OPEN FOR BUSINESS

Jess Liddy
JOURNALIST

SOUTH Australia's borders officially reopened today (Tuesday, November 23).

Double vaccinated residents from all Australian states and territories are now able to enter South Australia without quarantining, unless they arrive from a local government area of concern.

Questions have been asked about how health services will cope with the strain caused by the expected upsurge of COVID-19 cases, especially in areas already under pressure.

A spokesperson for the Yorke and Northern Local Health Network said plans and processes were in place to ensure health services were well prepared.

"More than 85 per cent of people over 16 years have had their first dose of the COVID-19 vaccine and more than 75 per cent have had their second dose, and for this reason it is expected the majority of people can be cared for at home if they contract COVID," the spokesperson said.

"We have plans underway to establish a dedicated COVID-19 hospital that can assess, stabilise, treat and transfer COVID-19 patients in need of care, with arrangements in place to transfer COVID-19 positive patients to the most appropriate hospital for treatment.

"We'd like to reassure the community our health and emergency services will remain available across our local health network, and we encourage people to get vaccinated if they are yet to do so."

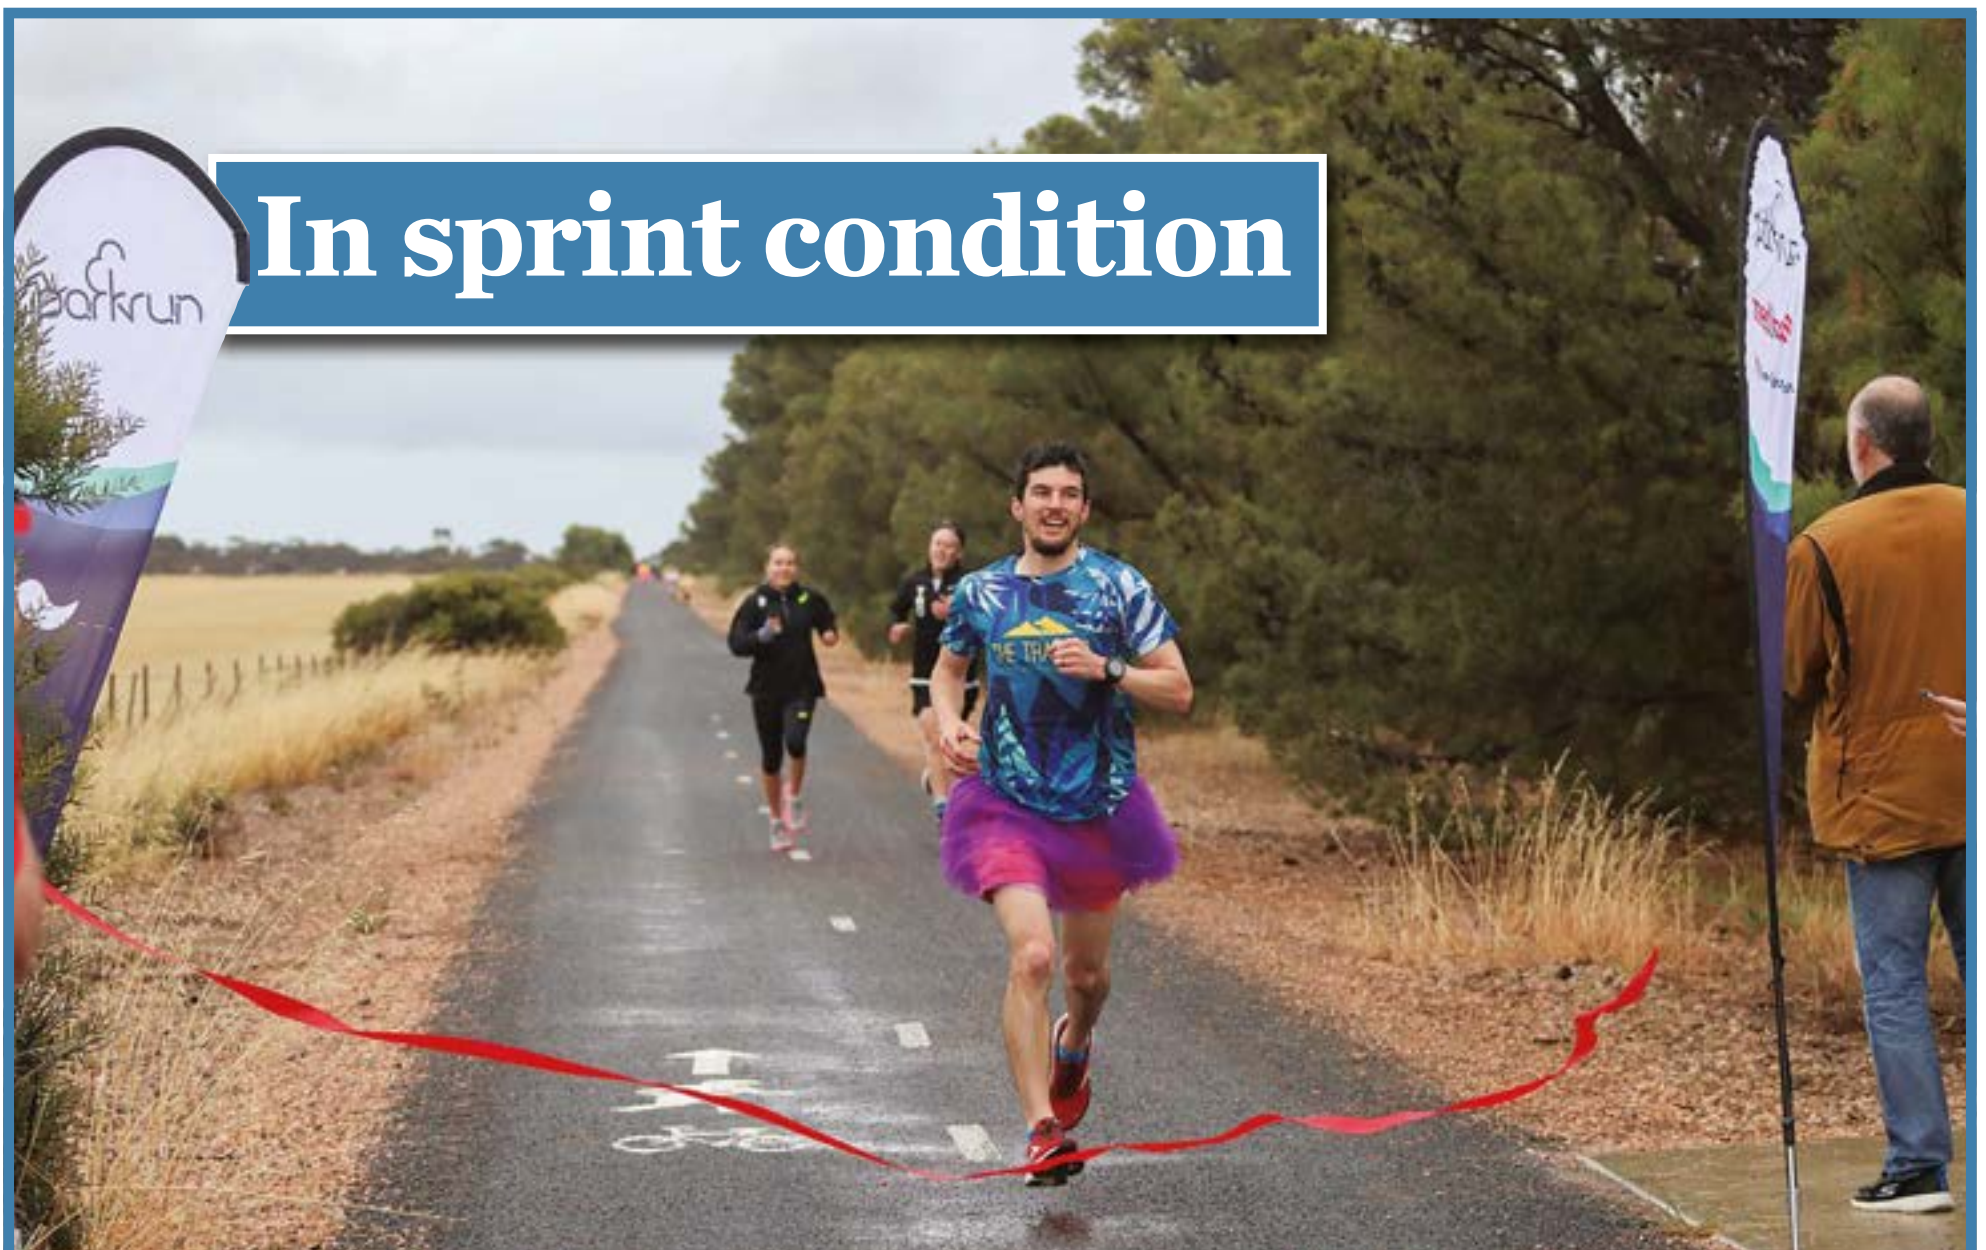

SA Health's mobile COVID-19 vaccination clinic has visited many communities across the region and is set to visit Snowtown, Maitland and Minlaton this week.

"We are also working with local councils to identify areas with lower vaccination rates and ways to deliver the vaccine to these vulnerable communities," the spokesperson said.

"People can get vaccinated at some pharmacies, GP practices, our walk-in vaccination clinics in Port Pirie, Clare, and Wallaroo, and keep an eye on the Yorke and Northern Local Health Network Facebook page for details on our mobile vaccination clinic."

Keep Watch out

ROYAL Life Saving is asking your readers to be especially vigilant of children around the water this summer and to Keep Watch at all times.

Our new research shows 532 children aged 4 and under have drowned in the past 19 years in Australia. It also shows that a child's risk of drowning triples after their first birthday; 40 per cent of children were just 1 year old when they drowned.

For every fatal drowning in this age group, eight children are admitted to hospital following a non-fatal drowning. Some will sustain life-long brain injuries.

We know summer is when young children are most at risk. Swimming pools are the leading location for drowning among children, accounting for more than half of all deaths.

The four things we recommend to prevent drowning are: actively supervise children around water (supervise); restrict children's access to water (restrict); teach children water safety skills (teach); and learn how to respond in the case of an emergency (respond).

This year has been challenging for parents and carers who are juggling so much.

Around the water you can't multitask and just check that email — actively supervising children needs your complete attention and you need to be within arm's reach.

Drowning in children is quick and silent.

Please check your pool fence and gate to make sure they are in working order.

You can get more information at www.royallifesaving.com.au.

Kids can't help themselves around water, you need to. Keep Watch.

Emissions, total or per-capita?

HOW should we consider and rate nations on their greenhouse emissions reduction performance?

Should we, as the federal government does, just talk about total emissions, or should we primarily consider per-capita emissions, the total emissions divided by the number of people in the nation?

The highest emitting nations are China, 10.4 billion tonnes of CO₂ carbon dioxide equivalent per year; USA, 5.0 and India 2.5. Australia's emissions are 0.4 billion tonnes.

However, looking at per-capita emissions gives a very different picture: of the above countries Australia is the highest emitter at 17.2 tonnes, the USA next at 15.5; China 7.4 and India 1.9.

Surely any fair-minded person would conclude that while China has the greatest total emissions, it is Australia that has the greatest moral responsibility, among these nations, to reduce its emissions?

Schoolies celebrations

IT'S that time of year again when school leavers flock to Yorke Peninsula for their alternative Schoolies.

We've been noticing a growing trend in the past few years where year 12s are coming to the area instead of boozing up in tight crowds of Victor Harbor, often staying in family holiday homes with a group of friends.

They eagerly support our small businesses often with polite dispositions and friendly faces.

It's great to see responsible choices being favoured by these youths and what better place to make memories with friends.

What potential we have in the area to capitalise on this growing trend and actively advertise the area for 2022 year 12 graduates.

Opening up

LOCKDOWNS ending, opening-ups beginning.

Today forward, we are responsible for remaining open or closing down.

You, me, each of us, individually and collectively.

We owe an unknown, unfathomable, uncountable debt of gratitude to medical professionals and essential workers who enabled us to live — at great risk to their own health and safety.

We must address that debt by acknowledging many are paid a wage far below their level of essentiality; we must adjust wages and conditions appropriate to their essentiality.

We have an unadmitted, unstated responsibility to the original caretakers of this land upon which we live, acting like sovereigns though sovereignty was never ceded.

As we open up, we must acknowledge the social and cultural divides that, among other things, allow diseases to run rampant and affect First Australians far more than most other communities.

We must accept their offer to walk with them and address deep wounds from First Contact forward.

Personally, we must maintain our COVID-safe behaviours — facemasking, sanitising, distancing, vaccinating.

OUR VIEW

COVID prepared

IN a week of big stories, the opening of the state borders is bound to attract plenty of attention.

Images of tearful grandparents meeting children for the first time and families embracing in airport lounges are set to dominate tonight's television news — as they should.

Much has been said about how well the state has done in combating COVID-19 and responding to instances of pressure with minimal shutdowns.

We are able to open the borders because of a solid vaccination uptake and authorities have plans in place to combat community transmissions when, not if, they begin.

I have concerns about the impact management of COVID patients will have on our already stretched local health systems.

But I also realise I have to trust the processes in place and the people in power who make them.

Locally, all our council areas are approaching the 80 per cent double vaccination rate, which is fantastic news.

Accessing the vaccinations is getting easier with chemists, GPs and state clinics open while mobile clinics are set to come to Snowtown, Maitland and Minlaton this week.

Not to mention the local school campuses which are opening their doors for vaccination for school community members.

It is so important we do what we can to protect ourselves and our community in this situation.

