NO MOOR REGULATIONS PUT LIMITS ON FISHERS USING TOWN JETTY

Jess Liddy
JOURNALIST

A PORT Broughton fishing business is againfighting for the right to use the town jetty to moor its vessels.

Barnes Seafood is no longer able to safely moor in the Port Broughton bay and had been using the jetty to secure its vessels.

But the business was told by the Department for Infrastructure and Transport in March, the use of the jetty was no longer allowed.

"A & C Barnes Seafood were also mooring their crab boat at the jetty and they received the same letter asking us to relocate these boats within 14 days and failure to comply would result in further action," Barnes Seafood owners Jarrad and Angela Barnes said.

"DIT are enforcing the regulation commercial boats are not allowed to moor at the jetty for periods greater than four hours.

"We believe these claims are unfair and impractical and will have a detrimental effect on Port Broughton businesses."

Businesses were also reminded of mooring limits in 2010.

Mr Barnes said the boat ramp had changed the surrounding ecosystem and altered the seabed, making it difficult to now moor in the bay.

"This is why we can't moor safely now and they (the government) need to take accountability here and work with us to provide an alternate solution," he said.

"We have held moorings in the bay in this town for 40 years but since the new boat ramp was approved and built in 2001, the tide strength in the bay has significantly increased.

"The mooring anchors can no longer sink in the mud creating that holding power our larger boats require."

Mr Barnes said he would like to see the regulation updated to allow both commercial and recreational boats to moor at the jetty for longer periods of time.

"We think there should be a dedicated section of the jetty for commercial fishing boats and an agreement to moor two berths wide during peak holiday periods," he said.

"If we are unable to do this it would mean we would have to relocate our boats to another town making things very difficult to continue operating our businesses from Port Broughton."

FIELD DAYS FUN

FUN FILLED...Hannah Saegenschnitter and Chloe Farrow made the trip from Truro to have a fun-filled day out at the Yorke Peninsula Field Days last Wednesday, September 29. The three-day event, which was held under COVID restrictions, has been called a huge success by organisers as almost all tickets were sold.

Why?

AFTER reading the letter by Neil Windsor (YPCT 14-9-21) about Copper Coast Council borrowing $7 million for Wallaroo Shores, it reminded me of when I first started work with the then District Council of Kadina.

One of the first things I was told was that all councils are a non-profit organisation and should never become involved in private enterprise.

Another issue I can't understand is why on earth would council agree with the planning of Norfolk Island pines on the footpath opposite the new dwellings at Wallaroo Shores.

You only have to look at the damage they have caused to the kerbing and road at the end entrance of Wallaroo from Kadina.

What's the point in having a beautiful view only to be blocked by 100-foot-tall trees?

Gary Oliver, Wallaroo

Open gardens success

MY purpose in writing is to congratulate the organisers of the 2021 Moonta Open Gardens event.

Held over two days during the Labour Day long weekend, it attracted visitors from many districts of this state, as well as local gardeners.

Gardens were selected for their potential to inspire visitors. Perfection of presentation was not a requirement, but owners had taken extra care in their preparation.

Visitors commented on both the quality and variety of Moonta gardens.

The small group of organisers have done well to promote Moonta, as well as bringing support to local businesses for the long weekend.

Carl Petering, Moonta

Tell them they're dreaming

A PLETHORA of mobile phone check-in apps to travel domestically?

I carry a hard copy of my vaccination record accompanied by a signed note from my doctor.

I always check-in — without a mobile phone. I don't have a MyGov account. I don't use the Medicare Express Plus app. I'm far from the only one.

I don't consent to share my medical information or my vaccination status electronically — too many privacy breaches and unauthorised sharing in the past. I know dozens with similar views.

Will "vaccine validity" be verified by front-of-house staff? How are these people trained? How will they be supported when the bullies show up, like they do already?

Putting this burden on each traveller to manipulate multiple apps and adding more tasks to overly busy, young workers — this is supposed to work?

To quote Darryl Kerrigan from The Castle, "Tell him he's dreamin'!"

Provide a single, uniform "swipe card" — electronic or manual — to be presented wherever one travels, with an appropriate valid until indication. Simple!

Or am I dreaming?!

Stroke recovery

I WOULD like to take this opportunity to reflect on the incredible work our health professionals do every day to save lives and support survivors to recover well after stroke.

We know their working environment has become more challenging amid the COVID-19 pandemic, but their dedication to the 27,400 people who will experience a stroke this year, never waivers.

I was heartened to see survivors of stroke and their loved ones around Australia also share their gratitude during Stroke Week, August 2-8, embracing the "United By Stroke" theme.

However, the reality is, we can have the best doctors, nurses and allied health professionals and the most advanced treatments for stroke, but time is still the critical factor.

You must get to hospital quickly to access emergency stroke treatment.

After a stroke, around 1.9 million brain cells die each minute. In most cases, the faster a stroke can be diagnosed and treated, the better the chance of a good recovery. Time saved equals brain saved.

I encourage the community to keep spreading the FAST acronym all year round.

Knowing the FAST message and sharing it with your family and friends can be the first step in saving a life and avoiding ongoing disability.

It may be your own life or that of someone you love.

The FAST message will help you recognise the most common signs of stroke:

- Face — Check their face. Has their mouth drooped?
- Arms — Can they lift both arms?
- Speech — Is their speech slurred? Do they understand you?
- Time — Time is critical. If you see any of these signs, call triple zero (000) straight away.

A stroke can happen to anyone at any age and research tells us the number of working age people having strokes is increasing. These people are not just numbers, they are mums, dads, sons and daughters. They have jobs and families and plans for the future.

Stroke is always a medical emergency. Please know what to do when stroke strikes. Think FAST and act fast at the first sign of stroke.

Sharon McGowan, CEO Stroke Foundation

OUR VIEW

Field days congratulations

THE week leading up to this year's YP Field Days felt far longer than any event previously.

As COVID cases continued to grow in the eastern states, and a couple of hot spot occurrences happened around us, you had to wonder if all the planning and hard work of the committee would be for naught.

But thank goodness and Nicola Spurrier the YP Field Days were able to go ahead.

It took strong leadership by the field days committee, including president Martin Kenny and CEO Peter Anderson, to push ahead with planning for this year's event.

The path wasn't easy, and added an extra layer of work for the already busy volunteers, but I think everyone involved can be proud.

Crowd numbers were strong on all three days, with Wednesday proving a hit as always.

Most exhibitors reported high levels of interest from visitors to their sites as many of those who attended the field days were the people with a genuine interest in, or need for, products.

Hopefully everyone who attended was well rewarded, including the sporting clubs who ran canteens, and stood at gates.

The weather was as unpredictable as always but we'll never knock back any amount of rain.

It was great to see everyone abiding by COVID restrictions as well, with masks worn in pavilions and distancing where possible.

A big congratulations to all the marshals, and sporting clubs who did their bits as well.

It always makes me proud to see our community come together like this.

While we hope the 2023 field days will look a little more like 2019 than 2021, there are plenty of learnings for the committee to take heading forward and I'm excited to see what they do.

Safety boost for bushfire season

Jess Liddy
JOURNALIST

GAME-changing track-and-trace technology will revolutionise bushfire fighting in South Australia this summer.

Automatic Vehicle Location equipment will be installed in more than 1400 vehicles for the Country Fire Service, Metropolitan Fire Service, State Emergency Service, ForestrySA and the Department for Environment and Water for operations across metropolitan Adelaide and regional South Australia.

Minister for Emergency Services Vincent Tarzia announced Netstar Australia as the tender winner for AVL recently.

“AVL is a crucial tool that provides real-time truck and vehicle tracking, ensuring firefighters and assets can be accounted for at any and every second during bushfires,” Mr Tarzia said.

“Netstar’s AVL solution has been tested thoroughly and can withstand high demand in some of the state’s most remote locations, like parts of Kangaroo Island, where phone connectivity is non-existent.

“This is a significant step forward in terms of safety for our emergency services volunteers and personnel. They should have been given this personal protection many years ago.”

A CFS spokesperson said the introduction of AVL technology would play a significant role in enhancing the safety of CFS volunteers and staff, and improve operational intelligence gathered from fire grounds.

“The CFS welcomes this technology which will eventually become part of every CFS vehicle across the state,” the spokesperson said.

“Having the ability to quickly and visually track where our resources are at all times will positively impact the way we approach bushfires resulting in improved community safety outcomes.”

During the trials — between January and February this year — the AVL project team visited Yorke Peninsula, Kangaroo Island, Mount Lofty Ranges, the West Coast, Far North and South East.

“The technology would make the management of resources much easier, rather than using iPads to track its trucks and volunteers in emergency situations, which was costly and far from perfect,” Northern Yorke Peninsula CFS group officer David Bussenschutt said.

CRITICAL TECHNOLOGY... Northern Yorke Peninsula CFS group officer David Bussenschutt said the rollout of Automatic Vehicle Location equipment was exciting and long overdue.

Fishing fleet impacted by mooring situation

“This would set a precedent for mooring”

DEPARTMENT for Infrastructure and Transport chief executive Tony Braxton-Smith said the department did not support vessels being moored for longer than four hours as it impacted the use of the jetty by other vessels, especially in times of distress.

“The mooring of vessels to the type of structure at Port Broughton for extended periods of time also increases wear and tear of the structure, increasing maintenance requirements over time,” he said.

“This would set a precedent for mooring of vessels on other commercial jetties that are also used for recreational purposes across the state.

“Barnes Seafood can seek approval for the placement of permanent moorings in the bay for its vessels.

“Should they take this course of action, then they could moor at the jetty during designated windows of time to provide the tourism interest.”

TRICKY SITUATION... Barnes Seafood owner Jarrad Barnes with crew Robbie Waters, Riley Tattersall and Jason Muckray need to moor their boat at the Port Broughton jetty because they believe it is unsafe to do so in the bay.

PORT Broughton’s jetty has been used to unload catches and general mooring by the Barnes family for more than 75 years, Barnes Seafood owner Jarrad Barnes said.

“Currently four commercial fishing businesses in Port Broughton including Barnes Seafood, A & C Barnes Seafood, Bencar Fisheries and Hewett Seafood utilise the jetty,” Mr Barnes said.

