

NORTH COAST ROAD ROBBED

Sonny Coombs
JOURNALIST

NORTH Coast Road, Point Turton, has missed out on grant funding despite being ranked a higher priority than other projects.

Yorke Peninsula Council applied for $1.141 million over two years through the Local Government Special Local Roads Program 2021-22.

Council applied to seal four kilometres extending from the existing bituminised area and the application, submitted on May 27, was ranked fifth by the end of the initial review process by the Legatus Group.

Regional development

GIVEN Copper Coast Council has borrowed millions to assist the Wallaroo Shores development then why doesn't it do the same to build the back nine of The Dunes golf course at Port Hughes?

This would have far-reaching consequences, a boom way beyond that of Wallaroo and give the region a golf course capable of attracting major professional and amateur golf tournaments.

Perhaps Fraser Ellis should get involved and talk to his colleagues in parliament?

Really, it's a no-brainer.

Of course, some will resist, but the benefits would include an increase in shopping and recreational facilities, the sealing of roads taking the pressure off the iconic heritage town of Moonta, and of course, jobs, jobs, jobs.

Isn't this the name of game — giving local youth a future?

Treat the cause not the symptoms

COUNCILLOR Leanne O'Brien's suggestion regarding the removal of the pines from the foreshore of Port Vincent and Stansbury (YPCT 19-10-21) to get rid of the cormorant problem is nothing short of humorous.

If we get rid of the pines what happens when the shags move on to other trees in the towns?

Do we remove them all?

It would be like removing the council to get rid of some councillors.

Accountability

IT is incredible how a major bill addressing corruption passed both houses so quickly.

Both previous and current Commissioners, independent legal experts at the highest level, have slammed the bill.

To me, the bill and what it does reinforces the complete lack of trust we have for our governments.

The reason the ICAC was put in place was the other bodies looking at corruption had very restricted powers of investigation and were powerless to do anything about it. Now, this will be the case again.

Any real scrutiny or accountability has been shafted!

There would not be one taxpaying citizen who would want to restrict the function of an independent ICAC.

To improve the efficiency of the ICAC, the powers it has and the number of staff investigating cases should be increased.

In this way cases are dealt with quickly, issues dealt with quickly and people can move on, one way or another.

Misleading media

I WAS extremely disappointed to read what can only be described as fake news posted by the Yorke Peninsula Media Facebook page regarding boat launching at Yorke Peninsula Council ramps.

The fact is nothing about the current system for launching boats at these ramps is changing. People can still use the coin machines, and can still buy annual or monthly permits.

In addition to these options, council will allow people to pay their launch fee using the EasyPark app. Why? The answer seems simple, it's a bit more convenient for someone who arrives at a ramp without $6 of coins.

Still, nobody has to use EasyPark if they don't want to. I know this because Copper Coast Council already uses EasyPark at its ramps. Nobody cared when that was introduced.

So what's the difference this time? One Facebook post by Yorke Peninsula Media. This post insinuated the app would mean higher costs for launching, hidden fees, a parking fee and the coin machines would be "rapidly phased out".

None of this is true, as Yorke Peninsula Council then clarified. But plenty of damage has already been done, as angry folks from throughout the state shared the Yorke Peninsula Media post.

What was the point of this post? All it seems to have achieved is to make people angry for no good reason, and potentially hurt tourism on Yorke Peninsula.

Our businesses rely on that tourism.

After all they've been through lately with restrictions and lockdowns this is the last thing they need with summer approaching.

If a real media organisation had run this story, it would have to post a retraction.

The anonymous person/s behind Yorke Peninsula Media Facebook page should do the same, and apologise to the people they have misled.

OUR VIEW

Grant impacts

THE news that North Coast Road, Point Turton, is worthy of being upgraded won't be surprising to residents.

But the fact it missed out, despite being considered more worthy than other projects by initial assessors, is disappointing.

Yorke Peninsula Council staff put plenty of time and effort into applying for the Local Government Special Local Roads Program 2021-22, and timely responded to calls for additional information.

The $1.141 million over two years council would have received for the project would allow the sealing of an extra four kilometres of road.

This would have been hugely beneficial for residents and visitors alike.

The question needs to be asked — what is the point of having independent assessments and panels to determine the worth of applications if they aren't the recipients?

That's not to say other projects weren't worthy.

The YPC application did rank fifth in the Legatus Group's initial review process, but in its summary of Road Proposals, Legatus acknowledged those likely to be funded were recommendations one through five.

Questions around grant processes, particularly on a federal government level, have been around for the past few years.

Recently, an Australian National Audit Office analysis found more than half of federally funded regional development grants awarded went to postcodes classified as major city areas since 2018.

Deputy Prime Minister Barnaby Joyce has been reported as saying many of the projects that received funding in cities benefited rural people, and that programs included in regional development for reporting purposes aren't always aimed exclusively at regional communities.

Grants are important avenues of funding for local government — it allows projects to get off the ground sooner, as opposed to raising rates to cover costs — but more transparency is needed around the allocation of money.

North Coast Road misses out on funding

DISAPOINTED... Yorke Peninsula Council mayor Darren Braund has expressed his concerns about North Coast Road, Point Turton, being passed over for grant funding despite being listed as a higher priority than other projects approved.

RESIDENTS have been fed up with the state of North Coast Road, Point Turton, for years.

Dust often coats properties and creates a health hazard as well as an environmental hazard with the dust settling on a nearby reef and seabed.

Yorke Peninsula Council was left off the final list of successful applicants after a subsequent review by the Local Government Transport Advisory Panel.

Light Regional Council, whose application was initially ranked seventh, leapfrogged the application as well as Copper Coast Council's Roach Street, Kadina, application which was ranked sixth.

YPC mayor Darren Braund has expressed his concerns about the process with the Local Government Association, and called for North Coast Road to be awarded funding.

"We are incredibly disappointed to have missed out on this funding and with the assessment process after being passed over for projects the initial assessor, Legatus Group, felt were not as worthy," Mr Braund said.

"Why did these lower-ranked projects gain funding, and why was it Yorke Peninsula Council that missed out?"

"The residents of North Coast Road, and the many locals and visitors who use North Coast Road, deserve answers."

Member for Narungga Fraser Ellis MP said he will also question why the project was refused funding and replaced by lower priority projects.

"Extraordinarily the Local Government Transport Advisory Panel, instead of merely signing off on the locally recommended projects, have forsaken the incredibly important North Coast Road project in favour of one down the list a bit that was in Light Regional Council," Mr Ellis said.

"(This is) the same Light Regional Council which has benefitted from approximately 40 per cent of the total funding over the past four years despite the fact there are some 15 member councils.

"I will now be calling on the state government to fully fund North Coast Road sealing — there is no longer any excuse not to do so."

Race on as roadmap released

SOUTH Australia's roadmap to easing COVID-19 restrictions was announced today (Tuesday, October 26).

Eighty per cent of South Australians aged 16 and over are expected to be fully vaccinated by Tuesday, November 23.

As of this date, border restrictions will be removed for people who are double vaccinated, international arrivals (who are double vaccinated) will only have to quarantine for seven days and home gathering caps will go from 20 people to 30.

Premier Steven Marshall said South Australians had worked extremely hard over the past 19 months and continued to work hard to get things back to normal.

"There has to be some reward for South Australians doing the right thing," Mr Marshall said.

"When the state reaches 90 per cent of double vaccinations, 12 years and over, we can then remove quarantine arrangements and look at removing the vast majority of restrictions in SA.

"We need to keep some controls in place but we will remove most when we reach that 90 per cent (double vaccinated) — I do believe we can reach that number by Christmas this year.

"The race is on in SA, we need as many people vaccinated as quickly as possible to enjoy as normal a Christmas as we can.

"Thank you to South Australians for their extraordinary efforts — we can't keep the Delta variant out forever but we do need to make sure we are COVID-ready for when the border restrictions do ease."

The news comes as masks were no longer made compulsory at high schools as of yesterday (Monday, October 25).

There are no new cases of COVID-19 today and a total of 918 cases have been notified in South Australia — the state currently has three active cases.

FREEDOM... Residents of Fisherman Bay are one step closer to obtaining freehold titles, after contractors were given the green light to begin infrastructure works last week.

Fin Hansen
REPORT BY

THE first stage of freehold titles will be issued to Fisherman Bay residents in coming weeks.

Settlement on the sites is expected to be completed in November.

Since 2017, Fisherman’s Bay Management has had development approval to divide land it currently owns and operates into freehold allotments, on the condition it invests in infrastructure to enhance the area.

An agreement was reached earlier this year which will allow Barunga West Council to act as an enabler and secure funds through the sales of allotments from FBM.

The news comes as FBM has announced Bardavcol as the successful contractor for most of the more than $20 million infrastructure upgrades in the township.

Bardavcol will deliver most of the planned infrastructure, including a wastewater collection system, upgraded roads, a new stormwater system and coastal protection measures.

Alano Water, Baker Civil and H2H Plumbing will take on the $3m Community Wastewater Management System upgrade and expansion.

The first stage of the CWMS works will run concurrently with the freehold process and are expected to begin this month.

“We are immensely grateful to the residents of Fisherman Bay for their patience as we worked to find the best possible solution for the community, made possible by the Council’s willingness to collaborate and innovate,” Fisherman’s Bay Management chair David Hosking said.

“Importantly, this milestone will see us deliver on our promise to invest in the future of Fisherman Bay and provide residents with ownership of their own piece of this beautiful corner of the world.

“We look forward to seeing our community thrive as a result of this new infrastructure.”

BWC CEO Maree Wauchope said it was exciting to be at the starting line of construction on this project.

“It will see more than $20m worth of private investment, and another $3m of state government grant money, spent in our region which will allow Fisherman Bay residents to finally obtain freehold title over their land,” she said.

“Council is proudly acting as the enabler for a solution that represents a genuine and effective collaboration between local government and the private sector.

“An investment of this scale in Fisherman Bay is an investment in the future of our region, and one that will generate widespread economic, environmental and health benefits for the entire Barunga West community.”

The Fisherman Bay infrastructure upgrades have been scheduled for completion by mid 2022.

More ambulances needed

WALLAROO needs a 24/7 paramedic ambulance, according to a new report by the Ambulance Employees Association.

The AEA SA has delivered a report with 20 recommendations to the state government to address capacity and safety issues across South Australia.

An additional 370 more staff across the entire SA Ambulance Service is needed, including 17 extra regional crews.

“These numbers are in addition to the 74 paramedics promised to be recruited by March next year under the current government,” AEA SA secretary Leah Watkins said.

“Those 74 staff will only create three additional ambulances for all of metropolitan Adelaide and do not provide any additional ambulance resources for our regional communities.

“This promise falls far short of what is needed to safely service the community of South Australia.”

The report calls for a 24/7 paramedic ambulance to be allocated to Wallaroo and one community paramedic for the region.

At present, Wallaroo only has one paramedic-staffed ambulance, a Regional Medical Transfer Service.

“I am deeply concerned for the safety of South Australians and for our members,” Ms Watkins said.

“This document highlights what measures are urgently needed to ensure a safe and sustainable ambulance service.

“I urge the government to adopt the measures outlined in this document.”

The move comes as the Australian Nursing and Midwifery Federation (SA Branch) has welcomed commitments by the state opposition to legislate for mandated staffing ratios and implement a hospital occupancy target over the term of government.

“(The commitments) are a huge step forward to reducing the crushing strain on our over-burdened health system,” ANMF (SA Branch) CEO/Secretary Adj Associate Professor Elizabeth Dabars AM said.

“Nurse/patient ratios will enhance the safety of both nurses and patients by reducing nurse stress and fatigue and the danger of reduced or missed care for patients.

“The 90 per cent occupancy target will also help reduce waiting times for treatment and improve patient flow through the hospital system.

“It is a win not just for nurses but for the health and wellbeing of the community at large.”

Surge expected in EV uptake

CHARGE YOUR GLASSES... Barley Stacks Wines' Brooklyn Sims and Carley Forrest at the venue's electric vehicle charging station which allows users to charge their car while they charge their glasses.

Nigel Parsons
JOURNALIST

THE number of electric vehicles on our roads could start to accelerate. A recent RAA survey of 550 motorists revealed a whopping 78 per cent would be considering an electric vehicle for their next purchase. "These vehicles are at the forefront of discussions being had around reducing greenhouse gas emissions, so it's no surprise motorists are weighing them up," RAA spokesperson Kerry Bowles said.

"Governments around the world are also setting deadlines for the sale of new fossil fuelled vehicles in coming years, and with more EV models being produced it's no wonder drivers are considering their buying options going forward."

Local councils and businesses are already thinking about how to meet the anticipated demand and the infrastructure needed.