While there will be cases across the state, if we can do the right thing — be vaccinated, practise good hygiene and get tested if you have symptoms amongst other things — I'd like to think we could reduce numbers locally.

We should embrace the joy that comes with seeing relatives or going travelling for the first time in two years, but we should not be complacent.

MOBILE CLINIC... The Mobile COVID-19 Vaccination Clinic will be travelling into regional areas more frequently now the border has reopened. Pictured are COVID-19 vaccination nurses Anne Read, Rosanne Crouch, Fiona Hendry, Lynn Phan and Cate Owen.

SOUTH Australia is set to hit 80 per cent fully vaccinated this week.

This comes as the state government unveiled its new digital solutions to support the state's reopening.

A new pre-registration process, Entry Check, went live as of 5pm, Friday, November 19.

"It must be used by people entering South Australia from any state or country," Premier Steven Marshall said.

"The Vax Check and Health Check apps are also live.

"We are the first jurisdiction in the entire country that is COVID-free that is opening its borders."

Mr Marshall said we would have to be more careful than we have been in the past.

"But, we are good to go and we have made all the necessary precautions to get to this point," he said.

"The best thing you can do for yourself, your family, your friends and your state is to go and make a vaccination appointment now.

"When we look interstate and see the people who are ending up in hospital, in ICU, on ventilators, they are by and large unvaccinated."

There are currently no new cases of COVID-19 in the state, with only two active cases both acquired overseas.

South Australians will also be able to integrate their digital COVID-19 vaccination certificate into their mySA Gov app to make it easier to show your vaccination status where proof is required.

For more information go to the SA Health website, sahealth.sa.gov.au/COVID 2019.

Connect your vaccination status

TO link your vaccination status with the mySA Gov app, you need to:

- Ensure Medicare is linked to your myGov account
- Download the Express Plus Medicare app and sign in with your myGov details
- Select Proof of vaccinations and then View history
- Select Share with check in app and then mySA Gov

Restriction changes

- Interstate arrivals: no quarantine for vaccinated travellers from all Australian states and territories
- International arrivals: seven days quarantine for fully-vaccinated overseas arrivals
- Home gatherings: Caps on home gatherings increased from 20 to 30
- Home care: Home Care Kits available for those infected with COVID-19

Landowners pleased with access report

Rhiannon Koch
JOURNALIST

A PARLIAMENTARY report into land access has finally addressed the concerns of local landowners.

The Select Committee on Land Access tabled its final report last week and with its six recommendations, welcomed by those who have campaigned for reform for some time.

Yorke Peninsula Land Owners Group representative Joy Wundersitz said the report has delivered a set of overdue recommendations to the state.

"For the first time, there is an official report which finally acknowledges and takes seriously landowners' long-standing frustrations with the state's land access regime governing resource company access to agricultural land," she said.

"After having their views almost completely ignored during the recent Mining Act Review, this report finally gives landowners a voice!

"Most importantly, all six recommendations are very positive, and reflect what YPLOG and YP farmers have been calling for over many years."

YPLOG members and local farmers wrote submissions for the committee, and attended hearings earlier this year.

The recommendations include the establishment of a mining ombudsman to oversee exploration, changes to the notice around entry periods and a focus on the protection of agricultural land.

Ms Wundersitz said a mining ombudsman would give landowners an option to take their complaints to an independent source and hold the Department for Energy and Mining to account if needed.

"At present, the mining department is solely responsible for ensuring that resource companies operating on agricultural land adhere to the access conditions legally required of them," she said.

"But all too often, farmers have been frustrated and angered by the department's failure to do so effectively.

"Where breaches of entry conditions have occurred, the Department has in many cases either been unaware of them or if aware, has either ignored them or given the company a mild slap over the wrist. The establishment of a specialised mining ombudsman would change this.

"Given the importance of this Select Committee report, it is imperative whichever government is elected in March next year, implement the recommendations."

Better balance

Member for Narungga Fraser Ellis was an appointed member of the committee and said he was pleased with the final report and its recommendations.

"Land access has been a highly charged issue in our community for some time and something I have stood up for in the Parliament on a number of occasions," he said.

"I am hopeful, if implemented, (the recommendations will have positive impacts in ensuring the interests of farmers and mining companies are better balanced in land access disputes.

"As a result of the evidence heard, the Select Committee has also resolved to request that the Ombudsman investigate the manner in which the Department for Energy and Mining addresses complaints of breaches of the Mining Act 1971.

"This will ensure any possible breaches, beyond the committee's scope, can be appropriately investigated to ensure the best outcomes for landowners."

Post office licence uncertainty

Nigel Parsons
JOURNALIST

ABOUT 200 residents of Coobowie and Wool Bay could soon be without a post office.

The current post office, situated in the Coobowie General Store, is set to close unless a solution can be found by November 30.

Darren Smith bought the general store business in December 2020 but has been told by Australia Post he is unable to hold a postal licence due to a decades-old criminal record.

Coobowie Progress Association members Irena De Vink and Jan Klingberg see the store as a vital community hub.

"We have quite an elderly community and I see the shop as a hub where people can meet, have coffee and get many of their essentials as well as their post," Ms De Vink said.

"We would be satisfied if they could give us a whole bunch of reasons for this decision as well as a whole bunch of options because for some people it is not an option to drive to Edithburgh."

More than 200 people rely on the store for their post and banking capabilities as well as other essential shopping.

"During peak periods the local population swells significantly with people owning holiday homes with many of them redirecting their post to the store," Mrs Klingberg said.

"Many of the boxes have multiple family members getting their mail from the same box, with sometimes four or five people sharing the same one."

Current Australia Post licensee Travis Peter said he has lost about $50,000 now the licence cannot be sold to Mr Smith.

"I feel very bad for the local communities of Coobowie and Wool Bay," Mr Peter said.

"We have a large number of elderly in our community who rely on mobility scooters to get around and to come to the general store, and they will be impacted greatly if the postal service ends up at Edithburgh or somewhere similar."

An Australia Post spokesperson said all licensees must meet Australia Post's requirements before they can operate a post office on behalf of Australia Post.

"Coobowie does not currently have post office boxes and residents collecting their mail at this location do so over the counter during operating hours," the spokesperson said.

"Both Edithburgh and Yorketown Post Offices have boxes for lease, which provide 24/7 access and many Coobowie residents have already leased PO Boxes at alternate locations."

"Australia Post is committed to continuing postal services for the Coobowie community and is currently seeking expressions of interest to operate a Community Postal Agency in the area."

NOT HAPPY... Coobowie General Store proprietor Darren Smith with progress association members Irena De Vink and Jan Klingberg outside the community hub; the store is set to lose its Australia Post licence at the end of the month if a solution can't be found.

New COVID plan for schools

TEACHERS will need to have had at least one COVID-19 vaccination and a booking for a second by December 10.

Anyone who works or volunteers at a state, Catholic or independent school, preschool or childcare centre will be required to be vaccinated according to the state government's newest plan.

Masks will remain optional indoors for all staff and students, with the government also encouraging all eligible students aged 12 and older to be vaccinated.

Minister for Education John Gardner said although they weren't expecting major alterations, the government is willing to be flexible should it be required.

"Our students have lost just a handful of days of schooling because of the pandemic, thanks to the sensible management of COVID-19 and the overwhelmingly positive response from South Australians," he said.

Only those who have a medical exemption endorsed by the Chief Public Health Officer will be permitted to work or volunteer at a school or early childhood setting without getting vaccinated.

St Columba's Memorial School, Yorketown principal Scott March said his school's community would continue to follow any set guidelines from Catholic Education and SA Health.

"We want to make sure we're providing a safe workspace for staff and students at our school, and that only happens when following health guidelines as we have done throughout the pandemic," he said.

"Over the course of the past 18 months we've been consistent with the other schools in the area - we're regularly in contact with Warooka Primary School and Yorketown Area School to ensure all in our community are receiving the same messaging."

Catholic Education South Australia director Dr Neil McGoran said the safety of staff, students and families is their priority.

"While I understand there are different views in our community about vaccination, we rely on the evidence-based advice of SA Health and the SA Government, and we appreciate this direction has been provided in the best interests of children and young people," he said.

"We will be working closely with our principals, staff, volunteers and contractors to ensure they understand the requirements of this direction."

St Mary MacKillop School, Wallaroo, principal Michelle Miller said it was imperative everyone in the school community felt supported.

"Every effort is being made to make sure we keep open communication with staff and families and ensure everyone feels supported whatever their circumstances might be," she said.

A Department For Education centralised contact tracing team has been established to work with SA Health's Communicable Disease Control Branch in the event a confirmed COVID case in the education system.

Five-year transport plan in motion

Jess Liddy
JOURNALIST

COPPER Coast Council is moving forward with its five-year transport plan.

The plan, which has taken more than a year to complete, will consist of resealing, reconstructing and re-sheeting of roads.

It also includes plans for sealing footpaths, stormwater management and the sealing of unsealed roads within built-up areas.

Director infrastructure services Tim Neumann said a need to focus on the area's unsealed road network was discovered as part of the investigation for the plan.

"The unsealed road network has been defined into three categories as per the service and standard levels of the roads," Mr Neumann said.

"A large proportion of unsealed roads have been classified as 'high use' or Category 1; as such, the focus of the five-year road transport plan has prioritised the roads that can be achieved to a satisfactory level and within budget over this five-year period."

CEO Russell Peate said it was a big step forward for council.

"A lot of time and effort went into this plan and we are very pleased it is moving forward with the chosen roads and paths," Mr Peate said.

"It will be a process but people will start to see works progressing."

Mayor Roslyn Talbot said there was a mountain of work done to get to this point.

"This gives us a plan and the ability to look and tell the community what roads will be upgraded and when," she said.

"I congratulate Mr Neumann and the staff on assessing the roads and for a job well done."

Councillor Neil Sawley said it answered a lot of questions on what dirt roads will be sealed.

"It addresses the main things and gives us something to work towards over the next five years," Mr Sawley said.

Moonta Bay resident Neil Windsor said he was very happy the plan included upgrades to Moonta Road.

"I have been fighting for this road for about 20 years," Mr Windsor said.

"When we first bought a property here in 1998 it has gone from nine houses to more than 30, with only five vacant lots at the moment.

"This program needs to continue and hopefully extra funding can be sought to the many other streets that also require attention."

To see what roads and paths will be a part of the plan, visit www.coppercoast.sa.gov.au/_data/assets/pdf_file/0029/1055279/File-3-Appendices-9-13-inc-5-Year-Transport-Plan-Council-3.11.21.pdf.

RAP warns students of motorcycle risks

METROPOLITAN Fire Service stopped by six Yorke Peninsula schools as part of its Road Awareness Program tour from Monday to Thursday, October 18-21.

MFS firefighter Jarrad Stallard was joined by road crash survivor Yudhi Mohan-Ram in visits to Kadina Memorial, Minlaton District, Mootna Area, Ardrossan Area and Yorketown Area Schools, as well as Harvest Christian College, Kadina.

The pair also presented at Wallaroo Hospital as part of the program.

This year's RAP focused on the dangers of motorcycles and encouraged students to speak up against selfish behaviour.

There have been 90 lives lost on South Australian roads so far this year, with motorbikes accounting for nearly 20 per cent of deaths despite only representing 3.6 per cent of vehicles.

Mr Stallard said there were 21 motorcycle-related deaths in 2020 and 15 already this year, but one death is too many.

"We want everyone to be aware of the risks involved with being a road user," he said.

"We are not saying don't ride motorcycles, we just want everyone to make informed choices."

Mr Mohan-Ram was T-boned on his motorbike and left in a coma for 46 days with a 10 per cent chance of survival.

"For (many fatalities), there are people like me who survive with serious injuries," he said.

"My crash left me with a bruised heart, broken bones throughout my whole body and reduced lung capacity."

Mr Mohan-Ram's injuries prevent him from working full-time, so he instead spends his time volunteering.

He said he is determined to educate young drivers about the major consequences which can occur from taking just one risk.

STRONG RESULT... Road crash survivor Yudhi Mohan-Ram and firefighter Jarrad Stallard enjoyed presenting the annual RAP tour to Ardrossan Area School students including, back: Corey Haynes, Mitch Stone; front: Nathan Rowe, Calvin Perrie, Caitlin Carroll, Elisha Carter, Kimberly McKibbin, Anastasia Gorden, Elsa Yunia-Owen, Jorja Winen, Sienna Bond, Emma Whittaker, Megan Purnell, Elizabeth Rice

HANDY... Harvest Christian College students Anastasia Warren, Georgia Spry and Alexis Wibrow-Yelland show their Road Awareness Program booklets after a presentation last month.

GROWTH... MFS firefighter Jarrad Stallard educates Moonta Area School students about the dangers of motorcycles.

TRASH OR TREASURE?

Free kerbside giveaway this weekend

ONE man's trash is another man's treasure — or so they say.

Copper Coast Council is holding its annual kerbside giveaway weekend this Saturday and Sunday, November 27-28.

"It's time to dust off those unwanted items again as residents have the chance to place items on the kerbside for free collection by the public," a council spokesperson said.

"Any reusable items including books, CDs, DVDs, old furniture, appliances, electronics, crockery, and yard equipment can be placed on the kerb for the weekend.

"All you have to do is drag those items to the kerbside on Saturday and label them as free and hope it's found a new home by dusk on Sunday.

"If your items remain on the kerb, please remember it is your responsibility to remove them, not council's.

"If you no longer wish to keep the item, please either donate to a charitable organisation or dispose of properly."

Due to popular demand council has also introduced a second free kerbside giveaway for the last weekend in May.

