

“They spent time working on the idea in digital technology classes and submitted their work on September 30.

“They received the news they had won the Practical Problem Solver award on Wednesday (November 9).”

Eastern District Cricket Club's 30th anniversary

PREMIERS... Eastern District's 2014-15 LYPCA premiership side, back: Ned Watters, Josh Hoyle, Toby Short, Ned Brown, Andrew Parsons, Charlie Short; front: Angus Short, Dillon Pointon (12th man), Matthew Goldsworthy, Murphy Short, Troy Goldsworthy, Henry Watters.

Peter Argent
REPORT BY

Eastern District Cricket Club is set to celebrate its 30th anniversary on Sunday, February 12.

The Lower Yorke Peninsula Cricket Association club was formed from the amalgamation of the Port Julia and Curramulka Cricket Clubs.

The day will also celebrate 145 years since the humble beginnings of the Curramulka Cricket Club in 1877 and more than six decades of the Port Julia Cricket Club which started in 1926.

Across the 30 years, EDCC collected its first premiership title in 2014-15, breaking Stansbury's 11-year streak.

A second premiership came last summer, 2021-22, also defeating Stansbury by 33 runs on March 12. In a great season personally, Troy Goldsworthy collected man of the match honours, making 73 with the bat in a team total of 9/140 and collecting three top order wickets.

He fell agonisingly three runs short of a 1000-run season, finishing with 997 runs from 17 innings with 1 not out, averaging 62.31.

His performance included four centuries and a quartet of 50s, as well as 32 wickets.

In a game driven by records, the Eastern District statistics have been meticulously kept.

As at the start of the current campaign EDCC had played 503 games, enjoying 254 wins, four ties and having 13 matches where there was no result.

The club's first 100 was scored by Dennis Hayles in November 1992 against Maitland in an away game, while Troy Goldsworthy has the highest score, 200, against Warooka in January 2017.

Goldsworthy (at the start of 2022-23) had compiled 8580 runs and is poised to overtake the current leader Graeme "Charlie" Short whose 8636 runs at an average of 28.98 included seven centuries and a highest score of 122.

Of the five individual scores of more than 150 scored by an EDCC cricketer, T Goldsworthy has produced four.

The other, 155 against Corny Point in December 2015, was made by current West Torrens cricketer, Murphy Short, then 16.

The highest partnership in club history is still held by G Short and Hayles on February 13 of 1992-93. Playing at Sunbury, the pair produced 239 for the first wicket.

Ed Brown is the club's leading wicket taker with 323 scalps at an average 20.38 and the best analysis of 6/23.

T Goldsworthy is also second on this list with 231 wickets at 20.13 and a best performance of 6/12.

Left arm quick Andrew Parsons has the best match figures in Eastern District club history, collecting 7/10 in a home semifinal against Honiton on March 2, 2013.

Josh Hoyle, against Port Victoria in October 2014, Patrick Way and Ned Watters, both during the 2021-22 campaign, are the only three Eastern District players to have achieved a prized hat-trick.

Throughout the history of Eastern District, 10 members of the Short family have worn the green and white cap, John, Tony, David J, Graeme, Des, David S, Will, Toby, Angus, Patrick and Murphy.

Not far behind them are the Agnew clan with seven participants, Jamie, Callum, Fergus, Fraser, Ray, Bruce and Tim.

Besides its two flags, EDCC has played in five other grand finals, runner-up in its initial season, 1992-93, and between 2009-10 to 2012-13 during Stansbury's run.

Another heart-breaking day was the 2008-09 semifinal against Stansbury, where EDCC had a tie in a rain short-ended game of 30 overs.

As Stansbury was top, it proceeded to the grand final.

All the peaks and troughs of 30 years of cricket along with the rich history of the Curramulka and Port Julia Cricket Clubs will be remembered on February 12.

Anyone with a connection to the clubs is encouraged to attend.

STATE... James Reuther, of Coobowie, will line up for South Australia in the National Under 19 Championships next month.

Reuther selected in state squad

Peter Argent
REPORT BY

Coobowie quick bowler James Reuther has been selected in the SA Redbacks under 19 squad for the national championships, to be held in Adelaide from Thursday to Thursday, December 15 to 22.

Reuther has been a perennial selection in junior state representative squads, starting with the South Australian Primary Schools Amateur Sports Association under 12 side which competed in Brisbane.

He was a member of the under 15s state schoolboys' program which travelled to Mooloolaba, while during the Covid-hit under 17s program, Reuther played in an interstate tournament in Hamilton, Victoria.

Reuther was also a member of the SA Redbacks under 19 team which travelled to Mackay in April.

"I turned 19 on September 25, so this is my final summer in state underage cricket," Reuther said.

"I was pretty keen to make the team and will be hopefully be able to lead the attack with Patrick (Weckert), Campbell Thompson and Nick Stathoris.

"Cricket is a pretty big part of my week with training both at West Torrens and with the state U19s program.

"I am currently working as an electrical apprentice at Glenelg Electrical as well.

"Naturally I'm keen to perform strongly in this tournament and our coach is John Palmer again."

Reuther was a member of both the West Torrens first grade one and two-day premierships triumphs last summer.

It has been a decade since South Australia last won the National Under 19 Championships, in a tournament played in Adelaide in the summer of 2012-13, with the successful side including current Australian test and one-day cricketer Travis Head.

YP pair in girls academy

Peter Argent
REPORT BY

Shineah Goody and Kayleigh May have been selected in the 2023 football SA Under 18 Girls Academy Squad.

The initial 47-person side will attend an academy hub camp from December 19 to 21.

Goody (Edithburgh) and May (Kadina) and their teammates will begin training from Tuesday, February 7, ahead of an internal trial match on Thursday, March 9.