There are currently 11 community charging stations between Port Broughton and Marion Bay but none in Port Wakefield or Port Pirie.

Barley Stacks Wines, near Maitland, was one of the first locations on Yorke Peninsula with an EV charging facility. Barley Stacks cellar door manager Brooklyn Sims said the station has been a win-win.

"The benefit for us is that they (EV users) may come here for our charging station but more often than not, will come in for a look," she said.

Yorke Peninsula Council CEO Andrew Cameron said he was pleased the region had several electric vehicle charging stations already on offer, having installed eight Tesla Destination

Chargers in 2018.

"We understand electric vehicle usage continues to grow and this is a service we can provide for locals and visitors," Mr Cameron said.

"We have free-to-use chargers in Ardrossan, Minlaton, Port Vincent and Yorketown.

"We also have four more in our Yorke Peninsula Council holiday parks — two in the Point Turton Caravan Park, one in the Port Vincent Foreshore Caravan Park, and one in Marion Bay Caravan Park.

"This was a deliberate strategy, allowing us to attract visitors who have electric cars and are looking for holiday spots that can accommodate their charging requirements."

Copper Coast Council CEO Russell Peate said council had submitted 12 locations as part of a proposal sought by the Department of Energy and Mining.

"We want to be prepared for the increase in locals and tourists moving to environmentally sustainable transportation as we want the Copper Coast to be accessible, inclusive and support sustainability," he said.

Fishers caught with illegal crab catches

MORE than $11,000 worth of fines for illegal crab catches were issued during the October long weekend.

Fisheries officers seized more than 400 crabs on just one night across Gulf St Vincent.

The fines were mostly issued for undersized blue swimmer crab catches, with 10 cautions also issued.

Minister for Primary Industries and Regional Development David Basham said some of the fines issued were for exceeding the daily bag limit as well.

“Despite recreational fishing rules and regulations being available across a variety of channels, it is very disappointing to find such high levels of non-compliance,” Mr Basham said.

“What is really concerning is that all fishers who were inspected during Saturday night’s patrol were aware of the regulations for blue swimmer crabs, carried appropriate measuring devices and still chose to break the rules.

“The state government takes the sustainability of our fish stocks seriously, which is why in March we introduced a significant increase in recreational fishing fines.

“Now those caught can face fines ranging from $217 to $717, depending on the nature of the offence.

“My message to those who think it is acceptable to take undersize crabs and exceed bag limits, is that you are damaging the fishery for everyone.”

The daily bag limit for blue swimmer crabs in Gulf St Vincent is 20 per person, and the minimum size limit is 11 centimetres in width, when measured across the carapace from the base of the largest spines.

It is also illegal to take female crabs with eggs — these must be returned to the water straight away without harm.

Anyone can report illegal fishing activity through 24-hour Fishwatch on 1800 065 522.

White Ribbon Day approaches

WHITE Ribbon Australia has challenged Australian men to understand their role in enabling the safety of women and children from men’s violence.

While launching this year’s event (Friday, November 19) WR executive director Brad Chilcott said turning this national tragedy around would require a long-term social transformation.

“It’s no longer good enough just to be aware of the problem — we need men to choose to be part of the solution by addressing attitudes, expectations and behaviours,” Mr Chilcott said.

“We need men who have the tools to bring about change — first in ourselves, then in our communities.

“We need every person, community, school, workplace, sports club and government body to commit to to end all forms of men’s violence against women.”

Mr Chilcott said the focus of this year’s WR Day campaign was the question How Can Men Make Change? and call on communities to Learn, Give, Take Action.

“On average, more than one woman is killed every week in Australia, as a result of intimate partner violence,” he said.

“The COVID-19 pandemic has made the situation worse, with lockdowns creating a spike in violence and limiting the ability of victims to seek help.”

WRA Advisory Council co-chairs, 2015

ENOUGH... White Ribbon Australia Advisory Council members Jay Weatherill and Rosie Batty and WRA executive director Brad Chilcott are challenging men to play their role in ending violence against women.

Australian of the Year Rosie Batty and former South Australian Premier and CEO of Thrive by Five Jay Weatherill said WR Day 2021 was an opportunity to shift the narrative around gendered violence.

“It’s more than just talking the talk, holding a morning tea, or wearing a white ribbon,” Ms Batty said.

“We need to change the attitudes and social norms that condone disrespect, sexual harassment and abuse.

“Gender inequality and learned behaviours are at the heart of this problem, so it’s essential that men are part of the solution.”

Mr Weatherill said the women’s safety agenda has never been more prominent.

“The women who have bravely called for change have provided us with a great opportunity to create a future where women are free from all forms of men’s violence.

“There’s never been a more important time for men to challenge cultural norms that are the foundation of controlling behaviours.”

BWC community grants awarded

Jess Liddy
JOURNALIST

BARUNGA West Council has supported 10 community groups through its community grants scheme.

About $40,000 was shared by organisations in Bute, Port Broughton, Tickersa, Mundoorra and Kulpara.

Mayor Leonie Kerley said, while not all grant applications were successful, council was pleased with the standard of submissions.

“On behalf of council I would like to thank all the applicants for taking the time to apply for these grants,” Mrs Kerley said.

“It is never easy for council to decide who is successful or not, but we have limited funds and we have tried to allocate the funds fairly across the district.”

Bute Community Gym Inc. received $5000 for new gym equipment to provide members with a wider range of options to assist with their exercising and rehabilitation.

Secretary Imenka Gill said the gym started operating in 2014 with mostly second-hand and donated equipment.

“Today, we have about 50 financial members and all our equipment is now commercial grade,” she said.

“To receive this funding is so beneficial to our community gym and with the money we will be able to purchase a stair climber machine which is a huge addition people will really appreciate.

“It is so important to us to keep the equipment up to date, as well as having a variety of different equipment for people to use.

“Our gym is such a success story and we are so delighted we can keep improving the facility for our community.”

Port Broughton RSL sub-branch received $5000 for fencing to secure the carpark.

President George Blair-Nicholas said most of the western side of the fence is in very bad condition and needs replacing.

“It’s great we can acquire these grants with a big help from BWC and their grants officer Bridget Johns — we thank them for their wonderful support,” he said.

Community grant recipients:

Port Broughton RSL sub-branch: $5000 for a western Good Neighbour Colorbond and concrete base fence to secure the carpark.
Bute Community Gym: $5000 for new gym equipment
Port Broughton Combined Sporting Club: $4956 for new table and chairs

WE'RE BUILDING WHAT MATTERS

We're making our country roads safer.

The State Government is moving ahead modernising our state and creating thousands of jobs with its record $17.9 billion investment in infrastructure. In the state's regional areas, we're fixing over 1000 kilometres of roads and upgrading intersections to make them safer. We're building what matters, because what matters to you, matters to us.

TAKING IT IN... Moonta Area School year 12 students Will Drogemuller and Savannah Shields read up on some key topics in the lead up to their end-of-year exams.

Year 12 students near crunch time

Fin Hansen
REPORT BY

FINAL preparations are underway for year 12 end-of-year exams. The exams will be held across the state from Monday to Monday, November 1 to 15. Local students will sit mathematics, history and biology tests in the first week before chemistry, psychology and physics the following week. Harvest Christian College, Kadina, student Bianca Derrington will be kept busy with English literature and general math exams scheduled for next Tuesday and Wednesday. Bianca said key to her preparation has been taking the time to study thoroughly. “(I’m making sure to) have regular breaks, drink plenty of water and look after myself,” she said. At Moonta Area School, senior captain Will Drogemuller has been revising for chemistry, biology, math methods and modern history exams. Will said he has taken online seminars in preparation which have helped reinforce his knowledge throughout the year. “I am confident I will go well in the exams; however, there are many topics which need to be remembered, particularly with chemistry,” he said. “My family has been practically supportive (in the lead up) — they know the workload I have and are constantly ask me about my school-work to keep me moving forward.” Practice and support MAS student Savannah Shields said her teachers have been of great benefit ahead of her math exam. “Practice exams have been helpful in preparing me for what it is like and have helped me retain my knowledge of each topic,” she said. “My peers have been supporting each other with assessments and study — this is a stressful time and we often lose motivation, so we continue to push each other through.” Minlaton District School year 12 student Lachlan Coombe has set himself for exams in general math and economics, which he has studied

Handy revision tips for year 12s

UNIVERSITY of South Australia's Dr Tim Patston has three useful tips for year 12 students preparing for exams:

- Ask your peers for their most successful notetaking and study techniques, and then be creative by trying something new — it may surprise you how effective it is
- Use a different note summary technique for each subject, it makes recalling information easier
- Write exam questions for your friends and ask them to write exam questions for you — learning from your peers is the most powerful learning strategy through Open Access College this year. “My exam preparation has been very productive and effective — I’ve gone to various study seminars in the term 3 holidays, as well gradually revising all topics,” he said. “At the start of the year, some accounting topics were quite difficult for me, but as the terms have gone by, I have better grasped various concepts.” Lachlan said his teachers have had the desire to assist him in any way possible. “Group activities are prepared by the teachers, which has helped me understand topics and questions in a different but more effective way,” he said. “I always try to have a very positive mindset and attitude before any test, which has significantly helped me (this year).”

Boat launching made easier

SINGLE-launch boat permits can now be purchased electronically across most of the peninsula. Yorke Peninsula Council moved at its October meeting to offer boat ramp users the ability to purchase permits via mobile phone app EasyPark, in addition to ticket machines. Information circulating on social media suggested there would be hidden charges associated with the application; however, council staff verified with EasyPark this is not the case. Copper Coast Council adopted the payment method, which has proved a successful alternative to ticket machines, about 16 months ago. “We’ve had discussions with Yorke Peninsula Council regarding the implementation of the EasyPark system and it’s pleasing to see them follow the same path,” CCC director development services Muller Mentz said. “Those launching their boat now only need the one app across the two councils, not only making it more efficient but introducing a modern means to pay. “There are no hidden costs, this was a cost-effective method to introducing app payments as the service was free for council to introduce. “However, EasyPark does receive a percentage of each transaction.” Copper Coast Council adopted the electronic method after Councillor Brent Walker asked CEO Russell Peate to investigate the possibility of raising fees. “The whole intention of increasing the fees was because we are the second busiest launching ramp in South Australia and we charged about the lowest,” Mr Walker said. “It was $5 at the time which was absolutely laughable and the best was to increase it was electronic payment. “The electronic system seemed like the best and easiest way for everybody.” The new system, for Yorke Peninsula Council, won’t affect those who purchase monthly or annual permits, and will complement the coin-only ticket machines already in place.

It may be hard to believe but too many of us are dying out here. You can count on one hand the things that will kill you on the roads: not wearing a seatbelt, driving after drinking or drugs, driving tired, not keeping your eyes on the road and speeding. It's not enough to know the roads like the back of your hand. Stop dying out here.

Thinking pink for tourism

Nigel Parsons
JOURNALIST

YORKE Peninsula's Salt Lake Trail is adding another flavour to Yorke Peninsula's tourism offerings.

The trail starts in Yorketown and visitors have the option of four self-drive options, from short and sweet to the full 48 kilometre, 90 minute trail.

Yorketown's salt lakes would have once been the scene for about 600 itinerant workers who scraped for salt — a stark contrast to today's use.

Yorketown farming brothers Peter and Alan Twartz began the ball rolling, with Peter writing a letter to the Yorke Peninsula Council and Alan getting into the ear of Councillor Adam Meyer.

Cr Meyer said Alan was persistent in getting the project off the ground and a working group was established.

YPC's Gabrielle Gutsche said the trail offered something for everyone.

"If people just want a 30 minute drive with minimal dirt roads we have the short drive or we have the old schools (ruins) and cemeteries and the lakes are picturesque," she said.

"This is just the initial stage, we've got picnic tables, more signage and paths planned as well as restoration work and we'd like to name all the lakes."

SEEING PINK... Yorke Peninsula Council elected member Adam Meyer, YPC staff member Gabrielle Gutsche and local farmer Alan Twartz at Pink Lake outside Yorketown.

Burst water main in Kadina

KADINA residents were left without mains water for several hours on Tuesday, October 12.

A break in the mains was reported near the intersection of Lyon Street and East Terrace in the morning, affecting about 100 residents.

"The incident was reported on Tuesday morning (October 12), with an SA Water field technician arriving on site at around 8.40am to begin turning off mains supply," an SA Water spokesperson said.

"Pipe repairs were completed at around 2pm on Tuesday with water restored shortly after.

"We thank our impacted customers for their patience while we undertook this work as quickly and safely as possible."

Dunes restored at North Beach

THE North Beach dune system received a little extra assistance earlier this month.

Crews have been working to restore the dune system under the guidance of experts Succession Ecology and the Coast Protection Board following a winter with some moderate storm events.