"If you miss any items this time around, don't worry," a council spokesperson said.

"You only have to wait another six months for our next free kerbside giveaway weekend on Saturday and Sunday, May 28-29."

For further information, please call the council office on 8828 1200.

KERBSIDE GIVEAWAY... Copper Coast Council coordinator waste and inspectorate Ivan Nolte reminds the public to utilise the free kerbside giveaway this weekend, Saturday and Sunday, November 27-28.

HEADLINER... Hans will headline Picnic in the Park in Port Pirie this weekend which has been organised in part by SOS Copper Coast Suicide Prevention Network and the Copper Coast Gay Straight Alliance.

Picnic in the Park this weekend

INTERNATIONAL superstar Hans will headline Picnic in the Park in Port Pirie this Sunday, November 28.

The event has been organised by members of SOS Copper Coast Suicide Prevention Network and the Copper Coast Gay Straight Alliance in collaboration with Port Pirie Bouncing Back Suicide Prevention Network and the Port Pirie LGBTIQ+ community.

Hans was set to headline the event last year; however, a snap lockdown meant it had to be cancelled 10 days out.

"It was decided in 2020 to hold the first regional Picnic in the Park in synchronicity with the Adelaide-based Feast Picnic in the Park on the last Sunday in November," SOS Copper Coast Suicide Prevention Network chairperson David Boots said.

"Picnic in the Park is an iconic end to the three-week Feast Festival held annually in Adelaide.

"The team decided to try again this year, supported by a collaboration with two other Suicide Prevention Networks, Bouncing Back SPN (Port Pirie) and Mid North SPN, with assistance from Copper Coast Gay Straight Alliance and LGBTIQ+ groups in Port Pirie and Burra."

Mr Boots said the theme of the free event is Accepting Diversity and Building Resilience.

"The primary benefit will be to LGBTIQ+ persons of all ages but also inclusive of the whole community as a demonstration of diversity acceptance," he said.

"It's a chance to make new friends, relax and unwind — all resilience-building activities.

"We chose the Port Pirie Memorial Park because of its central location to the Yorke, Mid North and Spencer Gulf regions."

Mr Boots said local artists will also perform on the day.

"We also have a best fancy dressed teddy bear competition, where attendees will be asked to dress up their favourite teddy and bring it along to be judged," he said.

"The event will have food vendors, stalls and children's entertainment.

"Funding was gained through grants from Wellbeing SA and Country SA Primary Health Network."

The event will be held from 11am to 4pm at Memorial Park in Port Pirie.

Gates open at 10.30am and, due to COVID restrictions, there is a cap of 1000 people, masks must be used when walking around and QR code or written registration will be required upon entry.

Federal taskforce to count cost of bank closures

Patrick Goldsmith
REPORT BY

A FEDERAL government taskforce is set to explore the impact of regional bank branch closures.

Yorke Peninsula hasn't been spared from closures with Maitland ANZ branch shutting in August and Bank SA shutting its doors at Yorketown in 2016, amongst others.

The Regional Banking Taskforce held its first meeting earlier this month, with an issues paper expected to be out for public consultation by the end of the year.

Assistant Treasurer Michael Sukkar and New South Wales Senator Perin Davey will co-chair the group, and will be joined by representatives from banks, Australia Post and other organisations.

ANZ currently operates three branches in Kadina, Minlaton and Yorketown but ANZ South Australia general manager Kathleen Jahour said the company had seen a huge increase in customers choosing online banking methods during the past year.

"ANZ is committed to regional Australia and we are working with the government and industry groups as part of the taskforce," she said.

"We have seen a significant shift in the way customers use branches, with a 60 per cent decline in, in-branch transactions across ANZ over the past five years.

"In the last year alone we've seen 70 per cent of our customers prefer online banking methods, which are convenient and secure."

The region's only Commonwealth Bank branch in Kadina was one of 90 sites to have its opening hours reduced in July, now closing at 1pm daily.

There is one NAB branch in Kadina and BankSA at Kadina, Moonta, Ardrossan and Minlaton.

"It's a great concern we've lost a lot of bank branches and there are now sizeable towns regionally without banking," Member for Grey Rowan Ramsey said.

"On the other hand, the world has moved to electronic banking, so a lot of us don't use banks like we used to and there's a certain inevitability that if the branch isn't used, it won't stay open.

"It's a good opportunity for the taskforce to discover whether this has a lasting impact on communities which undermines their ability to succeed in other areas.

"When you're trying to attract professionals to a town and you've got no school, no hospital, and no bank, well these are all negatives in the eyes of someone new to a community."

South Australian Senator Rex Patrick reinforced the importance in having financial options available for people living regionally.

"The spate of bank closures and decline of access to financial services across regional Australia is a very serious problem with huge implications for economic opportunity, prosperity and social justice," Mr Patrick said.

However, Mr Patrick also conveyed his concerns about the taskforce.

"Apart from Senator Davey, it's hard to see anyone with a direct experience of regional Australia, including the perspectives and problems of communities such as those of the Yorke and Eyre Peninsulas, let alone those of more remote areas such as the APY lands," he said.

"If this was a serious exercise the taskforce would have included more people with firsthand experience of regional and remote parts of Australia, including representation of Indigenous Australians."

Bute wastewater flowing to fruition

Fin Hansen
REPORT BY

BUTE'S Community Waste Management System is set for a $1.5 million redevelopment.

The project will include an upgrade to Port Broughton's Moyses Road wastewater site, as well as the installation of an irrigation system which will feed water to the Bute oval.

An improvement to the wastewater site will allow its water to process through four facultative lagoons, whilst settling and oxidising at different stages, before flowing through to the oval.

Barunga West Council initially allocated $1m for the project as part of its 2021-22 budget, but after approaching the market it is likely to cost $1.5m.

Council CEO Maree Wauchope said the additional costs were mainly associated with the infrastructure to treat and reuse wastewater.

"The project is set to save up to $40,000 a year in SA Water bills, and will enable the community to water the oval all year around," Ms Wauchope said.

"(At our November meeting) Councillors thought these benefits were well worth the investment.

"Council wants to reduce costs while increasing water supply to the oval, and by treating and reusing the wastewater we can achieve this.

"Importantly, the project will resolve compliance and functionality issues with the current lagoon."

Baker Civil Australia has been engaged for the project and is scheduled to begin works on the Port Broughton wastewater site this month.

The same tender will also commence the Bute Community Waste Management System upgrade in April next year, with an aim to complete the redevelopment in September.

ON TRACK... Barunga West Council manager infrastructure services Steve Davey and mayor Leonie Kerley are pleased to see Bute's Community Waste Management System upgrade edging closer to commencement, a move which is welcomed Bute Sporting Club president Allan Axford.

Salt Lake Trail officially opened

PROUD GROUP... Yorke Peninsula Council director of assets and infrastructure Andre Kompler, Peter Stockings, Peter Twartz, Jason Swales, Alan Twartz, Cheryl Bates, YPC visitor information servicing officer Gabrielle Gutsche, YPC operations manager Stephen Goldsworthy, YPC environment officer Letitia Dahl-helm, YPC operations coordinator Nick Hoskin, Councillor Adam Meyer and Mayor Darren Braund at the official opening of the Salt Lake Trail.

YORKE Peninsula Salt Lake Trail was officially opened at Weaners Flat Reserve, Yorketown, on Monday, November 15.

The trail capitalises on the stunning salt lakes scattered throughout southern Yorke Peninsula by encouraging self-drive tours, from a 15-minute trek to extended adventures.

Many of these lakes are naturally pink, and they can also appear orange, blue and white.

The lakes also change dramatically throughout the year, rewarding repeat visits.

The Yorke Peninsula Salt Lake Trail begins at Weaners Flat Reserve with a boardwalk and informative large sign at Par Lake.

The sign points visitors in the right direction for the different self-drive tours available.

Signs and lookouts are scattered along the trail to maximise the tour experience.

“This trail is another wonderful offering for visitors to our region,” Yorke Peninsula Council mayor Darren Braund said.

Mr Braund commended the residents, council staff and elected members, particularly Councillor Adam Meyer, tradespeople, and everyone else involved in bringing the trail to fruition.

CHAMPION... The fastest female parkrunner in Australia, Caitlin Adams, of Wallaroo, in front of the 100-plus throng before the event.

Take your mark for first parkrun

Patrick Goldsmith
REPORT BY

COPPER Coast's first parkrun was a success despite the wild and woolly weather on Saturday, November 20.

The event began at 8am and brought together travellers from across South Australia and local residents, all with the need for speed.

Starting from the old racecourse between Kadina and Wallaroo, the route utilises the Rotary Copper Trail.

Copper Coast Council Mayor Roslyn Talbot and event organiser Gerry van Niekerk spoke about what a thrill it was now to have the event in the area before runners were given the start.

Participants can run, jog or walk the five kilometres, tracking their time against their previous results, rather than each other.

The fastest man was Kent Baraglia, of Mount Barker, who finished in a time of 19:14.

Caitlin Adams, of Wallaroo, had the fastest time of any woman, finishing alongside her brother Tyson with a time of 19:19.

Miss Adams set the Australian parkrun record in August, running the Lochiel course in a staggering 15:38.

"I've always thought the area would be perfect for a parkrun and I wasn't going out today with the intention to run that fast, but it was brilliant to do it with my brother and push him for a personal best," Miss Adams said.

Mr van Niekerk said he was thrilled with how the event turned out.

"It's just awesome," he said.

"Despite the rain, and the fact people may have thought 'perhaps I won't bother', this turnout is brilliant and everyone is in such a great mood."

Copper Coast parkrun events will continue to be held opposite the racecourse at 8am every Saturday.

Call for free mental health centre

Sonny Coombs
JOURNALIST

LIFELINE ambassador David Boots is advocating for a free mental health service on Yorke Peninsula but needs community backing.

Mr Boots, who is also chair of SOS Copper Coast Suicide Prevention Network, has been in discussion with Lifeline about the establishment of a service; and needs data from the community to make it possible.

To obtain the data an online survey has been created.

"Lifeline has key centres across Australia and Lifeline Broken Hill Country to Coast services regional areas in New South Wales and South Australia," Mr Boots said.

"I am very keen to support any moves that will improve the mental health support for our Yorke Peninsula community."

"The Lifeline Connect concept can provide early intervention support, reducing the chances of someone developing serious mental health issues that require clinical treatment."

Mr Boots said mental health clinicians have lengthy waiting periods due to the high demand for their services.

"If a Lifeline Connect centre can apply a 'stitch in time saves nine' strategy, then this will benefit not only the community but begin to ease pressure on clinicians," he said.

"The great thing is that you do not need a referral, you can walk in off the street and seek support."

"I urge as many people as possible to do this brief anonymous survey, the more who do, the greater our chances of achieving this aim of getting a free Lifeline Connect centre."

AMBASSADOR... David Boots was appointed as an ambassador for Lifeline Broken Hill Country to Coast by CEO Scott Hammond earlier this year and his now advocating for a free mental health service on Yorke Peninsula.

Lifeline Broken Hill Country to Coast CEO Scott Hammond said the Lifeline Connect centre model was first launched in Clare in March and exceeded expectations within the first six months.

"The model has proven to be a much-needed first point of contact for people struggling to navigate the complexities of services along with meeting gaps in psychosocial supports for those who experience disstress," Mr Hammond said.

"Many key stakeholders have reached out across the South Australia region expressing interest and a need for this type of service in their communities."

"We are keen to explore the potential to secure funding for a satellite centre in Moonta that would be supported by hubs in Clare and Port Pirie."

To complete the survey, visit www.surveymonkey.com/r/MNZJG9R.

YPC seeking feedback on coastal management strategy

YORKE Peninsula Council is calling on the community to comment on a plan to protect the region's coastline.

Council has released the third and final section of its coastal management strategy, which will provide a framework for future management of coastal council land, for public consultation.

This section includes the plan for the coastline from the council's border at Federation Park to Hickey's Point.

"We were delighted with the level of community interest in sections one and two of the strategy," Mayor Darren Braund said.

"We received many fantastic suggestions and comments, all of which were considered by council and incorporated into the strategy where appropriate.

"I hope our community continues to participate in the development of the coastal management strategy."

Mr Braund said a long-term plan needs to be in place so everyone can enjoy the coast for years to come.

"Our coast supports a very diverse range of marine and terrestrial flora and fauna, some of which are nationally and internationally significant," he said.

"However, our coastline is a sensitive system and there are increasing pressures from development, agriculture, tourism, fishing and recreation.

"There are many management issues council wishes to address."

A public information session will be held at the Ardrossan Town Hall (Main Hall) at 5.30pm on Monday, November 29.

All are welcome; however, due to COVID-19 safety requirements, RSVPs are essential.

To RSVP, contact council by close of business Friday, November 26.

Additionally, council will accept written submissions until Thursday, December 2.

New manager for CCSLC

COPPER Coast Sport and Leisure Centre, Kadina, has welcomed Giles Ellis as its newest centre manager.

Mr Ellis graduated from university with a Bachelor of Business (Sport and Recreation Management) and has spent three years as local STARCLUB field officer.

He has recently completed a two year stint as Tennis SA club development officer.

Mr Ellis has taken on the role with ample experience as a player and volunteer of local football, basketball and tennis clubs, in addition to representative team selections.

Mr Ellis said there has been a lot to absorb as centre manager so far, since starting late last month.

"It's been a bit like drinking from a fire hydrant, but I'm trying to take in as much as I can," he said.

"I'm really enjoying meeting lots of new faces and seeing everyone walk through the doors."

Mr Ellis said he has been using the centre for as long as he can remember.