“Between us we employ 26 staff most of which live locally.

“We all operate our businesses from Port Broughton, we all live locally and have young families with children who go to school and play sport here.

“While the boats are in town we always use our local trades like Port Broughton Engineering for maintenance as well as the IGA (for groceries) and our local hardware.”

Mr Barnes said the boats were icons to the town and an attraction for tourists and locals alike who often walked the jetty to look at the boats.

“We believe tourism and the fishing industry are both vital to keep a community like Port Broughton going strong,” he said.

“We understand the jetty does need to be a shared resource and would really like to come to an agreement that caters for both us, commercial fishers as well as the public wanting to access the jetty for recreational activities.”

Barunga West Council has written to the Department for Infrastructure and Transport in support of the businesses.

Member for Narungga Fraser Ellis said he had been assisting Barnes Seafood to ensure their business could continue to operate in Port Broughton.

“Their current mooring situation is not working and I have met with, and formally written to Minister Corey Wingard on this issue, seeking a mutually beneficial solution that caters for tourism and recreation, and industry,” Mr Ellis said.

“Our next step is a visit from a departmental official in order to uncover a suitable alternate arrangement.”

Help our health staff

Rhiannon Koch
JOURNALIST

MAITLAND locals are calling for increased support for hospital staff.

There have been several instances this year where there have been no doctors on site, leaving nurses to manage the situation with the assistance of MedSTAR and SA Ambulance Service paramedics.

Not only does the lack of doctors create a situation the nursing staff have described as stressful, it affects the care and admission of inpatients and administration of dialysis.

“We had to call patients who were due to be transferred back here from Adelaide and tell them they couldn’t come back, and we had to put off general admissions as well,” Doctor Rebecca Morgan said.

“There were patients who were due to have dialysis, who we had to put off, or tell them to go to Adelaide.

“And then it’s a matter of them trying to fit into the schedule of another clinic too.

“The nurses were left without support, there was no management on site either last week, when they needed someone.

“These are the practical consequences of not having someone here.”

Dr Morgan, who manages rostered on-call shifts at the hospital with her general practice responsibilities, said a lack of doctors also meant there was a possibility residents of the Chappell Wing would need to be taken via ambulance to Wallaroo if they were in need of medical assistance.

“This also puts pressure on our local ambulance volunteers, and the patients — it’s not ideal for them to spend 30 minutes in an ambulance from here if they need assistance,” Dr Morgan said.

“We do have access to SAVES (SA Virtual Emergency Service) and the telehealth system, and the nurses can use that for prescribing medication, but we want to try and take some of the stress and pressure off them.”

Dr Morgan said the added pressures of administering the COVID-19 vaccinations at the general practice clinics, was adding to the workload for regional doctors.

“For Maitland Hospital, which is one of the only COVID testing locations on the peninsula, every time a nurse has to come off the ward to test someone it limits the work they can do when they come back,” she said.

Community member Michelle Nelligan praised the work of the nursing staff in dealing with the adversities, but said enough was enough.

“We have such great nurses here, they are absolutely brilliant, and they have great communication skills with our GPs,” she said.

“But they are not being supported, especially in the instances where they need as many people on hand as they can.”

Former senator and local resident Alan Ferguson said he felt there was a disconnect between the hospital and the community, since the removal of local hospital boards.

“There is no sense of community communication or ownership,” he said.

“If there was something wrong, you used to be able to go in and speak to management, now I don’t know who is in those roles.

“Things have really deteriorated in the past 12 months.

“The disappearance of local hospital boards has broken down the local involvement in the decision-making process, we don’t know what’s happening until it’s done.

“It is difficult to get anyone out to country areas, we know we’re not alone.”

Last week, the Australian Nursing and Midwifery Federation (SA branch) said the absence of doctors’ places enormous pressure on nurses.

“They rely on doctors and management to provide guidance in areas beyond their level of expertise,” branch CEO/Secretary Adj Associate Professor Elizabeth Dabars AM said.

“As dedicated and skilled as our nurses are, they should not be left to fend for themselves and their patients in an environment as unpredictable as an emergency department.”

Point Pearce youth shed to receive makeover

Jess Liddy
JOURNALIST

POINT Pearce Aboriginal Corporation has received $25,000 to upgrade and insulate its youth shed.

The corporation will also use the funding through the Grants SA program to install new cupboards in the building.

PPAC community coordinator Kaylene O'Loughlin said the PPAC was happy to receive the funding.

"It's an old shed so we need to make it safer and more accessible for our youth to have their own space," she said.

"There is lots of positive things happening in Point Pearce and we have recently added a Stolen Generation garden and a fire pit."

Yorke Peninsula Council operations coordinator Nick Hoskin said a contractor would be engaged to complete the work.

"The upgrades to the youth shed will include pigeon proofing, removing the old dance floor and concrete, replace a broken door, fix holes in the walls, install a small kitchen, repair the electricity and some new paint," Mr Hoskin said.

"YPC has been helping the Point Pearce Aboriginal Corporation to obtain quotes."

Minister for Human Services Michelle Lensink said more than $530,000 was dispersed across the state, including the regions, to support South Australians and communities.

"We are thrilled to be funding important community-based projects right across the state to help Australians connect, engage and participate in their local areas," Ms Lensink said.

IMPROVEMENTS... Graham Walker, Colin Agius, Kaylene O'Loughlin, Greg Wanganeen and Farrin Miller in front of the Point Pearce Youth Shed which will receive multiple upgrades thanks to $25,000 Grants SA funding.

COVID-19 scare in SA

THERE are no new cases of COVID-19 in the state despite a scare across the weekend.

A South Australian woman tested positive for COVID-19 in Mount Gambier after returning from Victoria on Sunday.

It followed Saturday's announcement of another positive case, a woman in her 30s, who returned from Victoria on Jetstar flight JQ778 on Friday.

A man in his 30s, also from Victoria, tested positive on Monday but has since returned to Victoria.

SA's border bubble with Victoria has shrunk from 70 kilometres to 30km for seven days.

"These new cases are a wake-up call to South Australia," chief public health officer Professor Nicola Spurrier said.

"It absolutely reflects the high rate of community transmission in Victoria at the moment.

"If you're thinking of going to Victoria you really need to consider: Is it necessary at this time?"

"I'm sure they will get their wave under control as their vaccination rates get higher, but at the moment it is very risky."

The Transition Committee met yesterday (Tuesday) and made no changes to restrictions.

Police Commissioner Grant Stevens said the state is still at risk and there were growing fears of an outbreak in Mount Gambier.

"Authorities will be closely monitoring the situation," Comm. Stevens said.

There are currently four active cases of COVID-19 in SA, two interstate and two overseas acquired.

All South Australians who have symptoms of COVID-19 should get tested on the day symptoms appear.

Changes to restrictions have been made for the City of Mount Gambier, District Council of Grant and Wattle Range Council areas. For more details and hotspot locations, visit www.covid-19.sa.gov.au.

Slow down for safe boating

BOATIES across South Australia are urged to slow down and stay safe during National Safe Boating Week.

The week, October 2-8, is an initiative of the Australia New Zealand Safe Boating Education Group and maritime agencies across Australia.

This year it has three themes — service it, pack it and wear it.

"Safe boating also means sticking to the signed speed limits and exercising respectful marina behaviour," a Department for Infrastructure and Transport spokesperson said.

"Speed limits are in place where high-speed boats may be a hazard to other water users.

"Various harbours and marinas are subject to speed limits.

"A four-knot speed restriction applies within 50 metres of a person in the water, within 30 metres of any other vessel that may be adversely affected by wash and within most boat havens and marinas throughout South Australia.

"There are penalties if you do not observe the controls or speed restrictions provided."

Teacher returns to court with new charges

FORMER teacher, Thomas Ackland, of Moonta Bay, returned to court last week after being charged with child sex crimes.

Mr Ackland, who was arrested in March, fronted the Adelaide Magistrates Court last Thursday, September 30.

He was arrested on charges of maintaining an unlawful sexual relationship with a child as well as communicating to make a child amenable to sexual activity.

Mr Ackland now faces nine charges of maintaining an unlawful sexual relationship with child and five of communicating to make child amenable to sexual activity—basic.

His case was adjourned and he is due to enter a plea in January.

Kadina home destroyed by fire

A KADINA home has been left gutted after a fire on the weekend.

Emergency services were called to the Letcher Street property at about 12.50am on Saturday, October 2.

Kadina MFS station officer Brett Raymond said two units each from Kadina MFS and CFS attended the scene, but the fire was already through the roof when they arrived.

"We had difficulty gaining access due to the house's security features and we couldn't get through the roof with the pressed-metal ceilings," Mr Raymond said.

"The fire started with an electrical fault in the lounge room, before occupants were alerted by a smoke alarm.

"About $250,000 to $300,000 worth of damage was done — the fire was treated as non-suspicious.

"Both occupants got out of the home in time (without any injuries)."

"I NEVER THOUGHT I'D BE HOMELESS."

More people are now facing homelessness than ever before.

Oh happy (field) days

Sonny Coombs
JOURNALIST

THE 2021 Yorke Peninsula Field Days have been hailed a success with near sell-out crowds for the three-day event.

Due to COVID-19 restrictions attendance numbers were capped at 5000 each day with tickets only available online.

YP Field Days CEO Peter Anderson said the ticket allocation was exhausted on Wednesday, the official opening day, and near sold out on Tuesday and Thursday.

“Overall, it was a great success,” Mr Anderson said.

“We had bumper crowds which we are pleased with, we have heard from exhibitors and they were quite happy with the event.

“The visitors who came were also pleased and there were no complaints so we are chalking it up as a good success.”

Mr Anderson said all exhibitors and visitors were compliant with COVID-19 restrictions.

“We weren’t made aware of any issues and it has been a big learning curve this year in many ways,” Mr Anderson said.

“The COVID situation has added an extra layer of administration on the top of what is normally required but we got through it.”

Mr Anderson said exhibitors have reported good enquiry levels.

“The feedback we have had from some of the exhibitors was that whilst crowd numbers were down the interest shown by those who were there was much greater,” he said.

“There weren’t as many ‘tyre kickers’ and the enquiries they received were all very genuine so they were happy with that.”