Residents along the front of Otago Road received a letter explaining that, while the damage was a setback to the establishment process, the outcomes were not unexpected.

"It also demonstrates the enormous benefit of the reinstated dune system in relation to the protection of properties located directly behind the dunes," Copper Coast Council CEO Russell Peate wrote.

Layers of sand and seaweed are being placed over fencing to fast-track dune development, improve structural integrity and plant growth.

"The sand will be harvested from the beach, particularly from along the marina wall where it has built up," Mr Peate wrote.

"Deposited seaweed will be combined with the sand to improve the sand's consistency.

"Once completed, the dune is to be capped with additional seaweed to improve moisture holding capacity for planting in 2022."

$120,000 for Marion Bay playground

Sonny Coombs
JOURNALIST

MARION Bay Progress Association has received nearly $120,000 to install new playground equipment and shade structures.

The $118,633 was awarded as part of round five of the federal government's Building Better Regions Fund.

Playground subcommittee member Caroline Bonnett said she was thrilled to get the funding.

"I'm over the moon about getting this grant, I can't quite believe it because it's a large amount of money," Ms Bonnett said.

"From a community perspective this is very welcome.

"We receive a lot of tourists so it's not only for them to benefit but also the people who live here which is great."

Ms Bonnett said the playground project had been more than a decade in the making.

"I moved to Marion Bay in 2000, we had our first child in 2005 and when he was about 2, we had a playgroup going," Ms Bonnett said.

"Some of the mothers decided to raise money to improve the playground.

"We ended up with a $5000 community grant which we added another $2000 through funding to complete the first stage.

"This included preparing an area and getting some equipment put in and a year later we did more fundraising and received another $5000 grant through council."

Ms Bonnett said a further grant allowed for the construction of a barbecue and shelter shed.

"We did a huge working bee at the playground with members of the community to replace fencing, tidy up the garden and make it as user friendly as we could," she said.

"We wanted to get more equipment but before we could do that, we contacted council to see if they would help us prepare the site because we couldn't add anymore to the existing area."

Member for Grey Rowan Ramsey congratulated the progress association for putting forward the project.

"Marion Bay is a very popular family destination and particularly in the holiday periods (there are) a lot of children in the town," Mr Ramsey said.

"Not every day is for the beach and the surf and modern playgrounds meeting all the current standards are not cheap pieces of equipment.

"I'm sure it will be a very popular addition to the town's attractions."

Karina running for state parliament

Sonny Coombs
JOURNALIST

FORMER Yorke Peninsula resident Karina Natt will contest the seat of Adelaide at the 2022 state election.

Ms Natt, who grew up in Edithburgh, has been a political advisor for the past six years and has been endorsed as the Greens candidate for the electorate.

“At the beginning of this year there was a moment for me where I realised instead of just saying we need more women in parliament I had to put my hand up,” Ms Natt said.

“Brittany Higgins kicked off a reckoning when she spoke up about abuse and the toxic culture in parliament.

“The way to change that is to have more women elected, leading and making laws and policies that drive the reforms we need society wide.”

Ms Natt said she also recognised the critical need to address climate change and keeping warming below 1.5 degrees.

“As a country girl, I’ve experienced the climate emergency firsthand through drought and bushfires,” she said.

“It’s hard to believe Edithburgh, the town I grew up in, had to evacuate to the jetty during the Yorketown fires in 2019 yet more intense fires are a consequence of the climate crisis.

“I don’t want any of us to have to keep going through these catastrophic weather events and if politicians don’t act now, the damage will be irreversible.”

Ms Natt said politics has been a good way to combine her background in law and journalism with her passion for social equality and the environment.

“The Greens value the same things I do — protecting our environment, beautiful beaches and coastline and wildlife, as well as addressing inequality and ensuring everyone has a roof over their heads and access to free, quality education and healthcare,” Ms Natt said.

“The Greens don’t take corporate donations so we are running a grassroots, people-powered election campaign to try to achieve balance of power in the Upper House which means lots of doorknocking, community events and conversations.”

Ms Natt is a former Yorke Peninsula Country Times journalist and is currently chief of staff for Senator Sarah Hanson-Young.

CANDIDATE... Karina Natt has been endorsed as the Greens candidate for the seat of Adelaide at the March 2022 state election.

Aladdin Jr. a magical performance

Jess Liddy
REVIEW BY

MAITLAND Music and Arts Club Youth Theatre presented Disney's Aladdin Jr. on Friday and Saturday, October 22-23.

The bright and colourful musical production was a magical treat for audiences.

The production, directed by Nathan Wright and choreographed by Danielle Mangano and Leah Tucker, was based on the favourite Disney animated film and its Broadway musical adaption, with the MMAC Performing Arts School making it their own.

I absolutely loved this adventure brought to life which included some new songs and new characters, and a whole lot of fun.

Aladdin, played by Indy Thyer, and friends Babbkak, Omar and Kassim (Sophie Davies, Charlotte Liebelt and Cameron Carson) were outstanding. Their energy and enthusiasm throughout the entire performance was incredible.

Princess Jasmine, Kira Davies, had an amazing voice and stunned on stage with her performance every time.

Tyson Wright, who played the evil royal adviser Jafar, gave it his all and nothing could beat his cackling evil laugh. His sidekick played by Alice Butler was a big presence on stage — she absolutely commanded the crowd with her sass and sarcasm and was one of the standout performers.

We can't go past the Genie played by Jed Alderman — another stand-out performer who had the vocals, the acting skills and the charisma. Jed was the complete package who had the crowd in stitches and awe at the same time — I hope we see more of him in many performances to come.

Overall, the characters combined to produce an outstanding performance and each played their part accordingly. It was one of the best performances I have been to in a long time with the right amount of heart and soul, mixed with humour and fun — MMAC Performing Arts School you nailed it again — I can't wait for the next production!

ALADDIN JR... Aladdin (Indy Thyer) and friends Babbkak, Omar and Kassim (Sophie Davies, Charlotte Liebelt and Cameron Carson) were stand-outs in the Maitland Music and Arts Club Youth Theatre's rendition of Disney's Aladdin Jr. on Friday, October 22.

MAGIC CARPET... Indy Thyer as Aladdin and Kira Davies, Princess Jasmine, captivated the crowd on the magic carpet ride.

HILARIOUS... The evil royal adviser's sidekick Iago played by Alice Butler was a highlight of the show with her sarcasm and jokes.

Bright mural moments for zoo

Patrick Goldsmith
REPORT BY

WALLAROO Holiday Park's petting zoo at North Beach has been given a significant facelift in the form of a new mural.

The work was created by local Janyne Price, who also painted the tennis wall at the North Beach Township playground in March last year.

Mrs Price said she's never been to an art class in her life, but gets an absolute kick out of the joy her murals bring to those who see them.

"It all stems from a little idea which has grown into a project the whole community knows about," she said.

"The paintings are just the beginning, we want to go bigger and bring in more animals as well as benches and more seating so that this zoo becomes accessible for everyone.

"My main aim is to bring in everyone, from all backgrounds, with all abilities, and to make it friendly."

Mrs Price said she loved the process behind creating the mural.

"When Michael (Byrne, park manager) first asked me to do this I thought, 'wow, how am I going to fit this in?'" she said.

"But then I figured that I have to do something in retirement, so why not give something like this a go?"

"I just want life in there and I want it to be a talking point.

"We just have to get everything right and we're trying to do it without having a large expense.

"It's unique for a caravan park to have this, we want to do it right, and we want to make this more of a tourism place for the Copper Coast."

Mr Byrne said the team plans on growing the attraction further with additional murals to come.

All animals within the petting zoo are rescues, Mr Byrne said.

"The petting zoo has grown into an attraction within an attraction," he said.

"There's lot of people who have helped out, and the positive thing is that we want to keep improving it, and making it better."

James fighting life-threatening illness

A FUNDRAISING page has been set up to help a Curramulka couple whose baby is fighting a life-threatening illness in Melbourne.

Sally Allen, of Coobowie, has set up a GoFundMe page to ease the pressure for Gavin and Sophia Roocke and their son James.

“They have two daughters and were amazed to have a surprise baby boy in November, he has been the most content, happy and healthy baby, such a blessing,” Sally said.

“It was especially devastating and shocking when James went from being healthy and well to suddenly struck with a life-threatening illness.

“He was flown to the Women’s and Children’s Hospital in Adelaide and the team there put him on life support.”

Sally said James’ heart was inflamed, failing and he had an infection causing serious damage to the muscle.

“He continued to deteriorate and was flown to the Royal Children’s Hospital in Melbourne,” she said.

“The specialists there were finally able to diagnose his condition as myocarditis/cardiomyopathy.

“The decision was made to fit James with a ‘Berlin Heart’ that is pumping for his left ventricle.”

Sally said the Berlin Heart will relieve some pressure and allow the muscle to repair itself.

“If that does not work, the Berlin Heart provides a bridge to a heart transplant,” she said.

“This beautiful little boy and his loving family have a long and challenging road ahead and have temporarily relocated to Melbourne to access the leading paediatric cardiology care in Australia.

FIGHTING... The community is rallying behind Curramulka’s James Roocke, with mum Sophia, as he fights a life-threatening illness in Melbourne.

“If they don’t have to worry so much about how to pay for the minefield of new expenses, they can continue to give little James the best chance of recovery.”

Poverty game will be toughest test

Patrick Goldsmith
REPORT BY

THE Salvation Army Copper Coast Corps has come up with an interactive way of expressing the difficulties of life for those living in impoverished conditions.

Anti-Poverty Week was held from Sunday to Saturday, October 17 to 23, with a group set to explore the issue more deeply in the “poverty game” tonight (Tuesday, October 26).

Participants will be challenged to face the pressures forced upon the underprivileged as they need to resource materials for an art collage on a limited budget.

Despite being a fictitious scenario in this case, participants will get an understanding of how difficult unfavourable conditions can make life.

The Salvation Army’s theme for this year’s event has been about encouraging people not to be afraid to speak up for financial freedom.

“This year we wanted to do something different from what we’d usually do, and the poverty game is a fun way of spreading awareness,” Captain Karen Armstrong said.

“It’s been business as usual for the rest of the week, we’ve been seeing all our usual clients, but our focus for the event is the poverty game.

“There could be about 30 of us here, which is a good number.”

GIVING...The facilities at The Salvation Army Copper Coast Corps being put to good use by Captain Karen Armstrong and Erica Singh.

The Salvos are involved in many community initiatives, but also manage a busy thrift shop as well as regular clients.

Captain Armstrong said the issue of poverty on Yorke Peninsula is growing, and needs to be addressed.

“We know we’ve got a housing crisis up here,” she said.

“There’s a lot of things which have impacted that and not only does it push out lower class people, but it actually pushes out the middle class people too.

“When people first come to us they’ll say, ‘I need food,’ but we know the issues run far deeper.”

In Australia today, 2.65 million people are struggling to survive on income payments that are below the poverty line.

Mrs Armstrong said she wants people to know the organisation exists to support them.

“Our main role here is to advocate for the people who think they don’t have a voice,” she said.

“Everyone who comes into The Salvation Army for assistance, will always go away with something.

“We will never knock someone back.”

Makers of the RAAF: Stanley James Goble (1891-1948)

Dr Don Longo
REPORT BY

SIR Richard Williams (1890 – 1980) is generally regarded as the “father” of the Royal Australian Air Force but others made significant contributions to its establishment.

One such person was Air Vice Marshal Stanley James “Jimmy” Goble, CBE, DSO, DSC.

Early life and World War I

Goble was born at Croydon, Victoria, on August 21, 1891, and one of four brothers.

He had little schooling and began his working life as a clerk, then stationmaster, with the Victorian Railways, while also playing football for Brunswick.

Goble tried to enlist in the Australian Imperial Force at the outbreak of the Great War but was twice rejected on medical grounds.

Undeterred, he travelled to England at his own expense and enlisted in the Royal Naval Air Service in 1915; he became a test pilot, and flew anti-submarine patrols and fighters on the Western Front.

Such was his daring that, although shot down twice, he had the reputation as a flying ace with 10 victories in aerial combat by the end of the war.

His conspicuous bravery and skill earned him the Distinguished Service Order in 1917 and, later, the Distinguished Service Cross and the French Croix De Guerre.

He returned to Australia in November 1918 with the rank of Lieutenant Colonel.

In October 1921, he was posted to Britain for a short naval co-operation course and there met and married Kathleen Wodehouse in London on Anzac Day 1922.

Establishment of RAAF and Chief of Air Staff

Goble and Williams’ solid reputations as aviators meant that, in November 1920, both were assigned to the Australian Air Board to investigate the feasibility of an Australian Air Force.