"I first started using the centre when I was in creche — Lisa (Raymond) was my carer and she's still looking after me today as an administrative officer," he said.

"Hopefully I can bring a new perspective as a local and having used it my whole life.

"I mainly joined because of the centre's potential and opportunities to grow."

Despite usually steering clear of the weight room, Mr Ellis is an avid user of the facility's downstairs options and said it has been a great way to be involved in the community.

"We provide opportunities for literally everyone to be active, whether it's KinderGym, Active Adults, in the pool, personal training, squash, cheerleading or karate," he said.

"I'm still trying to get an idea of how it all runs, but there'll definitely be ways we can grow."

To get in touch with Mr Ellis regarding CCSLC operations, email gellis@belgravialeisure.com.au.

LOCAL FACE... Giles Ellis has joined the team at the Copper Coast Sport and Leisure Centre, Kadina, as centre manager.

Campsite rejuvenation two years on

Patrick Goldsmith
REPORT BY

YORKE Peninsula Council has upgraded the Goldsmith Beach bush camping reserve two years after it was destroyed by fire.

Council used state bushfire recovery funding for the project and has also earmarked improving the facilities at the majority of the region's campgrounds in the near future as a possibility.

The reserve, just 12 minutes from Edithburgh, was entirely burnt out by bushfire on November 19, 2019.

Rejuvenation has happened gradually at the site with the introduction of a gravel road, central shelter and toilet block.

YPC operations manager Stephen Goldsworthy said council had relished the opportunity to provide new facilities.

"The placement of a centrally located shelter and compostable toilet, along with fencing has seen the campground facilities become as good as any in our area," he said.

"The rejuvenation of the surrounding bushland will allow it to re-establish itself and return the habitat to what it once was.

"Local community members are getting on board to help with weed control in the area to give the native vegetation its best chance to respond, which is great to see."

Of council's 19 bush-camping sites, 10 have toilet facilities and six of the remaining nine have been prioritised for an upgrade.

"Following the onset of COVID, we have seen record number of visitors to our area, and we're doing our best to provide facilities at all sites without impacting the freedom of the bush camping experience," Mr Goldsworthy said.

"Most of our actions are around protecting environment that people are there to see and provide the infrastructure that supports good camping behaviour."

Mr Goldsworthy said council was working through the final stage of its coastal management strategy, which included plans for potential upgrades.

Compostable toilets at campsites are the main priority, should funding be available, Mr Goldsworthy said.

"The strategy includes requirements for all our bush camping sites but there are numerous other works to help complement not only bush camping sites, but all council visitor locations," he said.

Bush campers are required to apply for a permit through council which can be used to access any of the sites in the region.

SA Tourism Commission chief visits YP

SOUTH Australian Tourism Commission chief executive Rodney Harrex visited Yorke Peninsula on Wednesday, October 27.

Mr Harrex visited Tourism Industry Development Fund grant recipient Redwing Farm which is completing a $182,000 upgrade, including the redevelopment of an existing building to become a guest check-in space, office and function centre and converting a bus into new tourist accommodation.

He also visited the Wallaroo Shores development and Wallaroo Beachfront Tourist Park.

"The number of South Australians continuing to embrace local getaways is impressive — regional tourism is booming and Yorke Peninsula is getting a good chunk of it," Mr Harrex said.

"In the 12 months to June, intrastate expenditure was up 29 per cent to a record-high $2.6 billion.

"South Australians are loving Yorke for its coastal lifestyle, its nature-based offerings and the incredible development we're seeing in the region with distilleries, wineries and new accommodation."

Mr Harrex said Tourism

VISIT... South Australian Tourism Commission chief executive Rodney Harrex chats with Redwing Farm's Nicola and Damien Adams during his visit.

Industry Development Fund grants supporting projects like Sunny Hill Distillery and Wallaroo Beachfront Tourist Park and investment projects including Wallaroo Shores are helping the region grow.

"(This is) giving South Australians more reasons to return and enticing interstates when we open our borders," he said.

"It'll soon be even more accessible when the Port Wakefield Road upgrades are complete, helping holiday traffic flow to the region just over an hour's drive from Adelaide.

"Having hit $238 million in the year to March 2021, the Yorke Peninsula is well on its way to achieving its 2025 visitor expenditure target of $289m."

DEVELOPMENT... South Australian Tourism Commission chief executive chair Andrew Bullock; Monopoly Property Group director Ben Howard, SATC chief executive Rodney Harrex and SATC executive director of destination development Nick Jones check out the progress at the Wallaroo Shores development.

VISITING COMMITTEE... Members of the Environment Resources and Development Committee have recently completed their review into the state Coastal Protection Act, pictured are Robert Simms, Terry Stephens, Michael Brown, Tung Ngo and presiding member Nick McBride.

Committee hands down coast protection report

Nigel Parsons
JOURNALIST

THE parliamentary inquiry into the Coast Protection Act has been completed.

Members of the Environment Resources and Development Committee visited a number of coastal locations, including Yorke Peninsula, during their investigations.

The committee has proposed a set of 11 recommendations for implementation by the state government.

During the tour, the parliamentarians saw first-hand examples of dramatically degrading coastlines and inundation, expensive dredging programs, eroding seawalls and risks to infrastructure, and met with local councils and other bodies to assess the challenges moving forward.

There were a number of areas of concern expressed by the YP Council including cliff erosion at Ardrossan. The committee also met with representatives from the Black Point Progress Association to view first-hand ongoing concerns of that community with the boat ramp and its impacts.

Presiding member and Member for MacKillop Nick McBride said the act had not been amended in more than 50 years.

"There's not enough money being made available at all levels of government to meet the new demands and requirements on our foreshores," he said.

"The science, as far as storm surges, erosion, and potential sea level rise, is perhaps seen as inadequate, and the bureaucratic red tape of issues having to go through local government, the Environment Protection Authority, Coast Protection Board, Department for Environment and Water, and others, caused decision making to take three to four years.

"With regards to YP, you've got some beautiful, pristine coastline with lots of small towns with boat ramps and walkways that could all be done better or enhanced, but they're problems measured in the tens of thousands of dollars, not in the millions."

Mr McBride said the committee heard the pandemic has created a major influx of visitors and new property owners to coastal regions, creating further challenges.

"YP is booming in the visitation to the area but its infrastructure hasn't kept pace," he said.

"It's at the minister's peril now as to whether he adopts all 11 recommendations or ignores them.

"This enquiry into the board and its processes has been very respectful.

"They were very concerned at the beginning that it was going to be a witch-hunt; however, they've now seen it as an opportunity to address the funding issues towards the coastline as well as the streamlining of the process."

Fundraising for Tiddy Widdy Beach meeting place

Sonny Coombs
JOURNALIST

TIDDY Widdy Beach Progress Association has set up a GoFundMe page to help make its dream of having an all-weather meeting place come true.

The association currently uses a structure on Hosking Road for functions and entertainment; however, it's not suitable during inclement or hot weather.

"In a community survey conducted in the earlier part of 2021, it was identified the people of our town wanted a weatherproof building incorporating an upgrade to the kitchen more than anything," association chairperson Susan Tolley said.

"The committee evaluated the potential costs of closing in our current infrastructure with four walls providing a fully enclosed building with air conditioning and heating.

"It is a great option to protect goods and machinery against the elements but, more importantly, fostering and fulfilling the various needs of the local community."

Mrs Tolley said an all-weather meeting place will increase community connection and improve social inclusion and wellbeing.

"Suggested ideas (to hold in a meeting place) are educational activities such as computer classes for seniors, relaxation activities, school holiday activities, art classes for kids and adults," she said.

"These activities will encourage the community to be physically active and hiring the facility for special occasions will increase usage and functionality.

"The association is always looking for opportunities to enrich Tiddy Widdy Beach's cultural attractiveness, vibrancy, tourism and liveability."

The project is expected to cost about $30,000.

"At this point in time the association is committed to providing $10,000 toward the project which we would like to see completed at the end of 2022," Mrs Tolley said.

"With specifications and costings completed we then shared it with the world through social media and email.

"Very valuable personal donations have been made so far but we are very open to business donations, these benefactors would make a huge difference to the project."

FUNDRAISING... Tiddy Widdy Beach Progress Association chairperson Susan Tolley is asking the community to help raise money for an all-weather meeting place in the town.

Mo reasons to raise awareness

Nigel Parsons
JOURNALIST

MOONTA'S Paul Cibiras has joined national campaign Movember to shine a light on men's health issues.

The Movember movement began in 2003 and for some it's a fun chance to grow an outrageous moustache and raise money for a worthwhile cause.

For others, it's a little closer to home, with often sobering reminders of loved ones lost too early.

Mr Cibiras intends to shave half his head if he reaches his fundraising target and has already trimmed half his beard for the cause.

Mr Cibiras said working in the mining sector for around 40 years, often in remote and isolated locations, meant he had seen the effects of depression up close and personal.

"It was enjoyable work but it could be a pretty tough place at times," he said.

Along with his Movember awareness campaign, Mr Cibiras has recently signed up to The Mates in Mining, an industry-based suicide prevention website and forum for the mining industry.

"It's about black dog and bullying and stuff like that in the industry," he said.

"The black dog lives under my bed, but it does not growl very often.

"I've got him covered though."

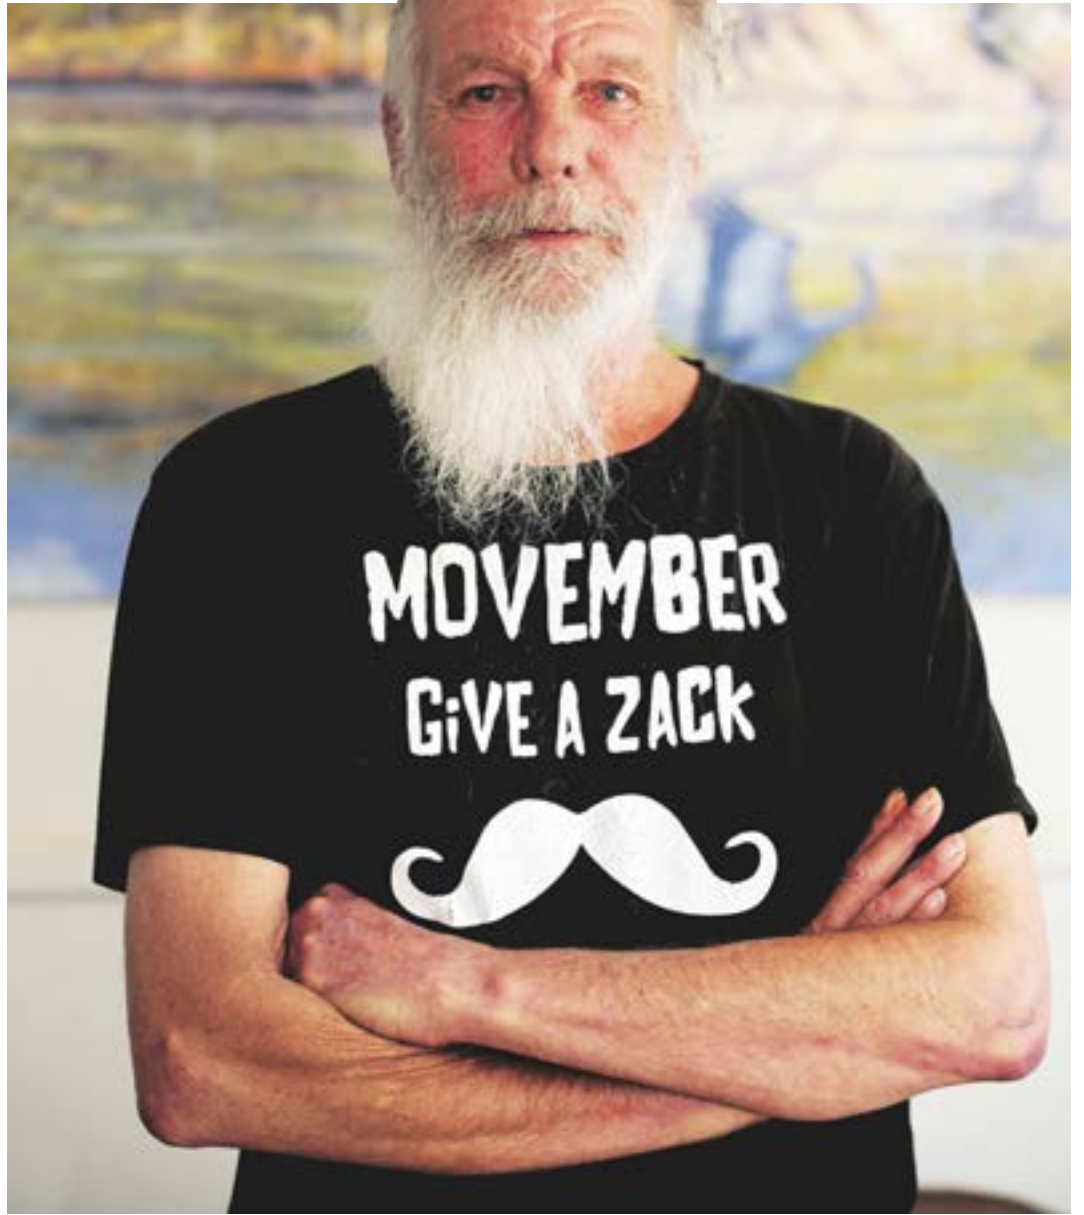

Mr Cibiras hopes his Movember campaign will help remind men to get regular health checks as he has also lost friends to cancer.

"I've raised a good amount already, but it's really about raising the awareness to get checked," he said.