The squad will be trimmed to 30 early next year before playing three matches in the NAB AFLW Under 18 National Championships.

SA will play Western Australia on April 30, Victoria Metro on July 9 and host Queensland on Sunday, July 16.

The under 18 side will also play an SA under 23 side on June 25.

SA will be coached by Jason Rivett and assistants Bill Economou, Craig Lum and Bek McMahon.

AFLW

The Adelaide Crows' season has come to an end, going down to premiership favourite, the Brisbane Lions in a preliminary final at Metricon Stadium on Friday, November 18.

Following a scoreless opening 10 minutes, the minor premiers were in control for the majority of the encounter, running out 7.4 (46) to 3.5 (23) victors.

The Lions set up the win with 4.1 to two points in the second term and, while the second half was pretty even, the damage had been done.

In a brilliant season, Chelsea Biddell (Port Vincent) was again one of the best players for Crows, having 16 disposals, including 13 kicks, four marks and a tackle.

Playing a tough role across half-forward Rachelle Martin (Stansbury/Yorketown) finished with seven disposals, (three kicks and four handballs) and four tackles.

Brisbane will host Melbourne in the grand final this weekend.

WNBL

After three away losses, the Adelaide Lightning hit its home court for the first time this season on Saturday, November 19.

Playing the Sydney Flames, the Lightning set up a victory with a potent first half both offensively and defensively.

Already up by 20 points at the long interval, Adelaide won the contest by the same margin, 87-67.

Captain Stephanie Talbot (Kadina) played just over half the game (23 minutes and 29 seconds), but her leadership was still noted.

While she only scored two points at 33 per cent from the floor, she grabbed seven rebounds, six of them defensive, a couple of steals and a pair of blocks. Talbot also did a strong job, quelling the influence of Flames' American import Jocelyn Willoughby.

The Lightning's next game is against the Canberra Capitals at home on Wednesday, November 30.

SA Redbacks

Thomas Kelly (Bute connections) made an impressive cameo in the Marsh Cup one-day game in Perth on Wednesday.

Batting first against the top of the table Western Australian outfit, Kelly produced 28 runs from 24 balls, dispatching four boundaries, in a team total of 6/266.

While WA was 2/161 at one stage, SA dragged itself back into the contest, securing an eighth wicket with the score at 254.

Kelly returned to the Sheffield Shield team for the match against Queensland on Sunday.

In tough conditions, the Redbacks lost the toss and were sent into bat.

Kelly arrived at the crease in the 13th over with his team in trouble at 4/19.

Playing against his natural instincts, Kelly got to the lunch break and survived till the second ball of the 35th over.

When he was dismissed, SA was 6/47. Kelly faced 64 deliveries and made 19 runs.

SA was 6/107 when rain finally stopped play for the final time on day one.

SACA men's two-day competition

Defying weather predictions, a number of games in round 4 of the SACA men's first grade two-day competition began.

Travelling out to Campbelltown Memorial Oval, the Western Eagles ripped through the Eastern Reds batting line-up.

After electing to bowl, West Torrens had East Torrens 8/102 when inclement weather finished the day's proceedings.

After Spencer Johnson claimed early scalps, Curramulka all-rounder Murphy Short destroyed the middle order.

He reduced the Reds from 3/34 to 7/49 with an inspired spell.

Short recorded 4/36 off nine overs, including one maiden.

James Reuther (Coobowie) bowled six overs without any luck and finished with 0/20.

At Price Memorial Oval, Sturt hosted the Southern Stingrays.

When rain stopped play the visitors were 5/108 from 37 overs.

Corey Kelly (Bute connections) claimed the first wicket of the day, and finished with 1/28 from 11 overs, including four maidens.

SACA men's one-day competition

Most of the one-day games in round 3 were abandoned early.

West Torrens was 0/33 from five overs when its contest with Woodville was called off.

Port Adelaide battled for 13.2 overs, and was 1/57 against Sturt.

Corey Kelly had bowled five over and has the figures of 0/22.

WNBL... Stephanie Talbot led the Adelaide Lightning to a win in the side's first home game of the season. Talbot did a strong job in quelling the influence of Flames' American import Jocelyn Willoughby.

YVBA dribbling towards 2023

“The Finger Roll”

REPORT BY

With just a month of basketball left to play in the 2022, there's been a few teams hitting their straps as they eye finals berths.

Paskeville extended its unbeaten run to six games with a 16-point victory against Bute in the A Men. Cheylen Wanganeen's incredible 33-point outing was a sight for sore eyes, as the young big man stamped his claim as a league best and fairest contender.

Bute has continued to soar on top of the A Women ladder, while Kadina pulled off its second victory thanks to Sophie Driver and Monique Smith who combined for 30 to hand Arthurthurton a five-point loss.

Tips

A MEN

Moonta v Wallaroo

Despite being winless so far this season, Moonta has continued to scrap hard right to the end of each game. I expect these two sides to match up extremely evenly, with both enjoying a physical contest. Young Harry Hatcher has led the way impressively for the Blazers so far, but some added class and strength through the Holman brothers should help Wallaroo across the line.

At the final buzzer... Wallaroo by 12.

Bute v Kadina

The Bloods narrowly edged out Bute the last time these two met and now, with the returns of Giles Ellis and Mitch Miller, Kadina will head in as favourite. Sam Taylor has been in fine shooting form for the Roosters, as has Will Schultz on the other side. If this Bloods group can chalk up enough games together it will certainly cause some headaches, including this week against Bute.

At the final buzzer... Kadina by seven.