Both recommended the creation of the AAF as an independent branch of the armed services and it was established on March 31, 1921, and the Royal prefix was granted five months later.

Goble and Williams were subsequently nominated for the role of Chief of the Air Staff, with the prime position going to Williams and Goble appointed as Second Air Member and Director of Personnel and Training.

The pair each served as CAS three times between 1922 and 1940 in alternating terms of office.

Inevitably, professional rivalry developed between the two and this was exacerbated by differences in personality and management style. Goble’s cheerful and affable disposition contrasting sharply with Williams’ more fastidious and autocratic character.

It was Williams and his superior political skills, however, that dominated the AAB.

Circumnavigation of Australia

Like many returned aviators, Goble longed for adventure.

To that end, he and fellow RAAF pilot Ivor McIntyre became the first men to circumnavigate Australia by air in a single-engined Fairey 3D floatplane, McIntyre as lead pilot and Goble as commander and navigator.

Officially, the flight was to survey the northern coastline of Australia for defence planning, but for Goble and McIntyre it was also about what aviators called “exploits”: daring and perilous journeys that tested men and machines to their limit.

Taking off from Point Cook, Victoria, on April 6, 1924, they flew in an anticlockwise direction along the Australian coast in dangerous conditions.

Illness, tropical storms, mid-air engine trouble and fuel leaks were common.

At one point, they realised the pilot’s compass was faulty so, across the Gulf of Carpentaria, Goble had to pull strings tied to McIntyre’s arms in order to guide him.

The journey was 8450 miles (13,600km) over 44 days; a silent news reel of the circumnavigation can be viewed at: <https://aso.gov.au/titles/news-reels/australasian-gazette-sea-plane/clip1/>.

On their return, they alighted at St Kilda Beach to the rapturous welcome of 10,000 spectators.

Sir Robert Menzies, Australian Prime Minister between 1949 and 1966, called the flight “one of the most wonderful accomplishments in the history of aviation”.

The flight won the prestigious Britannia Trophy for 1924 and both Goble and McIntyre were granted CBEs. Goble then resumed his RAAF career; McIntyre died in 1928 from injuries sustained in a Tiger Moth crash at Parafield, South Australia.

The 1930s and World War II

With the onset of WWII, Goble’s career experienced highs and lows.

In February 1937, he became a temporary Air Vice Marshal. In February 1939 he succeeded Williams as CAS for the third and last time when the latter was dismissed from his position in the aftermath of a report that was critical of RAAF training and air safety standards.

Things went awry for Goble in 1939-40; his plans to expand and decentralise the RAAF with an autonomous Air Expeditionary Force found no support in the government.

His opposition to the federal policy of training RAAF pilots for transfer into the British Royal Air Force during the war — he believed it would be detrimental to local defence — irked the government.

He also came into conflict with his own deputy.

Faced with a career impasse, Goble resigned as RAAF chief executive in January 1940, though he kept his commission in the organisation.

He was persuaded by PM Menzies to take on the role of Australian Air Liaison Officer to Canada where he stayed for the duration of the war.

He was the RAAF’s representative at the Ottawa Conference in May-June 1942 that negotiated the Joint Commonwealth Air Training Plan.

Death and legacy

Goble retired in February 1946.

He died of hypertensive cerebrovascular disease on July 24, 1948, in the Repatriation General Hospital, Heidelberg, Victoria, and was survived by his wife and three sons.

Goble Street, Hughes, Australian Capital Territory, is named after him.

Self-care a priority for women in business

SELF-CARE was the topic of Women in Business Regional Network's Yorke Peninsula dinner at the Weeroona Hotel, Wallaroo, on Monday, September 20.

"The pandemic has created additional stress for many, so the presentation by Alford local Bridget Johns, the founder of Be Simply Free, was well received," network founder Carolyn Jeffrey said.

"Bridget, as well as holding down positions in local and state government authorities, working on the farm and raising a family, has also managed to launch her own business providing life skills and decluttering advice and assistance.

"She spoke openly about her own struggles with burnout from taking on too much, and shared her own self-care rituals, including her early morning walk on the property."

Bridget challenged those in attendance to "stop, focus and notice" what they enjoy doing, make a note of these activities and stick it in a prominent place to be reminded of self-care options.

Many options, she said, took less than 10 minutes and were often low cost or even no cost.

There was great interest regarding the way Bridget's entire family lived a more simple life and how they worked together to create self-care opportunities for each member individually, as well as together.

The next YP dinner is on Monday, November 8, when Ms Jeffrey will speak about how to plan and consider your next steps in business and life.

Women in Business Regional Network is open to business owners, managers, staff and those dreaming of owning their own business; you don't have to be a member to attend events, but bookings are essential via Eventbrite.com.au.

For more information about the network, visit www.wibnetwork.com.au or phone Carolyn on 0435 432 203.

Former Copper Coast Council mayor Paul Thomas spoke about the formation of the club and the concerns members of the Wallaroo community had about moving the bowls and croquet clubs from Owen Terrace.

He also highlighted how the Wallaroo golf, croquet and bowls clubs have been part of the Wallaroo community for more than 100 years and how well the WCSC was serving the organisations.

This was confirmed by many participants at the recent SA Masters Games, who were greatly impressed by the facilities.

Inaugural board member Kevin Taylor was invited to cut a birthday cake to mark the day.

Lainie to speak at Community Care AGM

LAINIE Anderson is returning to Yorke Peninsula as guest speaker for the Community Care and Transport 2021 AGM at the Minlaton Town Hall on Thursday, October 28.

Lainie has been a weekly columnist with the Sunday Mail since 2007 and previously worked at the Herald Sun in Melbourne as state political reporter and with The Times in London as a sub-editor.

In 2017, she travelled to nine countries on a Churchill Fellowship to gauge the significance of the 1919 Air Race, the winning flight from England to Australia by South Australia's Smith brothers, and their Vickers Vimy aircraft which is now housed at Adelaide Airport.

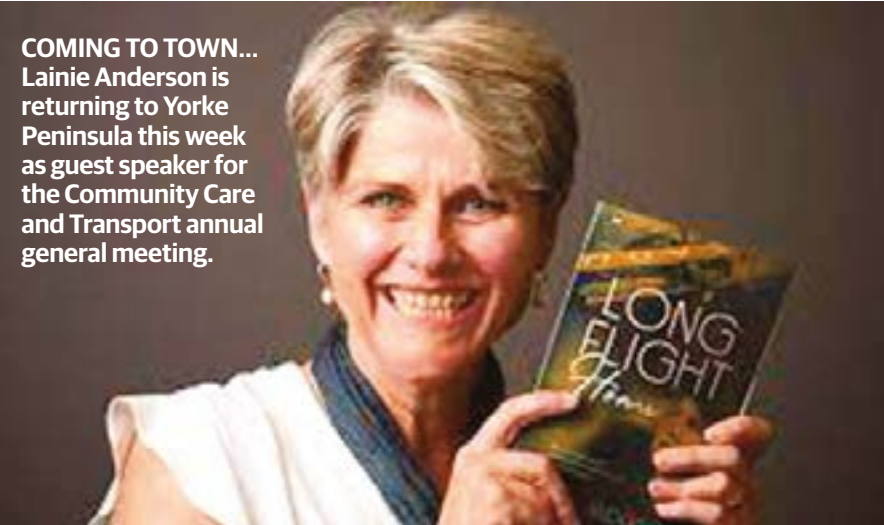

"Lainie is now South Australia's Epic Flight program ambassador, and her historical fiction on the air race — Long Flight Home — has been published by Wakefield Press," Community Care and Transport CEO David McDonald said.

"She has also co-produced a documentary called The Greatest Air Race and The Heroes the World Forgot, with astronaut Andy Thomas presenting and narrating.

"We're expecting a strong turnout from members at this year's AGM.

"Lainie will bring a wealth of knowledge and interesting stories on the day."

The AGM, open only to members, will begin at 10am.

COMING TO TOWN... Lainie Anderson is returning to Yorke Peninsula this week as guest speaker for the Community Care and Transport annual general meeting.

Varied program at Warooka and Districts Garden Club

WAROOKA and Districts Garden Club members enjoy a varied program for their meetings, which are generally held at 1.30pm on the first Friday of each month.

They enjoy hearing guest speakers and increasing their gardening knowledge, viewing new plants in gardens (or displayed on the competition table), thanks to the energy, creativity and knowledge of the club's president, secretary and treasurer and other committee members.

Julie Searle, guest speaker at the September 3 meeting, described how the water tower at Port Vincent came to be painted.

It was no easy journey, Julie said, with all sorts of rules, regulations, permissions, copyrights and occupational health and safety guidelines to face and adhere to.

Other towns have followed with a few different obstacles to overcome, she said.

The club sold plants and bric-a-brac at a trading table supporting the Royal Flying Doctor Service on the Saturday of the October long weekend.

This meant the meeting and planned visit to Robbie and Phillip Redding's beautifully maintained Mount Rat garden was held a week later.

Over the years, the Reddings have extended their garden to include a lawn for putt-putt golf, an impressive wisteria arch, walkways lined with annuals, perennials and tall trees, all mulched with Phillip's successful fertiliser recipe.

A fern house is planned for next year, a large iris bed was just beginning to bud and flower, and the vegetable garden was thriving under the fertiliser mulch.

A small gift and heartfelt thanks for the Reddings' hospitality ended an enjoyable afternoon.

Another garden visit is planned for November 5, as well as visiting Bublacowie Military Museum, then Christmas will be celebrated with a lunch on December 3.

Meetings will resume after the summer break on February 4.

Nicholas's nod to family past

Patrick Goldsmith
REPORT BY

CENTRAL Yorke School, Maitland, student Nicholas Heinrich is proud to have told his great-grandfather William George Bridgman's story so well.

The 15 year old was one of 20 students from around the state to receive the Premier's ANZAC Spirit School Prize at a ceremony in Adelaide, on September 3.

"It was a 2000-word essay, and we did it as a class, but three people then submitted theirs to be judged," Nicholas said.

"I got a call at the end of last term to tell me that I was going in for an interview and was then told I was accepted."

Students could write a piece of (no more than) 2000 words or build a multimedia presentation in response to questions about their chosen former defence force personnel.

"You're learning about history, but you're also learning about someone you choose, which gets you more involved," Nicholas said.

"From there you dive deep into books, people, websites — you go through everything — to find the information you need."

"It's important to learn about everything that's happened in the past."

Central Yorke School has produced previous Premier's ANZAC Spirit School Prize

HISTORY... Nicholas Heinrich collecting his award at ANZAC House, Torrens Parade Grounds, in Adelaide on September 3.

recipients too, with Harrison Geater-Johnson winning last year and Sophie Baker in 2019.

The Premier's ANZAC Spirit School Prize is open to all South Australian year 9 and 10 students and allows for discovery about former Australian servicepeople.

Manager of the Premier's ANZAC Spirit School Prize Malcolm McInerney said the program provides an opportunity for students to complete a really authentic piece of work.

"Students get an understanding of the bravery and sacrifices of people in the past," he said.

"It's not easy piecing together some stories so they really are acting as detective-historians to put together a story."

Mr McInerney commented on Central Yorke's recent success, and said it was a credit to the teachers.

"To get all the students prepared as well as they do to get such entries in, is fabulous."

Nicholas and the 19 other recipients will be going to Darwin in April to be involved in Anzac Day ceremonies in 2022.

Tour Australia in style

Advertising Promotion

EP Bus Charters have been offering tours across Australia for almost 10 years.

The business, owned by Kim and David Pierce, started in 2003 when the pair moved from the Adelaide Hills to Wangary on the Eyre Peninsula.

What started as a school bus run with two old Toyota Coasters has grown to a fleet of eight buses, happy customers and memories made along the road.

"During a sad time in life, I started putting tour itineraries together at the urging of Heather Nettle for the Pensioners Club," Kim said.

"I found I really enjoyed it and was not bad at it either!"

"This was how our touring started and the Whales, Kangaroo Island, Tasmania and Canberra tours have been running for eight years."

EP Bus Charters offers an inclusive way to see Australia, and even New Zealand with David and Kim hosting around 15 tours a year.

"Our tours are inclusive of travel, accommodation, daily full breakfasts, some lunches and two course dinners and private tours," Kim said.

"We love it and we love showcasing Australia."

THANKS... District special class SSO Tamra Stringer thanks Royal Hotel Social Club's Don Skarstrom for donating generously to Moonta Area School's new sensory circuit.

PROUD... South Australian Country Women's Association members Belinda Smith, Georgina Weissmann, Christine Schipper, Moonta Area School principal Beth Hector, district special class SSO Tamra Stringer, Moonta Hotel Social Club's Julie Davey and SA CWA's Janet Shane and Lyn Butterfield celebrate the new sensory circuit.