James' heart battle

Sonny Coombs
JOURNALIST

LIFE has been turned upside down for Curramulka's Gavin and Sophia Roocke after their baby son James was diagnosed with a life-threatening heart disease.

The family has temporarily relocated to Melbourne, with no return date in sight, to access the nation's leading paediatric cardiology care.

"This first began when James seemed to get a bug — vomiting and diarrhoea — at home in late September," Gavin said.

"It was nothing serious, a doctor examined him, sent us home saying he was slightly dehydrated and no further concerns.

"He subsequently became lethargic/listless which was uncharacteristic of him as he was such a happy, active baby."

Gavin said James's condition worsened and he became limp and docile.

"We went back to Yorketown Hospital before promptly getting on a MedSTAR flight to the Women's and Children's Hospital in Adelaide," he said.

"Late that night in the emergency department, he was examined by a cardiologist who informed us he was in late-stage heart failure and fighting for his life.

"The cardiologist diagnosed James with dilated cardiomyopathy (disease of the heart muscle that prevents the heart from pumping effectively) and we were straight to ICU where James was placed on extensive life-support systems to stabilise him."

Further tests revealed the cause was not genetic and most likely myocarditis (inflammation of the middle layer of the heart wall).

"Either way the condition is life-threatening and the cardiologists and ICU specialists in Adelaide made the call to send James to the Royal Children's Hospital here in Melbourne," Gavin said.

"This hospital is a world leader in paediatric cardiac care and the only hospital in Australia to perform the Ventricular Assist Device surgery which James has undergone.

"James currently has a VAD (external heart pump) supporting the left side of his heart and is on the cusp of having another VAD inserted for the right side of his heart which is still failing."

Gavin said the reality is a transplant is the only recovery option for James.

"We have now been in Melbourne for more than five weeks after five days at the Women's and Children's in Adelaide," he said.

"It is impossible to put into words how Sophia and I felt when we were first told of James' diagnosis.

"We were numb and in disbelief, it was like the rug had just been pulled out from under us, utter and complete devastation."

"Life will never be the same again"

Gavin said watching James' struggle through exhaustive testing, treatment and surgeries during the past six weeks has been challenging and overwhelming.

"He is such a beautiful, joyful soul who currently has no quality of life whatsoever, it is heart-wrenching and soul-destroying to say the least," he said.

"This effect has obviously been equally felt by our extended families and friends who all have been deeply and profoundly affected by James's plight.

"As for our return to Yorke Peninsula, this will be a considerable time down the track."

Gavin said should James end up on the transplant path it could be 12 months or longer before they are in a position to return home.

"In the unlikely event that James' heart can heal itself it will still be at least three to six months before leaving hospital is even a possibility," Gavin said.

"Safe to say, whatever happens, life will never be the same again."

HAPPY FAMILY... Curramulka's Sophia and Gavin Roocke, pictured with children Grace and James, have had their lives turned upside down after James was diagnosed with a life-threatening heart disease.

Incredible support

A GOFUNDME page, set up to help ease the financial pressure on the couple, has raised close to $20,000.

"The support from the GoFundMe campaign is paying our living expenses and potential medical costs at present," Gavin said.

"Sophia and I have both had to put our jobs on hold to be here full-time with James so people's generous gifts to us through this forum have removed that financial worry and stress at a time when we have little to spare in our crowded head space.

"Again, we will never be able to thank these generous, giving, caring folks who have given selflessly to assist with our journey.

"The fact we have never even met many of these remarkable people is quite simply astounding and very faith-affirming."

Gavin said the support has not just been financial.

"The support we have received — including practical, financial and emotional — is the reason we are still able to get out of bed in the morning," Gavin said.

"Sophia and I have been greatly humbled and in awe of the enormous number of people who have reached out to us in so many ways, from near and far.

"The nurses, doctors, social workers, music therapists, pastoral care workers and everyone else both at the Women's and Children's and the Royal Melbourne Hospitals are beyond amazing.

"They are the true saints of the modern world; words will never do justice in describing these incredible folks."

Archibalds' year of service and achievement

THREE generations of the Archibald family have completed a year of service and achievement.

After retiring from Port Broughton Area School in 2004, Ian became a volunteer with Moonta National Trust

Moonta Mines Railway and has been there ever since.

During volunteer week earlier this year, he was recognised for his commitment to that organisation.

More recently, his service to Freemasonry was recognised with the awarding a five-year bar to his 50-year jewel, indicating 55 years of service to this organisation at state and local level.

Ian's son Darren Archibald, who went to school at Port Broughton and Kadina — and who now resides and works in Mount Gambier — was awarded a Paul Harris Fellowship for his service to the Mount Gambier Rotary Club and the Mount Gambier community in general.

Darren is also a member of several community organisations in that city.

Ian's grandson Hayden Archibald this year graduated from Flinders University with a Masters degree of Engineering (Electronics), and a Bachelor of Engineering (Robotics) (Honours).

Hayden is currently working in Adelaide, and on the weekends volunteers a lot of his time to photographing community sporting events, particularly cycling.

End of an era at Sandilands

SANDILANDS Uniting (formerly Methodist) Church and hall have been demolished after it was judged economically unfeasible to return them to a safe state.

The church's foundation stone was laid in November 1908, with the building completed and opened on February 28, 1909.

The Sunday school hall was added in 1921 and the front porch was built in 1930.

In 1946, Mr F. E. Gersch donated extra land for tennis courts to be built behind the hall.

Now, only the three tennis courts remain.

The local community had been aware for some time the buildings, located on Sandilands Church Road, were deteriorating and action was necessary.

There had not been a service in the church for many years, so the Uniting Church of Australia put the buildings on the market and descendants of Mr F. E. Gersch purchased them.

Unfortunately, the serious deterioration of the hall (used as clubrooms when the Sandilands Tennis Club was formed in 1946) had created a safety issue for young players, precipitating the decision to remove the hall in 2019.

DEMOLISHED... Sandilands Uniting Church, as painted by Joy Davey in 2008; the dilapidated church and hall have had to be demolished due to safety concerns.

The original intention was to save the church but a builder's inspection confirmed it would require considerable capital investment to make it safe for use.

Following consultation with the local community and discussion with original church families, it was decided the best way forward was to demolish the church building so the area could be safely used by the Sandilands Junior Tennis Club.

The buildings' foundation stones have been retained and a structure will be built in recognition of the historical site.

This structure will also honour the area's pioneers and their commitment to faith and community service.

Tennis has been played at Sandilands for more than 75 years, and the Sandilands Junior Tennis Club continues to train and host other clubs at the courts — this will continue into the future thanks to the commitment of the Sandilands community.

Lesley's long service to Agery Red Cross

RED Cross Agery branch member Lesley Bowden has been recognised for her three decades of dedication to the organisation.

Presenting Lesley with her 30-year long service bar at a recent branch meeting, president Rosemary Smith said Lesley was one of a long line of Bowdens from the local area to be active within the branch.

"She has always been a dedicated and active member, taking office as president, vice-president, secretary, and now secretary/treasurer," Rosemary said.

"Lesley is the YP Zone president and since 2016 she has become Zone chairperson.

"All during this time, she has visited many YP branches and attended meetings in Adelaide multiple times.

"Trained by Red Cross in psychological first aid, Lesley attended the aftermath of the devastating fires at Yorketown and Price in 2019, and has had several visits to Kangaroo Island — a wonderful volunteering achievement.

"Lesley's delicious cooking is always much appreciated at our many fundraising efforts.

"She is a truly hardworking and generous person who has our thanks for being so actively involved with Red Cross.

Vincent Senior Citizens Club clocks up 50 years

PORT Vincent Senior Citizens Club celebrated its 50th year on Tuesday, October 26.

President Trevor Clerke welcomed all present, including the special guests who had supported the club over the years.

These were Glenys Denton (president for 12 years), John Francis (secretary, 10 years), Margaret Amer (secretary, six years), Jim (and Joan) Adams, and John and Nola Buttfeld.

John has supplied machinery since the early days (1978) to help with the clubroom's surrounds, and continues to help with the front garden.

Nola's mum Lorna was secretary for many years, and Nola and Vanessa Germein organised meals for special club events.

A slideshow of photos from the club's history was displayed, then a short video of Gala Day with many well-known faces, before an especially prepared a high tea was enjoyed.

A meeting to discuss the club's formation was held on Sunday, October 24, 1971, when the first committee was elected.

The club grew and, after negotiations with council, COTA, Progress and Seniors Savings, the current clubrooms' foundation stone and a time capsule were laid on August 27, 1978.

The club started with about the same number of members as today (around 22); in its heyday, 80 to 100 members attended regularly.

Members of past years regularly travelled to other clubs; these eagerly attended outings were arranged then as they are now, by volunteers.

Club members of today have a spread of personalities and a range of ages and life experiences.

Anyone interested in finding out more about the group can drop in at 13 Main Street, Port Vincent, 1.30pm Tuesdays; alternatively, have a chat with any member or president Trevor on 8853 7191 or 0422 162 204.

Robyn Janitz wins third straight regional property manager award

Advertising promotion

FIRST National Real Estate Copper Coast senior director Robyn Janitz has notched her third straight REISA Regional Property Manager of the Year Award.

Ms Janitz first brought up the feat in 2018, before winning in 2019 and again this year.

The win is her third in a row as the Real Estate Institute of South Australia Awards, sponsored by Compare and Connect, were cancelled in 2020.

Ms Janitz was one of more than 500 members of the state's real estate industry who were hosted by comedian Georgie Carroll at a gala dinner on Saturday, November 13.

Ms Janitz said a key to her success has been the transparency and honesty she has held with clients.

"A property manager must remain unbiased, take on many challenges, have a thorough professional outlook and keep owners updated regardless of the situation," she said.

"It's also important our (First National) team works well to create synergy and efficiency.

Continuing to look for ways to improve systems and procedures has also been integral, Ms Janitz said.

"We have a dedicated team which offers assurance of absolute support and professional attention with genuine care and understanding," she said.

"Our care begins with your

Big vouchers for local shoppers

KADINA shoppers will have chances to win $5000 worth of vouchers in the lead up to Christmas.

All you have to do is make a purchase of any value from one of the Kadina Hub's 43 businesses.

Five lucky winners will claim $200 vouchers each week, starting Friday, December 3, with the major draw of $1000 worth of vouchers drawn on Friday, December 24.

Entrants may enter as many times as they wish prior to the weekly deadline of 5pm, Friday.

Hub chairperson and secretary Paul and Annette Smith said they hoped the initiative would encourage people to do their Christmas shopping in the streets of Kadina.

"We want to see our streets alive and buzzing with shoppers this festive season," Paul and Annette said.

"Whether it's buying your meat, shoes, clothing, appliances or jewellery, it's important to shop locally first.

"Businesses are still feeling the effects of COVID-19, so there's never been a better time to support them."

Paul and Annette said there is more to see, do and buy in Kadina than you think.

LOOK LOCAL... Kadina Hub members, including secretary Annette Smith and chairperson Paul Smith of Enfield Furnishers, are giving shoppers a chance to win $5000 worth of vouchers upon any purchase at one of the 43 businesses displaying Kadina Hub stickers.

"The first step is to just go for a look — you never know what you might find," they said.

"It doesn't matter how or where you're spending money, supporting local businesses supports your whole community.

"We just really wanted to reward the community with these vouchers and everyone has been really supportive so far."

To enter the weekly draws, fill in an entry slip upon your purchase and drop it in the store's draw box.

The competition begins at 9am on Friday, November 26, and will run through to Christmas Eve.

To keep up to date with the weekly winners, visit the Kadina Hub on Facebook.

Varied topics at WAB

WOMEN in Agriculture and Business of South Australia, Cunliffe branch members heard from guest speakers Kadina optometrist Peter Oswald and optometry student Lucy Wong at their August meeting.

The pair gave an illustrated, informative presentation about glaucoma, the WAB SA project for 2021-22.

Branch member Dulcie Barker thanked them for their talk.

Also at the August meeting, long-serving member June Allen — a regular attendee at WAB events, and willing worker at the YP Field Days, et cetera — received her 50-year award from WAB central region coordinator Yvonne Correll.

Branch members were pleased to hear from Leah Holman, of Kadina, at their October 27 meeting.

The successful horse trainer and harness racing driver talked about her breast cancer journey, from diagnosis, through treatment and managing her career, to emerging cured and living a good life.

Leah told how she travelled to Adelaide for treatment, rushed home to train horses and compete, back to Adelaide for more treatment, and the tremendous effort needed.

THANK YOU... Yvonne Correll presents guest speaker Leah Holman with a thank you gift.

The wonderful support of family and friends was a large part of being able to manage, along with a strong determination to cope and not be beaten, she said.

Leah said she had learned keeping physically active and good social communication with others were vitally important to a long life.

Yvonne thanked Leah, presenting her with a gift from members.

The success of and lessons learned from the recent YP

Field Days were discussed.

Cooperation by many people and locals' wish to see the event succeed had been great encouragement to the committee and agricultural bureaus involved, branch president Rosalie Pearce said.

The general interest pavilion program, arranged by the WAB branch, had received positive feedback, and Rosalie thanked members for their efforts.

The branch's next meeting will be a Christmas celebration.

BIRTHDAY... Fully Baked Bakehouse's Mickelle Andrewartha and Brenton Glover are excited to celebrate the business's first birthday this week.

Fully Baked Bakehouse turns one

Advertising Promotion

IT has been a bumpy start for Fully Baked Bakehouse, Kadina, but the business is gearing up to celebrate its first birthday this week.

Fully Baked Bakehouse opened its doors on November 18, 2020, but was forced to close the following day after the state government announced a six-day circuit breaker lockdown.