Paskeville v Arthurthurton

These two are clear front-runners for the premier-ship, meaning this should be a fast-paced up and down battle through the night. The glaring question mark for Pasky will be how it manages to guard Sam Jacobs in the post. Mackyle Thomson is a physical option but certainly doesn't match the big man in height. It's likely the Magpies will rely on the Wanganeen twins, with Kye McDonald, to make consistent jump shots. The Tigers could upset the ladder-leaders if they can utilise their height advantage effectively.

At the final buzzer... Arthurthurton by two.

A WOMEN

Kadina v Bute

On a roll for the past couple games, the Bloods will put up a fight and bring this contest right up to the favourite. If their handy backcourt gets on top, they could well run away with the result. But Bute's extra touch of experience and shooting ability highlights the red and white as the most likely winner. Either way, this will be nothing short of entertaining.

At the final buzzer... Bute by six.

Arthurthurton v Paskeville

The Tigers will have their work cut out for them as they face the youthful Pies, all of whom love playing at pace and getting to the basket as much as possible. Coming off a tough loss against Bute, I anticipate the Bussenschutts, Fi and Lucy, to make their share of shots and bounce back with a win.

At the final buzzer... Paskeville by 10.

YVBA A WOMEN... Jorja Rogers, Paskeville, is defended by Bute's Dani Richardson.

YVBA A MEN... Kadina's Giles Ellis leaps between Moonta players Harrison Hatcher and Patrick Fry for an easy layup.

YVBA A WOMEN... Ebony Butler, Arthurthurton, defends Ebony Lamshed, Kadina, as she drives to the basket for a layup.

YVBA A WOMEN... Ella McCauley, Bute, passes over the outstretched arms of Kayleigh May, Paskeville.

YVBA A WOMEN... Marissa Hewett, Bute, wins the opening tipoff against Lucy Bussenschutt, Paskeville.

Northern Yorke Peninsula...

Wind and rain cause havoc - again!

Joan Hill
REPORT BY

Saturday competition

Matches were again affected by huge wind gusts and heavy rain on Saturday, November 19.

However, all games finished with a result, with either the required number of ends having been played or with stops and starts to avoid the worst of the weather.

In what appears to be a pattern, in past weeks stormy weather has threatened on the Friday then delivered on the Saturday.

Wet weather so far this season has not only upset harvest but everything in general.

DIVISION I

Perhaps the biggest surprise in division I was Arthurlton's 35 shot win at Ardrossan.

Harrison Geater-Johnson has his team of Wes Crawford and father/son Peter and Lucas Bagshaw playing well, winning 39-11. Simon Geater-Johnson and David Adcock's teams drew 20-20.

Played inside, the game at Wallaroo (versus Kadina) had the closest margin of the round with the home side winning by five shots; one rink had a draw, two Wallaroo teams had six shot wins and a Kadina team won by seven shots.

Wallaroo is top of the ladder and Kadina is second.

In another close result, Bute hosted Port Broughton with the home side winning 94-88; this game had rain but was able to be finished after a break.

Moonta showed its dominance against Paskeville with a 30-shot win; there were meant to be still a few ends to play when this match was ended.

DIVISION II

Both Moonta sides were victorious.

Moonta Red had a win at Paskeville amongst rain and wind, and Moonta Blue had the closest win of this division at home against Wallaroo White 93-87.

Big improver of the season, Wallaroo Mines had another win, this time playing Wallaroo Blue at Wallaroo, the Mines winning 98-83.

Biggest win of the round went to Port Broughton playing at home against Alford winning 130-75.

Arthurlton had a win at home, 87 to Bute 58.

Kadina had three teams up and, playing at home, defeated Ardrossan 90-67.

DIVISION III

Moonta Red received a forfeit from Kadina.

Another close game was at Wallaroo where Wallaroo White won 63 to Port Broughton 51.

Maitland defeated Ardrossan 65-50.

This week

DIVISION I

Game of the round will be at Wallaroo against Moonta. The visitors will be determined to get back up into a top four position and will need to be back to its very best if it is to win.

Wallaroo, at home, will do everything possible to stay on top and should win.

Ardrossan travels to Maitland, where it will win.

Arthurlton hosts Port Broughton; Arthurlton is a good side and hard to beat at home so should win this one.

Paskeville is at home against Bute. It is hard to predict the weather and harvest. Can Paskeville get back to that winning form? Bute may have something to say about that.

DIVISION II

Wallaroo Mines travels to Moonta to play Moonta Red. This will be a good game and will really test the Mines but Moonta Red will make the most of its home-green advantage.

Moonta Blue goes to Alford and should win; Kadina, at home, will be too good for Paskeville.

Port Broughton travels to Ardrossan and should go home happy.

Bute hosts Wallaroo White; the visitors will likely win this one.

Perhaps the closest game will be at Wallaroo where Arthurlton will play Wallaroo Blue. Blue can win but will it?

DIVISION III

Kadina travels to Ardrossan and will want a win, Maitland will have to be at its very best if it is to defeat Wallaroo Blue at Wallaroo.

Top side Moonta Red travels to Port Broughton and won't want to lose this one.

Wallaroo White should win against Wallaroo Mines.

Thursday competition

DIVISION I

All visiting sides won last Thursday, November 17.

There was only one close game and that was at Port Broughton where Kadina won by two shots, 70-68.

Both sides had two teams up; three of the rinks had big margins yet the overall scores were close.

Ardrossan played at Bute and won by 11 shots. Penny McCarthy's team had the biggest win, 29-9.

Wallaroo travelled to Arthurlton where it had three teams up and won 83-58.

The other big win was at Maitland where Moonta, with all teams up, won by 61 shots. Jenny Redshaw, Sandra Barker, June Wilson and Riki Bartlett had the biggest win, 37-7.

DIVISION II

Moonta Blue showed why it is top of the ladder when it travelled to Wallaroo and won 96-59. Wallaroo managed a draw on one rink to gain one premiership point.