Sensory circuit success

MOONTA Area School has been working hard to provide a sensory circuit for students.

Junior school teachers and student support officers developed the area between the junior classes and the main administration building.

The idea became a reality thanks to grant funding and local community donations.

"We had a huge space to be used and our sensory circuit makes the most of it, in a beneficial way to the students," district special class SSO Tamra Stringer said.

"The circuit allows for students who may be struggling with motor skills, or those who just need to stretch their legs, to do so in fun environment just outside the classroom.

"The students were excited to come back this term to find our sensory circuit and an alphabet swirl completed on the blank bitumen."

Ms Stringer said the school could not have achieved this without extra support from community sponsors.

"We send a big thank you to Royal Hotel Social Club, Moonta Hotel Social Club and SACWA Kadina for their very kind donations to our project," she said.

"Thanks to Marion from Groundsplash for turning our blank canvas into this creation and Bill Shillabeer from YP Line Marking, who gave us his time generously to help utilise the area fully."

HOP, SKIP AND A JUMP... Moonta Area School student Jesse Holthouse having fun on the school's new sensory circuit.

Novel imaging to head off glaucoma

Glaucoma Australia's 2021 Quinlivan Research Grant has been awarded to Professor Ewa Goldys from the University of New South Wales' Graduate School of Biomedical Engineering.

Governor-General of Australia, His Excellency General the Honourable David Hurley AC DSC (Retd), Glaucoma Australia patron, announced the award on World Sight Day, October 14.

The grant will support Prof Goldys' work to further develop novel imaging technology fluorescent hyperspectral imaging (fHSI) for the early detection and monitoring of glaucoma.

Obtaining information about the health status of the retina and optic nerve, it is hoped fHSI will enable the start of treatment before permanent damage, causing irreversible blindness, is done.

FHSI enables real-time monitoring of dynamic disease status by non-invasively obtaining information about retinal energy metabolism.

A world-leading biomedical engineer, Professor Goldys, and medical and data scientists with complementary skillsets, will work together with internationally recognised glaucoma clinician-scientists Professor Andrew White and Professor Robert Casson to lead the project from lab to clinic.

FHSI has the potential to produce a paradigm shift similar to how optical coherence tomography has become a commonplace tool in glaucoma management, Professor Goldy said.

Professor Ewa Goldys believes fluorescent hyperspectral imaging will be particularly useful in the early detection of glaucoma and its subsequent monitoring.

SYP girls claim inaugural SAPSASA footy carnival

Yorke Peninsula was well represented at SAPSASA's inaugural girls state football carnival.

Southern YP's year 6-7 girls pulled off wins in eight of their nine games to finish equal winners in division IV at Barratt Reserve, Adelaide, from Monday to Wednesday, October 18-20.

SYP coach Joe Murdock said it was a pretty impressive feat to be the competition's first winners.

"The girls played a really good brand of footy — we were able to get the ball on the outside and move it quickly," Murdock said.

"It was a much more physical (style of) game than most would expect and when it was their time to go, they all had a crack.

"We scored about 12 times every game — the girls combined really well with each other and developed their skills as they went."

Murdock said it was most of the girls' first time playing footy.

"It was a different sport to what they're used to, so they picked up the game pretty quickly," he said.

"They were all really excited and proud of their efforts.

"This was a positive step forward for girls' footy on the YP"

NYP shows resilience

Northern YP also fought hard to come away with one win in division III of its three-day carnival.

Coach Aaron Smith said his side faced some top-quality districts including Gawler, Adelaide North East, Salisbury and Onkaparinga North.

"Many of the girls had not played competitive football before, but did their best and learnt lots of skills throughout the three days," Smith said.

"The girls showed a lot of strength and resilience in their final game of day one against some extremely tall girls.

"This transferred into their first win on the second day against Western Eyre Peninsula — we piled on seven goals for the game, giving us some much-needed confidence.

"Lots of high-quality skills were on display and there were many sore bodies by the end of the week.

"We were impressed with the level of competitiveness and more importantly the wonderful sportsmanship the girls displayed."

NEXT GEN... Northern Yorke Peninsula's girls played hard throughout its three-day carnival despite only finishing with one win. Back: Ava Papps, Tali Dayman, Ilana Penny, Alexis May, Maeve Cockshell, Bree Williams; middle: Charlotte Keleher, Natalia Bagnato, Amelia Bugg, Mackenzie Wood, Shali Pontifex; front: Mathilda Turrell, Mia Frost and Scarlett Miers.

Kameron shoots for the stars

Kameron Rowntree's archery passion started at a young age, shooting with a compound bow at 12.

Rowntree, of Ardrossan, competed in his first national competition, in the 3D round, in Alice Springs using an Alpine frontier bow in 2013.

Rowntree won his first medal through a branch shoot at the Mallee Sunset Field Archers at Red Cliffs, Victoria, breaking him into the B-grade category, and receiving a trophy along the way.

In 2014, grouped with Brett Raymond, Rowntree competed in his second national competition at Wide Bay Archers, Susan River, Queensland.

"It was a great experience as I was able to receive medals in the paper round and 3D shoots, while also meeting some new people along the way," Rowntree said.

Rowntree competed at his third nationals at Wagga Field Archers in New South Wales where he picked up a couple of medals in the paper round and 3D shoots.

"The Wagga nationals was a great learning curve for me, as it posted different obstacles with different ground hills and creeks," Rowntree said.

Rowntree went on to shoot at the Mallee Sunset Field Archers in 2016, Mudgee nationals in 2017, and the Alice Springs nationals in 2018.

During this time, Rowntree was able to continue his winning ways, picking up five medals.

"The landscaping at Mallee was interesting, and I had to shoot at some different spots, but it made for an enjoyable shoot," he said.

"I was given the task of shooting from the red peg in the adult category in Mudgee, which had me shooting over a dead tree and around hills to pick up my two medals.

"Alice Springs was another difficult shoot as I had to compete in the adult category in harsh hot weather, but it was all worth it with a cold drink after a long, hot day."

In 2019, Rowntree returned to Mallee Sunset Archers and enjoyed a rollercoaster day but was able to enjoy birthday celebrations with a carp shoot with friends and family from the Yorke Peninsula Field Archers Club.

PASSION... Ardrossan's Kameron Rowntree has a passion for archery.

Coco Mia wins on debut

Kadina harness trainer Tyson Linke unveiled talented 2-year-old Coco Mia at the Gawler harness meeting which marked the start of the town's Carnival of Cups on Sunday, October 17.

Coco Mia, well backed at $2.80, won the Hygain Curculain Pro Pace (1609m) by a staggering 26 metres from Im Kindofa Bigdeal ($31) with Whodat Boodat ($81), 5.5 metres away third.

The filly rated a very quick 1:57.7 at her first start.

Coco Mia's win was extra special for Tyson's sister Tara-Shae, who bred and owns the filly.

Tyson and Tara-Shae previously bred the good winner Little Foo, but Coco Mia is Tara-Shae's first solo venture.

It was a big week for the harness enthusiasts as Jet Quick, the dam of Coco Mia, gave birth to a filly by the highly rated stallion Downbytheseaside on Thursday.

Tara-Shae was on course at Gawler to enjoy the debut success of her filly.

Coco Mia began well from gate five and driver Wayne Hill had no hesitation going forward and sitting outside the leader Deadline ($2.40 favourite).

The front pair raced each other before Hill urged Coco Mia to go for home coming off the back straight.

At this stage, Deadline started to feel the pressure and broke gait leaving Coco Mia well clear.

Despite happy to switch off with no rival to race, the filly strolled to the line in good style.

Tyson Linke said he had been confident the filly would run well on debut.

"She has been running quick times around my track in Kadina," he said.

"In fact, she is the third fastest of the horses I have trained."

Coco Mia is likely to head to the Southern Cross series at Globe Derby Park over the coming months, but Linke is a little apprehensive.

"I think the Victorians that will come across might be a bit too good.

"But I'm hoping she can prove the best of the locals."

DEBUT WIN... Wayne Hill drives Coco Mia to a win — by a staggering 26 metres — on debut at Gawler.

Sail training and comp at Wallaroo Sailing Club

The first Sunday of sail training at Wallaroo Sailing Club was well attended with a gaggle of new trainees completing registration, their sun smart and safety briefings. A few of last year's trainees also returned to improve their skills.

Attendees went into the boatshed to learn how to rig and then launch the dinghies, and winds for the morning were light and variable, perfect for that first sail.

Sail training starts at 9.30am every Sunday and it's not too late to sign up if you are interested in learning.

The afternoon sailing competition was a club championship race. Sailing was challenging with winds all over the compass — prolonged gusts up to 17 knots kept crews on their toes. The results were close with only four minutes between first and last.

First place was taken by Peter Elverd in his laser Yknot with a time of 56 minutes 24 seconds, with Scarlet Fever sailed by David and Maria Woodforde coming in last only four minutes later.

SMOOTH MOVING... Ryley Maitland wins another ball in traffic; Maitland is bringing his skills to the YP Football League next season.

Maitland to Moonta

Peter Argent
REPORT BY

Moonta has acquired the services of classy on-baller and dual Mail Medallist Ryley Maitland for season 2022.

The 24 year old Maitland is highly credentialed, claiming the Eastern Eyre medal in 2019 and 2021.

He finished just two votes behind the winner of the Whyalla Football League medal in 2020.

"I spent a couple of years at Immanuel College in 2013 and 2014, and played First XVIII football in my second year there (year 11)," Maitland said.

"I'm a boilermaker by trade and decided to come back home and start my apprenticeship in 2015.

"I've got a connection with the Demons, as my cousin Brodie Maitland plays there.

"I'm really looking forward to having a kick and catch with him next year.

"I know a bit about the competition, as Southern Eagles footballer Luke Hoare was a mate from my days at Immanuel College and I was in his wedding party."

Maitland played for Kimba from 2015 to '17 and spent 2018 playing in the Central District reserves.

He's claimed three flags for Kimba and was also part of the SA Country side which travelled to Perth in 2019.

Bates back with Cougars

Peter Argent
REPORT BY

Smooth-moving left-footed midfielder Zac Bates is returning to the CY Cougars in 2022.

Bates exploded onto the Yorke Peninsula football scene in the second half of 2019, spending the past two seasons with the Payneham Norwood Union Falcons and Goolwa-Port Elliott Magpies.

"I am looking to enjoying my footy again," Bates, 26, said.

"(I've) met a lot of good people in my time at the Cougars and am looking forward to coming back with my daughter.

"(I) enjoyed playing in the environment two years ago and am looking forward to returning to Yorke Peninsula footy.

"While I'm not a noted goal setter by nature, I'm keen for us to good crack at finals footy next year."

Bates is an on-ball type who can go forward and hit the scoreboard, and also has the ability to win a lot the ball at stoppages and can read the game exquisitely.

He played junior football with the Lyrup Lions and the Bamera Monash Double Blues before going to town and playing in the West Adelaide junior program.

BACK IN BLUE... Zac Bates, pictured in action for CY Cougars in 2019, is coming back to the club next season.

SA under 18s program in 2013 and was picked up by Geelong with pick 46 in the rookie draft of the same year.

He was on the Geelong list for three seasons, despite playing just 19 VFL games over his injury ravaged tenure.

Northern Yorke Peninsula...

Arthurton sides looking good

Joan Hill
REPORT BY

Again the weather has been perfect for bowls and there have certainly been some interesting results over the past two weeks.

Arthurton had a good week last week.

Both Arthurton open competition sides (divisions I and II) had round 2 wins at home on Saturday, and the women's side won by four shots at Paskeville in their first round match last Thursday.

Arthurton div II played at Ardrossan in the first round of the Saturday competition and won by seven shots. Bruce Schmidt (skipper), Bev Mullins, Sally Young and Scott Gunning's 39-14 win definitely helped their side get over the line.

Saturday competition

DIVISION I

Arthurton hosted Ardrossan and had a 31-shot win. Simon Geater-Johnson back playing at Arthurton has strengthened the side and, with Grace Moloney being available each Saturday, Arthurton looks a very good side.

Wallaroo White was far too good for Wallaroo Blue in their local derby.

Port Broughton took the game right up to Moonta, which was playing at home. The home side only got up by nine shots.

Bute hosted Paskeville, the home side winning by 30 shots.

Kadina travelled to Maitland and had a 41-shot win.

DIVISION II

Wallaroo Mines, at home, had the biggest winning score, and all its teams up, in its 114-68 victory against Kadina. It was Wallaroo Mines' first game for the season.

Alford also had a great day playing at home and winning by 17 shots against Ardrossan.

Wallaroo Blue travelled to Paskeville and went home with a 21-shot win.