Mr Anderson said exhibitors and volunteers are still busily packing up sites.

“We will be on again in two years’ time but for us immediately it’s a matter of packing up, there are still people here packing up tents and machinery and then we will start planning for the 2023 event,” he said.

“We are hopeful we will be back to normal in two years’ time and if that is the case, I think it will be a big event.

“There were a lot of exhibitors that couldn’t make it from the eastern states in particular that were disappointed they couldn’t be here.

“I think they will be very keen to come along to the next event.”

VOLUNTEERS... Paul “Wick” Dayman and Brenton Drewett were among the numerous volunteers at the YP Field Days.

Board position for Maree

BARUNGA West Council CEO Maree Wauchope has been appointed as a member of the Northern and Yorke Landscape Board.

Ms Wauchope said she was delighted to have been appointed.

"This new position is complementary to my work as council CEO, as both roles see me working towards better outcomes for our community as well as the protection of the pristine, beautiful landscapes of the Yorke Peninsula," Ms Wauchope said.

"Sustainable management of our natural environment is critical to the future of the Top of the Yorke region. "When regional landscapes thrive and prosper, so too do regional communities.

"I am confident I can continue to fulfil my role as CEO alongside my new board position and look forward to the opportunity the role presents."

Ms Wauchope will hold her role until 2023.

She is also presiding member of the Construction Industry Training Board.

The Northern and Yorke Landscape Board works alongside community members and stakeholders to develop simple and accessible five-year regional landscape plans that balance regional community needs with sustainable environmental management.

The board also operates as the relevant authority for a range of water, land protection and animal and plant control activities.

FOR THE CHILDREN... Australian Education Union SA branch campaign organiser Michele Appleton and branch president Lara Golding collect signatures as part of the Every School Every Child campaign.

YPC seeking funding for child care

Sonny Coombs
JOURNALIST

YORKE Peninsula Council will submit an application for grant funding for a $2.25 million childcare facility.

Council recently endorsed submitting a grant application through the Black Summer Bushfire Recovery Grants Program.

The grant application is the result of a push by local mums who discovered a lack of child care is impacting families and deterring people from moving to the peninsula.

Southern Yorke Peninsula Childcare Feasibility Group members Katie Hughes, Amy Honner and Anna Phasey presented council with their findings in August.

The group has run two surveys to gauge the need for child care on SYP, and said they had identified more than enough need to justify a centre being established.

Of the 175 families that completed the survey only 32 per cent were able to access formal childcare options on southern YP.

About half stated they relied solely on friends and family to provide child care and 18 per cent stated they had no access to any form of child care.

“We are very appreciative about how the community has rallied to support this grant application and particularly Yorke Peninsula Council,” Mrs Hughes said.

“I think many people may not have thought about how the lack of childcare impacts the wider community.

“We wanted to create conversation about this issue and it feels like there is now good momentum in the community.”

If successful, a purpose-built childcare centre would be constructed in Minlaton.

Council will also apply for bushfire preparedness signage to the value of $40,000 and provide administrative support and advice assistance to the SYP Community Hub in its application for a $320,000 Community Connection Program through the same grants program.

Petitioning for more resources

AUSTRALIAN Education Union SA branch is campaigning for increased resources for children.

Union members collected signatures during the Yorke Peninsula Field Days with the hope of triggering a parliamentary inquiry.

The Every School Every Child campaign aims to raise awareness about the lack of funding and support for public school and preschool students with additional learning needs.

Branch president Lara Golding said a survey of more than 1000 educators, leaders and support staff found an average of three students in each class needed extra support.

Almost nine in 10 educators said the level of support funding was not adequate and as few as nine per cent of additional funding applications are funded to the level requested.

“Some children are waiting more than two years to get assessed by a specialist,” she said.

“In that time they’re waiting, those students are falling further behind.

“South Australian educators are dedicated, highly qualified professionals.

“They are doing their absolute best.

“But excessive workloads, crowded classrooms and a lack of appropriate resources means some students miss out.

“Educators are crying out for more funding for ongoing, permanent support staff, as well as behaviour coaches, educational psychologists, speech pathologists and mental health support, in order to improve the support available for children.”

Ms Golding said the petition had been well received by locals as regional people recognised the challenges facing local educators.

“Our schools need more investment so every student can learn to the very best of their abilities, and every teacher has the support they need to do the best for their students,” she said.

Moonta opens gardens

SOME of Moonta's finest private and public gardens were open to the community as part of the Moonta Open Gardens event, Saturday and Sunday, October 2-3.

"This year's event was modernised slightly from previous years, the new souvenir booklet with QR coded directions to houses working well as did the new tickets which hung from lanyards provided by Copper Coast Council Visitor Information Centre," Moonta Open Gardens committee member Matthew Stock said.

"The event continued the success of 2020, with 12 private and three public gardens on show.

"The committee appreciates the support provided by all the gardeners who opened up their gardens, to the businesses and organisations which sold the tickets and displayed promotional materials and to the Moonta and District Progress Association who are our parent organisation."

Money raised from the weekend will go towards Polgreen Park beautification projects.

GROWING... Roger Osborn shows Matthew Stock his magnolia trees.

SMELL THE ROSES... Ian Crispe helps Madeline Sims to find the sweetest smelling rose during the Moonta Open Gardens event.

VISITORS... Pamela Kerr and Lyn Fullgrave check out the fruits of a local gardener's labour during the Moonta Open Gardens weekend.

PRE RACE... Children and adults alike enjoyed some games before the annual Port Broughton Sailing and Boat Club duck race.

Quacking day for ducks

IT was a perfect day for Port Broughton Sailing and Boat Club's duck race on Sunday, October 3.

The day was wet and grey to start but just as the games were about to begin, the sun came out.

Every competitor received a goodie bag, with items donated by the club and supporting businesses.

The race ducks were getting excited, as were their owners, as the boat took the nearly 500 out to the start.

"After being expertly launched by Gary Slavin and Imogen Brown, the strong westerly wind kept pushing the tide higher in the bay, even against the wind, and instead of going under the jetty they headed straight for the shore," organiser Tricscha Nurk said.

"They spread out with one lot going into the weeds and the other group going into the sandy beach. The first 10 ducks to touch the shore were caught and the kids then waded in to collect the rest.

"After the winner's presentation, duck owners got to keep their racing ducks and were invited to dress them up for next year's event.

"Thanks to all our hardworking volunteers, supporters, generous sponsors and all visitors who made the event possible.

"It was pleasing to hear so many comments on the fun everyone had."

Winners were: first, duck number 141, owned by Wayne Kelly, Wallaroo; second, 52, Harper Ash, Port Broughton; third, 68, Sophie Boyce, Fisherman Bay; fourth, 432, Van Johnson, Adelaide; fifth, 118, Helen Flowers, Wokurna; sixth, 290, Gina Wang, South Plympton; seventh, 233, Chaise Parr, Kingston; eighth, 358, Madeline, Port Broughton; ninth, 297, Archer Costello, Modbury Heights; 10th, 87, Jordi White, Orroroo.

The club's next race will be a Twilight Duck Race on March 13.

Local jobs and careers on show at expo

STUDENTS, job seekers and local employers are counting down until the first Local Jobs and Careers Expo in Kadina.

The event, facilitated by the Mid North Local Jobs Program team, will be held at the Copper Coast Sport and Leisure Centre, Kadina, on Thursday, October 14.

Employment facilitator Lisa Brock said the free event was designed to help connect those looking for opportunities with people who have job vacancies.

“The Local Jobs and Careers Expos will provide an opportunity for our local businesses to engage face-to-face with prospective employees, with a dedicated time also available for school students to explore local careers and training pathways,” Ms Brock said.

“The Jobs Market is being coordinated by the Mid North Local Jobs Program team, an initiative of the Department of Education, Skills and Employment to deliver innovative place-based solutions to employment with a focus on reskilling, upskilling and employment pathways for local people.”

The expo is designed as an interactive event, with a large job vacancy board on display and the opportunity for people to connect and secure new career opportunities from within the region.

“Local businesses in Port Pirie, the Copper Coast and across regional South Australia are experiencing challenges in getting workers, and the limited mobility of workers within Australia and internationally means it is more important than ever to develop our local talent pipeline and support local people into work,” Ms Brock said.

“The Local Jobs and Careers Expo provides an opportunity for employers to better connect with people in the community who offer a diverse range of skills, backgrounds and experiences, and help them better understand the types of work, career pathways and industries that are available in the local community.

“Having had to navigate almost entirely online and virtually during COVID, and with many job vacancies advertised online or not at all, the expo is a valuable opportunity for both employers and job seekers to interact and make a connection.”

The expo will run from 12.30pm until 4pm.

LOCAL OPPORTUNITY... Copper Coast Council mayor Roslyn Talbot and Mid North Local Jobs Program team employment facilitator Lisa Brock are excited to see the Copper Coast Sport and Leisure Centre, Kadina, turn into a hotspot for information on local jobs.

Committee for art

Jess Liddy
JOURNALIST

AN art committee, with the aim of supporting and encouraging community participation, has been established in Port Broughton.

The committee, established by Barunga West Council and the Uniquely Barunga Art Group, was created following the successful opening of Gallery 1871 earlier this year.

It brings together elected members with passionate volunteers to identify and promote local talent through Gallery 1871.

Mayor Leonie Kerley, Josie Edwards, Heather Tulloch, Shae Morrison, Rowena Wiggins, Jessica Hewett, Margaret Ridge and Kate Nottage will develop a calendar of art exhibitions and events as well as public art opportunities.

Mayor Kerley said the committee was looking forward to growing local interest and participation in creative pursuits.

“The recent opening of Gallery 1871 presents our committee with a real opportunity to grow community engagement with the arts, and to establish the Top of the Yorke as a hub of local art and creativity,” Mrs Kerley said.

“We have already seen significant interest from local artists who would like to exhibit in the space and invite anyone who would like to volunteer at the gallery or display their works to approach council.

“Together we hope to raise our region’s profile through art and events that speak directly to Barunga West’s unique identity, diversity, history and values.”

The arts committee’s first task will be to review the proposed schedule of art exhibitions for the next 12 months, and to secure volunteers for these events to help activate Gallery 1871.