Wallaroo Mines, at home, was too strong for Alford; both sides had two teams up.

Paskeville travelled to Ardrossan and, with three teams up, had a win.

This week

DIVISION I

Game of the week will undoubtedly be at Moonta. Moonta is undefeated so far this season. When these two sides last met, it was at Wallaroo and Moonta still got up and won. At home this time, Moonta will repeat this success.

Ardrossan travels to Port Broughton for what should be a close game and the result could go either way. Ardrossan should win but will Port Broughton play the green better?

Kadina is at home to Maitland; these two sides are evenly matched. Kadina should have the edge but don't be surprised if Maitland takes the honours.

Bute is at home against Arthurlton. Bute is yet to have a win; Arthurlton won last time they played and should do so again.

DIVISION II

Paskeville plays top side Moonta Blue at Moonta. When these sides last met Moonta won and will do the same this time.

Alford travels to play Moonta Green. Alford won their last match-up but was at home, Moonta Green will win this time.

Wallaroo Mines travels to Ardrossan and should win.

Southern Yorke Peninsula...

Storms keep bowlers guessing

“NN”

REPORT BY

Saturday competition

Friday night storms across Yorke Peninsula kept bowlers guessing whether or not they would play the next day.
Saturday offered a little respite from the wild weather and all but two SYPBA games managed to reach a result.
The division I match between Minlaton and Yorketown did not even get a start due to Minlaton greens being under water, and a wild storm stopped the second division Warooka versus Stansbury White game.
Other games in both divisions were also weather affected but results were achieved.
DIVISION I
Port Vincent climbed to top spot after a 10 shot win against Edithburgh and the Minlaton v Yorketown wash out.
Stansbury accounted for Warooka 108-53 at Stansbury, scoring full points to keep it safely in third.
Curramulka had three rinks on the plus side against Port Victoria, winning 101 -62
The top four is currently Port Vincent, Yorketown, Stansbury and Edithburgh.
DIVISION II
Warooka and Stansbury White players had difficulty standing on mats, which flew everywhere in the wild weather at Warooka.
The game was stopped when duty of care was invoked for the safety of the players.

Not enough ends had been played to obtain a result so the two sides shared the points.
Stansbury Blue continues at the head of the table after its 61-46 defeat of Yorketown Blue.
Port Victoria moved from fourth to second with a nine shot win against Edithburgh Green, and Stansbury White is still third despite its wash out.
Closest game of the day was at Port Vincent where the home side defeated Curramulka 66-65.

Moonta Bowling Club skins invitation day

Moonta Bowling Club women's skins invitation tournament was held on Tuesday, November 15. Visitors came from all over the peninsula and Mid North. Fortunately, rain kept away for most of the day, in contrast to any other day in the preceding week.
Major cash prize winner was the Laura team of Val Thomson, Joan Stott, Jacquie Bray and Rhonda Janz, and the Red Hill team of Rose Conroy, Sue Winen, Deb Coffey and Karen Pilkington was runner-up; all sides managed to win some cash in the skins format.
Tournament sponsors were Peninsula Air Conditioning, Davies Transport, Spiderman YP, Dermac Constructions, Bennett Constructions and Unique Smile Denture Clinic.
Thank you also to all the Moonta volunteers.

Once again, the weather pushed aside any chance of off-the-beach sailing. Nonetheless, our intrepid radio control sailors were out there giving it their best.

Seven brave souls turned up to sail their radio-controlled yachts in blustery, wet and very difficult conditions.

There was no scoring but the winner for the day was Bevan Atkinson as he was the only one to compete all races trouble free using a "C" rig.

The Wallaroo Sailing Club's commodore, who also races radio control yachts, had the dubious honour of retrieving the buoys. This is done in a small row boat.

Due to the wind strength, he appeared to be rowing backwards whilst going forward.

The afternoon was still enjoyable. As they say, one day sailing and two days fixing.

Kadina Croquet Club's golf croquet comp

Golf croquet (yes, you read that correctly) is an extremely popular form of croquet played throughout the world.

In fact, it is Egypt's national sport.

Kadina Croquet Club members are embracing this form of the game and held a popular club competition on Tuesday, November 15, in between the rainy days.

Thank you to Margie Davies and Jenny Smith who organised the afternoon and well done to winner Dean Rodda and runner-up Deb Schilling.

Vice-president Julie Arthur took great delight in presenting each of them with two bespoke Kadina Croquet Club wine glasses, etched and donated by Jacqui Story and filled with lollies life member Thelma Roach had bought for the occasion.

Anyone who would like to come and try this wonderful game can just turn up at the Hallett Street croquet courts on a Tuesday at 1.30pm or a Thursday at 9am, when you'll be welcomed and helped by all our friendly members.

For more information, phone Linda on 0447 736 828.