Closest game in this division was at Arthurton with the home side winning by four shots against Bute.

Usually at Moonta, it is the Red sides that are the strongest so it was unusual to see the Blue side defeat Red by four shots.

DIVISION III

There were some big wins in third division, but the derby at Wallaroo had White the winner by 10 shots against Blue.

Moonta White, at home, had a 12-shot win against Maitland.

Moonta Red and Moonta Blue both had big wins at Ardrossan.

This week

There should be some interesting scores in all divisions in round 3.

DIVISION I

Div I game of the round will be between Wallaroo White and Moonta at Wallaroo. Moonta will be trying but Wallaroo White at home will win this one (as everyone knows I won't pick against Wallaroo at home).

Arthurton should make it two in a row at home when it hosts close neighbour Maitland, which is looking for its first win.

Wallaroo Blue travels to Paskeville. Wallaroo Blue should be strong enough to win but will it?

Ardrossan will want to win at home against Bute but will have to be playing at its best to do so.

Port Broughton is hoping for its first win and, with the advantage of playing at home, can it defeat Kadina? I will be surprised if they do.

DIVISION II

Can Paskeville second division have its first win of the season? Arthurton will again be at home so it will have the advantage and can make it two wins in row.

Moonta Blue, at home, should be able to defeat Alford.

After its loss last week, can Kadina make amends and win out at Bute? It should but can it?

Wallaroo Mines had a great start last week and this week travels to Ardrossan where it may just win this one.

DIVISION III

Third division likely winners are Wallaroo White, Moonta Blue, Maitland and Wallaroo Blue.

Thursday competition

The weather was perfect for bowls for the beginning of the 2021-22 Thursday competition season last week.

DIVISION I GREEN

Moonta Red continued its premiership form from last season, defeating Wallaroo 78-69 at Wallaroo. Both sides had two teams up but it was Claire Eichenberger, Coralie Herrmann, Ina Coates and June Wilson's 32-12 that helped give Moonta the overall win.

Moonta Blue also showed it is in good form, defeating Port Broughton by 30 shots.

Kadina-Mines Green travelled to Bute but was too strong for the home side, winning 82-68.

Maitland played at home against Ardrossan but couldn't defeat its close neighbour, losing 59-78.

DIVISION I GOLD

The three games played were all close.

Arthurton defeated Paskeville by four shots. Scores were level till the last end.

Kadina-Mines Gold, playing at home, defeated Moonta by five shots and Alford, playing at home, defeated Wallaroo by six shots.

Results 21-10-21

DIVISION I GREEN

Ardrossan 78 (14) (P McCarthy 21, C Simmons 17, P Coombe 23, A Rowntree 17) d Maitland 59 (2) (J Davies 18, R Cameron 13, B Downs 9, J Prosser 19).

Kadina-Mines 82 (13) (A Rule 22, W Venning 14, J Spry 31, C Fiskien 15) d Bute 68 (3) (S Millard 22, E Sluggett 18, J Hewett 15, R Taylor 13).

Moonta Red 78 (12) (M Chandler 14, J Andrew 12, S Cavanagh 20, C Eichenberger 32) d Wallaroo 69 (4) (D Milner 19, A Robinson 22, L Jolly 16, K Frick 12).

Moonta Blue 90 (16) (S Rost 18, M Reynolds 23, A Waters 25, J Gibb 24) d Port Broughton 60 (0) (V Baker 16, D Dennis 19, H Thornton 14, K Dycer 11).

DIVISION I GOLD

Alford 75 (12) (D Hocking 16, D Hockley 13, J Roberts 30, R Pearce 16) d Wallaroo 69 (4) (J Symons 15, J Martin 26, J Emms 9, M Ross 19).

Kadina-Mines Gold 72 (14) (S Campbell 16, J May 22, H May 19, C Howe 15) d Moonta 67 (2) (R Smith 20, J Downs 18, M Johnson 17, B Williams 12).

Arthurton 83 (12) (B Mullins 14, A Adams 16, J Bagshaw 25, A Gersch 28) d Paskeville 79 (4) (J Philbey 21, D Hill 20, S Millard 24, J Hill 14).

This week

DIVISION I GREEN

Port Broughton is at home against Maitland, which I can't see winning. Both sides lost last week and will want the win but I think Port Broughton at home.

Ardrossan will be at home to Wallaroo. This game will rely on the visitors managing the green and possibly wind. If Ardrossan is to get anywhere, it should win but I can't see Wallaroo allowing it to happen.

Moonta Red should have a win at home against Bute.

Closest game of the day could be Kadina-Mines against Moonta Blue. The outcome could go either way.

DIVISION I GOLD

Alford travels to Moonta and, after both having wins last week, it will be interesting to see which wins this one (I tip it will be Moonta).

Paskeville travels to Ardrossan, which will be playing its first game after the bye last week. The home side should win this one.

Kadina-Mines Gold travels to Arthurton, which is a very good side and I think will win.

Southern Yorke Peninsula...

Ladder leaders toppled at Yorketown

“NN”
REPORT BY

Saturday competition

DIVISION I

In weather far more conducive to bowls, there were a couple of upset wins in the Southern Yorke Peninsula Bowling Association on Saturday.

This was especially so at Yorketown, where both divisions' ladder leaders were defeated.

Yorketown first division did battle with Stansbury to come out winners by six shots, with Stansbury dropping to third on the ladder as a result.

In second division, the two home sides did battle on the B green with Red defeating Blue by one shot, Yorketown Red dropping to sixth.

DIVISION I

Edithburgh has taken over second after a 36-shot win against Port Victoria. This is good to see as Edithburgh struggled to obtain enough players before the season started but it has done so with credit and it is showing on the green.

Curramulka scored the win of the day, defeating favourite Port Vincent by 13 shots on the Vincent carpet.

Minlaton had the biggest win of the round, up 37 shots against Warooka, including Craig Norgren's 32-16 against Ken Rickard and Shane Warrior defeating Allan Gregory 36-19.

At Yorketown, Massimo Castiglia scored a 28-12 win against Malcolm Jennings; Trevor Gill defeated Rod Franke 28-19 to keep Stansbury in the game.

The ladder has Yorketown on top, followed by Edithburgh, Stansbury Minlaton and Curramulka.

DIVISION II

Stansbury White heads the ladder after its win 72-54 against Minlaton. Stansbury White's Ian Perry defeated Kylie Langhorne 37-11, and Jason Dreckow scored a 24-16 win for Minlaton for his first game as skipper against Lee Aldenhoven.

Port Vincent Black had a 78-68 win against Stansbury Blue.

Port Vincent Gold scored a good win against Port Victoria. Des Chambers led the way by defeating Roger Rawlings 31-18 and Brian Tuttle defeated Trevor Weigard 33-13. Col Walker was Port Vic's only winner, 26-17 against Roger Underwood.

The ladder has Stansbury White on top from Yorketown Blue, Port Vincent Black and Stansbury Blue.

This week

DIVISION I

Edithburgh v Port Vincent: Edithburgh to win at home.

Warooka hosts Stansbury and this could be a close game but I will go for Stansbury by a narrow margin.

Curramulka, hot shot winners from last week, should defeat Port Victoria at Curramulka by 10 shots.

Yorketown travels to Minlaton and should win on current form.

Thursday competition

DIVISION I

Warooka continued its winning way, toppling Curramulka by 28 shots in windy weather and on a relatively heavy Curramulka green last week; this was Warooka's first game away from the home carpet.

After a slow start, it was a good team effort as the Red and Whites lost only one rink and that was by three shots.

Big winner was Di Brooks defeating Sandra Wescombe 28-9.

Stansbury scored a big 86-41 win against Port Victoria with Margie Dodd leading the way with a 30-5 win against Bev Kinnane, and Anne Holland was up 20-9 against Carole Gill.

Edithburgh defeated Yorketown led by Janet Tucker's 28-9 against Sandra Redding. Marg Rogers defeated Deb Funnell 26-20 and Bev Loechel defeated Sandra Millowick 17-13. Betty Hewton scored an 18-10 win against Colleen Duncan.

Port Vincent had a four-shot win against Minlaton.

Marie Bates was Vincent's best winner, 24-13 against Brenda Clarke. Minlaton's rink winners were Marilyn Mitchell up two shots on Lyn White, and Lyn Krieg up four shots on Rosemary Button.

Wednesday competition

Unfortunately many players are treating this competition as a "Mickey Mouse" comp and all I can say is if that is the way you want to take the midweek game so be it, however a large number of players like the game and do their best.

One club made 17 phone calls last week wanting a player and all said no, so the selector, whilst not fit, played to make the team up and avoid a forfeit.

Come on guys, you wanted a midweek comp so give it a red hot go and play for the shield.

Stansbury leads the way on 18 points from Ardrossan White 16, Edithburgh Green 13, and Warooka on 12 points.

Port Victoria men's fours

Teams from the Copper Coast, the rolling hills of central Yorke Peninsula and the famous beaches of southern Yorke came together at the Port Victoria Bowling Club where they enjoyed a splendid meal, great company, and glorious weather during the PVBC October men's fours on Sunday, October 17.

In the words of many, "A great tournament, and we want to come back next year!" (Their words, not mine.)

Thank you to all who attended and made the day the success that it was.

The winning team was from Moonta, Kevin Coates, Kevin Sorrell, Rod Bilsborough and Graham Curtis.

Second spot went to Wallaroo's Mike Wildash, Mal Johns, Bob Brandt and Kevin Robinson, and the Port Victoria team comprising John Thiele, Luke Brind, Ben Groombridge and David Field came third.

A step back for Paskeville Bowling Club patroness

Joan Hill
REPORT BY

Roma Bryan joined the Paskeville Bowling Club in 1958 and has held many positions within the club and at association level. A life member of the club, she has been its patroness since retiring from playing.

Now, at the age of 99 years and nine months, Roma has decided it is time to retire from the position.

Over the years, she has seen many changes at bowls perhaps the biggest change is the clothing, she said.

Gone are the days of double fronted petticoats, dresses having to be at a certain length and stockings having to be a certain colour.

Roma saw the clubhouse built, the women's toilet and later the men's.

Catering for open days was done at the football club.

Roma has many funny and great memories of the Paskeville Bowling Club and is thankful for every one of them.

PASKEVILLE PATRONESS... Roma Bryan has retired as Paskeville Bowling Club patroness at age 99 years and nine months.

SACA men

West Torrens played off against East Torrens in the Isaac-Quinn Cup match at the Henley Memorial Ground on Saturday.

The Eastern Reds won the toss and batted first.

Curramulka's Murphy Short bowled eight overs for 54 runs, but impressed with his athleticism in the field.

Among his outstanding work in the outfield was a brilliant catch on the boundary to dismiss Jake Lehmann.

On the wide midwicket fence, Short had the presence of mind to throw the ball in the air as momentum took him over the boundary line and then he moved back into the field of play to complete the catch.

Teenage quick James Reuther only was used for three overs, for 15 runs, as East Torrens produced a competitive 7/254 from its 50 overs.

West Torrens lost wickets at regular intervals and finished 30 runs shy of the Reds' total.

Short batted at number five and made 17 runs from 28 balls in 43 minutes before being dismissed by off-spinner Michael Cranmer.

Lachlan Pointon, returning to the first grade side for this game, was run out for 12. He faced 22 balls in a 25-minute stay at the crease and hit a boundary.

Reuther, at number 10, gave his team a little late hope, making 16 runs from 22 balls faced in 27 minutes.

Across at the Bay, Blake Gutsche played a selfless innings in the clash between Woodville and the Glenelg Seahorses.

Gutsche came to the crease with vastly experienced international talent Tom Cooper in control of the innings and he played the junior partner's role, feeding the strike to his teammate.

When Cooper was dismissed after waving his bat in the air as a century maker, Gutsche played a more aggressive role and finished undefeated on 30.

He faced 43 deliveries, in an innings which lasted just over an hour, dispatching a boundary in this important supportive knock.

Mitchell Fuss (son of Port Victoria sporting icon Colin) produced an enterprising 32 (51 balls, 60 minutes) in a team total of 6/249.

The Seahorses chased this competitive total down in 43.1 overs, for the loss of just one wicket with Liam Scott and Isaac Higgins both making unbeaten centuries.

SACA MEN... Lachlan Pointon made his return to first grade cricket against East Torrens.

Gutsche bowled two overs finishing with 0/14, while Fuss sent down three overs at a cost of 15 runs.

In the second grade game, Callum Agnew was at the crease with West Torrens reeling at 5/13 against East Torrens.

He made a patient 13 from 45 deliveries faced in 59 minutes as the lower order resurrected the innings and scrambled to 8/173 after 50 overs.