ARTS COMMITTEE... Mayor Leonie Kerley and Jessica Hewett are part of Barunga West Council's inaugural arts committee to bring more art into the region and Port Broughton's Gallery 1871.

MOUTH WATERING... Another tasty choice on The Dalrymple Bar and Restaurant's menu is the overnight roast lamb shank, pan jus, buttered mash, gremolata, broccolini and soft herbs.

DELICIOUS... The Dalrymple Bar and Restaurant is renowned for its outstanding modern Australian menu, including this chicken ramen bowl featuring marinated chicken, soba noodles, spiced ginger relish, sautéed mushrooms, bok choy, egg and sesame.

DINE IN STYLE... The dining room at The Dalrymple Bar and Restaurant is open for lunch and dinner seven days a week, and is also the perfect place for your Christmas event this year.

Dynamic dining at the Dalrymple

THINGS are changing at the Dalrymple Bar and Restaurant, Stansbury. But rest assured, there are no changes to the dynamic dining experiences on offer. Recent staff movements have resulted in the addition of two new chefs, Daisy Warigia and Wangyal Lama, to assist executive chef Will Glazbrook and the team in continuing to deliver outstanding modern Australian dining.

Daisy has been in Australia for five years after growing up in Kenya whilst Wangyal joins the team from Nepal.

Both have extensive experience in hospitality and will bring some new exotic dishes to the menu, complementing the wide array of dishes already available.

"We're really excited to add chefs to our team who have different backgrounds," Will said.

"I am particularly looking forward to tasting Wangyal's aromatic Nepalese curries."

The Dalrymple is again a finalist the AHA Awards and is hoping to do one better after receiving a Judges' Commendation last year.

"Whilst we were disappointed not to win the award last year, to be recognised as one of the best dining experiences in SA was a real thrill," Will said.

The Dalrymple is one of the very few venues on southern Yorke Peninsula to be open for lunch and dinner seven days a week, with staff also preparing for a busy pre-Christmas season.

"We can cater for any Christmas event," Will said.

"From small gatherings right up to large gathering of up to 40 people.

"Please feel free to contact me, I'm happy to design a menu to suit your needs."

Spring Racing season is just around the corner too and the team at the Dalrymple is once again preparing a beautiful Melbourne Cup luncheon.

With matching bubbles and wine and the traditional live music after party, it is an event not to be missed.

Uniting Country SA — best place to work

UNITING Country SA has been recognised as one of Australia's best places to work.

More than 100 businesses were considered for the recognition by Australian research and consulting firm, WRK+.

Uniting Country SA ranked seventh in the 100-people plus category and was the only South Australian not-for-profit organisation to be recognised on this list.

"We are really honoured to be recognised as one of the best places to work in Australia," executive manager people and culture Karen Shearer said.

"It's important to us that we value our people and formally receiving this recognition demonstrates we do that."

Uniting Country SA's work with WRK+ is part of the organisation's commitment to ensuring they are a supportive organisation which prioritises a positive workplace culture, Mr Shearer said.

"WRK+ studies how organisations function and makes recommendations for developing and enhancing employee engagement," he said.

This study occurred across several weeks and included a submission from the organisation as well as an independently organised employee survey.

The results of this study and others have been published in a nationwide special feature magazine, including the rankings of the 2021 Best Places to Work.

UCSA's people and culture team celebrated its achievement at a small event at the Parham Street Centre, Port Pirie.

The team also began planning what it could achieve during the next 12 months to ensure UCSA continues to be recognised as an employer of choice in regional South Australia.

PROUD... Uniting Country SA people and culture team members Deb Devlin, CEO Dr Harry Randhawa, Chris Kennett, Karen Shearer and Ian Eberhard celebrate being named one of the best places to work in Australia.

Don't put off a heart check during the pandemic

TENS of thousands of Australians could be missing crucial medical appointments because they are worried about seeing their doctor during the COVID-19 pandemic.

The Heart Foundation strongly encourages Australians not to put off important health check-ups such as Heart Health Checks.

New information from the Heart Foundation shows at least 27,000 Heart Health Checks were missed from March last year to July this year.

We are concerned this could lead to a wave of preventable heart attacks and deaths.

We estimate nearly 350 heart attacks, strokes and heart-related deaths over the next five years could have been prevented if Heart Health Checks had not been missed or delayed.

During a Heart Health Check your GP will assess your risk factors for heart disease. They will check your blood pressure, weight, cholesterol and blood glucose (sugar) levels, and talk to you about your family history, and if you smoke.

This information is fed into a calculator that indicates how likely you are to have a heart attack or stroke in the next five years — it rates you as having either a low, medium or high risk.

Heart Health Checks are recommended for anyone 45 years or older — or 30 and over for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people.

I also urge you to book yourself in for a COVID-19 vaccination as soon as possible, if you haven't already.

We know people who have heart disease, and people with underlying health conditions like high blood pressure, have a higher risk of becoming seriously ill, and even dying from COVID-19, compared to other people in the community.

Having the vaccination means you are much less likely to become seriously ill from COVID-19; it is an important way to protect yourself and those around you.

If you have any questions about a Heart Health Check head to the Heart Foundation website, heartfoundation.org.au.

Imelda Lynch, Heart Foundation CEO SA/NT

When you call 13 11 20, a cancer nurse will answer.

Whether you have cancer, are a loved one, a health professional or anyone.

If you need advice, support, one of our many services or just someone to listen, Cancer Council SA is there for you and all South Australians.

13 11 20 is just one of the ways we help anyone affected by cancer.

Na Yu calls Australia home

Jess Liddy
JOURNALIST

PORT BROUGHTON'S Na Yu and her family are now officially Australian citizens.

A citizenship ceremony was held for Na Yu and two of her sons Lucas and Alex Yang at the Port Broughton foreshore last month.

Husband Chris and third son Logan were amongst the friends, family and colleagues helping to celebrate the event.

"I originally came from China," Na said.

"I arrived in Australia and started to study at the University of South Australia in July 2016.

"I completed my Bachelor of Nursing in December 2019."

Na completed her schooling in China and became a university student at China University of Mining and Technology in 1999.

"My major was Chinese Language and Literature," she said.

"I then obtained my Bachelor of Arts degree in 2003 and my master degree at Nanjing Normal University in 2008 with my major teaching Chinese as a second language."

Na said her parents were always busy when she was younger, with her grandma looking after her since she was a baby.

"She was a kind and nice grandma," she said.

"She didn't know how to communicate with kids very well as she had never been to school.

"She always told me 'you should listen to your teacher and you should learn how to obey the rules.'"

Na and her family now live in Port Broughton due to Na's job as a registered nurse.

"The Port Broughton township is beautiful and my family enjoy the wonderful scenery," she said.

"My family and I just love Australia — we would like to work for Australia and the local community, and we want our children to be educated in Australia.

"The citizenship ceremony on the Port Broughton foreshore was so nice and we were all just so excited for it to be official."

Na said she loves exploring Australia and has so far visited Sydney, Wollongong, Brisbane and the Gold Coast.

"I am planning to travel to Tasmania next," she said.

"I just really want to see as much of Australia as I can."

Na said when she wasn't working she spent most of her time accompanying her family.

"I love cooking meals for my family, watching television with the kids and listening to music," she said.

"I'm also looking at doing my post graduate degree in nursing in the future."

Barunga West Council mayor Leonie Kerley said it was always exciting to welcome new residents to the Barunga West region.

"To perform a citizenship ceremony for Na Yu and her family was an absolute privilege," Mrs Kerley said.

"Our region's greatest strength is our vibrant community, and we are delighted that Na, Lucas and Alex and their entire family are now a part of that community.

"We hope they love Port Broughton and the Barunga West region as much as we do."

ALL CREATURES GREAT AND SMALL... Anglican Church of the Copper Coast Reverend Sheridan Brand, licensed lay minister Colin Roberts and Monty get ready for the Blessing of the Pets ceremony this weekend.

Blessing the pets

ANGLICAN Church of the Copper Coast is holding a Blessing of the Pets at Victoria Square, Kadina, on Sunday, October 10.

"Furry, flurry, scaly, feathery and even slippery — pets are wonderful companions to humans and we love their company," Reverend Sheridan Brand said.

"Pets are always happy to see us and they make us happy.

"This week in the church calendar, we celebrate Saint Francis of Assisi, who was an Italian Catholic friar, a deacon, a preacher but more importantly someone who cared deeply for the earth and all the animals which lived on it.

"St Francis preached to a flock of birds and as he blessed them, they stretched out their wings, showing all their beautiful, coloured feathers.

"Our pets need blessing as they were here since the beginning and are an important part of our everyday life."

The blessing ceremony will begin at 2pm and owners are encouraged to bring their animals on leads or in carry cages.

Spreading Community Care and Transport

COMMUNITY Care and Transport has been spreading the word about its services to a number of community groups in recent months.

Marketing and business hub officer Tahlia Mason has been out and about visiting the Ardrossan Weight Watchers and Garden Club, Port Broughton Medical Centre, the InBETweens in Stansbury, Maitland Garden Club, pop-up aged care group Moonta, and the prostate cancer support group and garden club in Minlaton.

"Tahlia is receiving a great response from these presentations as we are still finding that there is a lack of awareness about our services in the community," CEO David McDonald said.

"Much of this initiative is to increase the awareness of our community transport which is to help ensure that our community members are connected and socially engaged within their own community."

Mr McDonald said anyone can access the transport services, not just those over 65.

"It helps people to meet both medical and social appointments," he said.

"Our community visitors scheme exists to help prevent social isolation and the associated mental health issues that go with loneliness.

"We want to help prevent this."

Ms Mason said she gets a great deal of satisfaction from her presentations as she interacts with attendees and listens to their stories.

"It is so enjoyable to meet with these interesting groups and individuals and to interact with them by raising awareness of Community Care and Transport's services," she said.

"More importantly is the fact that you realise that we are making a difference and helping people to have a better life and to hopefully live it to its fullest."

Moonta and District Probus Club

MOONTA and District Probus Club members heard about the Maitland Hospital renal unit at from Margie Stringer at their meeting on Monday, September 6.

The dialysis unit opened in 2008 and now has four machines to flush the blood of people whose kidneys are failing.