SHOOTING

Maitland Rifle Club: Results 19-11-22

— With 15mm of rain recorded in the Maitland district on Friday night, the condition of the track out to the range was on our minds first thing Saturday morning. However, with a strong dry westerly all morning and clear skies until lunchtime, eight members ventured out to find the track was not too bad. With a target set up for the scheduled 300-yard, third stage of the Yorke Valley Hotel Trophy, shooting got underway. The weather radar showed a cell of showery weather tracking our way from Eyre Peninsula, so shooters left their gear on the mound between details to ensure a speedy turnaround of competitors. This proved to be very handy because, as the last shooter got off the mound, the showers came across the paddock to the west. Drenching avoided! With the strong westerly wind persisting all afternoon, shooting from 300 yards should have meant the wind effect would be somewhat minimised. Alas, most members found conditions less than ideal and scores were down on average. Lynton Wakefield posted the best first round score in F open with a nice 60.03, while Roger Francis shot 60.04 in F standard for his first round. Second time down Lynton Wakefield started well with four consecutive Xs and kept us watching intently until he lost his last shot for 59.06. In F standard, Roger Francis shooting second-last copped a wild wind change as the rain front approached and dropped three points to finish with 57.04. Brad Renfrey endured the onset of the showers while shooting FTR, his best round for the day finishing with an X. It was great to see new member Nick Harris try his hand at FTR B with his own rifle for the first time with a handicap, welcome aboard Nick! F standard: Roger Francis 60.04, 57.04, 117.08, 8, 120.08; Greg Klopp 55.01, 54.0, 109.01, 11, 120.01; Chris Bavistock 51.02, 55.02, 106.04, 9, 115.04; Bill Gillis 56.03, 54.03, 110.06, 2, 112.06; Barry Tucker 49.01, 39.0, 88.01, 11, 99.01; F open: Lynton Wakefield 60.03, 59.06, 119.09, 0, 119.09; F target rifle A: Brad Renfrey 51.0, 54.03, 105.03, 8, 113.03; F target rifle B: Nick Harris 36.0, 34.01, 70.01, 15, 85.01. Handicap points: Roger 3, Greg 2, Lynton 1. Possibles, F open: Lynton 60.03; F standard: Roger 60.04. "Dodgy"

— The club mourns the sad loss of Pam Henderson, a very active member in the club for many years and will be missed. We extend our deepest sympathy to Pam's family and a final shot will be fired at the close of shooting this Saturday by her son Michael. The first stage of the YP Coaches Trophy was completed at 500 metres in reasonable wind conditions. Scores were up, with many shooters only dropping a point in their single rounds, only three possibles were posted on the blackboard shot by Dave Nottage, Joe Zappia and Rohan Carter. Target rifle off-rifle was recorded by Jeff Dayman who also claimed the handicap. In F open class, Joe Zappia took out off-rifle and handicap while Rohan Carter won F standard off-rifle. Alford: Results 17-11-22 — Thursday women's second division travelled to Wallaroo Mines and lost in a hard-fought game 67-72 with both sides winning two rinks. Denise Hocking (sk), Bronwyn Du Toit, Judith Davies, Russell Gibb 21-15; Colleen Balman (sk), Sue Beck, Kim Sleep, Kym Price 19-17; June Roberts (sk), Di Green, Jude Davey, Dot Hockley 15-18; Rose Pearce (sk), Lorraine Hotchin, Josie Gibb, Trevor Bruce 12-22. Results 19-11-22 — Saturday open gender second division travelled to Port Broughton where the Alford players struggled to cope with the speed of the home side's green and went down 75-130. Rob Balman (sk), Laurie Hocking, Trevor Bruce, Russell Gibb 21-25; Trevor Reid (sk), Kym Price, Peter March, Malcolm Davies 19-31; Brenton "Butch" Davies (sk), Geoff Pearce, David Beck, Andrew Nelson 18-34; Ray Wallis (sk), Richard Jesser, Michael Dare, Phil March 17-41. RW

Ardrossan Saturday: Results 19-11-22 — Division I lost to Arthurlton 74-109. Best rink A Rowntree, F Stern, M Shaw and Ben Rowntree (skipper) chased down its opponent's lead on the run home, maintaining sufficient pressure for a slender 25-23 victory. D Adcock's team also came from behind to strongly challenge its opponent and secure a 20-20 tie. It was its opponent's midterm burst that damaged F Rowntree's team and, despite a persistent come-back effort, was scuttled in the final ends for an 18-27 defeat. L Rich's team had a day that matched the weather, making only a small impact on its opponent's powerful performance. In an interrupted and shortened match, div II lost to Kadina 67-90. Once acclimatised to the conditions, the only winning rink J Coppins, D Lambert, P Robertson and first-time skipper N Atkins captured the initiative and stormed home for a 23-16 victory. There was little difference in the scoring for T Pritchard's team until a high score by its opponent dampened its parade for a 13-17 deficit. A couple of significant scores against N Marsh's rink were enough for an 18-23 shortfall. G Covino's team managed to contain its accurate opponent until the dam burst in the final ends to produce a devastating result. Div III lost to Maitland 50-65. Engaged in a close game, best rink M Quinn, F Paroczy, C Robinson and I Roberts (sk) broke the shackles near the end to snatch a 16-12 success. C Voysey's team pursued its opponent to create a close 19-22 finish. A handful of large scores against P Goudie's rink mauled the score line in an otherwise even competition. LBB

Ardrossan Wednesday: Results 16-11-22 — Blue lost to Warooka 26-43. K Holman, G Covino and M Shaw (skipper) were well in the game halfway through before falling away to a 12-20 defeat. L Rich's team managed a high score in the run home but its opponent resisted the charge to leave a loss 14-23. White defeated Edithburgh Gold 42-35. Best rink L Burman, N Atkins and D Adcock (sk) grasped the lead and maintained a stranglehold on the game for a 29-13 win. N Marsh's team battled a strong opponent that restricted its advance during a 13-22 defeat. LBB

Ardrossan Thursday: Results 17-11-22 — Division II was at home, hosting Paskeville. Chrissy Voysey's team had a good day, winning 26-13. After the fourth end they were ahead of Pasky for the rest of the match. Unfortunately, we were not able to gain an overall win. A big thank you to Ray Jackson, Clive Robinson and Mark Quinn for filling in, and also to Ian Werner for being available at the last minute. The goodwill of our men enables us to get a game most weeks. Div I travelled to Bute, where the cold wind soon disappeared into a lovely sunny day. We had two rinks with a win. Penny McCarthy's team 29-9, and Annette Rowntree's 19-13. Barb Lee-Archer's team level pegged with its opposition most of the match, but finished 17-19 down. The shots gained gave us the win 78-67. Div I is off to Port Broughton again this week and div II will host Wallaroo Mines. AR