In a thrilling finish, East Torrens was bowled out for 167 from the first ball of the final over, giving the Eagles a thrilling six-run win against the odds.

Agnew took a pair of important catches in this victory.

SACA women

Glenelg proved to be too strong for the young Eagles outfit on Henley Grange Memorial Oval in the third round of the first grade twenty20 matches on Sunday.

The Seahorses batted first and made 4/119, while the Eagles fell 16 runs short in reply, making 8/103.

Coming in late in the innings Mackenzie McCauley was dismissed for four, facing five balls in a 13-minute stay.

SACA boys

West Torrens was only able to scramble to 134 against Eastern Reds in the under 16 Red match at Mitchell Oval on Saturday.

The Eagles were all out in the 35th over but had done enough for a thrilling seven-run win.

Will Pointon batted in the middle order and was dismissed for six but played an important role with the ball.

He sent down seven tight overs and finished with the economical figures of 1/26 as East Torrens was held to 6/127 from 40 overs.

SACA MEN... James Reuther in full flight against East Torrens.

SACA MEN... Blake Gutsche sends a pull shot on its way. INSET: SACA MEN... Murphy Short took a brilliant catch on the boundary to dismiss Jake Lehmann.

No stopping undefeated teams

“The Finger Roll”
REPORT BY

A brief power outage stopped players in their tracks during the 8pm fixture on Friday, October 22. After a few dark seconds, a good Samaritan flicked the correct switch to light up the courts again.

A couple of physical encounters headlined the A men battles, with Kadina and Bute remaining the only undefeated teams in the competition.

Likewise, both Arthurton Black and Orange have been dominant in the senior women's competition thus far and will clearly take someone's very best to put a stop to their runs.

After an intriguing Magpie clash, Paskeville White walked away comfortable victors and appears to be boasting some of the best young talent in the comp early on.

Results
A MEN

Arthurton v Kadina

With a pair of key cogs missing, the Bloods were forced to scrap their way to an ugly victory against Arthurton. Kadina pulled away in the last quarter thanks to a three-pointer from debutant Griffyn Hansen and some crucial defensive tops.

Wallaroo v Paskeville

Another reasonably low-scoring night from both sides, Pasky was forced to hustle for the upper hand against the Dogs. Mitchell Steer fouling out didn't help Wallaroo's efforts, as a standard 15 points from Kye McDonald and career-high 12 from Ben Davies helped the Pies to a win.

Bute v Moonta

After a tight first half, the Roosters found their feet and eased to a pretty comfortable victory. A 22-3 run for Bute in the last quarter and 20 points from Sam Taylor ultimately proved too dominant for the Blazers.

SENIOR WOMEN

Paskeville Black v Paskeville White

Pasky White young gun Claire

Venning lit up the floor with a few clean in-and-out crossovers. Venning and Sarah Pomery were both instrumental on defence and couldn't be stopped on the fast break, as White dominated Black by 37.

Bute v Arthurton Orange

The Roosters fell to 0-3, while Arthurton notched its second victory from as many games on the back of six Jenny Davey buckets. The Tigers again fielded just five players but managed to control the pace throughout the night and notch a 10-point win.

Moonta v Arthurton Black

The Blazers were forced to forfeit as it suited up with an unregistered player on Friday night. This is already the third case this season and YVBA intends to stamp out further registering issues.

Tips
A MEN

Paskeville v Moonta

The Pies should make quick work of Moonta in this one. Unfortunately, the Blazers' first year back in A grade has led to a winless season so far. This seems likely to continue with Pasky's backcourt firing. Moonta may have a few bigger bodies but will still find it difficult to contain the black and white shooters.

At the final buzzer... Paskeville by 20.

Wallaroo v Kadina

Kadina should welcome back big man Geoff Munn this week, a perfect inclusion to combat Wallaroo's physical game style. However, Isaac Glasgow will miss this clash which will give the Dogs a sniff on the perimeter. The Holman brothers will bring their trademark tenacity, but I'm unsure if they'll go with the Bloods off the dribble.

At the final buzzer... Kadina by 15.

Bute v Bears

Three-point deadeye Jackson Arthur cheekily pulled on the Bears jersey in the B grade on Friday night. It will be interesting to see if he suits up in the A grade or dominates the twos again this week. If he returns, no doubt the Rooster guards will be challenged. But without him, the Bears will again give up shooting ability to a more polished Bute outfit.

At the final buzzer... Bute by eight.

SENIOR WOMEN

Arthurton Black v Wallaroo

The Tigers will look to extend their unbeaten run against the Dogs, which are also yet to drop a game. When you thought it couldn't be more stacked, Arthurton added Georgie Garrard to its line up on Friday night, further adding to the side's size and strength. Now with Katie Orr's presence in the paint, Dani Richardson's defensive dominance, Izzy Jacobs' laser shooting and Garrard's versatility, I'm unsure how they'll lose a game for here.

At the final buzzer...Arthurton Black by 14.

Paskeville White v Moonta

If it can string together a full side, Pasky White will no doubt gather some momentum this season. Claire Venning and Fi Bussenschutt have emerged a dynamic duo, but the Blazers could match up well if it can register all its players. Adele Keleher will likely go head-to-head with Bussenschutt in an entertaining match up. However, the Briggs sisters plus Amber Aldridge could prove too strong and agile for Pasky in this one.

At the final buzzer.... Moonta by six.

Arthurton Orange v Paskeville Black

The Tigers seem to boast more skill in this contest, but will need to be careful in managing its players if it can only line up with five again. Jenny Davey and Jade Daniel will again have to shoulder the load on offence if Monica Britton doesn't return. Nonetheless, Arthurton should be too experienced and fight its way to a win.

At the final buzzer... Arthurton Orange by two.

Memorial Night

DIRT KARTS... The statesman field is told "one lap before start" as they form-up.

DIRT KARTS... Oliver and Charlie Tapley, Angus, wait for their next race.

Yorke Peninsula Dirt Kart Club's Geoff Phillips Memorial Night continues to grow every year.

Next year will hopefully be even bigger with possible interstate drivers attending as it will be the week after the national titles hosted by Tatiara Karting Club at Bordertown.

This year we managed 140 nominations which included 12 statesman and 22 KT twins, the main classes for this event.

The club has recently resurfaced the track with 110 tonnes of sand in preparation for SA titles in May. We were concerned with the strong winds and trying to keep moisture in the surface to hold it together.

We apologise for the first round as the track was nowhere near the standard we expect but with karts circulating and grading after every round it became better as the night went on. Thanks to most of the drivers for their understanding of the situation.

With a few incidents on top of the time to grade every round, we were only able to complete three rounds for most classes due to time. The statesman and KT twins were still able to run both their finals with a 10-lap final for midgits and rookies in between.

Thank you to all the volunteers and officials who helped on the day and especially the track crew who spent many hours this week preparing as much as they could.

The club's next meeting, followed by presentations, AGM and practice day, is on Sunday, November 27.

Second place for Warren at world champs

Jess Liddy
JOURNALIST

Dexter Warren continues to drive his dreams in the United States.

The former Kadina dirt kart racer recently placed second at the UTV World Championship held at Lake Havasu, Arizona.

Dexter raced against 26 competitors in the Production Polaris RZR170 class.

“The UTV World Championship is the biggest off-road UTV race in the world,” 9-year-old Dexter said.

“For me, I had a great start, the race was tough with lots of ruts which made it quite technical.

“I wasn’t nervous, I’ve been racing in the United States since February so I have had some great experience leading up to the race.

“Second is a great achievement, I was excited and astonished to be honest.

“My competitors were very experienced drivers including last year’s winner TJ Siewers.

“I’m keen to gain some more support and come back next year to take the first place position we all chase — my ultimate goal is to be a world champion.”

Dad Rob Warren said Dexter started the race on the fifth row on the grid, in 16th spot.

“He got a great start and by turn one was already leading his group of five,” Rob said.

“Desert racing is a tough gig, it’s dusty and most of the race track is single lane.

“Dexter was given some basic instructions — be patient for the first 10 minutes, then push hard through the straights, roll the corners, and when encroaching on slower cars look for the hole and nail it.”

Rob said Dexter drove a smart race his first five laps, was conservative and slowly made ground on his leaders.

“In the first 10 minutes he moved up into sixth position and was told to push a little harder into corners and hold more speed,” he said.

“By mid race he had moved up into third and was sitting there quite comfortably.”

Rob said in the last five minutes Dexter’s radio came alive.

“He was asking ‘Dad where am I?’ and ‘Can I send it now?’,” he said.

“I gave him the go for it buddy and the thumbs up as he passed the pits.

“The last three laps Dexter threw everything he had at it and when the chequered flag waved after 25 minutes, Dexter became a second place winner of the world’s biggest youth UTV race.”

UTV WORLD CHAMPIONSHIP... Dexter Warren, who has raced at Yorke Peninsula Dirt Kart Club, recently placed second at the UTV World Championship in Arizona.

NYP Little Athletics

The weather didn't deter the large number of athletes who turned out to enjoy NYP Little Athletics' second meet for the season on Friday night, October 22.

Kadina Memorial School's senior oval was buzzing with nearly 100 children between the ages of 3 and 17 participating in new events and setting personal bests.

The meet was the second and final official Come and Try night, enabling families to try Little Athletics to see if it suited them before committing to a season membership.

Memberships are available at any stage throughout the season and with a reducing fee structure for larger families, is a great way to get kids outdoors and active.

Training sessions will be held from 10am to 11.30am for any registered members who would like to develop skills and good habits for sprints, jumps, and throws on Sunday, November 7, and Sunday, November 28. Members should visit the club's Facebook group (NYP Little Athletics) for details.

A spider was held to start with Charmaine Simmons receiving a bottle of bubbles for being the nearest bowl, and Penny McCarthy and Helen Burdett receiving the lapel pins in recognition of prostate cancer. In breezy weather, Ardrossan was fortunate to come away winners 78-59 with three rinks up. Pat Coombe, Rosie Stern, Del Schulz and Trish Burman were the standout winners, leading from the fifth end and finishing 23-9. Charmaine Simmons, Jenny Adcock, Cheryl Rudiger and Kerrie Aldridge started strongly, leading until the 11th end, then slowly let the lead slip. They persevered, gaining the majority of shots to finish 17-13. Penny McCarthy, Helen Burdett, Maxine Stennett and Meg Brown led until the sixth end, and then drew even on the 16th and 19th before picking up three shots on the last end to win 21-18. Annette Rowntree, Barb Lee-Archer, Irene Greig and Wendy Lambert struggled for the first 16 ends but kept in touch to draw on the 17th and 19th ends before dropping two shots on the last end to finish 17-19. Expectations tempered for harvest

JOURNALIST

LOCAL farmers have tempered their expectations for this year's grain harvest.

Long range rainfall predictions suggested South Australia was in for a wetter than average couple of months.

While soaking rains didn't eventuate for most of the region, disappointment has been tempered by cooler and mild weather.

Maitland farmer Ben Wundersitz said the season was full of promise early.

"I suppose for us, June was amazing, we had double our average rainfall with 100mm for June and it probably set us up in a pretty good space and we thought we could be in for a bin buster," he said.

"Then August was half of the average which didn't matter too much but September, for a lot of areas on YP, was the driest for 111 years.

"That was a record breaker for all the wrong reasons and probably the only thing that will get the crop home is we've had pretty mild conditions."

Mr Wundersitz said he was hoping to get a near average return but was expecting some variability.

Kadina farmer Mark Schilling said he thought it would be an average or below average harvest for anyone on the wrong side of Goyder's Line.

MIXED BAG... Tom Stone, operations manager for Wool Bay farmer Peter Farrow, said he felt this year would be a thereabouts harvest.

"It was a slow, dry start and then June and July were pretty good, but August to October we haven't had the rainfall," he said.

"We just need cool, mild weather, it's past the need for rain."

PIRSA's September estimates report said the 2021 SA wheat crop should come in slightly above the five-year average at 2,193,400 tonnes, with barley just below at 2,090,000 tonnes, and lentils above average at 338,870 tonnes.

Tom Stone, operations manager on Wool Bay farmer Peter Farrow's property, thought it would be an average season.

"It was all looking good up until about two months ago, we've had 18mm since then," he said.

First local delivery at Port Pirie

DELIVERY... Ben Bussenschutt talks to Viterra employees Tim Sherwood and David Bateman after delivering the first Yorke Peninsula load to Port Pirie.

PASKEVILLE grower Ben Bussenschutt has delivered the first load of Yorke Peninsula grain.

Mr Bussenschutt has been the first to deliver to Viterra for the past several years and took a load of barley to Viterra's Port Pirie site on Monday, October 18.

Viterra operations manager for the Central region Jack Tansley said the delivery marks the start of a busy time.