Each device uses 500 litres of clean water for every treatment filtering toxins and salt from a patient's blood.

Often, people receiving dialysis are waiting for kidney transplants.

Margie said Australia trails many countries in regards to organ donation.

Food choices, substance addiction and mental health issues often contribute to kidney failure, she said.

Partners and family members are also impacted as they support those who suffer.

Question time mirrored the interest Margie provoked in listeners.

Mary Greven thanked her and Probus members applauded.

President Doug Warmington invited Joe Ingram to report on the club visit to Wallaroo Sea Rescue Squadron. Flotilla Leader Peter Sims gave a guided tour of the complex which was of great interest.

Doug announced lucky draw winners: Rosina Gould, Marg Bastian, Jo Coleman and Dawn Ireland.

He also congratulated anniversary couples, Kate and Richard Herbert, Fay and Leon Roesler, Marg and Richard Bastian, Pam and Philip Woodward, Jan and Kevin French, Jan and Bruce Oxley, and Helen and Keith Bishop.

Birthday greetings were offered to Helen Bishop, Marlene Thatcher and Shirley Arney.

It was announced the southern YP bus trip has been postponed until further notice.

Next meeting, on Monday, October 11, is the club's 29th birthday celebration; renowned Laura chocolatier David Medlow will be the speaker.

Acting secretary Moranne Coombs is pleased to speak to any retirees interested in Probus club activities, phone 0428 253 766.

SPECIAL VISIT... Roger Norris-Green speaks to Writers SA writer in residence Tracy Crisp earlier this month.

Writer in residence visits Copper Coast

AUTHOR and performer Tracy Crisp visited the Copper Coast as part of the Writers SA Writers in Residence project last month.

Ms Crisp met with aspiring authors one on one and attended the Copper Triangle Writers Group, spending time with local writers, and also dropping by Gulf FM for a chat.

“Writers SA’s Writers and Readers in Residence Project, through the Australia Council of the Arts, supports South Australian authors to undertake an artistic residency in regional communities to activate reading as well as writing in the town,” Copper Coast Council library and tourism coordinator Lynn Spurling said.

“Tracy’s written work has been published in Best Australian Stories, Griffith Review, Kill your Darlings and Island.

“Her novels, Black Dust Rising and Surrogate, and Adelaide Fringe performances, Pearls and I Made an Adult, have been very successful.

“We thank her for coming to the Copper Coast.”

Freemasons receive 50-year jewel

YORKE Valley Freemasons Lodge members Dean Sparrow and Don Carmichael received their 50-year jewel earlier this month.

The Grand Master of Freemasonry in SA and the NT, MW Brother David Booker, who is well known to many Freemasons across Yorke Peninsula, came to Maitland and presented the jewels.

The award was instituted back in the 1920s by the Grand Lodge of SA and the NT, the governing body of Freemasonry in South Australia, in recognition of those members who have given long service to the organisation.

Dean has served the office of Master of the Lodge on four occasions and in 2005 was awarded a Meritorious Service Award for his contribution to the maintenance and upkeep of the lodge.

Don has also served the office of Master of the Lodge on four occasions and has been Master of the Moonta Mark Lodge on two occasions as well as the First Principal of the Moonta Royal Arch Chapter Lodge on one occasion.

Both are still active Lodge members.

Moonta UC Fellowship anniversary celebration

THANK YOU... Guest speaker Rosanne Hawke accepts a thank you gift from Anita Woods.

A PLEASANT afternoon was enjoyed by the 40 people who attended Moonta Uniting Church Adult Fellowship's 102nd anniversary celebration on Wednesday, September 1.

With COVID regulations in place, some of the usual entertainment was disallowed, replaced instead by a couple of inspiring presentations from Pastor Trevor Phillips in the opening devotions.

The program was presented by president Marlene Thatcher, with the help from secretary Jan Oxley.

Guest speaker was author/educator Rosanne Hawke, who talked about her seven years in Pakistan, which were the catalyst for her first novel, urged on by her daughter.

She spoke of her experiences in that country and of Afghani refugees crossing the border at that time.

A couple of volunteers were called on to try on a full burqa from Afghanistan and a slightly less restrictive one from Pakistan.

She advocated for an open and friendly reception for the Afghani refugees coming into Australia at this time.

Ms Hawke had several of her books on display for purchase.

The vote of thanks to the speaker was given by Anita Woods before all present enjoyed the specially prepared afternoon tea.

Avastin shortage

The American Academy of Ophthalmology has lamented the behaviour of insurance companies pushing ophthalmologists to use new biosimilar drugs as alternatives to Avastin that have never been tested in the eye.

The move comes amid an Avastin shortage in the USA, with the AAO concerned that pressure to use the biosimilars is essentially making patients "unwitting subjects in a clinical experiment."

"Even the drugs' manufacturers have advised against injecting the alternative drugs into the eye because there is no scientific proof to support it.

This development has alarmed ophthalmologists because one of the drugs may be harmful to corneal tissue," the AAO states.

Apple patent

Apple has reportedly won a patent for a direct retinal projector system that provides dynamic focusing for virtual reality.

A direct retinal projector system scans images, pixel by pixel, directly onto the wearer's retinas.

Dynamic focusing components and techniques may be used in a direct retinal projector system to dynamically and correctly focus each pixel in VR images as the images are being scanned to a subject's eyes.

This allows objects and surfaces that were intended to appear at different distances to be projected into the eyes at the correct depths.

Premiership glory for locals

Peter Argent

Kadina lad Angus Poole and Southern Eagles export Jarrad Redden were strong contributors in Woodville-West Torrens' emphatic SANFL grand final victory against Glenelg on Sunday, October 3.

The grand final was expected to be a tough match after the sides lined up in a tight second semi-final just two weeks earlier.

But the Bays were trounced by a massive 67-point margin in their centenary season.

Eagles led by 18 points at quarter time and increased their lead slightly in the second to be 43-points up at lemons before finishing the match 15.9 (99) to 4.8 (32).

Redden, 30, was playing in his 135th SANFL league game and had an intriguing contest against Jack Hannath.

Redden had a telling influence around the ground with 15 touches (nine kicks and six handballs) to go with a couple of marks and a tackle, along with his 21 hit-outs and four clearances.

Redden, along with captain Luke Thompson, Jimmy Toumpas and Patrick Giuffreda are now in a special cohort of the only three-time premiership players in the club's history.

"It certainly wasn't the margin of the result we expected," Redden said.

"We came prepared for a tough battle against Glenelg, especially after the result in the semifinal.

"We continued manic pressure across the breadth of the game.

"All three flags have been incredible, it's an amazing feeling when the siren goes.

"The first one in 2011 was early in my career and I was just a young lad.

"The last two have been more towards the end of my career.

"I've known there has been a significant role to play for the side.

"I was happy with my one-on-one performance on Hannath; we had an interesting battle."

Poole, 27, was productive across half forward with 17 disposals (seven kicks and 10 handballs) along with applying plenty of strong defensive pressure, laying seven tackles.

He also chimed in with a goal early in the third quarter to continue the Eagles momentum.

This is Poole's second grand final victory, having played in the 2020 premiership as well.

Curramulka export Matthew Goldsworthy was the Eagles' hard luck story, after he injured his hamstring in the second semi-final.

"It is a little weird and strangely detached experience being so close to the group," Goldsworthy, who has played 200-games for the club, said.

"Naturally your ecstatic for the boys, but it is still a hollow feeling from a personal perspective.

"It is certainly different than last year."

The win was the first time in Woodville-West Torrens club history, including its foundation clubs, the club had won back-to-back flags.

NATIONAL MATCH... Zac Phillips and Max Litster lined up for the Allies and South Australia respectively in a National Under 19s match on Sunday.

Best of enemies

Peter Argent
REPORT BY

Woodville-West Torrens teammates, Kadina's Zac Phillips and Max Litster, Minlaton, were football enemies on Sunday, October 3. The pair lined up as opponents in a National Under 19s match on Adelaide Oval to start SANFL grand final day proceedings. Litster played his third match in South Australian colours while Phillips was drafted into the Allies combination along with a handful of other talents for various SANFL clubs.

Due to COVID, the Allies team was effectively elite teenage players from the Northern Territory and Tasmania topped up by a dozen aspiring South Australian underage talents. Phillips led the Allies ruck division, while Litster continued to play a role as a medium defender for the Croweaters. Whilst neither were in the best players, both further added to their football credentials with their performances in this game. As expected, the SA Under 19s secured the win by a commanding

92-point margin, 19.10 (124) to 4.8 (32). "This was an opportunity for elite teenager talents to be showcased on an AFL stadium," Allies coach Julian Farkas said. "For us Zac Phillips was a highly competitive performer in this contest. "He won his share of hit-outs; won a percentage of clearances from stoppage and also did some good work around the ground. "Our guys won their share of contested footy, but didn't defend strongly enough, hence the margin in the end."

Hewett moves to Carlton

Peter Argent
REPORT BY

Port Broughton's George Hewett is Carlton Football Club's first playing acquisition of the off-season. Hewett played 120 matches with Sydney and signed with Carlton as a restricted free agent last week. Hewett adds defensive steel and physicality to Carlton's midfield mix and has played on the biggest stage, kicking a goal in the 2016 Grand Final loss. "We're delighted to welcome someone of George's calibre, both as a player and a person, to our football club," Carlton head of list management Nick Austin said. "It's so important in the modern game to be able to have depth in numbers in the midfield. "George is smart, he's tough and he'll do whatever job the team requires. "He's got more than 100 games of experience, he's featured in finals and performed well in them. "George gives us a different look in our mid-field group and we think he's someone our fans will really resonate with given his manic attack on the football. "We're looking forward to seeing him link up and get to work with his new teammates and our new AFL senior coach Michael Voss when pre-season begins." Hewett is also capable of negating an opposition midfielder and in his last game in Swans' colours he collected 13 tackles as well as 19 disposals. He played his junior football at Broughton-Mundoora and lined up for North Adelaide in the underage competition as well as playing for Prince Alfred College. Hewett was drafted to Sydney with pick 32 in the 2013 AFL Draft. Sydney's executive general manager of football Charlie Gardiner thanked Hewett for his contribution to the Sydney Swans, following the club's decision not to match a restricted free-agency offer from the Carlton Football Club. Gardiner said following strong consideration, the club had elected not to match the lucrative, long-term offer from Carlton. "George is a terrific person and has been a wonderful contributor to our club over the past eight seasons," Gardiner said. "He is a great competitor and has been a really consistent player for us over his 120-game career. "We regard him highly as both a player and person. "George has been a very popular and respected player within the four walls of our club. "While we are disappointed to see him depart, we wish him, Alice and Henry all the very best." Sydney will receive a compensation pick at the end of round two in the upcoming AFL draft.