Maitland Wednesday: Results 16-11-22 — Maitland men hosted Bute with weather more favourable for bowls. Four G Treloar, C Gloyn, K Drover, L Harper got off to a good start leading 12-3 after seven ends. Bute won seven of the next 13 ends bringing the scores to 17-18 after the 17th end. Maitland was the winner, final scores 20-18. Triple T Wuttke, B Fuss, J Lehner had a win with the scores Maitland's way throughout the match 9-9 on the ninth, 13-13 on the 13th, 16-16 on the 17th. Final scores Maitland 19-17. Pair C Kelly, R Evans also had a close game. Maitland had a good start but was 8-8 on the ninth end, 13-13 on the 14th. With Bute having two good ends, finished winning 20-17. Final scores Maitland 56, Bute 55. "Kitty/Jack?"

Maitland Thursday: Results 17-11-22 — Maitland women hosted Moonta, the top side at the moment, and, though they played some good shots, they found out why Moonta is on the top of the ladder. Three teams were able to keep up for a while, but Moonta's depth of strength was too good, winning all matches. M Wuttke had her first time as skipper. Final scores Moonta 106-45. A fundraiser band night was held Saturday, November 19, when a surprised Marg Wuttke was made life member of the Maitland Bowling Club. "Kitty/Jack?"

R Evans (also skipping first time), J Harper, M, Smart, M Falco (first full match) were off to a good start 11-4 on the 10th end. Ardrossan fought back making it 12-12 on the 14th. The game was evenly contested after this with Maitland winning 22-19. M Burrows, B Fuss, T Hasting, J Lehner was also an evenly matched game, 9-9 on the 14th end but Ardrossan took control with a few multiples, final scores Ardrossan winning 16-12. Overall winner Maitland 65-50. "Kitty/Jack?"

Moonta Thursday: Results 10-11-22 — Division I had an excellent 96-62 win against Arthurlton, with three rinks up and one rink down. Again, all rinks were instrumental in the 34 shot win, with Sharon Cavanagh (skipper), Helen Moulds, Marcia Dall and Carmen Mena being the best performing rink with a win of 24 shots. In div II, Moonta Blue was scheduled to host Moonta Green. Unfortunately two sides were decimated by a Covid outbreak, Moonta Blue therefore winning by the forfeit of Moonta Blue. Results 17-11-22 — Div I is going along nicely on top of the ladder with seven wins from seven games. Last week it had another good win against Maitland, 106-45. All rinks enjoyed comfortable wins, with Jenny Redshaw (sk), Sandra Barker, June Wilson and Rikki Bartlett being our best with a 30 shot win. Div II Moonta Blue is top of the ladder at this point and Moonta Green is fifth. Blue had a good 37 shot win against Wallaroo with three rinks up and one draw, boosted by and excellent 28 shot win by Ann Waters (sk), Merilyn Bone, Maxine Reynolds and Marcia Dall. Excellent work! Moonta Green had a bye. JD

Div III Red was happy to receive a forfeit from Kadina. Div III Blue went down to Wallaroo Blue 39-47 for the second loss of the season. ## Viterra launches certified traineeship program

VITERRA is offering career development opportunities in regional communities by introducing its own certified traineeship program.

Applicants will start working for the company early next year and earn the opportunity to build their skills sets and gain work experience.

“The two-year program offers full-time paid roles which combine on-the-job training at sites with formal education and is about mentoring and providing support to the trainees to support them through this exciting opportunity,” Viterra general manager HR Alyson Gilbey said.

“Trainees will be able to learn industry skills and qualify for multiple tasks including grain classification, machinery operation, fumigation and grain hygiene, as well as driving front-end loaders and forklifts.”

A total of 12 traineeships are on offer in the Western region (Eyre Peninsula), Central region (Mid and Lower Northern areas and Yorke Peninsula) and Eastern region (Murray Mallee and South-East area).

“The traineeships have been designed to provide trainees the opportunity to gain the new skills and knowledge required to secure a potential long-term role at the end of the program,” Ms Gilbey said.

“We think this is a great way to provide those who feel they have to choose between starting a career or studying the chance to do both.

“We’re really excited about this program and for more people to start a rewarding and diverse career with us.”

SAFETY... Growers and harvest staff should read the operator’s manual for their header before harvest to ensure they know the attachment points for snatch straps and other equipment-specific advice for retrieving bogged headers, encouraged professional harvest contractor Rod Gribble from Yenda, NSW.

GROWERS have been encouraged by Grains Research Development Corporation to take extra precautions before and during harvesting on wet paddocks this year.

Extension specialist and deputy chairperson of the GRDC Southern Panel Pru Cook said it was important for growers and harvest workers to look after themselves this harvest.

“Harvest will be a long, drawn-out process which will present a range of physical and mental challenges for growers and harvest workers,” Ms Cook said.

“We want to remind everyone involved in harvest operations this year to take their time to prepare, understand the risks and how to reduce them, and to look out for each other.”

GRDC and the Rural Safety and Health Alliance have published guidelines for safe work this harvest.

One potentially fatal risk of harvesting in wet conditions is retrieving bogged headers.

“We used to use chains or cables to pull out bogged headers,” contractor Rod Gribble said.

“I had the chain break once and it came hurtling back at me.

“It hit the back of the tractor and was only a metre away from breaking the window and taking me out.”

He now uses snatch straps to pull out equipment as they are less likely to break and do damage, but caution is still required.

“People have got to be patient,” Mr Gribble said.