The lockdown only lasted three days; however, the business couldn't open until Tuesday, November 24, because they had to remake all the fresh goods.

They were also dealt another blow in July when severe weather caused the ceiling to collapse.

Despite the challenges, the business thrived, picking up a few accolades along the way including Magic FM's Region's Best Meat Pie and second place for its finger buns in the Baking Association of Australia's SA baking awards.

"We decided to take on co-ownership of the bakery for a sea change and change of lifestyle because we had been in the city for a while," Mickelle

Andrewartha, one of four co-owners, said.

"We are country people, moved to the city for work, had enough of the rat race and wanted to come back to a seaside area with a country atmosphere."

Mickelle said everything is baked from scratch on site by professional baker and co-owner Brenton Glover using traditional methods.

"The support from the community has been great, we also like to support small businesses and source a lot of our products locally," she said.

"We recently supplied items for the Paskeville Field Days and also went through our first Kernewek Lowender where we made about 1800 Cornish pasties.

"We really want to expand into wholesale production and are happy to work with sporting and community clubs."

The business will celebrate with specials and giveaways on Wednesday, November 24.

Call into to 25 Graves Street, Kadina, today to try Fully Baked Bakehouse's freshly baked goods and barista-made coffee.

Cross Roads' oldest?

FORMER Cross Roads resident Phyllis Ward (nee Tonkin) will celebrate her 99th birthday this Saturday, November 27.

Niece Veris Godward believes Phyllis could be the oldest living person born at Cross Roads.

Phyllis is the youngest of four children born to William Francis and Hilda Elizabeth Emma Tonkin (nee Bohn).

"Having three older brothers — Ken, Tom and Billie — she was a bit of tomboy and her brothers affectionately referred to her as Jo," Veris said.

"They were very protective of her and she had a wonderful relationship with her mother and father too.

"Her youngest brother Billie passed away at 19 due to an ongoing illness and that was a lot of sadness for them at that time.

"She has fond memories of her brother Ken buying her a bike and riding it to the Moonta school.

"Phyllis grew up with grandparents Charley and Elder Bohn at Cross Roads together with her three brothers and parents.

"Her father, of whom she was so proud, needed to go to Broken Hill to work in the mines after Moonta Mines closed."

After finishing school, Phyllis took on a number of cleaning jobs and helped in people's homes.

"She also worked on local family farms, including the Hicks, Howlett and Pedler properties, with some jobs requiring her to stay overnight as well," Veris said.

"Life at Cross Roads was spent enjoying family gatherings, attending Sunday School, Christian Endeavour and church with her mother and brothers.

"Grandfather Bohn provided freshly grown vegetables and poultry for the whole family and lived a healthy life until his passing at age 90.

"Dances were very popular on a Wednesday evening for Phyllis and her girlfriends."

Phyllis moved to Adelaide at 19 and was a housekeeper, as well as helping at doctors' residences.

"She has fond memories of staying with Pat Gregory in Adelaide," Veris said.

"They were the best of friends and used to go to dances together with North Adelaide Football Club players, even double dating American sailors and soldiers."

CELEBRATING... Phyllis Ward recently.

In 1940, Phyllis met Murray Ward and the pair married at the Maughan Methodist Church on April 3, 1948.

"Murray was in the military and was transferred to Victoria after they were married, and that is where she has stayed," Veris said.

"Phyllis and Murray had two daughters, six grandchildren and 15 great-grandchildren.

"She loves being with her family in Melbourne and remained in her Essendon home until she was 92.

"She chose to live with her daughter whose husband had passed away.

"Auntie Phyl has a will of amazing strength and retains a wonderful memory of her life which began at Cross Roads."

HAPPY DAY... The late Murray Ward, and wife Phyllis (nee Tonkin), on their wedding day. Phyllis will celebrate her 99th birthday on November 27.

Childhood glaucoma and quality of life

Flinders University, Adelaide, researchers have published the world's first study documenting the lived experience of childhood glaucoma in adults.

They hope the study will lead to better support systems and give a voice to those living with the disease.

Study lead, orthoptist and PhD candidate Lachlan Knight said childhood glaucoma, diagnosed before age 18, was rare.

Over the past 18 months, the researchers have interviewed nearly 50 adults with childhood glaucoma, asking them how the condition had affected their lives.

Knight said it was common for research participants to feel isolated; misunderstood by their friends, family, or workplace; worried and anxious.

Participants tended to form strong bonds with their ophthalmologists and often relied on family and friends for emotional and social support.

They were also protective of their eye health because they did not want their vision to change.

"Childhood glaucoma can impact someone's decision-making when planning to have a family ... adults often sought genetic testing to understand their risk of passing on their glaucoma to their child," Knight, who is also researching the genetics of childhood glaucoma, said.

From the interviews, the researchers have developed a questionnaire to quantitatively measure the disease's impact, and want as many adults with childhood glaucoma as possible to complete it.

The questionnaire takes 10 to 20 minutes and is accessible to people with vision impairment or blindness.

The study closes January 31, 2022; to participate, contact Lachlan Knight:

Show goes on for KMS goats

KADINA Memorial School's year 9 agriculture students introduced their school goats to Star of the Sea, Wallaroo, residents late last term.

Students were invited to parade their goats and share their learning in an effort to bring the Royal Adelaide Show to residents.

The audience had a chance to meet the school's four goats, resulting in conversation, reminiscing and laughs.

Star of the Sea lifestyle coordinator Danielle Price said the cross-generational activity helped bridge the gap between local seniors and students.

"Student Georgia McKay told me about the goat David and his dog-like personality attributes!" Mrs Price said.

"She also described his relaxed performance at the Kadina Show and how they missed out on a chance to redeem themselves at the Royal Adelaide Show because of its cancellation.

"Many residents had a lifetime association with animals through farming and as pets, which sparked the idea of giving students another opportunity to show their goats.

"The benefit of pet therapy is well documented, which was obvious when the students arrived with their goats and began interacting with residents."

KMS ag teacher Holly Crighton said students have been working with the goats not only in lesson time, but also during lunch times through the past term.

She said the Star of the Sea visit was heartening and enlightening, as students were well behaved and were proud to bring joy to the community.

FRIENDLY... YP talents nominate for draft

Peter Argent

REPORT BY

Some of Yorke Peninsula's best young footballers have nominated for this year's AFL draft, which begins tomorrow (Wednesday, November 24).

The draft continues over Thursday evening and ends Friday with rookie selections.

More than 800 players across Australia have nominated for this year's draft with list spaces at a premium as there are just 50 to 60 spots believed to be available.

South Australian under 19s MVP Max Litster, of Minlaton, along with Stansbury's highly productive ball-winning midfielder Lachlan Hoile have nominated.

Woodville-West Torrens 2021 under 18 premiership players Jonte Hunter-Price and Brock Thomson have also put their names up along with best and fairest, on-baller William Neumann.

Boyd Woodcock, who was delisted by Port Adelaide, and Jacob Wehr, GWS Giants, have also renominated.

Woodcock has committed to Southport Sharks if he doesn't receive a lifeline later this week.

"Clubs have made enquiries about the boys and we are hopeful they will take a chance and give them an opportunity," Eagles SANFL under 18s coach Shane Reardon said.

"We have had a number of meetings across the past couple of weeks with various recruiting personnel.

"It is a reduced draft this year which doesn't help.

"It's not all done and dusted this week, if they don't get opportunities.

"As Lachlan McNeil proved last year, with a strong SANFL season, players still have the ability to make it into the AFL.

"Most of these lads will have to wait until Friday evening before they will find out their respective fates, as being collected as a rookie is their most likely chance."

Kadina's Zac Phillips was unable to nominate due to a technical issue but he will now focus on preseason for Woodville-West Torrens in the next couple of months and is expected to nominate again in 2022.

DRAFT WEEK... Minlaton's Max Litster, in action for South Australia, is one of several Yorke Peninsula players who have nominated for this week's AFL draft.

SERVING the Yorke Peninsula for over 20 years

On an elevated stage

Peter Argent
REPORT BY

SACA men's first grade

West Torrens' season is going from strength to strength, collecting an emphatic 196-run win against Port Adelaide at Henley Memorial Oval in the second week of their round four contest.

After batting on and making 4/386 declared, the Eagles bundled the Magpies out for just 190.

Left arm medium-fast bowler Murphy Short played a cameo role again, collecting the prize wicket of SA Redbacks top order batsman Jake Carder, caught at slip by Kelvin Smith for 19.

Short sent down just five overs, which cost 27 runs and included the wicket.

In the clash between Sturt and Prospect, Sturt won the first innings and declared at 0/0 in their second dig to set the Pirates a target of 160 for outright victory.

The Blues collected maximum points as Prospect fell 21 runs short.

Corey Kelly opened the bowling in both innings for the Blues, collecting the impressive figures of 2/18 from his nine overs in the first innings; he bowled five overs at a cost of 16 runs in the second innings.

Twin brother Trent Kelly chimed in with a couple of excellent catches in the final session of the contest.

Currently Sturt is on top of the SACA first grade ladder with three wins and a draw while West Torrens is just outside the final four in fifth spot.

SACA men's second grade

Lachlan Pointon continued to collect wickets with his off spinners for West Torrens against Port Adelaide on Saturday.

Pointon claimed another two second innings scalps to give him four wickets for the game.

The Eagles nearly turned their big first innings loss into a dramatic outright win.

While Pointon has struggled with the willow this summer, he has taken nine wickets so far this season at a frugal cost of just over 10 runs per scalp.

SACA women's second grade

West Torrens started strongly in the twenty20 semifinal against competition favourite Adelaide.

Jemma Torsney collected the opening two wickets of the contest and had the Buffaloes reeling at 2/16. Her victims included opening bat and the competition's dominant player Hannah Armstrong, bowled for a third ball duck, and her partner Jess Earl, who was out LBW.

Ardrossan export Torsney finished with 2/18 from her four overs, while Maitland leg spinner Mackenzie McCauley recorded a respectable 2/20 from four overs in Adelaide's testing total of 7/115.

West Torrens' run chase however was fruitless, finishing on 5/56.

Unfortunately, after a miscommunication, McCauley was run out without troubling the scorers, facing just two balls.

SACA MEN'S FIRST GRADE... Sturt's Corey Kelly in full flight against Prospect.

SACA MEN'S FIRST GRADE... Thomas Kelly in the field for Sturt against Prospect.

SACA WOMEN'S SECOND GRADE... Jemma Torsney, West Torrens, took the first two wickets against Adelaide.

Central Yorke second in SAASTA Shield

Peter Argent
REPORT BY

The Central Yorke Academy has finished second overall in the 2021 SA Aboriginal Secondary Training Academy Shield competition.

Students participated in a badminton contest and a variety of team activities, including soccer, last Wednesday and Thursday, November 17 and 18.

The shield winners are determined by overall number of points accumulated by students throughout the semester for attendance, work completion, sports workshops and SAASTA Shield activities.

North East Academy claimed first place ahead of Central Yorke and the Riverland.

Central Yorke students showed off their talents in the finals of the badminton and soccer.

"On Wednesday we competed in the badminton final between the top two placed teams, playing the final against the Mark Oliphant Academy," teacher Raelene Stutley said.

"We lost the overall contest — the matches were continuous for 10 minutes and the points just kept mounting.

"At the end, highest score was winner for each of the four matches.

"The highest ranked pair received four points for a win, next ranked three points, and so on down the line.

"Our opposition won pairs ranked one and two and we won the other two matches."

Stutley said the final shield result came down to the soccer playoff.

"North East was strong and defeated us four goals to one," she said.

"All the students had a great time and are looking forward to next year.

"We have the Power Cup at the end of semester one and SAASTA Shield at the end of semester two.

"This is my second year teaching

SAASTA and I love every minute of it.

"The relationships I have developed with my students has been most rewarding and seeing their enjoyment makes it all worthwhile."

A special elite squad was selected before the final with multifaceted sporting talent Kane Elliott-Karpany being asked to be involved.

This also gave Karpany a chance to play in the students v teachers clash which emptied the final.

Moonta Bowling Club highlights

November 17, 1921: A meeting was held at the residence of Dr A R Clayton to consider the idea of forming a bowling club. Dr Clayton was elected president and Mr A D Moffat elected secretary.

December 1, 1921: The Moonta Memorial Park Bowling Club was formed with 43 members who paid one guinea (equivalent to $86 today) entrance and two guineas ($172) subscription.

February 23, 1923: Bowls was first played. A clubhouse, measuring 7.2m x 4.8m, was built. The club took out a £300 ($25,462) overdraft. A croquet club was formed for the wives and relatives of bowlers, as long as they were financial at the time.

1926: 68 members at the annual general meeting. New greenkeeper employed for £4 ($328).

1928: 78 members and the club was affiliated with South Australian Bowling Association. Members decided to enter the country carnival over Easter. One team was selected to represent the club but other teams could enter.

1933: The first Christmas carnival had bowlers playing singles, pairs and fours. Entry was 2/6d ($13) and prizes were two guineas ($218) for winner of singles and one guinea for the runner-up. Four guineas and one guinea for the pairs, and eight guineas and three guineas for the fours. Profit was £8/12/6d ($887).

November 17, 1950: Interested women met in the Unity Hall and the Moonta Women's Bowling Club was formed with 20 members. It was not an easy time as women would join as associate members and be subject to the rules set down by the men's committee.

1952: A third green of five rinks was added to the club.

1961: Dr A R Clayton granted life membership.

1968: A decision was made to demolish existing clubrooms and build a new complex. The new building cost $12,000.