Kayleigh May shines for Eagles

Peter Argent
REPORT BY

Kadina's Kayleigh May was one of the stronger performers for Woodville-West Torrens in the SANFL Under 16 Girls Intrastate Championships. Despite an opening round 45-point loss, 2.3 (15) to 9.6 (60) to an efficient Norwood outfit, May was among the best players in the contest. May kicked the goal of the day — an amazing snap from the forward pocket towards the northern end of the ground — on the second day of play, the Eagles also went down 2.3 (15) to 10.6 (66). The final game of the championships was a much closer affair with Eagles going down by just two straight kicks, 3.3 (21) to 5.3 (53).

May was the Eagles best player in the contest alongside Jemma Whittington-Charity, and also kicked a goal. "Kayleigh is high skilled, has a strong work ethic and a positive demeanor," coach Andrew Kemp said. "As a versatile footballer, Kayleigh spends a fair portion of her time in the midfield, but does go up forward and can kick goals. "She also spent some time playing off half back against South and kicking a great running goal in this match. "Kayleigh positioned herself well, and her skills while running at speed are impressive. "(Woodville-West Torrens) senior coach Narelle Smith was in attendance at all the games, seeing what the squad had to offer." The Under 16s Intrastate Championships are a pathway to the SANFL Women's competition.

The evening started with the first semifinal between Sapphires and Minties, watched by many club and family members.

Sapphires won the toss to get the game started. It was an even game throughout, and scores were tied with two ends to play. In a nail-biting finish, scores were drawn 15-15, so the best of three ends was played with Minties the victor.

After a short break Minties were up against Ducks in the preliminary final.

No matter how good Ducks bowled, Minties all bowled exceptionally well to win the game and take them to the grand final.

The grand final is to be played at 7pm this Friday, October 8: Rubies versus Minties (umpire Goannas).

Please come along and support the teams, and good luck to both.

The dinner and presentation is at the Weeroona Hotel, Wallaroo, on Friday, October 15 (RSVP to Bev ASAP).

Girls only for Yorketown Auskick

An all-girls Auskick centre at Yorketown is about to kick into action this month.

The sessions will be held from 4.30pm to 5.30pm weekly each Tuesday for six weeks, beginning October 19.

SANFL game development coordinator Yorke and Mid North Will Schultz said the centre will be open for girls aged 5 to 12.

“We wanted to create a safe, inclusive space for girls to have some fun and get into football,” he said.

“It’s our hope that girls will give this a go and then sign up to the YPFLW when it gets up and running again next season.”

Schultz said there was a need for a southern Yorke Peninsula centre focused solely on the girls.

“We had a look at the numbers from our recent come and try day, and SYP was the area where we were really lacking,” he said.

“The peninsula is also such a large area, so we wanted to get something going to create opportunities for those who hadn’t been able to access anything previously.

“This doesn’t clash with other sports, it’s in some clear air, and we just want to see girls out there giving it a go.”

Participants must be registered before they take to the field for their first session; visit play.afl/auskick to find out more.

Each player will receive a modified Auskick pack when they pay their registration fee of $50.

For more information, contact Will Schultz on 0438 577 301 or email will.schultz@sanfl.com.au

Kempster Trophy winner was John Donnell, and best net score went to Wayne Johns.

John Donnell and Peter Boase won the Sandford Memorial Trophy for best foursomes score.

Club president Daryl Bussenschutt thanked all members for their help around the club during the year, especially those who had given up their time to do the mowing and general maintenance required.

Last, but not least, a big thank you to our generous sponsors for their continued support.

We look forward to seeing you all next season.

YP strong side features at SANFL Intrastate Champs

Peter Argent
REPORT BY

Woodville-West Torrens Under 15 Country side managed one win at the SANFL Intrastate Championship late last month.

The championships are seen as an entry point to the SANFL underage club programs and the Eagles squad featured 12 Yorke Peninsula players.

Ayden Hickman and Luke Horn from CMS Crows, Mitchell Cunningham, Brayden Phillips and the injured Brodie Harris from Kadina, Bute Roosters' Codie McBride and Kade Herbert (also injured), Will Hobbs from the Southern Eagles, Tom Luck and Jett Hasting from the CY Cougars, Moonta Demon Brock Pollard and Dominic Bagnato from Wallaroo all participated.

"The group displayed a good amount of heart and resilience," Eagles U15s coach and talent manager Darren Hams said.

"It was pleasing the group showed strong character at different times.

"After conceding the four goals to one in the opening game against Norwood, they showed courage to compete over the last three terms.

"On the Thursday at Noarlunga against South, after a slow start, we fought our way back into the contest and were unlucky not to snatch the win.

"A good majority of the group struggled with the step up in pace early in the tournament.

"Pleasingly we saw some real growth in that area as the week progressed.

"The two stand outs from a Yorke Peninsula perspective were big man Tommy Luck and strong bodied and long kicking midfielder Jett Hasting, both from the Cougars.

"Jett, who played four games in the Under 16s program was our best player in the opening game against Norwood and again against South.

"We rested him in the second game against West Adelaide.

"Tommy Luck is an athletic big man, who reminds me a lot of Cain Ackland who I coached when he was a junior at Port Adelaide.

"He has many of the same athletic traits as Cain and with plenty of hard work, has a future in the code."

Players from both the Under 15s Country and Metro Eagles programs are vying for position in the Woodville-West Torrens Under 16s squad for 2022.

Miels's part of SANFL history

Peter Argent
REPORT BY

Brenton Miels made SANFL history as one of the youngest SANFL premiership players in 1966.

Miels, who hailed from Maitland Football Club, was just 18 years and 262 days old when his Sturt side defeated Port Adelaide on October 1, 1966.

The victory, under fellow Yorke Peninsula export Jack Oatey, was the first Sturt premiership in 26 years.

At the time, Miels was behind Don Gilbourne (North in 1949), Lindsay Head (Eagles in 1953), Jack Cahill and Ian Hannaford (both 1958) to be the fifth youngest to win a flag.

Miels played on the half forward flank in 1966 and would play in six of the Double Blues seven SANFL premierships across the next decade, in the most successful epoch in the clubs 120-year history.

He wore the number 18 jumper across the majority of his career and was amongst the best players in 1968 where he kicked two goals against Port Adelaide.

He also ranked amongst the best performer in the famous 1976 grand final at Football Park where the crowd swelled to close to 80,000 people.

Miels was selected in the SANFL Team of the Year in 1974 and 1976.

"Brenton had a taste of it (league football) in 1965," great mate and seven-time Sturt premiership defender Phil "Sandy" Nelson said.

"Jim Tilbrook and Brenton, Dean Ottens and myself, we were all raw teenage lads in '66.

"Along with (Keith) Chessell and (Paul) Bagshaw, this group was all aged under 20 in 1966 Grand Final.

"Brenton was very talented, quick and a beautifully balanced footballer, and had a great kick.

"That's why Jack used Brenton on a wing across the majority of his career.

"His evasive skills rank comfortably alongside those of Bagshaw and Michael Graham.

"During our time at Unley we brought a speed boat together and would go to the (Murray) River and water-ski during the summers."

Miels played 202 league games for Unley across two stints — from 1965-68 and then 1970-77.

He played in the VFL with Richmond in 1969-70 while completing National Service with the Australian Army, playing seven senior games.

In 1969, he helped the Tigers defeat Sturt in an end-of-season champions of Australia match at Adelaide Oval.

Miles was made a player life member of Sturt in 1973 and was honoured with player life membership of the SANFL in 1975.

Sadly, he passed away in 1997, at 49; he was posthumously inducted into the Sturt Football Club Hall of Fame in 2009.

VICTORIOUS... Minlaton's Kai Newbold has claimed the ProMX2 South Australia State Championships Motocross series.

Racing to victory

Jack Clark
REPORT BY

Minlaton's Kai Newbold is a state motocross champion.

Newbold, 18, claimed the ProMX2 class in the SA State Motocross championships in September despite a rough start to the series.

But across the five rounds, Newbold was able to find his feet and flew home to win by 25 points.

Newbold's win is the third time in a row he has claimed this class.

Motocross has been a passion of Newbold's from a young age as he started riding at 4 years old and started competitively racing at age 8 in Kadina.

Newbold said fellow motocross rider Alex Larwood had been a big motivator and he looked forward to racing around Australia in the national competition next year if possible.

"After racing in the ProMX2 over 16s for three years now, I'm hoping to make the next step and race in the national championships in 2022," he said.

The social atmosphere of riding and the friendships it builds has Newbold hooked but he said it also gives him a break from other commitments, and a chance to get away.

Coach Keleher leads boys

SA Country Basketball also sent an under 16 boys side to the Australian Junior Championships.

Moonta's Grant Keleher was the side's assistant coach, and said the boys had a shaky start to their tournament, going down to WA Country by 21 on the first day.

SAC again suffered a 40-point loss to QLD South, before cruising past NT by 74.

Unlike the girls, the boys dropped their quarter final against Tasmania by 16, but overcame WA Country by 28 and SA Metro by six to finish fifth.

The boys were presented the Trish Fallon Fair Play Award, and Keleher said the tournament marked the first time both SAC sides defeated SA Metro in recent memory.

"Our boys fought valiantly, with our defensive structure and speed up and down the floor probably as good as anyone's," Keleher said.

"QLD South was too big for us — their smallest player would've probably been taller than our biggest.

"They had a seven-foot, two-inch centre, so we just couldn't compete with their height."

Local coaches thriving

Nathan Humphries and

SILVER... SA Country Under 16 Boys assistant coach Grant Keleher, Moonta, is extremely proud of Yorke Peninsula duo Ella Aldridge and Airlie Ramsey who contributed to the U16 girls silver medal win at the Australian Junior Championships last week.