“Someone will get bogged, and when you do, just stop.

“Remember a header might weigh 25 to 30 tonnes, but you’re probably going to bog it when it’s got a fully loaded grain tank.

“The effort to pull out a loaded header is much greater — they are a dead weight stuck in the ground.

“Unload the grain first, take your time and clear the mud away from all the tires with a shovel or excavator.”

Mr Gribble emphasised growers should also review their machinery’s operator’s manual and learn the specific guidance for retrieving equipment should it get bogged.

AgHealth Australia reports tractors are the leading cause of unintentional deaths on farms, responsible for 251 fatalities between 2001 and 2020.

♈ ARIES—March 21-April 20

Starting this weekend, just when your romantic partner announces exciting plans, you find yourself tied to work. It seems that stalled plans are very much back in motion

♉ TAURUS—April 21-May 22

A lucky streak will extend until Sunday. You charm your way out of some touchy situations this week. A cancellation on the weekend is compensated by bright news on Monday. Don't let this week be all work.

♊ GEMINI—May 23-June 21

You are in the mood to clean up and clear out everything in sight, but there could be real treasures among your collectables. If travelling on the weekend, you could make a great friendship along the way.

♋ CANCER—June 22-July 22

Check financial statements, especially from Thursday to Sunday. Your house is a honeypot now - with a variety of delightful and unusual people finding their way to your door.

♌ LEO—July 23-August 22

You are more energetic at the work place and you are coming closer to achieving a major goal or winning key appointments. Friends may be testing you on the weekend. Pets are in the picture on the weekend.

♍ VIRGO—August 23-September 22

You grow more resourceful and self-reliant, becoming so independent that certain people don't take you seriously. Their loss! You are shrewed and practical and financially quite successful now.

♎ LIBRA—September 23-October 22

Someone touches you with a loving gesture and you shouldn't be shy about reciprocating. The unexpected becomes the expected now and you could be caught off guard..

♏ SCORPIO—October 23-November 21

This is a week of variety, at work and socially. One of your work ideas is first slated then to win you plaudits. A small financial setback is followed by a series of gains

♐ SAGITTARIUS—November 22-December 22

One of your biggest financial burdens may be shared at last - and you can spend some money on yourself. It's a week of achievement in general. This is the time to draft personal goals.

♑ CAPRICORN—December 23-January 20

Romance is favoured, so long as you opt for the light touch. You could be inspired to take on a few zany projects and at least one brings dividends. Don't take sides in a feud.

♒ AQUARIUS—January 21-February 19

You receive more than you give in the finance department, while reverse holds true in romance. You could be subject to minor upsets. Take care of your health and begin some form of exercise.

♓ PISCES—February 20-March 20

Your family proves reliable and bolsters your spirits. Meetings after the weekend allow you to show off your verbal gifts. Emails or letters may get lost, so keep a watch out.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK

You enjoy a good argument, a good challenge and a good adventure, sometimes too much. But there is no limit on your enjoyment of good people and good friends. Sometimes you are a little too casual and a little too absorbed in your own enthusiasms but you are always well meaning and always prepared to forgive and forget

Streaming killed
the video store

by Rhiannon Koch

IT makes sense to find a series about the last chain movie rental store on a streaming service, which killed off the need to rent movies.

Blockbuster is a workplace comedy starring Randall Park and Melissa Fumero, and created by Vanessa Ramos who previously worked on Superstore and Brooklyn Nine-Nine.

The series starts with Park's Timmy being told Blockbuster is going out of business and his Michigan premises is the last one in existence.

Cue Timmy trying to transition to small business ownership and all the pitfalls it entails, all while trying to get over his long-standing crush of Fumero's Eliza.

I'll admit, I'm about halfway through the 10-episode first season and it's taking somewhat longer than I thought it might.

It's not that it's a bad show. It has its moments and the characters are endearing.

It just feels like it's something that's been done before, and it has.

You have the endearing boss who never grew out of his high school crush, said crush who returns to her summer job as her marriage is falling apart, a dreamer who sees themselves making it big one day but isn't really trying, a passive-aggressive teen, an older woman providing a mother-figure type role and a quirky, doe-eyed blonde.

This melting pot of characters delivers some good one liners, but so far it's also a little predictable.

Blockbuster currently has a 23 per cent approval rating on Rotten Tomatoes, while the fans give it closer to 44 per cent approval.

It was never going to be a scathing criticism of the streaming model, or even the mega rental stores that put a lot of the smaller stores out of business.

It's a nice, easy watch if you need to not think for a little while, and there should always been room for shows like that in your life.

Time for a laugh

People are always criticizing my looks. After I took out my last blind date, she went home and reported having a close encounter of the third kind.

Either the mice in Africa are the biggest rodents in the world, or Africa has elephants that are obese.

In a city in Italy, they make masks of such big that when it gets stale, they cut it in half and use it as a drum pipe.

Indigenous Magic — AFL

As babes they were forged under a red Grandfather sun.
In the red dust where emus, kangaroos and dingoes run.
As youngsters they learnt to sidestep the brown snake's bite.
They had wonderful vision and also inherited spiritual sight.

So, they had gathered and stood around the creation rock.
Having been summoned to reveal, "what they had got."
They had golden feet and they had golden hands.
Daramah had searched for them across the entire Motherland.

The Great Spirit Daramah now guided them across golden sands.
Running adjacent to majestic cliffs that were oh so grand.
They jogged southwards as far as an eye could see.
Through red sand hills and boulders, towards the historic M.C.G.

They ran fast with Moi, their favourite brother emu.
Hopping alongside more family, why it was Buru the kangaroo!
All night they ran along rivers white with swirling mists.
Where pelicans sailed and appeared like ghostly ships.