1987: In July, the two clubs amalgamated under one administrative committee with separate committees to function for the working of both the men's and women's clubs. In the winter, further renovations were carried out. The toilet block was demolished and the croquet room became the kitchen. Doors were installed in the end wall and a storeroom, new croquet room, toilet for disabled persons, a cleaning room, a new men's toilet and a spacious women's toilet with three toilets, three hand basins and a rest area. Cost was $51,000 and the club took out a bank loan of $22,000.

2010: Significant renovations again carried out.

August 2011: The club hosted an international test series between Australia and South Africa with a worldwide audience.

2015 and 2016: The club hosted two Australian over 60s championships.

Current: The club has 145 members with 11 sides playing pennants each week. Three members have represented SA over the years including Martin Beaglehole, Ian Hatcher OAM and Jay Phillips.

Ardrossan Thursday: This season is proving to be challenging with hail, inclement weather and last week, strong winds. The Ardrossan women's Green side travelled to Kadina where it secured an 80-69 win. The windy weather suited Annette Rowntree, Barb Lee-Archer, Dawn Woolford and Wendy Lambert who led 15-4 halfway and finished 23-10. Patti Coombe, Rosie Stern, Del Schulz and Trish Burman never looked in doubt winning 24-12. Penny McCarthy, Cheryl Rudiger, Maxine Stennett and Meg Brown trailed 4-12 at the seventh end but slowly gained to finish equal 18-all. Charmaine Simmons, Jenny Adcock, Irene Greig and Kerrie Aldridge had a frustrating day. Kadina led 14-1 after the first five ends, Ardrossan came within three shots halfway, only to then drop a seven and lose 15-29. Ardrossan Gold played at Moonta, losing by 28 shots 63-91. The only shining light was Belinda Meredith, Kath Lea, Ian Werner and Heather Cowen who led all game to win 18-15. Next were Denise Anderson, Kath Bradtke, Ray Jackson and Cheryl Werner who were behind 6-14 at the 15th end, holding their nerve to finish 15-17. Chrissy Voysey, Marlene Houghton, Roz Brown and Lyn Rollbusch were even on 10 shots halfway mark, but Moonta gradually increased its lead to finish 24-15 ahead. It was a dismal day for the remaining team which was out-classed. CS

Ardrossan Saturday: Division I lost to Kadina 94-109. The only winning rink B Hicks, F Stern, P McCarthy and L Rich (sk) blasted past its opponent to come out easy winners 33-21. In control for much of the game, D Adcock's team dropped multiple scores in the final ends to fall short 28-29. After its opponent's mid-game surge J Simmons's rink fought back to close the gap to 20-24. Close early, M Shaw's team was blown apart by a super burst from its talented opponent and lost 13-35. Div II had a comprehensive 48-138 defeat on Bute's slick surface. The best resistance was from T Spiteri, D Lambert, B Hosking and D Johnson. The div III derby resulted in a win to White 61-52. Best for White were C Havers, A Lee-Archer and G Kluske (sk), who had a clear 31-10 victory over C David's team. Best for Blue, C Warner, T Burman and C Voysey (sk), controlled the first part of the game to win 24-12 against D Barton's rink. D Anderson's team took the lead, only to be reeled in by G Mould's rink in an 18-18 draw. LBB

Ardrossan Wednesday: The honours went to Blue 40-32 in its derby against White. The better rink for Blue, M Gerschwitz, L Rich and B Hicks (sk) poured on the points in the first half before F Stern's team raced home but fell short 16-21. In the other game, Blue's K Holman, M Shaw and P Ward (sk) came from behind to soar into the lead against L Burman's team, just defending its excellent run 19-16. Ardrossan had an exciting finish against Curramulka, final scores 36-34. In its 20-13 success, best rink C Robinson, N Atkins and J Burgess (sk) flew to a sound lead early, then resisted a strong fight back. G David's team also sprung to an early lead, but its opponent forced its way to the front to win 21-16. LBB

Arthurton Thursday: Wallaroo visited Arthurton, where the weather was warm with a challenging wind, on November 18. Ali Adams' team of Sheryl Davey, Jan Westley and Lorna Markos had the best win of the day 32-10. Also having a good win was Sally Young's team of Bev Mullins, Judy Buttfield and Jennie Barton 25-15. Arthurton proving too strong with an overall tally of 90 to 58. Well done. "Wildoats2"

Arthurton Saturday: Interesting weather has meant no harvesting so the club has been able to fill its Saturday sides. Division I had a good win against Wallaroo Blue 121-64 on November 14 and lost to Moonta Red by 13 shots on November 21. Best rink in both games was Simon Geater-Johnson (sk), Kadina Saturday: On an unseasonably cold day for lawn bowls, we gritted our teeth and ploughed on. Division I hosted Ardrossan and finished ahead by 15 shots. Derrick Bushell (sk), Wendy Venning, Robert Cross and Roger Spry carried the side with their 22-shot demolition of the opposition. Great to see Brian May's team come from a long way back and get up by a single shot. Div II hosted Moonta Red but didn't have quite such a good day, down on all fours and 66 shots (ouch!). Div III travelled to Moonta but went down by 24 shots. Shylie Koch skippered Suzanne Kennett, Jeff Battle and new player Alan Curtis to a seven-shot win, welcome aboard Alan. Tournament draws are on the board, we'd still like some people to enter the B grade singles. "Second Wood"

Others: Shirley Campbell, Kay Koerber, Jackie East, Kath Teddy 18-18; Jo May 17-21; Carol Howe 15-21. Green lost to Ardrossan at home with one winning team and a drawn game. Others: Wendy Venning, Chris Pearce, Kaye Cross, Wayne Cooper 18-18; Coralie Fiskin 12-24; Anne Rule 10-23. Thanks to Wayne for filling in. NS

Arthurton set to regain top target

“The Finer Roll”
REPORT BY

A return to the Yorke Valley Basketball Association for Matt Thomson could be a huge inclusion for Arthurton this season. The stretch-big will cause headaches for his opponents in the post and from the perimeter. However, it is unclear how often he'll be available.

A highly anticipated contest is set to occur between Arthurton Black and Moonta in the Senior Women this week. The Tigers are yet to be challenged on the scoreboard, but could well feel the heat from Moonta's nifty guards.

Results

A MEN

Moonta v Wallaroo

The Blazers had trouble against the Holman boys and company from the outset. Brock Pollard fouling out left Moonta with no one on the bench and an extremely even scoring effort from the Dogs helped them to a 44-point demolition.

Bears v Arthurton

Bears were left scrambling when Matt Thomson rolled out for the Tigers on Friday night. The dream replacement for Sam Jacobs dropped 23 points, including a pair of threes, as Arthurton cruised to victory by 17.

Kadina v Bute

The floor spacing of Kadina was superb in this contest, and coupled with plentiful post options, the Bloods had no issues collecting their sixth-straight win over Bute by 26 points.

SENIOR WOMEN

Paskeville Black v Bute

A Claire Venning heat check had Pasky rolling at both ends in this one. Her ultra-tight defence and silky-smooth ball-handling makes Venning one to watch. She was able to lead her Pies to their first win of the season by 19 on Friday night.

Moonta v Arthurton Orange

Three gun Blazers on three fouls each had Moonta in hot water against Arthurton. Nonetheless, they cruised to a 35-point triumph despite essentially having no post option.

Wallaroo v Paskeville White

Sarah Pomery and Fi Bussenschutt were dominant with 12 and 10 points respectively. This crucial 14-point win allowed Pasky White to leapfrog Wallaroo for fourth spot on the ladder.

Tips

A MEN

Bute v Arthurton

The Tigers could be building into contention with a nice big man acquisition in Matt Thomson. When Trent Hoare returns Arthurton could boast a formidable duo and challenge top sides. I'm unsure if Bute will have a reliable option to matchup on Thomson.

At the final buzzer... Arthurton by seven.

Wallaroo v Bears

Bears will see this as a must-win as they continue to push for fourth spot, which they currently sit one win short of. However, Wallaroo's consistent hustle and determination to find the best option has stood out thus far and could be the deciding factors here.

At the final buzzer... Wallaroo by two.

Paskeville v Kadina

Having only played each other three weeks ago, this could be another enticing battle. Pasky would've taken plenty away from their last meeting and will likely look to quicken its ball movement to bypass Kadina's big men. I expect the Bloods to hold on in this one, but it could be closer than some expect.

At the final buzzer... Kadina by three.

SENIOR WOMEN

Paskeville White v Paskeville Black

Following its first win last week, Black will be determined to go back-to-back. However, White's sheer strength and experience should dictate this contest and likely decide the result.

At the final buzzer... Paskeville White by 12.

Arthurton Orange v Bute

Still winless, Bute will undoubtedly need its absolute best against the third-placed Tigers. Monica Britton and Jade Daniel will have their minds set on getting to the cup and pushing the ball in transition, which could be too much for the Roosters to handle.

At the final buzzer... Arthurton Orange by 15.

Arthurton Black v Moonta

The clash everyone has been waiting for! Moonta was slightly undermanned the last time it took on first-placed Arthurton. With the Aldridge and potentially Briggs sisters to line up this week, they will certainly take it to the Tigers speedy, efficient guards. Expect this one to go down to the wire.

At the final buzzer... Moonta by a point.

YVBA A MEN... Luke Webb, Wallaroo, beats Moonta players Zac Butler and Jett Smith as he drives for a layup.

Learning from Lightning

Basketball South Australia's Female Participation Strategy Kadina clinic was met with promising enthusiasm on Sunday, November 15.

Yorke Valley's next generation of basketballers had the opportunity to learn from Adelaide Lightning players Taylor Ortlepp, Chelsea Brook and Sam Simons, as well as former Kadina local and current Australian Opal Stephanie Talbot.

Basketball South Australia communications, events and program coordinator Thamsin Sharrad said the Female Participation Strategy was set to continue across the state till the end of 2024.

"Every clinic is a success for us — we enjoy (seeing) girls participate in basketball with smiles on their faces," she said.

"Kadina was a great clinic with such enthusiasm towards our visit."

CAMARADERIE... Adelaide Lightning players Taylor Ortlepp, Chelsea Brook, Sam Simons and Stephanie Talbot finish off a successful female basketball clinic.

PRACTICE MAKES PERFECT... Yorke Valley basketballers get to work on a dribbling drill.

BIG FAN... Pippa Krieg, of Bute, lands an autograph from Stephanie Talbot.

YOUNG STAR... Natalia Bagnato dribbles past an obstacle under the watchful eye of former Kadina local and current Australian Opal Stephanie Talbot.

LEARNING THE ART... Sam Simons and Chelsea Brook demonstrate how to follow through after taking a shot.

SHOOTING

Maitland Rifle Club: Results 20-11-21 — Seven members arrived earlier than usual to have a barbecue lunch. Then, with the threat of showers a non-event, we set up targets and flags, monitors, tables and chairs and got underway for the first stage of the Gillis Trophy, shooting from our only grass mound 600 yards. With the first shooters' scores on the board, it looked like a tough day at the office. That turned around for F standard shooter Roger Francis who posted a possible 60.02 in his first round, Chris Tucker was next best with a nice 57.03. Two F open competitors jugged for top spot in the first detail with Brad Renfrey's 53.01 edging out Lynton Wakefield on 52.01. Back on the F standard card, Roger once again counted out Chris Tucker's handy 56.02 with a 58.04. In F open, Lynton's 58.05 beginning with five consecutive Xs was too good for Brad's 55.02. Scores, standard: Roger Francis 60.02, 58.04, 118.06, 2, 120.06 (100%) (3 points); Chris Tucker 57.03, 56.02, 113.05, 7, 120.05 (100%) (2 points); Chris Bavistock 53.00, 52.02, 105.02, 14, 119.02; Bill Gillis 53.00, 55.01, 112.01, 6, 118.01; Barry Tucker retired; F open: Brad Renfrey 53.01, 55.02, 108.03, 11, 119.03 (1 point); Lynton Wakefield 52.01, 58.05, 110.06, 0, 110.06; Bill Gillis 55.02, 55.02, 110.04, 3, 113.04; Roger Francis 56.02, 53.02, 109.04, 2, 111.04. "There are three bedrooms with the fourth currently used as a formal dining room, plus a centrally located living room with a combustion heater and air conditioner.

"The kitchen – offering plenty of bench space and a gas stove – leads to the large rear area with a bathroom and laundry on either side.

"The home is insulated and has a solar power system to keep energy costs down.

HOT PROPERTY... A jaw-dropping luxury retreat located near Cape Elizabeth has been listed on the market for the first time ever.

INCREDIBLE... The six-bedroom, five-bathroom home is being sold via private treaty.

Off-grid retreat goes to market for $10m

A LUXURY off-grid retreat near Cape Elizabeth, south of Moonta, has hit the market for about $10 million.

Known as The Dunes, the estate is nestled in sand dunes and is up for sale for the first time since it was built seven years ago.

The 273-acre property was built collaboratively between owner Peter Michell and signature architect Max Pritchard at 400 Coopers Beach Road, Nalyappa.

Upon completion, the home was commended in the Australian Institute of Architecture awards for its unique location, stunning natural landscape and resort-style features.

It has been designed for fully off-the-grid living, with an 80-kilowatt solar power plant funnelled into lithium batteries, 300,000 litres of water storage other temperature-regulating features, an aquaponics geodome for vegetables and herbs, and a 45,000-litre fish tank stocked with more than 60 silver perch.

Storage features include a large equipment shed, four-car garage and parking next to a usable helipad.

The home comprises six bedrooms, five bathrooms, spacious lounge areas, a theatre, chef's kitchen with two butler's pantries, sun deck, and an outdoor alfresco terrace with a fireplace, spa, pool and sauna.