Georgia Thomson, both of Yorke Peninsula, have also been selected as head coaches for SAC's 2022 Emerging Athlete Development Program.

Following the cancellation of the annual junior championships at Albury, Keleher said the pair will likely lead their sides at another Adelaide Invitational Challenge.

"The calibre of coaching is huge on the YP" he said.

"SA Country provides great pathways and really invests a lot into its coaches — we always need more."

YV basketball season begins

"The Finger Roll"

REPORT BY

After much indecision, The Finger Roll has opted to run it back ahead of Yorke Valley Basketball Association's 2021-22 season.

It almost seems as though my WhatsApp sources are sick of me after two faultless seasons — a pair of blue bombers everywhere I look in my DMs. Not sure if it's just been me kept in the dark regarding our local senior squads, but there's certainly been plenty of uncertainty in the lead up to opening night on Friday, October 8.

Tips

A MEN

Moonta v Kadina

In all seriousness, massive congratulations to Moonta for rounding up an A grade basketball side after a season off. I'm still yet to confirm a single player who will take the court for the Blazers on Friday — really setting the tone for my season I know. Moonta local Alex Elsworth would be a huge acquisition if he returns home after a stint with Arthurton. Down the other end, Kadina will likely line up with a very similar side to previous years. Isaac Glasgow will be a very handy in after winning a B grade flag last year. Giles Ellis is yet to be seen at training but has suggested he'll be utilised as a three-point (bank) specialist. His Carmelo Anthony celebration missed the mark last year, but he'll likely roll with it again.

At the final buzzer... Moonta by six.

Paskeville v Bears

Pasky will definitely take another leap as they continue getting reps into their teenagers. Backcourt duo Kye McDonald and Brock Thomson have taken to North Beach for their pre-season camp this year, despite this not involving any skills or fitness exercises. Hamish Price is expected to direct traffic and keep developing his youngsters this year. Rumours have surfaced the Magpies could be adding a solid big man this year — literally the only piece they need to play finals. Bears should be reliable again. If the remains of Nathan Humphries' fragile body hold together, he'll lead the way at both ends and no doubt wrangle some wins. It's yet to be seen what the rest of the floor will look like for the yellow and black, so watch this space.

At the final buzzer... Paskeville by 12.

Walleroo v Arthurton

The Holman boys should again lead a physical Dogs outfit. The youngest, Jesse, has started to develop a jump shot which will make his side more accountable and space the floor easier. If they can find a consistent post option and others to match their physical style, team success is definitely on the cards. It was devastating to hear Sam Jacobs won't be returning to the floor for Arthurton this year following an ACL injury for Ardrossan this football season. The big man was on track to lead his Tigers to a fairytale premiership, before being pipped at the post by the valiant Roosters. Mick Britton will be shifty at each end if he goes again with Arthurton.

At the final buzzer... Wallaroo by four.

SENIOR WOMEN

Arthurton Orange v Wallaroo

If I was unsure about how teams will line up in the men's comp, I'm unsure how you'd describe my knowledge of the women's — two Arthurton and Pasky teams are just too much for me! Arthurton Orange was strong in the division II comp last season and will certainly be a chance again if the likes of Monica Britton plus Jenny Davey suit up. From memory, they were quick in transition and should take a similar approach if they keep a solid group together. Wallaroo was also handy through most of last season and even managed a div I berth. Youngsters Macayla Marner and Baylee Houghagen will definitely push the pace and get the ball down each wing.

At the final buzzer... Arthurton Orange by seven.

Paskeville White v Arthurton Black

The Pies will be competitive if they keep the same women playing. Leanne Toogood and Nikki Ireland led the way for the black and white towards the pointy end of last season, while increased contribution from young players like Eliza Monger will be a huge bonus for this squad's hopes. Arthurton Black was an absolute powerhouse through the past season — Georgie Garrard was a force to be reckoned with, while Jo Davey was instrumental on offence and Izzy Jacobs just seemed to keep knocking down threes. A near faultless campaign had Black take out the div I flag and I have no doubt it will make another push this season.

At the final buzzer... Arthurton Black by 14.

Bute v Moonta

Despite the Roosters merging to just one senior team this year, a combination of Red and White's best players from last season will make for a super team to say the least. A fountain of youth lit up the court for White in 2020-21 and the likes of Ella McCauley, Amber Aldridge and Tyra Wigzell helped them all the way to a grand final. If it can combine this speed with the experience of flag-winning Red's Andrea Taylor and Beck Crosby, few teams will stop Bute. Just falling short of a div II premiership last season, Moonta will be desperate to make amends with the help of combo Tamika Mackareth and Adele Keleher. A crash and bash game will ease the Blazers past most sides this year; however, Bute could run them off their feet on Friday.

At the final siren... Bute by two.

Kadina teams win state basketball

Kadina Memorial School's year 6 boys and girls teams won their respective divisions in the 2021 School Sport State Country Basketball Championship recently.

Central Yorke School's year 7 boys side finished the carnival in eighth, while the Harvest Christian College year 7 boys were fifth.

Maitland Lutheran School's year 7 girls were fifth overall and Moonta Area School's girls seventh.

KMS boys

The boys played against Naracoorte in game one and started strongly despite physical defence.

It was a satisfying win, 17-7, with Leo Ziersch and Angus Bussenschutt performing well.

Game two was against Redeemer Lutheran School from Nuriootpa.

After a grind at the start of the game, the KMS running game kicked in, eventually winning 25-8.

Max Bussenschutt and A Bussenschutt were amongst the best.

KMS started slowly in game three against Reidy Park, but clawed its way back into the game and looked the better team towards the end.

This game went down to the wire with KMS unlucky losers, 10-11; Baylan Mummery and Mason Papps were best.

KMS lined up against Reidy Park in the grand final, and their opponents put quick points on the board.

KMS started to drive the ball and got fouled consistently.

At halftime KMS held a tight two-point lead and in the second half, baskets were traded.

KMS started to gain the upper hand, with Reidy Park in foul trouble.

The local team prevailed in a tight and tense finish by four points; Nate Mercer held down both ends while all players played their roles well.

KMS girls

The girls played the first game of the day against Bordertown. After a slow start, they found their rhythm with great defence and passing, resulting in a nice comfortable first win, 18-6.

The second game against St Anthony was a different encounter. St Anthony had size and strength and the game was quite the defensive battle and a low-scoring contest. The girls worked well together to grit out another victory winning 7-3.

After winning the first two games the girls were guaranteed a spot in the grand final regardless of their last results.

However, they wanted to keep the winning momentum against Redeemer. Redeemer had only lost by four to St Anthony so it wasn't going to an easy game.

KMS missed lots of layups and open shots early but their defence managed to keep Redeemer to not scoring a single field goal, winning 8-1.

In the grand final, St Anthony started on fire and brought the physical contest.

Lots of fouls were called and St Anthony made the most of their opportunities.

KMS girls got tired and exhausted but tried their very best, unfortunately going down 20-6.

HIGH PH... Agronomy Solutions' Sean Mason speaks about phosphorus nutrition on high pH calcareous soils.

NYP grain growers discuss key topics

Fin Hansen
REPORT BY

MORE than 60 farmers and industry leaders gathered for the 2021 Northern Sustainable Soils Spring Crop Walk on Thursday, September 23.

Attendees met at Jordan Green's Bute farm, before venturing to four different cropping trial sites.

Topics of discussion included how to improve crop performance on high pH soils, managing powdery mildew in wheat, long-term soil amelioration, soil variability and pH mapping, as well as new herbicide options in lentils.

Speakers were Agronomy

Solutions' Sean Mason, Central Ag Solutions' Paul Ackland, Ag Consulting Co's Stefan Schmitt, Commonwealth Scientific and Industrial Research Organisation's Rodrigo da Silva, Trengove Consulting's Sam Trengove and Jordan Bruce, plus SARDI's Navneet Aggarwal.

NSS executive officer Stefan Schmitt said the event was a success.

"Local farmers were enthusiastic to chat about some production issues this year, such as the poor performance of deep sands," he said.

Mr Schmitt mentioned powdery mildew had become an increasing issue on northern Yorke Peninsula. "Farmers need to grow varieties with better resistance packages where possible, as resistance to new-generation fungicides evolves quickly," he said.

"Poor crop performance has been observed on some sandhills in 2021 due to a wet start to the season, resulting in crops being shallow rooted and ill prepared for the snap dry finish.

"Especially on the red sandy soil types, crops have hayed off prematurely as a result of natural compaction when the soil dries out.

"The NSS has been looking at ways to remove this hard-setting layer through ripping or spading."

Mr Schmitt encouraged farmers to consider soil pH and texture when planning to use pre-emergent broadleaf weed control options in their lentil programs next year.

"The crop safety of new and old products is largely influenced by soil pH and texture," he said.

Other points of interest from the day included a focus on improving productivity on high pH soils.

"High pH grey calcareous soils benefit from higher rates of phosphorus fertiliser.

"In trials this year, liquid phosphorus products haven't yet improved crop biomass responses over granular products."

INSIGHT... SARDI's Navneet Aggarwal discusses new herbicides for broadleaf weed control in lentils and crop safety.

WALK THROUGH... NSS executive director Stefan Schmitt walks the group through a trial paddock at Fred Taylor's Ninnes farm.

LEARNING... Jordan Bruce and Sam Trengove, both of Trengove Consulting, give attendees a visual insight into the Smart Farms project — the graphs show results of the grid soil testing done in the paddock.

NSS Smart Farms project put to use

IN June last year, NSS received $48,130 from the National Landcare Program for its Smart Farms project, which monitored how zone soil sampling can be used to better manage resource distribution within paddocks.

"By grid mapping depth to compaction within different soil zones, we found farmers can ensure they aren't ripping too far below or above the compaction layer," NSS executive officer Stefan Schmitt said.

"With this information, farmers can better target their depth of soil amelioration and improve crop yield on compacted sands.

"Grid soil testing enables growers to determine a baseline fertility and soil characteristics level across paddocks from this information inputs and amelioration practices can be targeted."

All findings from the NSS trials, including the Smart Farms project, will be available in the group's annual booklet.