They had left the forgotten community with snow in their hair.
Mothers worrying for their wild children in their suffering despair.
Onwards they ran through the drought affected Never-Never Lands.
Past rotting bones lying in the mulga; bleached in the sand.

Racing under Father sky that had no Grand Mother moon.
Under a starless sky that threatened dawn quite soon.
The Koorah Koo-rie wind sang its magic song.
Like their fore-fathers they slept on gum leaves by the billabong.

Awakening amidst fruit and berries and the colours they had,
medicinal healing properties, they make our colourful Indigenous flag.
They were as mad as a gum tree full of galahs.
We will show them all, we Indigenous women and fellas.

I have stood on the mound with the coward and the clown.
Belittling the Indigenous talents and trying to make them drown.
They twisted and turned and kicked with both feet all day!
Kicking goals from the boundary until you exclaim, "No way!"

I hear murmuring, it's not their footsteps where they fall.
Yes! It is Australia, it is Australians one and all!
A massive roar erupts, a decision to cast racism aside.
Yes! From all sons and daughters, my chest bursts with pride!

I am in the grandstand of the holy M.C.G.
It's my Indigenous brothers and sisters in the distance I see.
Gone are all the hatreds! Gone is all the pretense,
As they jog onto the M.C.G, the field of legends.

Bert Peter Schuit

The Salute!

Each time I crack a beer, ... I pause,
And raise it high to the heavens above.
I remember my mates who are no longer here,
Family and friends... the people who I still love.

I ponder the good times that we all once shared.
And smile at the comfort that they now give.
I salute them with honour for I know that they cared,
And I still carry their memory of how they once lived.

I would like to think all these people I knew.
Who in my heart they now fondly live on.
Will look down and see me acknowledge their life,
And reply with a cheer of their own!

So! I raise my glass to those who are no longer here.
I salute them!... To let them all know.
I will never forget them when I'm giving a cheer,
Embracing their lives with my own!
... CHEERS!!

HOT FISHING TIPS

with Greg James www.gregjamesfishing.com.au

Welcome to the column with all the hot tips for fishing around Yorke Peninsula; contact Greg by email at greg@gregjamesfishing.com.au.

Seafood recipe, marinated scallops fried with ginger and garlic: Ingredients – 12 fresh scallops, soy and Worcestershire sauce, crushed garlic, ginger, olive oil. Preparation – Make a marinade of all ingredients and mix in the scallops. Refrigerate for 1hr min. Heat a pan to high and cook scallops in oil for 2-3 mins. Serve with the marinade drizzled over the scallops and some cooked sticky white rice.

Wallaroo: Believe it or not I sighted a couple of small boats out in the bay just before the gale force winds cracked in on Saturday! Garfish, squid and a few tommy ruff (Australian herring) are here and out from Bird Reef and The Magazine. Verbal friction between anglers at times from the jetty has resulted in their numbers dropping in recent weeks as they tried for squid and blue swimmer crabs.

Moonta Bay/Port Hughes: Boat crews had to choose their timing last week as they ventured out for gar, squid and King George whiting. Jetty-based anglers reported slow results but caught an occasional squid before the storms.

Point Turton: Crews fishing the Hardwicke Bay drift grounds have caught small to medium KG whiting, squid and even a couple of legal flathead. Gar and squid are off Point Souttar and The Pines. The jetty again has quiet but squid and tommies are here at times.

Marion Bay/Stenhouse Bay: Watching the huge seas rush past Penguin Point was a popular pastime last week as boats pretty much remained in sheds. Offshore crews will be targeting red nannygai, tuna and trevalley with crews in smaller boats trying for gar, KG whiting and squid. Salmon trout to 1 kilo are off Richards, Gym and Dust Bowl Beaches.

Edithburgh/Stansbury: Heavy weather means canny boat crews will be catching whiting, flathead and tommy ruff from Sultana Passage, Marion Reef and Tapley Shoals later this week as things ease off. Orontes Bank and the grounds west of the Stansbury foreshore caravan park will also have whiting, snook and a couple of blueys. Jetty-based anglers are fishing for tommies, squid and blue crabs.

Black Point/Ardrossan: Catches of blue crabs, squid and garfish should resume this week from Black Point, Ardrossan and Price saltwater flats.

Tight lines and see you next week!

AFLW academy for Goody

Peter Argent
REPORT BY

Edithburgh footballer Shineah Goody has been picked in the 2023 AFLW Academy squad.

The squad features 30 of the most talented 17-year-old footballers across the country, with Goody one of six from South Australia.

Goody was selected in last year's AFLW National Championships

Under 18 Girls All-Australian team while competing as a bottom-aged player.

She had a dominant championship, earning the MVP title at just 16.

"Selection in the AFLW Academy is a significant achievement and all players are thoroughly deserving of their place in the squads," national academy manager Tarkyn Lockyer said.

"As part of their selection in the 2023 AFLW Academy, players will be given the opportunity to develop on and off the field under the guidance of expert coaching, high performance and wellbeing staff.

"They will also be part of AFLW environments by attending training sessions with AFLW clubs, which will provide first-hand experience of the standards required to make it at the highest level."

Goody said she hoped to play at least one game with the AFLW academy next year before the draft.

"There are uncertainties with the 2023 AFLW draft, but I still reckon because I was in the Port Adelaide Academy they can pick me up," she said.

"I'm currently training on Tuesday nights, returning home for school on Wednesday morning and then back to town on Friday night for a Saturday session.

"I do a session by myself at home in Edithburgh each week as well, so you have to be committed.

"I am definitely looking forward to the SANFLW season next year and I know you need to be well prepared to play good footy."

Goody will be hoping to add to her 20 SANFLW games for Woodville-West Torrens next season.