For recreation, the property boasts a dune buggy racetrack and access to boardwalks through the sand dunes.

Looking for an owner

The property is being taken to the market via a private treaty campaign run by Deborah Cullen of Cullen Royle and Grant Giordano of Giordano and Partners.

Ms Cullen said the property was expected to generate significant buyer interest.

"The Dunes is a one-off resort-style estate without peers — there is nothing that compares," she said.

"Both domestic and international buyers will be attracted to this offering, particularly with the current focus on renewables.

"It was created for family and friends to gather or escape from city life, and we are finding buyers are looking for just that.

"They want a home in lieu of travelling overseas and as an escape from dense cities, particularly now with the ability to work from anywhere."

Mr Giordano said the centrepiece of the property was its breathtaking location.

"The home showcases unparalleled panoramic views from almost every room, as well as its outdoor viewing platform," he said.

"This estate is being showcased to the public for this first time, as it has been fiercely protected as a private family compound until now."

Unified approach improves herbicide resistance data

RESISTANCE... Project leader and Charles Sturt University senior technical officer Dr John Broster said conducting random surveys across the cropping regions provided critical information of weed species, their abundance and their resistance status to key herbicides.

PHOTO: CSU

ORGANISATIONS across Australia tasked with surveying weeds for herbicide resistance have adopted the same protocols and methods for the first time.

Herbicide resistance surveys have been completed across the Australian grain cropping region for a number of years.

Initial surveys in the early 1990s in South Australia, Western Australia, New South Wales and Victoria assessed the extent of resistance in annual ryegrass, but most of the nation's cropping region had not been surveyed at least once until 2016.

The latest survey, supported by GRDC investment, has gone to a new level by standardising much of the sampling, testing and reporting methodology.

Individual weed species are even being screened for resistance at a single location, and not across locations as previously done.

The current survey – led by Charles Sturt University with partners University of Adelaide, University of Western Australia, University of Sydney and Queensland Department of Agriculture and Fisheries – conducted the sampling across the entire cropping region in 2020, except for central Queensland where harvest had already been completed.

Project leader and Charles Sturt University senior technical officer Dr John Broster said random surveys across the cropping regions provided critical information about weed species, their abundance and their resistance status to key herbicides.

"This informs future research needs as well as enables immediate extension messages to be better targeted for each region," Dr Broster said.

"Annual ryegrass, wild oats, brome grass, barley grass, Indian hedge mustard, sow thistle, wild radish, doublegee (three corner jack) and cape-weed were the winter growing weeds collected.

"Feathertop Rhodes grass, awnless barnyard grass, sweet summer grass were collected during the summer survey, and winter and summer growing sow thistle and fleabane were targeted across both surveys."

Dr Peter Boutsalis and researchers from the University of Adelaide recently completed testing all the annual ryegrass from across Australia for resistance to pre-emergent herbicides.

"Having all ryegrass samples from across the country at the one location for the first time was a really powerful opportunity," Dr Boutsalis said.

"While overall resistance to pre-emergent herbicides is still fairly low, there are still plenty of individual populations where problems exist."

Resistance to the newer pre-emergent herbicides remains very low at a national level.

Dr Boutsalis said identifying and keeping herbicide-resistant weeds at manageable levels was essential for the long-term viability of herbicides in Australian cropping systems.

This harvest is an opportune time for grain growers to collect weed seeds for their own herbicide resistance testing.

Collection of samples of weed seeds (for testing levels of resistance) can occur during and even after harvest or cutting crops for fodder.

Weed seeds collected at harvest time can be sent for testing over summer and reporting in early autumn.

For more information, visit GRDC's Integrated Weed Management hub at www.grdc.com.au/IWMhub and the GRDC-supported WeedSmart resource centre at www.weedsmart.org.au.

Universal Soldier

You were a soldier,
You were the lion,
You up and left me,
Now you lay dying.

On foreign soil, in a land far away
And I miss you, I miss you every day.

Amidst shell-holed hillsides
Blackened face crying,
At your brothers-in-arms
Your gun is firing.

On foreign soil, in a land far away
And I miss you, I miss you every day.

Why were you sent there
To fight in hell's zone?
Killing mothers' sons
No longer to roam.

On foreign soil, in a land far away
And I miss you, I miss you every day.

With all pain subsiding
With trumpets a-blaring
My brothers-in-arms
To His home we're faring.

On foreign soil, in a land far away
And I miss you, I miss you every day.

Strange find in the garden

By Roger Norris-Gren

HOOSEGOOD found the grub in his Moonta garden.

"Looks strange," his wife Agatha said. "Yes," Hoosegood agreed, "A grub with red and green spots."

"Don't kill him, Hoosegood," Agatha pleaded.

"Why not?"

"We should keep him as a pet," Agatha said.

"A pet!" Hoosegood echoed.

"Maybe he's one of those rare singing grubs?"

"Don't be silly!"

She had an inspiration. "Let's call him Rary."

"Okay," her husband relented. "But he's not coming inside! He can live in a shoebox on the back porch."

"I'll feed him lettuce leaves," she said.

Rary began to grow and Agatha was soon buying a weekly lettuce for him.

"He's outgrown the shoebox," Agatha decided.

"He can have the old dog kennel," Hoosegood relented.

Soon Rary was a metre long and eating one lettuce daily. Within a month Rary had outgrown the kennel and ate 10 lettuces daily. He lived in the garage.

"He has to go!" Hoosegood decreed.

Sadly, his wife agreed. With the help of neighbours they loaded Rary onto a trailer. They towed him to Simms Cove and prepared to tip him over the cliff.

That's when Rary finally sang, "It's a long way to tip-a-Rary."

Best Christmas movies on Netflix

IT is that time of the year to get into the festive spirit and what better way than indulging in some Christmas movies.

If you know me, you know how much I love Christmas so I could rattle off multiple movies but instead, I'll give you a top five in no particular order.

1. Home Alone: It doesn't get more quintessentially Christmas than Home Alone, the movie about Kevin McCallister (Macaulay Culkin), a kid who gets accidentally left behind when the rest of his family goes on vacation for the holidays.

2. The Holiday: This relatively new classic is sure to stand the test of time as a Christmas movie we turn to over and over for all the holiday feelings. And you'll get plenty of those in the dreamy worlds of Iris's Surrey cottage and Amanda's Hollywood mansion. Both unlucky in love, Iris (played by Kate Winslet) and Amanda (Cameron Diaz) decided to swap homes for the Christmas holiday and find the love and connection in the process.

3. The Christmas Chronicles: This Netflix original holiday film brilliantly cast Kurt Russell as a cheeky Santa who teams up with a pair of siblings to — you guessed it — save Christmas. It's one of the most charming holiday movies on Netflix, and also has a sequel.

CHRISTMAS SPIRIT... Elf (2003) is still a hit come Christmas time as Buddy the Elf (Will Ferrell) searches for his biological father.

4. Operation Christmas Drop: A Christmas romance with a political twist. A congressional aide (Kat Graham) finds herself falling for the captain (Alexander Ludwig) of a US Air Force base...that she just so happens to be trying to shut down.

5. Elf: Will Ferrell stars as Buddy, a human raised by elves in the North Pole, who travels all the way to New York one Christmas to find his biological father.

#Throwback This day in history

November 23, 1942: Japanese bombing of Port Darwin, Australia.

November 23, 1954: For the first time, the Dow Jones Industrial Average closes above the peak it reached just before the 1929 crash.

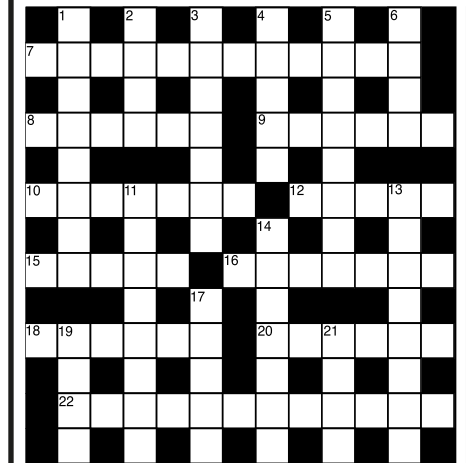

November 23, 2003: The US and International teams decide to share the President's Cup (golf) after finishing the round tied 17-all, and three playoff holes were tied by Tiger Woods and Ernie Els.

What's been Trending

Investigation continues: Police have continued their search on the New South Wales mid-north coast where William Tyrrell disappeared seven years ago. For almost a week, a team of officers have combed through three locations near the home of Tyrrell's foster grandmother in the small town of Kendall where he was last seen in September 2014. The search was resumed on the back of coronial orders, and officers have also seized a car that previously belonged to the now deceased foster grandmother. It continues to undergo forensic examination expected to take weeks.

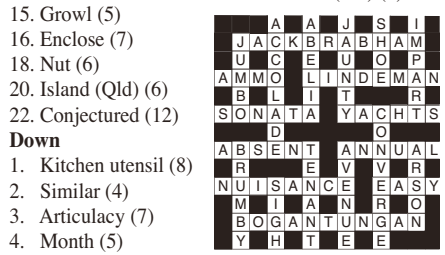

Cricket captain stands down: Tim Paine sent Australia's Ashes preparations into chaos on Friday afternoon when he stood down over explicit text messages and a graphic image sent to a female former Cricket Tasmania employee in 2017. At the press conference in Hobart, the 36 year old said he "deeply regretted" his actions and, although an integrity unit investigation in 2018 cleared him of any breach of Cricket Australia's code of conduct, he had become aware the private exchange was about to be released.

♈ ARIES—March 21-April 20
Diverse activities keep you alert and active this week. Family obligations are carried out more easily. Household burdens increase. At work, you may need a little help and it's on the way.

♉ TAURUS—April 21-May 22
Your creative spirit soars, but remember, a light touch is the key. In friendship, a laboured approach may not be an effective one. Honours come your way after the weekend.

♊ GEMINI—May 23-June 21
A shaky relationship stabilizes thanks in part to your good sense of humour. A surprise expense may arrive by the weekend. A financial idea seems plausible but requires more research.

♋ CANCER—June 22-July 22
A loved one may be more independent than usual, but if anyone can appreciate this quality, it's you. Relatives insist on having their way. Your career or educational prospects brighten.

♌ LEO—July 23-August 22
Combined efforts lead to accomplishments ahead of schedule. Shared financial arrangements may require an immediate review and frank discussion. Travel opportunities are highlighted after the weekend.

♍ VIRGO—August 23-September 22

♎ LIBRA—September 23-October 22
Your creative power could be a plus and a negative this week. A romantic misunderstanding is short lived. Make an effort to share centre-stage with a shy but loyal and understanding person.

♏ SCORPIO—October 23-November 21
Specialization is the key word. It's better to do one or two things well than to spread yourself too thin. Home improvement plans are spotlighted through the week.

♐ SAGITTARIUS—November 22-December 22
Renewed determination helps you conclude a difficult and tedious project. Travel choices may require a review. A platonic relationship is highlighted, but don't take romance for granted.

♑ CAPRICORN—December 23-January 20
A rival surprises you with a willingness to see your point of view. Delays are inevitable this week. Financial expectations become more realistic. Your status in the community improves.

♒ AQUARIUS—January 21-February 19
Recent disputes in the community come to a harmonious conclusion, thanks to your input. A friend may come to you with an unusual dilemma. Projects involving writing proceed smoothly.

♓ PISCES—February 20-March 20
Novel ideas win you points at home or at the workplace. Academic interests are spotlighted. An unusual project may be launched before the weekend. In finance, prudence is the key.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK
Diplomatic, or merely secretive? Only those who know you well, know for sure. You love beautiful objects, you love to travel and though your circle of friends is not large, you love your close companions intensely. A new opportunity for travel could evolve. A career decision requires special review.

HOT FISHING TIPS

with Greg James www.gregjamesfishing.com.au

Welcome to the column with all the hot tips for fishing around Yorke Peninsula; contact Greg by email at greg@gregjamesfishing.com.au.

Port Broughton: Blue swimmer crabs, King George whiting, snook and squid were the main catches for boat crews. Jetty anglers enjoyed blueys, yellowfin whiting and squid.

Wallaroo: Jetty fishing has been hit and miss with blueys and tommy ruff (Australian herring) here one day and not the next. Boat crews fished for whiting from the Ballast and Boiler grounds and gar/squid at Point Riley.

Moonta Bay/Port Hughes: Strong on-shore winds were the order of most days last week, as north-westerlies ran to south-easterly and kept the white-caps working hard. Off-shore drops have gar, whiting, squid and blue crabs. The jetties have squid, blueys and the odd garfish.

Point Turton: Try the Banks and the bay for KG whiting and small flathead as dawn. Gar are off the Minlacowie shearing sheds and Point Souttar and The Pines. The jetty has been quiet.

Marion and Stenhouse Bays: I spent much of last week on this part of the great YP coast and all it did was blow from the south! Flathead, snook and red nannygai are waiting off-shore while the jetties hold squid, tommies and flathead at Marion Bay.

Edithburgh/Stansbury: KG whiting catches are steady from just north of Tapley Shoals and south of Marion Reef. Big snook are starting to appear around the island, chasing schools of sprat tommies and garfish. Jetty fishing has a mix of ruff, squid and blue crabs, also at Port Giles when open. Klein Point jetty remains closed.

Black Point/Ardrossan: The YP Council website still has the Black Point boat ramp due to open late October 2021. Garfish and a few blueys are the main reports for here, Port Julia and Ardrossan. Squid are patchy, but should improve as the weather starts to clear. Ardrossan jetty has a few small squid only.

Tight lines and see you next week!