Digital delivery advice same times

Advertising Promotion

GROWERS can save time and streamline their grain delivery process with Viterra's new digital delivery advice, launched in the Viterra app in time for the upcoming harvest.

Viterra operations manager for the Central region Jack Tansley said the new technology is easy to use and can replace the paper-based system for all grower deliveries.

"The new DDA saves time for growers when delivering at our sites as there is less information needing to be entered, while a load is being classified, especially compared to the paper-based system," Jack said.

"It also saves time for growers by prefilling regularly entered information and duplicating delivery advices."

The DDA enables growers to complete a delivery advice in four easy steps, and complete a declaration once for each commodity and variety in a paddock.

Other benefits include 'warehouse only' to deliver loads directly to warehouse, nominate 'any grade' to lock in a preferred selling option regardless of the grade achieved at site and knowing when a load is being classified with an 'in progress' status.

Viterra grower services manager Todd Stanford, who led the development of the DDA, trialed it with a group of growers before launch.

Michael Thompson, who farms in Yorketown, tested the service last harvest for his deliveries into Viterra's Port Giles site.

"This technology makes the delivery process easier, faster and improves the accuracy of information by 100 per cent," Michael said.

"We use multiple carriers and the digital delivery advice service makes the process more efficient. We can see exactly when the truck is sampled and weighed out, and our records on Ezigrain match the correct paddock each time."

Viterra continued to consult with users after the trial to make further enhancements to the service based on their suggestions, before releasing it to the wider grower community.

Todd Stanford, who has since been attending pre-harvest events and showing growers the new service, said there has been a great deal of positive feedback already, and looks forward to more customers jumping on board, and it becoming a widely used tool.

DEFENCE PROOF & EXPERIMENTAL ESTABLISHMENT PORT WAKEFIELD: LIVE FIRING RANGE WARNING NOTICE

Test and evaluation activities involving static firings and/or firings of naval and artillery weapons are conducted at the Proof and Experimental Establishment Port Wakefield throughout the year. The Proof and Experimental Establishment Port Wakefield is a vital Defence test and evaluation capability that has supported Defence since 1929.

These firings may require specific tidal or weather conditions, and are critical for the safety of current and new Defence capabilities. Members of the public may notice noise, vibration, flashes and/or smoke during the testing. There is no risk to the public outside of the gazetted Defence Practice Areas.

For reasons of public safety, there is a permanent exclusion zone covering land, sea and air around the Port Wakefield Establishment. Specific details on the Port Wakefield Prohibited Area can be obtained from Commonwealth of Australia Gazette No GN 26, 4 July 1990, and is shown on the diagram below. Trespassing in this Area is strictly prohibited and very dangerous due to the presence of unexploded bombs. Any person found within the Prohibited Area or on Defence land will be subject to prosecution.

Specific test and evaluation activities may also require restricting public access to the Port Wakefield Defence Practice Areas over specific periods with these areas articulated in the Commonwealth of Australia Gazette No. GN 40, 7 October 1992, and also identified on the diagram below. This may affect access to the Gulf of St Vincent at Port Wakefield and Port Parham.

If any member of the public has inquiries in relation to these activities, please contact Proof & Experimental Establishment Port Wakefield – Range Control on (08) 8867 0270 between 8.00am and 4.30pm weekdays or the Proof & Experimental Establishment Port Wakefield – Security Office on (08) 8867 0299 outside these hours.

Starscopes

♈ ARIES—March 21-April 20

Make a point of getting with people from various walks of life. If travelling, your plans change by the hour. Money matters improve if you are willing to think them through.

♉ TAURUS—April 21-May 22

Friends may be in a less than forgiving mood, but relatives back your latest schemes. A delay may be inevitable, but you discover it may have a bright side too.

♊ GEMINI—May 23-June 21

The emphasis is on the new, with trips to unusual spots being among current highlights. If involved with property transactions, check facts and figures with meticulous care.

♋ CANCER—June 22-July 22

You may hear different sides from different parties, so objectivity is your key. Teachers or students learn from your wise words. There will be more fun at the work place when moody people cheer up.

♌ LEO—July 23-August 22

A relative may be critical of your plans, but don't let him/her put you on the defensive. A group effort could yield more success. This is a great week for signing up for causes or launching team projects.

♍ VIRGO—August 23-September 22

Be meticulous in choosing words, especially if writing or emailing people in high places. Thursday could favour modest financial gains. Travel and friendship combine nicely through the week.

♎ LIBRA—September 23-October 22

Cultural and creative activities could lead to profitable ventures. Your partner is ready to speak from the heart, but it's up to you to provide the right occasion and environment.

♏ SCORPIO—October 23-November 21

Friendship and love are the twin themes of an upbeat week. A relative may make you privy to family secrets. Bargains that may appear to good to be true are precisely that.

♐ SAGITTARIUS—November 22-December 22

You are in the social limelight and could excel in fundraising activities. Scholarly interests may take up some time on the weekend. Hunches are strong from Thursday on.

♑ CAPRICORN—December 23-January 20

Enjoyable detours are scattered through the week - but keep travel companions in a happy mood. Home maintenance and health matters should be attended to immediately.

♒ AQUARIUS—January 21-February 19

Small but numerous errands take much of your time this week, stopping opportunities for meeting fascinating individuals. Favourite friends may be involved in their work, so don't take it personally.

♓ PISCES—February 20-March 20

Major responsibilities combine with a demanding social life, which makes this one of the busiest weeks for quite a while. Your great gift now is being able to simplify complex concepts.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK

You are meticulous, fussy, tidy, finicky, analytical and a born worrier. The secret is to strike a happy medium. Promoting ideas with zest could lead to advancement in the future. A period is launched marked by experimentation and travel.

The Squid Game has me hook, line and sinker!

HAVE you heard about the Squid Game?

You've probably been living under a rock if you haven't or you might be over the age of 30 so don't stress.

As someone who is edging closer and closer to the big three-o I had been hearing a lot about Squid Game but had no idea what the hell it was about.

It's all over video-sharing app TikTok and it is fast becoming Netflix's most popular show ever.

According to Forbes, the show is number one in about 90 countries including the US and Australia and on TikTok #SquidGame has been viewed nearly 27 billion times!

I watched the trailer on Netflix and went into it believing this was not my cup of tea and I would absolutely loathe it.

And I did for about the first 30 minutes of the first episode.

However, when it got through the flesh and to the bones of what the show was about it had me hook, line and sinker.

So, what's it all about?

It focuses on a series of kids' games, which are turned upside down in a sadistic way, with 465 vulnerable players vying to win a $45.6 billion (about AU $53 million) prize.

These players are all deeply in debt and have every reason to play this deadly game where contestants are eliminated (killed) for breaking the rules.

With every player eliminated the prize pool increases which is a sick concept but it makes for great watching.

I normally struggle with dubbed films or television shows; however, this is more than bearable and the storyline will get you through it even if it does bother you.

I'm two and half episodes in and will definitely continue to watch to see how it turns out.

I guess the moral of this story is don't knock something until you try it.

HOT FISHING TIPS with Greg James www.gregjamesfishing.com.au

Welcome to the column with all the hot tips for fishing around Yorke Peninsula; contact Greg by email at greg@gregjamesfishing.com.au.
Wallaroo: I fished the jetty in the early part of last week with small squid and undersize female crabs being the only result. Boat crews were fishing for King George whiting, blueys and gar from the Magazine and Point Riley as strong northerlies cracked in along the gulf.
Moonta Bay/Port Hughes/Port Victoria: Jetty-based anglers caught a few blueys, squid and tommy ruff (Australian herring) over the long weekend, but almost gale-force westerlies kept many boaties at home. Try West Light for squid and whiting when the weather clears. Good catches of whiting have also been reported from Wardang Island and Port Victoria.
Point Burton: Good catches of squid have come about a kilometre offshore from Port Rickaby and The Pines. Whiting are also up at Chinaman Wells and around at Point Souttar. The jetty has the odd squid in the early morning and yellowfin whiting are slowly starting to appear in Hardwicke Bay.

Marion Bay: The returning long weekend traffic had to be seen to be believed as I drove south on Sunday. Big squid at Marion Bay jetty was not enough to keep anglers happy as strong winds and rough seas developed late Saturday. Boat crews will target whiting, squid and flathead when conditions improve.
Edithburgh/Stansbury/Port Vincent: Good catches of whiting came from Sultana Passage, Tapley Shoals and Port Giles in recent days. The Orontes Bank also has fish up around the 35cm mark. Jetty anglers have had a quiet few days with the occasional squid only. Rakers working the shallows south of The Hut and Port Vincent reported a few small crabs.
Ardrossan: Gar and blue swimmer crabs were targeted by holidaymakers last week with mixed success. The jetty has blueys and tommy ruff. Local mulloway reports have been quiet.
Tight lines and see you next week!

Aldridge, Ramsey bring home silver

Fin Hansen
REPORT BY

Yorke Peninsula talents Ella Aldridge and Airlie Ramsey have made South Australian Country basketball team history.

The pair were part of the SAC's Under 16 girls silver medal winning side at the Australian Junior Championships in Darwin.

The girls are the first SAC team to win a medal since 2015.

Aldridge, Moonta, and Paskeville's Ramsey kicked off their campaign with a 44-point win against Northern Territory on Monday, September 27, before also knocking off Western Australia Metro by eight on Tuesday.

A loss to Queensland South by 15 in round three had the girls finish third in their pool.

In its quarterfinal match, SAC advanced past WA Country by 17, and edged out SA Metro by 10 in the semi-final to progress into the gold medal match.

The girls went down to Queensland South again, by 17 this time.

SAC U16 Boys assistant coach Grant Keleher, of Moonta, described the girls' tournament as exceptional.

"Airlie Ramsey played brilliantly as a forward and certainly matched the strength of some bigger bodies," he said.

"Ella Aldridge shot superbly and hit a couple clutch three-pointers that helped the girls run away with games."

Thanks to everyone who stopped by our stand at the YP Field Days, it was great to explain our solution of In Situ Recovery for copper mining. Being able to take our key learnings from Kapunda and share it with the people from Yorke Peninsula was wonderful and well received. The key to the success of these projects is the focus on environmental impacts as a high priority. We look forward to delivering a new project in Alford West - stay tuned for updates.