"A key priority for us is to provide grower customers with a valuable and efficient service," he said.

"We work hard to seek and respond to their feedback, and match services at sites to their needs.

"Preparations include reopening the outwards weighbridge at the Port Pirie township site to reduce turnaround times for growers, and remodelling the classification layout to improve efficiency when classifying loads.

"We introduced these changes as a direct result of feedback received from growers about the site's operations last harvest."

Change in leadership for advocate groups

GRAIN Producers SA has begun the search for a new CEO after the resignation of Caroline Rhodes.

Ms Rhodes joined GPSA in 2018 and has left the organisation to take the newly created role of CEO at Primary Producers SA.

GPSA Board chair Adrian McCabe paid tribute to Ms Rhodes' service to the organisation.

"Caroline has transformed the organisation into a professional advocacy group, representing the interests of South Australian grain producers with distinction," he said.

"Her crowning achievement was leading GPSA's advocacy to repeal the moratorium on GM crops across mainland South Australia after 16 years, with growers being able to access GM seed for the first time this year.

"This was a hard-fought campaign which secured bipartisan support and the backing of industry groups from across Australia.

"Through a highly collaborative process, she helped GPSA lead the development of the SA Grain Industry Blueprint launched last year, which will now focus our efforts in supporting industry development to 2030."

Ms Rhodes said she was looking forward to her new challenge.

"I am immensely proud of my achievements at GPSA since taking on the role in April 2018, which has included the development of the SA Grain Industry Blueprint and helping growers on mainland SA access genetically modified crops," she said.

"I see this newly created position as an ideal opportunity to continue my service to agricultural representation and position PPSA for future success.

"I am ready to hit the ground running in this pivotal role for South Australian agriculture."

PPSA also recently appointed Professor Simon Maddocks as the organisation's chair.

Prof Maddocks has a long career in education and research with a focus on agricultural and biomedical science applications.

He was Vice Chancellor of Charles Darwin University from 2014 to 2020 and prior to that a Professor of Animal Science and Director, Roseworthy Campus at the University of Adelaide.

"I know there are big shoes to fill taking over from former chair Rob Kerin but I am thankful for the support shown by the PPSA Council in choosing me for this role," he said.

"The primary industries sector is very important to SA as a major economic contributor and that significance will only continue as the state continues in its post-COVID economic recovery."

Expressions of interest for biosecurity innovation

BRIGHT ideas are wanted as part of the federal government's Biosecurity Innovation Program.

The program is about finding new ways to create a stronger national biosecurity system, according to Minister for Agriculture and Northern Australia David Littleproud.

More than $5 million in funding is available to share amongst 21 projects in 2021-22.

"Australia exports food, fibre and forestry products to markets all over the world, but our ability to reach these markets hinges on our country remaining disease and pest free," Mr Littleproud said.

"The Biosecurity Innovation Program is a way to enable our best and brightest to find new ways to keep Australia safe.

"We are looking for ideas that focus on communication and collaboration, automation, data and intelligence, risk analysis, and surveillance, diagnostics and screening.

"The last round of projects that were funded through the program included computer modelling for animal disease outbreaks, screening technologies for detecting plants and seeds in the post and surveillance for feral pigs.

"Biosecurity is everyone's responsibility, and we all have our part to play to keep Australia safe."

Warehouse to cash with Vitterra

Advertising Promotion

VITERRA is continuing its popular warehouse to cash service for harvest this year.

The payment service enables growers to instantly sell and transfer their warehoused grain to a cash price online in three easy steps, without needing to contact the buyer.

Warehouse to cash is available for growers to use when they are ready to transact their grain.

It includes access to extended payment terms for transferring grain through warehouse to cash, to a cash price, with the new service having longer payment terms compared with those generally offered for daily cash prices.

Viterra operations manager for the central region Jack Tansley said the business is responsive to feedback and introduces new services to meet customer needs.

"Our grower and buyer customers prefer flexibility with a choice of multiple payment alternatives, so this year we have expanded our range of cash options, with many available through warehouse to cash," Jack said.

Viterra will also have sustainable cash prices available at sites for the first time, in addition to being able to access it through warehouse to cash. Growers can sell their grain to a sustainable cash price if they have met the buyer's sustainability requirements.

"Growers can also immediately transact to a daily cash price with standard payment terms at site or through warehouse to cash, if they prefer," Jack said.

All payment options are available through the updated Viterra app, which includes a new main menu with improved navigation and a customisable snapshot for growers of their account without the need to login.

The app provides a secure and mobile friendly format with live access to cash prices and available stock in warehouse and enables growers to check and compare prices and payment terms from multiple buyers.

There are also search filters for selecting a parcel of grain by site, commodity and grade.

The app also gives access to the new digital delivery advice which saves growers time and streamlines their delivery process.

Priorities listed for building resilience

HUNDREDS of South Australian primary producers, industry representatives and regional community members helped determine priorities for building resilience to future droughts.

The South Australian Drought Resilience Adoption and Innovation Hub held a number of workshops across the state last month, with more than 260 people attending in person or online.

SA Drought Hub Interim Director University of Adelaide Professor Chris Preston said the interactive workshops were an important exercise in identifying the practices, technologies and activities the SA Drought Hub should be delivering for the next three years to support regional communities.

"It was heartening to have so many people from such diverse sectors, backgrounds and interests willingly contributing their ideas about what they believe needs to be done to increase drought resilience," Prof Preston said.

"The workshops were extremely positive and have set a strong foundation for the SA Drought Hub's program of activities and undertakings going forward.

"There was robust discussion at each workshop about what has helped primary producers and their communities during past droughts and what is needed to better prepare for future droughts."

All priorities and activities will go back to the regional communities to ensure they still agree with the plans.

Activities will be co-designed with regional input to facilitate adoption of drought resilience practices in farming systems through peer-to-peer learning, on-farm demonstrations and training workshops.

The regional priorities will form the basis of the SA Drought Hub's activity plan, to be submitted to the federal government in November.

Starscopes

♈ ARIES—March 21-April 20

A new viewpoint on an old problem could lead to unexpected success. Travel plans need to be discussed with a professional. A shaky relationship is stabilizing at last.

♉ TAURUS—April 21-May 22

Your energy is high as the week concludes. The bigger the challenge, the more eager you are to tackle it. An older relative shows their appreciation and uncommon warmth. Don't hesitate to reciprocate.

♊ GEMINI—May 23-June 21

Artistic pursuits are spotlighted this week. Review short term goals and travel priorities. Money may be tight, but fringe benefits are increasing.

♊ CANCER—June 22-July 22

New business ideas can be promoted to the right people. This is not a week for shyness. It is easy to sign on for new obligations. Caution is essential.

♊ LEO—July 23-August 22

This is a good week for completing puzzles. Your mind is unusually logical for a Leo. Weekend travel may undergo last minute changes. A loved one may be less secretive on the weekend.

♊ VIRGO—August 23-September 22

The accent is on local travel and entertaining out-of-town friends. Your wit is sparkling, attracting new friends of the opposite sex. Detours and delays are sprinkled through the weekend.

♊ LIBRA—September 23-October 22

The accent is on bartering, not actual buying. Colleagues are more amiable now, but family can be quite demanding. In romance, reconciliations and heart-to-heart talks are spotlighted.

♊ SCORPIO—October 23-November 21

The accent is on launching new projects and schemes, but expect delays if concluding existing tasks. Be alert for bargains at auctions, flea markets and garage sales.

♊ SAGITTARIUS—November 22-December 22

This is the week for bringing people together from different backgrounds. Moderation is important, especially in the areas of diet and recreation. A financial programme may need a little revision.

♊ CAPRICORN—December 23-January 20

You tend to be impulsive this week and perhaps overly eager to please. A financial favour from the past could be returned. Reconciliations are likely with a Libra or Taurus.

♊ AQUARIUS—January 21-February 19

Express your upbeat mood through your decor or wardrobe. Romantic misunderstandings should be cleared up by the end of the week. Professional advisors are more accessible - take advantage of this situation.

♊ PISCES—February 20-March 20

Campaigning for a friend or promoting a bright idea is on the week's agenda. A loved ones constant attention may start to overwhelm you. New home comforts are featured.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK

You are a decade ahead of your time and you adore variety. You are blessed with a gift for conversation and you are notorious for inconsistency. Rebuilding relationships is accented. Your financial status and responsibilities both increase.

Simmons stains Aussie basketball

MELBOURNE-born NBA star Ben Simmons has decided to sit on the sidelines until further notice after being unable to force his way out of Philadelphia 76ers in the offseason.

After bombing out of last season's conference semifinals, the skillset of Simmons was clearly exposed — his jump shot wasn't only broken but he was scared to shoot layups with fear of getting fouled and shooting free throws.

Still having four years left on his $170 million contract, what does he do? Tries to force a trade and find a new scenery instead of sticking with the franchise which has built their entire roster around him.

Since debuting in 2017, Simmons' average stats have decreased by two points, one assist and one rebound per game — he hasn't actually improved and still relies on his size and athleticism more than any current All-Star.

Following his miserable 2021 Playoffs, the trade value of Simmons bottomed out, which is evident in the number of teams making a move for him.

He was basically forced to rock up for the Sixers training camp after being fined millions of dollars for holding out.

SHAME... Australian-born NBA star Ben Simmons is refusing to play with his Philadelphia 76ers despite having four years left on his $170 million maximum NBA contract.

Nonetheless, he arrived like a spoilt little boy, trained with a phone in his pocket, showed no interest in team drills whatsoever, and eventually got booted from practice by his own coach.

#Throwback

This day in history

October 26, 1881: The Earp brothers, representing law and order in Tombstone, Arizona, face off against the Clanton-McLaury cowboy gang in an infamous shootout at the O.K. Corral, after Tombstone quickly grew to one of the richest mining towns in the United States southwest.

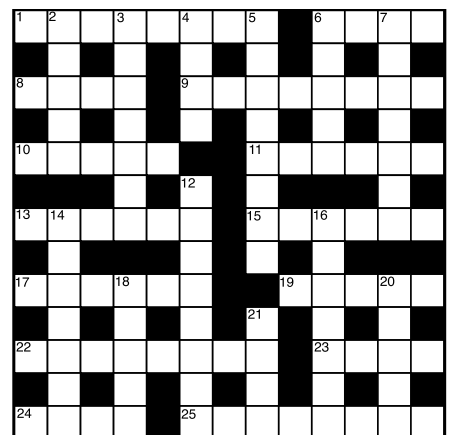

October 26, 1917: Brazil declares it will enter World War I and aid the Allied powers after being increasingly threatened by Germany's policy of unrestricted submarine warfare.

What's been Trending

Search development: Western Australian detective superintendent Rod Wilde reveals a car was seen headed for Carnarvon just after 3am on the day Cleo Smith vanished from her parents' tent at a nearby campsite. Cleo disappeared from the tent between 1.30am and 6am almost two weeks ago.

Petrol soaring: Australian motorists are predicted to face near-record high petrol prices for at least another month, with average prices reaching $1.83 in Adelaide. The prices have topped averages of the past seven to eight years due to a low petrol supply globally, after many countries came out of lockdowns recently.

HOT FISHING TIPS
with Greg James www.gregjamesfishing.com.au

Welcome to the column with all the hot tips for fishing around Yorke Peninsula; contact Greg by email at greg@gregjamesfishing.com.au.

Wallaroo: Blue swimmer crab catches have slowed from the bay and jetty. Boat crews are fishing for King George whiting at the Boiler grounds and squid and garfish from Point Riley.

Moonta Bay/Port Hughes: Grounds off Warburto Point and West Light still hold some decent sized King George whiting; the key to success is fresh bait and to go early. The jetties have a few squid and the odd bluey. Yellowfin whiting are starting to appear at Cooper Beach and south of Barker Rocks.

Point Turton: The Banks fired up on Sunday morning with whiting to 37cm being caught on baits of fresh cockle and very soft squid. The jetty has a few tommy ruff (Australian herring) at dusk. Scattered schools of garfish are off Port Rickaby and Minlacowie.

Marion Bay/Stenhouse Bay: Shore-based fishing has salmon trout and mullet from Butlers and Browns Beaches. Rat kingies were hooked off the rocks on the southern end of Pondalowie Bay late last week.

Edithburgh: Some nice-sized squid have been caught from the broken ground just offshore from Port Giles. Whiting are here also (Limits ground) but you will need care with the size, as some are small. The jetty has tommies and squid.

Ardrossan: The local boat ramp was almost deserted when I checked in with my new boat here last week. We launched for squid and a couple of blueys. The jetty has blue crabs on occasion and also squid. KG whiting should be here in the hours before dawn for the keen anglers running out to Gus Shoal.

Tight lines and see you next week!
